Father And Son Hurt In Fall From Scaffold

HAVELOCK, May 12—(ENS)—Thomas Forsyth, Sr., and his son William were injured on Thursday when the scaffold which they had erected for shingling the home of Mrs. T. Clarke collapsed.

Both men were on the scaffold at the time and Mr. Forsyth Sr. fell on top of his son. They were rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, where it was found that the father had suffered a broken collar bone and the son back injuries and an injured left ankle.

41 Die In Mine

CHARLEROI, Belgium, May 12 (Reuters)—Belgium's worst mine disaster in 20 years Thursday claimed an officially-estimated 41 lives and plunged tiny villages near here into deep mourning. Twenty-eight bodies had been brought up Thursday night from the Mariemont-Baucoup mine, where a coal-gas explosion tore miners' bodies to pieces 1,600 feet below ground, and hurled huge lumps of coal along gloomy galleries.

Ask For Blood Donors

LONDON, May 12—(CP)—An appeal by Victoria Hospital Thursday for blood donors brought in a flood of offers. The need of 21-year-old D. A. Armstrong for transfusions in the last few days caused a serious drain on supplies. The youth, burned from head to foot by a flash from a 110,000 volt conductor at the Pond Mills Hydro Electric Power Commission project Monday night, still is in critical condition.

ONE OF THE BIG HUMAN PROBLEMS that was bothering the fire-ravaged city of Rimouski, has now been solved. The three Chenard sisters, 10-month-old triplets, who have been missing since flames attacked St. Joseph Hospital have been found. The chubby, dark-haired trio, daughters of Aime Chenard, have been located, hale and hearty, in a neighbor's home, and the jubilation this has caused might make one think that nothing else mattered in the blaze-battered city.

Adjudicator Raps Calgary Play

CALGARY, May 12 — (CP) — Adjudicator Michel Saint-Denis found two main things wrong with the presentation Thursday night by Calgary's Workshop 14 of "The Rivals."

The "hometown" entry in the Dominion Drama Festival had weak characterization and the actors occasionally altered the lines of Richard Sheridan's comedy, he said.

The performance by the Workshop, formed in 1944, was its fourth bid for national dramatic honors. It was directed by Betty Mitchell.

"The Rivals" is an 18th century comedy of manners, morals and maidens.

Mr. Saint-Denis, director of the Old Vic Theatre Centre, London, Eng., said "there were moments when the comedy fell flat." There were "much too many serious moments" and no climax.

Marjorie Pugh as Mrs. Malaprop and Ed Holmes as Sir Anthony Absolute "were not right in the centre of those characters." Miss Pugh should have been a stronger character and Mr. Holmes did not give an accurate portrayal of Sir Anthony although "he clearly has experience and knows how to manage his lines."

Mr. Saint-Denis complained that certain players altered the lines by adding words. This was "absolutely forbidden," particularly in a classic like Sheridan's five-act comedy.

Killed By Train

OWEN SOUND, May 12 (CP)— Russell Hines, 19, of nearby Holland Centre, was killed Thursday night when his automobile was demolished by a Canadian Pacific Railway train near Chatsworthy, nine miles south of here. The car was dragged 50 yards along the track. His sister, Isabel, 16, jumped clear just before the car reached the crossing. She was uninjured. They were on their way to a dance at nearby Rockford.

WINNIPEG'S MAIN STREET—A streetcar plows through a torrent of water under the Polo Park underpass on the west end of Portage Avenue, one of Winnipeg's main streets. The flooding was caused by overflow from the Assiniboine River which normally runs a few hundred yards to the right.

WMS Looks Back At Celebration Of Anniversary

DARTFORD, May 12 (ENS)— The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church celebrated the 25th anniversary Wednesday at a meeting in the church to which all the women of the community had been invited.

Mrs. Archie McCracken, the president, led the meeting and a scripture passage was read first by Mrs. Percy Honey from the English Bible and then by Miss Joanne De Jong from her Dutch Bible. All repeated the Watchwords of the society which was followed by prayer.

The next meeting will be held on June 14 at the home of Mrs. Charles Honey.

Mrs. Bruce Hopkins, a life member, Warkworth, gave a talk on this auxiliary since its organization in 1892. Many of the meetings were spent in sewing for the needy in Northern Ontario and B. C. In the first year there were 13 members and in 1925, there were 17. To raise money for allocation, they had oyster suppers and maple sugar parties.

As she named former members Mrs. Hopkins told where they had lived.

Mrs. Joseph Boyce was first president and served in that position for 35 years.

Miss Lillian Copperthwaite, now living at Morganston, served as recording secretary for 34 years; Miss Carrie Atkinson, now of Warkworth, was the first delegate sent to branch meeting in Toronto.

Mrs. Hopkins was introduced by Mrs. McCracken and thanked by Mrs. Percy Honey.

Pay Silent Tribute

Tribute was paid to former members no longer living. One minute silence was observed, followed by prayer by the Rev. H. G. Lester.

The study book was read by the Misses Verna McDonald and Muriel Darling, also Mesdames John Coggins, Percy Honey, Hayden Atkinson and Charles Honey.

Miss Clarice Atkinson reported those from this congregation who have gone into full time church work were Leslie Hardy, Clella Hopkins, Mrs. Bruce Cole and herself.

Mothers' Day

Mrs. Charles Honey took charge of the Mothers' Day program which consisted of readings by Mrs. Percy Honey and John Coggins and solos by Miss Clarice Atkinson and Mrs. Fred Ward.

Oil Tanks Break

WINNIPEG, May 12 (CP) — RCMP reported Thursday night that British American Oil Company tanks at Emerson, Man., had broken, spilling 10,000 gallons of oil and gasoline into flood waters surrounding the plant. Citizens of the flood town, 60 miles south of here, were warned to be careful with matches or open lights near the river.

Hoping For Cure

MONTREAL, May 12 (CP) — Hope for discovery of the cause and cure of multiple solerosis—a disease that brings paralysis and sometimes death from causes at present unknown to medical science—was expressed here Thursday at opening of the Dr. Colin Russel Physiotherapy Centre for Multiple Scelerosis.

Fastened To Glorious Past Stands Fort of Chinon

By JEAN E. STENTON

CHINON, France, May — If the walls of Chinon could talk, every stone would tell a thrilling and bloody tale of a confused and tragic period in French history.

Jean Stenton

Its grim and sturdy towers and battlements resounded to the clang of armored troops as they watched the approaches of the Vienne River from their eagle's nest. Here France's great heroine, Joan of Arc and two Kings of England, Henry II and Richard the Lion-Hearted, passed many days. Blood ran like water and the chateau remained a fortress in appearance and in use.

Nothing there is without interest. In spite of the fact that many of the buildings and towers within the walls are partly in ruins, the thick outer walls and parapets stand as sturdily as ever surrounding the great cliff. It is a grim castle of the Middle Ages with many secrets locked away in its rooms.

As I stood on the three or four steps which are all that remain of the great staircase today, I seemed to see the peasant maid of Lorraine, riding up to the l'Horloge Tower, escorted by six armed men, on her visionary mission to save France from the English. What must have been the feelings of this 18-year-old girl as she was escorted up these same steps to the great hall where the King and his nobles tried to make a fool of her. The great salon was lit by 50 torches, and 300 richly dressed noblewomen were present. King Charles had disguised himself and mingled with the throng. How Joan must have confounded them when she unerringly identified the ruler.

Great Sight

Today, only parts of the walls of the big hall, which were nine yards high, remain. It was from this castle that Joan of Arc led the Army which delivered Orleans and events were precipitated which were to take her life so tragically.

From across the river, the fort of Chinon is an awe-inspiring sight. Standing 90 metres above the river, the powerful grey walls are a crown on the great cliff, dominating the surrounding area for miles. The town, clinging to the hills far below, with the notched gables of its houses and its bulwarks, seems fastened still to a glorious past.

Eluding the guide for a few minutes, I climbed to the top of one of the towers in the fortification system. Today, you have a beautiful view. But then, they linked various parts of the fortress and gave protection to the soldiers stationed there. All forts on the outside wall were built in the 11th century.

Walls Seven Feet Thick

In the Tower of Coudray, which has escaped the fate and ruins of its neighboring towers, is the great dungeon with its vault in the Plantagenet style. Joan of Arc spent several days here in 1429 after her presentation to the King. There are only two of that kind existing in France today. Some of the tower walls are seven feet thick.

The dungeon housed other famous guests in 1308. The Grand Master and 140 dignitaries of the Knights Templar were imprisoned there 18 months. They were questioned by three representatives of the Pope and later transferred to Paris where 54 of them were burned alive. Underground passages led from this dungeon to three of the fortresses.

Chinon has been a fortified spot for 10 centuries beginning with the Romans. Henry II and Richard the Lion-Hearted left their imprint in the building of the fortifications as did Philippe-Auguste, a king of France.

Embarrassing Spot

Chinon will always have a special spot in my heart. Under the impression that the hotel in Tours would accept travellers' cheques, I brought only about $40 in cash from Paris. When I learned they wouldn't and realized what the bill was likely to be, I nearly had a nervous breakdown wondering how I would break the news that I coudn't pay them. The banks there were only open from 9-11 a.m. and we were always away by 8:30 every morning, for the day.

To be sure, my French friends comforted me by saying: "Why worry? The manager, Mr. Treynet has told you if you need anything just come and ask."

But somehow, I didn't think my request would be very popular.

We had a few minutes left after luncheon at Chinon before the bus started and by dashing into a credit exchange and impressing them that it was a state of emergency with a 15-minute deadline, I got my money and was able to pay my hotel bill a few days later and save my face. Chinon answered the SOS nobly.

Meant Business

Langeais is another of the Touraine chateaux which was built as a fortress and is situated in the heart of the town. Its forbidding walls repel the visitor until he enters the courtyard. Then he is startled to see a gracious architecture and graceful proportions.

Viewed from the exterior, it is a strong feudal fort. From the interior court, it is the residence of a grand seigneur, made of grim grey stone and strictly military style. Throughout the gracefully-proportioned rooms, one finds the emblems of the two rulers and fleurs de lis in many of the brick floorings. One of the chimney mantles is beautifully carved to represent the chateau in detail. Another collector's item to be found here is one of the first cupboards made in the Renaissance. Several storeys up, you can walk around the castle in a covered and enclosed stone passageway. The only openings, facing the river, were those for the soldiers to shoot from.

This was first a Roman camp and then a fortress which protected the church founded by St. Martin in the fourth century. At the end of the 10th century, the keep whose ruins still stand in the park there, was built. It is the oldest in France.

Constant Struggle

The houses of Anjou and Touraine fought over it. The struggle continued between the Kings of England, who became the Counts of Anjou and the Kings of France Richard the Lion-Hearted grabbed it and Philippe retook it. During the Hundred Years War the English again were masters. In this period, Langeais fell into ruins. The new chateau was built by Louis XI in 1465-1469. Charles VIII and Anné of Brittany were married there and made it their home.

But the thing I will remember Langeais most for . . . is that it is a town with a smell. It is the only place in France where I came across the open drains. But one of the balancing memories is the beautiful castle garden. One large bank was planted in beautiful spring flowers forming the shape of the fleur de lis. . . the national emblem.

TRAGEDY IN A FLASH — An overturned car is mute evidence of the power of a flash flood which swept southeastern Nebraska, drowning five persons, with 12 others still missing. The floods followed a night-long rainstorm. The bodies of two children were found near this wreckage in Dunbar, Nabr.

After All That!

WINNIPEG, May 12—(CP)—A Winnipeg housewife, rushing around her flooded home in knee-length rubber boots, Thursday paused long enough to open a letter delivered by a postman, also in hip-waders. It was her water bill.

Howe Receives Honorary Degree

VANCOUVER, May 12 (CP)—The University of British Columbia's mushrooming campus was black with robes Thursday as one of the largest graduating classes in the university's history began the two-day ceremonies.

Thursday's graduates—968 applied science students of a total of 1,800 in all faculties—heard Trade Minister Howe deliver a congregation address with an accent on engineering.

"Opportunities for young engineers," Mr. Howe said, "and for graduates generally, are as good, or better than they were 40 years ago."

"I think that Canadian industry, and the Canadian economy, will develop at a rate not less remarkable during the next quarter century than during the previous quarter century."

Mr. Howe was presented with an honorary degree of Doctor of Science, as was R. W. Diamond, president of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

Today, M. E. Nichols, pioneer journalist and one of the founders of The Canadian Press, and Marion Lindenburgh, director of the McGill School of Nursing, will receive honorary degrees.

Leans To Death

PITTSBURGH, May 12 (AP)—A 25-year-old girl calmly ignored the pleas of hundreds of people and jumped Thursday to her death from the seventh floor of the Grant Building in midtown Pittsburgh. Jeanne Ann Williams, a hotel elevator operator, leaped just as the screaming siren of a police car broke the tense silence of the spectators.

Attlee Won't Talk On Fuchs Information

LONDON, May 12 (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee said Thursday Britain had no reason to suspect Dr. Klaus Fuchs was Communist —"except a very vague allegation by the Nazis of many years before."

Attlee did not elaborate on this reference to the German-born British scientist, who recently was sentenced to 14 years imprisonment for betraying atomic secrets to Russia.

Replying to questions by Conservative members in the House of Commons, Attlee declined to be drawn out on the nature of the information concerning Fuchs provided by Canadian authorities in 1946.

He referred all questions to a statement made in the House of Lords April 5 by Viscount Jowitt, Lord Chancellor. In that statement Jowitt acknowledged that the name of Fuchs appeared in a notebook "belonging to a man who was one of those examined" by Canada's 1946 Royal commission on espionage.

FRIENDLY WELCOME — Sir Basil Brooke, Northern Ireland's Prime Minister, received a friendly welcome on his arrival in Ottawa for a week's visit in the Canadian capital. Police were on hand in case of any parallel of New York's anti-partition demonstration, but Sir Basil was greeted by nothing more hostile than a light, spring rain. Here Sir Basil (left) is being welcomed by Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, Secretary to the Governor-General.

Say 32nd House Burned By Douks

NELSON, B.C., May 12 (CP)—The 32nd house to be burned since April 14 went up in smoke Thursday in Krestova, nearby "capital" of the Sons of Freedom in Doukhobors.

At the same time, Board of Trade here decided to ask Attorney-General Gordon Wismer to appoint a Nelson representative on the British Columbia government's special committee into the Doukhobor problem.

The home of Anton Kolesnikoff, released on suspended sentence in February, was burned Thursday. There were no arrests.

Police halted a band of 15 teenagers who marched from Krestova to the highway bridge at Crescent Valley. Police have been guarding the bridge for weeks to bottle up the Sons in Krestova.

The boys were in the nude and a number of girls were partially stripped.

Students' Shouting Drives Red Dean Out

HAMILTON, May 12—(CP)—The "Red" Dean of Canterbury was escorted by police from a meeting Thursday night after being shouted down in the middle of a speech. Students in the audience sang "Take a Slow Boat to Russia" as he was escorted out.

The dean, the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, was speaking at Delta Collegiate at a meeting sponsored by the Hamilton Peace Council. Remarks of earlier speakers were greeted by continual mass coughing by some of the 1,500 in the hall.

The Rev. E. J. Etherington, a retired Anglican clergyman, called a halt to the meeting because of "disorderly conduct" after the dean got well into his speech. He appealed to police to halt the disturbance but ended the meeting after the uproar became general.

Clay Sure USSR Not Ready Yet

TORONTO, May 12 —(CP) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former commander of United States occupation forces in Germany, said Thursday the Russians are not willing to run the risk of a war until they are sure they can win it "and they would be damn fools if they thought they could win it now."

Gen. Clay, recently appointed chairman of the board of Continental Can Company Ltd., is making an inspection tour of the company's Canadian plants. He said Thursday in an interview he does not think a "physical war" likely in the near future.

Barbara Ann Takes $6,000 London Job

LONDON, May 12 (CP)—Producer Tom Arnold announced on Thursday he has completed negotiations for Barbara Ann Scott, Ottawa's ice queen, to star in a version of Rose Marie on skates. Arnold said he was paying the highest salary ever given a skating star in Europe—in the neighborhood of £2,000 ($6,200) weekly.

Miss Scott, now in Hollywood with Ice Capades, will fly to London for rehearsals which start at the end of June. The show opens in Harringay Arena July 13.

Directors of the show have been trying to lure a number of Canadian hockey players in Britain to act as the mountie chorus in the operetta.

It has been reported that Wyn Cook, formerly of Portage La Prairie and Ken Kennedy of Calgary, both stars with Harringay Aces of the British Ice Hockey Association have tried out for parts.

Get Wire Connection

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP)—Acting Revenue Minister Winters said in the Commons Thursday that the CBC has authorized a wire connection between Station CBW in Winnipeg and CKFI at Fort Francis, for relay of new bulletins about the Red river flood. He was answering a question by W. M. Benidickson (L-Kenora-Rainy River) who said there was "great anxiety" among citizens in the Rainy River district adjoining the Red river flood areas.

U.S. ANTHEM

The Star-Spangled Banner was designated the National Anthem of the United States by Act of Congress in 1931.

CSU Application Ruling Reserved

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP)—Ontario Supreme Court Thursday reserved judgment on an application by the Canadian Seamen's Union (Ind.) against Paterson Steamship Limited.

The injunction would prevent the company from engaging the members of the rival Seafarers' International Union (AFL) and altering terms of a contract the CSU claims to have with the firm.

Dewar Ferguson, vice-president of the CSU, and Hugh Lawson, Great Lakes sailor, claimed that contrary to a prior agreement the company was decreasing crew members, abolishing overtime and insisting employees be members of the SIU.

Norman L. Mathews, company counsel, said there was no agreement, and that any changes in working conditions were by consent of the employees themselves. Carl Herman, CSU counsel, maintained such consent could only come from the recognized bargaining agency.

Accuse Each Other

MONTREAL, May 12—(CP)—A convict and a bank robbery suspect Thursday appeared in criminal court and accused each other of the $3,320 holdup of a downtown Bank of Toronto branch last Jan. 9. Andre Masson, 31, who is charged with the armed robbery, testified that his roommate, 28-year-old Eugene Bacon, of Val d'Or, Que., had robbed the bank. Bacon, now serving a six-year penitentiary term for a jewelry store holdup, claimed that Masson robbed the bank and then gave him $200. Judgment was reserved until May 15.

Want Act Changed

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP) — Suburban York County decided Thursday to ask the Ontario government to change recent amendments to the Conservation Authorities Act. The act contains regulations under which watershed authorities are set up. One amendment states that where a specific piece of work, such as a dam, confers benefit on a municipality the municipal council must impose a special levy on the area benefitted. York County wants this regulation to be permissive instead of mandatory.

Move To End Oleo Sales Tax Has Been Defeated In Senate

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP) — A move to eliminate the eight-per-cent sales tax on margarine was defeated Thursday in the Senate.

The upper chamber, in its first formal division of the session, voted 38 to 14 to end a protracted and sometimes heated debate on a motion sponsored by Senator W. D. Euler (L—Ontario), Waterloo business man.

The farm element, which loomed as a major threat throughout the week-long debate on the three-cents-a-pound margarine tax, combined, almost to a man, to defeat the campaign waged by the man who had crusaded for the manufacture and sale of margarine more than two years ago.

As the Senate debate on margarine reached its climax, an echo of it was heard in the Commons where James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said that margarine was considered in the class of foods on which the sales tax should remain.

Denies Harm

The final phase of the Senate debate produced these points:

1. A statement by Senator Salter Hayden (L—Ontario), Toronto lawyer and business man, saying he had evidence to deny the allegation that margarine harmed eyesight.

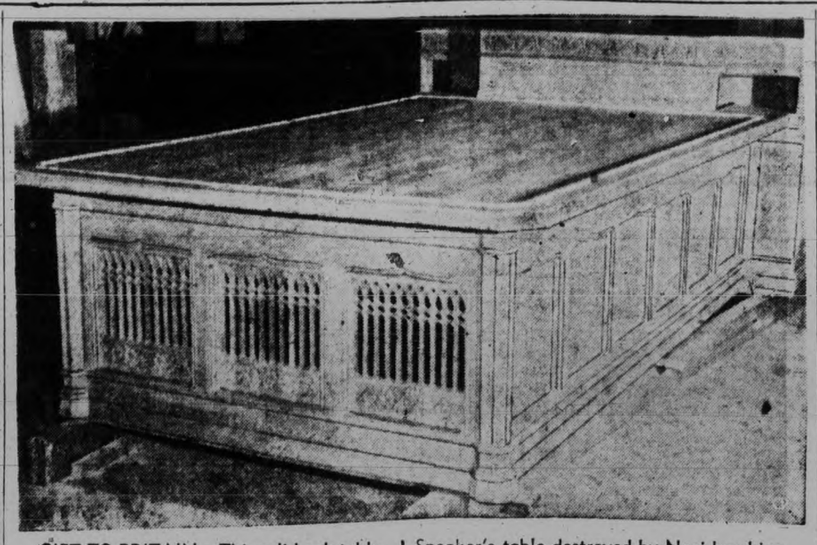
2. A call by Senator J. H. Lacasse (L—Ontario), to other provinces to follow the lead of Ontario and introduce compulsory pasteurization of milk. A doctor, he said his experience was the mortality rate in Canada fluctuated in accordance with the quality of milk.

3. A prediction by Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, that the continued competition of margarine eventually will create a scarcity of fluid milk in Canada.

Senator Hayden referred to a statement made by Senator J. W. de B. Farris (L—British Columbia) quoting a United States scientist to the effect that the exclusive use of margarine affected the eyesight in second and third generations.

He had proof he said, backed up by he health department and the Canadian medical profession, that this was not so. The factor involved was vitamin A and all margarine sold in Canada was fortified with that vitamin.

Senator Haig said there were indications that 100,000,000 pounds of margarine would be produced this year. The butter industry could not stand that kind of competition. Margarine would put butter "out of business." The first thing Canada knew it would have a "dearth of fluid milk."



GIFT TO BRITAIN—This solid oak table, a gift to Britain from the Canadian people, is nearing completion at a furniture plant in Waterloo, Ont. It will replace the Speaker's table destroyed by Nazi bombing House of Commons nine years ago. At the far end of the table are the secretaries' desks. On the near end will rest the mace, symbol of authority.

Army Leaves Cabano, Citizens' Job

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

CABANO, Que., May 12 (CP)—The army left this fire-stricken town today, turning over administration of food, shelter, clothing supplies and maintenance of order to district committees of the Red Cross.

A group of 12 soldiers remained to guard the gutted Caisse Populaire (People's Bank) but they are scheduled to leave today.

Meanwhile, more clothing and food supplies poured in for the 1,500 persons left homeless by Tuesday's fire. They are living in friends' homes and temporary shelters in various town buildings.

Dr. Sarto Sirois, district health officer, told of the need for medical supplies in Cabano where some of the women are reported suffering from shock and others are worn out rfom lack of sleep. Many persons also are being treated for burns and cuts.

Need Tonics

Dr. Jean Marie Tremblay, who works under Dr. Sirois in this mill town of 3,200 inhabitants, said first aid medical supplies were sufficient for the time being. He said the Red Cross had promised aid until Sunday.

Dr. Aime Fortin and Dr. Edmy Latulippe, the only doctors in the town, said tonics, sedatives, vitamin B and penicillin are needed for the weary population

So far there was no sign of an outbreak of disease. There were three cases of influenza. Dr Tremblay admitted hygienic conditions were not all that they should be. However, return of normal water facilities Thursday virtually eliminated any chance of an epidemic.

Mayor Emilien Morin, who lost his home in the blaze, today continued to plan reconstruction with Canon Jean Philippe Cyr, parish priest of the town.

Suspend Actress

HOLLYWOOD, May 12 (AP)—Warner Brothers Studio announced the suspension Thursday of Lauren Bacall, saying she had refused the role opposite Errol Flynn in a picture entitled "Rocky Mountain." It was the sixth suspension for the wife of movie tough guy Humphrey Bogart.

Touches of velvet and jeweled buttons highlight this season's handsomest prints. Typical example is the use of black velvet on cuffs and bodice to accent the finely-etched black and white abstract print of the two-piece dress (left). Designed by Eisenberg, the skirt has an easy-fitting swing and the jacket is buttoned from waistline to the modified shawl collar.

Big, jeweled buttons accentuate the deep V-neckline of the polkadotted navy and white print crepe dress (right). Vertical tucks which give the slim line from waist to knee release fullness in a wide flounce around the bottom of the skirt. Soft belt is bow-tied in front.

After School Lunch Needed By Growing Boy or Girl

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 12 — (CP) — Between-meals 'snacks' are about as important as 'bebop' to the bobby-soxers. In fact if Mother's wise she'll keep the cookie-jar filled with plenty of milk in the refrigerator for their after-school nibbling.

Health department officials say all teen-agers have "tremendous" appetites. If chosen carefully the between-meal lunches can help provide some of the body-building and energy-giving foods that growing youngsters need.

Fruits, citrus fruit juices, ice cream and sandwiches make nutritious snacks.

Fillings for the sandwiches can be both tasty and nutritious. A nut and raisin mixture provides plenty of that necessary protein. Other fillings: mashed banana with peanut butter; dates (stoned and cooked a few minutes in a small amount of water) with lemon juice and chopped nuts; sliced tomatoes and cucumbers; chopped onion with peanut butter.

Hot-water gingerbread also would be a special treat, particularly favorable if topped with a little whipped cream left over from lunch.

Ingredients: 2¼ cups flour; one-quarter cup wheat germ (if desired); one-half cup sugar; 1½ teaspoon ginger; one-half teaspoon cinnamon; three-quarters teaspoon soda; one teaspoon salt; two-thirds cup molasses; four tablespoons softened fat; one-half cup boiling water; one egg (if omitted use a little more liquid).

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Make a hole in the middle of mixture, pour in molasses, melted dripping and boiling water (beaten egg if used). Mix quickly. Pour into buttered pan or muffin-tins. Bake in moderately slow oven about 50 minutes (individual 25 to 30 minutes).

Here's a recipe for an eggless and milkless Applesauce Cake which may prove helpful when the larder is a bit bare.

Ingredients: One cup sugar; one-third cup shortening; one teaspoon salt; one teaspoon cinnamon; one-half teaspoon cloves; few grains nutmeg; one-half to one cup chopped raisins or dates; one teaspoon soda; one cup sour applesauce; 1¾ cups flour.

Cream together the first six ingredients. Add fruit. Dissolve one teaspoon soda in a little warm water and stir into one cup sour applesauce. Beat thoroughly and add flour. Bake slowly 45 minutes.

Cooking with care often is the secret of success in getting the most food value from vegetables.

Health department officials say vegetables should be cooked in a small amount of boiling water with lid on. If cooked too long or in too much water much of the food will be lost.

Old Time Tea Makes Money For Art Association's Gift Painting for New Hospital

The old-time tea by the Peterborough Women's Art Association was an outstanding work of art. With a collection of pieces from Victorian homes, the period in which this city's century of progress commenced, it was a tribute to those who have played a part.

A civic project formed the basic reason for this event. To the new Civic Hospital the Association is giving a framed oil painting of considerable value and proceeds of the tea will go toward its purchase. Pre-viewing the picture Thursday afternoon, guests acclaimed the selection.

Admission ticket sales numbered close to 500 with more than 100 being made at the door by treasurers Mrs. L. M. Brooks and Mrs. H. R. Sills.

However, crowding in the tea room, for which the YWCA Green Room was used, was mostly overcome through directing of guests to the exhibition room by Mrs. C. M. Scott and Miss Linden Hall.

President Mrs. N. D. Seaton received throughout the afternoon, assisted by vice-presidents, Mrs. H. R. Scott and Mrs. W. G. Ovens.

Tea Room Lovely

Conversation-piece of the day was the old-time field flower table bouquet, arranged in a 100-year-old pressed glass comport, suitably set on starched, crocheted net doilie, centring a fine old damask tablecloth. The flowers were sweet peas, full-blown pink roses, pansies, yellow daisies, red anenome, and blue cornflower, more popularly called bachelor buttons by this city's older folk, and tiny pink and blue clusters peeping from under the doilie's stiff frills.

Gold-stencilled designs on old black Japan trays had been retouched for use on the table. One held a china tea set 125 years old which had sugar bowl and cream pitcher almost as large as the tea pot itself, the other a set of white china with coin gold stripe, 75 years old. An antique tea set of old Crown Devon china was used at an auxiliary table. Pouring tea were Mrs. M. J. Swanston and Mrs. H. R. Scott, representing local and provincial government and past presidents Mrs. J. E. R. Munro and Mrs. F. E. Hooper.

Refreshments, though fresh from members' ovens, were of the kind served when the now valuable, old glass bread plates and stemmed comports were in daily use. Topping off the offerings of heavily buttered fancy breads, sugared cookies and macaroons, guests were offered thick mint drops and humbugs.

Elaborate bisque figurines, nearly 100 years old, were mantel decorations, the piano was draped with very old silk shawl and topped with a beautiful old tray, and interesting odd pieces were to be seen around the room. Some relics, mostly glassware, were offered for sale.

Out of the ordinary too were the home baked food products which sold as rapidly as they could be handled. Scrumptious icing covered three, four and maybe five layers of cake and there were old fashioned cookies and home-made bread and buns too.

Victorian Room Set

The exhibition room was hung with samplers, dated as early as 1765, haind-tinted Victorian steel engravings, Bartlett prints, a hand-worked silk picture of 1790, and of particular local interest, a water color flower painting by Mrs. Catherine Parr Traill.

A Victorian living room reproduction was of a finesse defying improvement. Those who have taken interest in period rooms set up at world faairs and large exhibitions, claim it was as well done as any.

Giving personality to the room were Mrs. Thomas Glover, wearing a pale mauve silk trousseau dress of 1850 and Mrs. W. F. Connal in a gown of that period that showed infinite care in designing and making, and they were doing needlepoint and embroidery. Not forgotten was the family album picture on the living room table. Corner what-nots were filled ornaments, sea shells and brass candlesticks were on the mantel. Most unusual was the coal scuttle of carved walnut, brought from Belfast by Mr. Jas. Turnbull's family. Fender benches, rocking chairs, Hesiox chairs, oil lamps, an old fashioned desk hooked rugs, tin-types, were typical furnishings. A very valuable Gothic clock centred the mantel, beneath "Home Sweet Home."

Valuable Antiques

The antiques collected for display by Mrs. F. E. Hooper and Mrs. W. J. Gilling were dated from 1790 in a Swiss pewter wine jug. Stories and traditions connected with each piece would provide a substantial historic education, and though the collectors made numbers of calls on the modern instrument of communication and worked quite hard generally, they felt it worthwhile to themselves as well as a means or bringing hidden art before the public.

Particularly noticeable, all 75 to 150 years of age, were a glass "strawberry dish"; a stage coach dressing case and fittings, cased in silver, with the "secret" drawer for jewels. English cottage ornaments; lamp table with border of Victorian beadwork; "fleur-de-lis" plates, a child's red riding hood bowl, open salt dish in form of a sleigh, all of milk glass; an amber glass butter dish made like an old wood kitchen stove; a banana dish; early American pressed glass in "button and daisy" and "bar and fan" patterns; a desk lamp to direct the candle light downward; opaque blue glassware; lustre china of 1820.

There were beautiful goblets that belonged to Mrs. Seaton's grandmother, a cup without a handle and pieces from a set of dishes brought on a sailing vessel to Cobourg harbour in 1820; a Cloisonne French mantel clock of 1843; a snuff box in the form of a shoe used in 1841; a Circa English tea set of 1850; pewter water pitcher, 1840 Wedgewood pieces.

Background of the display was of blankets, hand-woven with wool from the owner's sheep; a prize-winning hand-embroidered quilt, now the property of Mrs. H. V. Dobson; a 100-year-old patchwork quilts, paisley shawls, one 300 years old, the others brought from Scotland more than 100 years ago; a black lace shawl and black lace basque bodices of the previous century. And in the foreground, a large size spinning wheel and several revolving wool winders and the carders.

Widow Loves Wily Bachelor Advised to Call His Bluff

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow 26 years old with a 5-year-old son and hold down a good job that may some day be a big one I am very much in love with a mon whose interests are similar to mine and feel that would be very happy together, and that I could help him both socially and in his work. I know he is very fond of me, but he is wary of women. We see each other frequently and he telephones me every day, but it goes no farther. How can I make him propose to me?

Dorothy Dix

L. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Tolling a man to the altar is a difficult task For the men who are averse to marriage are generally a wary lot who scent danger in a woman's every move and they develop an ability to walk with an uncanny adroitness among the best-laid traps

Call His Bluff

In your particular case I should think the best way to bring the man to the proposing point would be by calling his bluff, so to speak, and giving him to understand that he must either put up or shut up. Turn the cold shoulder on him Withdraw from his society Make him miss you And if that doesn't cause him to realize that you are necessary to his happiness, nothing will

You see, one reason why men fight shy of the altar is because they can have the pleasure of women's society without marrying them and assuming the responsibility of matrimony. A man can fasten himself upon a pretty and clever young woman, such as you are. He can have her for a chum with whom to go to places and do things He can tell her of his troubles and get the moral support of her sympathy and understanding without tying himself down to her or assuming her board and shopping ticket.

Your predicament, which is shared by thousands of other women, calls attention again to the injustice of the convention that puts a taboo upon women doing their courting openly Certainly it is just as important to a woman to get the husband she wants as it is to a man to get the wife he desires, and it would save a lot of heartbreak and disappointment and weary waiting if a girl could go up to the lad she fancied and ask him how about it matrimonially speaking.

And men would always have the veto power.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 18. I know my husband loves me very much but he refuses to give me a personal allowance and I feel like a beggar when I ask him for money for such feminine necessities as powder and lipstick, to say nothing of clothes. I do without the things I need rather than ask him. I envy the girls in his employ who can look forward to a pay envelope on Saturday night.

F G.

ANSWER I have written on this subject a million times and I shall write on it a million times more, hoping that I can make a husband here and there understand how foolish and unjust he is in refusing to give his wife a definite personal allowance for her own use

The majority of husbands do not do this through stinginess, because in the end it saves nothing to pay a wife's bills instead of giving her the money to pay them herself. They do it because they have the idea that women do not feel about financial independence as they do, and that they are not humiliated by having to panhandle a husband for every cent they have.

No man would want to go to even the kindest father and ask him for carfare and cigarette money Nor would he think it fair to work for father without getting a salary, and having father dole him out a nickel now and then and buy him clothes when he needed them. If a woman hasn't enough sense to handle a few dollars, she isn't fit to be a man's wife and rear his children If he can't trust her with his pocketbook, surely he can't trust her with his name. And, if he doesn't care enough for her not to want to humiliate her by turning her into an unpaid servant, he should not have married her.

DEAR DOROTHP DIX: How can a girl tell if she is boy crazy?

E. M. W.

ANSWER: Same way she could tell if she had the measles. It breaks out all over her and is an affliction she cannot hide. If you think about boys all day and and dream about them by night; if every little pimply adolescent youth seems like a hero and a gift from God to you; if there is no pleasure in doing anything if boys are not along, then you are boy crazy. And may Heaven preserve ou while the mental aberration lasts!

Dutch Princess Visits London

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, May 12 — (CP) — A little Dutch princess who formed her first words in Canada is to lay a corner-stone in London in July.

Ten-year-old Princess Irene of the Netherlands, second in line to Holland's throne, will inaugurate the rebuilding of the Church of Austin Friars in the City of London, oldest Dutch church in the world otuside the Netherlands.

Previously it had been announced that Juliana would perform the ceremony but plans now are for her daughter to officiate, with the queen probably accompanying her.

Princess Irene's name already is familiar to former Canadian soldiers. Canadian-trained Netherland troops, formed into the Princess Irene Brigade, fought during part of the second world war as part of the First Canadian Army.

The little girl was brought to England during the May, 1940, flight from Holland of the Netherlands royal family and government. Christened a month later in the private chapel at Buckingham Palace, she then, with others of the family, spent the remaining years of the war at Ottawa.

There is an open gate, at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone.
And there is a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own.
Beyond this gate our loved ones
Find happiness and rest,
There is a great comfort in the thought,
Our loving Father knows best
—Sadly missed by Willis and Helen.

BRYAN—In loving memory of our grandmother, Sarah M. Byran, who passed away three years ago, May 12, 1947.

HATHERLY—In loving memory of my dear husband, James Hatherly, who passed away three years ago, May 12.
When evening shades are falling,
And I am sitting alone,
In my heart there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
'Tis lonesome here without you,
There is such a vacant place,
For we never hear your footsteps,
Nor see your loving face.
As we loved you so we miss you,
In our memory you are dear,
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.
To those who have a father
Cherish him with care
There will never be another
To fill his vacant chair.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by his wife Vera and daughter Audrey.

ABANDON VITAL BRIDGE IN FLOOD AREA

Two Convicts Trapped Near Sault

Flee Into Woods As Police Fire Six Shots In Chase

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., May 13 (CP)—Police said Friday night they have trapped two notorious United States convicts—brothers Lloyd and

The desparadoes, described by officers as vicious and ready to shoot to kill if cornered, escaped from a Toledo, O., prison May 8 and staged a $4,000 robbery.

Three aircraft, speedboats of the United States Coast Guard and more than 100 officers and armed civilians are hunting the pair. They are believed hiding between the St. Mary's river, Tolly swamp and the Barbeau woodlands—about 20 miles from here.

Six shots were fired when the brothers were sighted Friday. All the shots missed and they fled into the bush.

Merchant Suspicious

The manhunt was touched off when Paul, 24, asked a hardware store dealer in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., if he could purchase a gun. Then he inquired, police said, how he could get into Canada without surrendering his automobile registration.

The merchant became suspicious, took down the automobile licence and called police.

Police said Paul and his 29-year-old brother abandoned the car when they closed in. Their getaway car was stolen from Toledo after the escape. Owner of the vehicle, Joseph Grubstein, 46, has been missing since May 9 and foul play is feared.

Sgt. J. L. Campbell of Michigan State Police said here Friday: "We got right in on them four times today, but they proved tricky and eluded us."

POLISH MINISTER LEAVES—Eugeniusz Milnikiel, Polish minister to Canada, left, asked to be recalled to Poland because of his "failure" to settle disputes between Poland and Canada. On the eve of his departure from Ottawa he is seen chatting with Eugeniusz Markowski, who succeeds him as head of the Polish Legation.

Rumor US Gov't To Ask Egyptian Queen To Leave

CAIRO, Egypt, May 13—(AP)—Cairo newspapers said today the United States government is expected to ask Egypt's Queen mother Nazli, her daughter Princess Fathyia and the latter's commoner bridegroom, Riad Ghali, to leave the United States "in the coming few weeks."

Dispatches from the Washington correspondents of Al Misri, Al Ahram and the weekly Akhbar El Yom said the U.S. has refused to extend their residence visas.

The Queen mother had consented to her 19-year-old daughter's marriage April 25 in San Francisco and has been trying to obtain approval of the match from her son, King Farouk, who publicly disapproved of the wedding.

Queen Nazli and her daughters, Princesses Faikah and Fathyia, have been in the United States since 1946. Riad Ghali, a Christian Coptic, is the Queen's political adviser. The Princess is a Moslem.

It is reported that Egypt, in talks at government level with the United States, had asked that the Queen Mother and Princess Fathia be ordered to leave the U.S.

Italy 'Framed' As Guns Seized

ROME, May 13 —(AP)—The Italian news agency Ansa said today guns and explosives had been planted aboard an Italian steamship seized by Yugoslav police Thursday in Trieste free territory, so that Yugoslavia could create an incident. Yugoslav authorities said they had seized the vessel after two sub-machine guns and a case of hand grenades had been found aboard. The captain and nine crew members were reported arrested.

Istrani sources in Trieste said it would have been impossible to hide any quantity of arms aboard a ship leaving Trieste under the customarily strict police vigilance.

'Love Them Birds' Buys Truck As Proof

WISE, Va., May 13 (AP)—Lee F. Craiger is fond of birds.

A month ago Craiger went out to his heavy truck one morning to find that a wren had built her nest in the tool compartment and was sitting snugly on a nest of eggs.

Craiger hated to disturb that bird.

So he bought another truck to use while the mama wren hatched her young.

Now he's receiving congratulations. The nest is full of of baby birds but Craiger still won't budge the truck until they've feathered and flown away.

Firecracker Factory Explodes, 18 Killed

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 13 — (AP). — A firecracker factory exploded in the town of Alagoinhas in Bahia State, and killed 18 persons, including two children, reports received here Friday said. The factory was preparing firecrackers for St. John's Day, June 24, which is celebrated with the noisemakers.

Court Rules Reds Own Planes

HONG KONG, May 13 (Reuters)—The full court of the colony of Hong Kong, by dismissing an appeal brought by American Civil Air Transport Incorporated, today confirmed the Communist government in Peiping as owners of 71 aircraft and other assets of two former Nationalist air lines.

The representatives of the Peiping government will not be allowed to remove the planes, however, unless no further suit has been brought by Civil Air Transport within 21 days.

The last course open to the C.A.T. is to ask leave of the Hong Kong Supreme Court to appeal to the Privy Council in London —the supreme court of appeal of the Commonwealth.

The company's appeal today was against the decision of Chief Justice Sir Leslie Gibson in refusing an application for the appointment of a receiver for the assets of the Chinese Nationalist Airlines, China National Aviation and Central Air Transport.

Cold War In Fur Trade Russians Pull Switch

NEW YORK, May 12—(AP)—Here's a new twist to the cold war:

The Associated Fur Manufacturers of New York disclosed today it made a deal with Soviet Russia for the exchanges of 12 live Russian sables. The animals were to be used for breeding purposes.

The trade was completed. But the New York furriers said they now have discovered the Russian sables were sterilized before shipment.

Lift Senator's Shoes During Crime Lecture

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP) — Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois arrived Friday for this weekend's Democratic meeting—without shoes.

"Somebody stole 'em as he slept on a train coming from Washington, Douglas explained. He bought a new pair near the station.

Then he went to talk to a high school assembly on crime prevention.

No Early Settlement Seen In Train Firemen Strike

CHICAGO, May 13—(CP)—Hopes of a early settlement of the crippling railroad strike appeared dimmer today as the four-day walkout by locomotive firemen cut deeper into the economy of the United States.

There had been earlier reports that the rail union had offered new proposals designed to bring peace with the four affected carriers.

But chairman Francis O'Neill, Jr., of the National (Railway) mediation board apparently squelched the report. After a meeting of the four big railroads involved in the strike, he said.

"They're just as deadlocked now as they were at the start of the strike Wednesday morning"

Meanwhile, the number of jobless mounted to nearly 200,000 and threatened to go higher. A railroad spokesman in Los Angeles said that firemen are to strike against a fifth railroad—the Union Pacific's Los Angeles-to-Salt Lake City run.

W. T. Price, Union Pacific traffic manager in Los Angeles, said the Union will pull its firemen off trains operating on the Los Angeles-to-Salt Lake City run at 6 p.m. PDT (9 p.m. EDT) today.

The chief issue is the union's demand for a second fireman on multiple-unit Diesel locomotives. The walkout involved 18,000 firemen on parts of the New York Central, the Pennsylvania and all of the Santa Fe, and the Southern Railway.

Meanwhile, there were new reports of minor violence on the strikebound New York Central Lines—at Elkhart, Ind., and Cleveland.

In Knoxville, Tenn., three men —two of them employees of the strike-bound Southern Railroad —were arrested Friday night after rifles and ammunition were found in a car occupied by the Southern employees.

See Contract For Wheat With Britain

Expect Agreement At $1.80 Bushel; No Official Comment

LONDON, May 13—(Reuters)—Reports that Canada hopes to negotiate a new wheat contract with Britain, "not dissimilar" from the present one, has received no official comment in London.

But, informally, officials have said that in their private opinions this would be "a very reasonable process." Private traders and circles close to the International Wheat Council also have given the idea their informal blessing.

These officials believe that under a new Anglo-Canadian contract, it would be possible for Britain to undertake to buy a high proportion of her international wheat agreement quota from Canada without controvening the terms of the agreement.

If a price were agreed upon, it would have to be somewhere within the maximum and minimum levels of the international agreement. In the present state of the grain market, it would probably have to be at or near the maximum of $1.80 a bushel. But Canada would not be able to sell quota wheat to Britain or anyone else above that price. At present Britain is paying Canada $2 a bushel for her wheat, under the Anglo-Canadian Wheat contract, due to expire July 31.

Traders think that it would be "extremely reasonable" to give Canadian farmers a more definite promise that their crop would be bought than exists now under the international agreement.

International Pact

Under the international pact no importing country is bound to buy quota wheat except at the minimum price, and no exporting country is bound to sell, except at the maximum price.

Britain will obviously have to buy a large amount of dollar wheat in any event, because she could not obtain enough to feed the British population elsewhere. And she would plainly prefer Canadian to United States wheat partly for "family" reasons, and partly because Canadian wheat is of better quality than that from the United States.

Guild Certified For News Service

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board announced today it has certified the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) as bargaining agent for editorial employees of Press News, Ltd.

The company, which provides news for radio stations, is the subsdiary of the Canadian Press, Canada's national news co-operative.

The unit found appropriate for collective bargaining by the board consists of all editorial employees within Canada, including office boys, but excluding the manager, the manager's secretary and news editors.

Polish Envoys Quit To Flee To Argentina

HELSINKI, May 13 (AP)—Two more Polish diplomats in Finland have broken with their Communist-dominated government and are planning to go to Argentina, a diplomatic source said today. The informant said that Dr. J. Zetroski, cultural attache at the Polish Legation, and Vice-Consul F. Miszkowski had gone to Sweden after political controversies with their superiors.

Atom Powered Sub

AMSTERDAM, May 13 (AP)—The First Sea Lord of the Admiralty said Friday Britain has an atom-powered submarine in the experimental stage. Admiral Lord Fraser of North Cape did not elaborate on his statement, made at a press conference during an official visit to the Netherlands.

Czechs Jam Streets To Get British News

UK Information Offices Ordered Closed By Red Government

PRAGUE, May 13. (Reuters)—Hundreds of Czechs today jammed British information service offices, in one of Prague's main thoroughfares, to get reading matter before the offices closed at mid-day on the orders of the Czechoslovakian Foreign Ministry.

Police controlled the crowd outside the building.

From the lined sidewalk, small groups were let into the building where they loaded themselves with English books, periodicals, magazines and other reading matter which were freely distributed.

The British council, also ordered to close by midday, was similarly engaged in distributing hundreds of old copies of English magazines and periodicals.

The Czechoslovakian government in a note Friday denounced its 1947 cultural agreement with Britain.

The government accused Britain of conducting—through the BBC, the British Information Service and the British Council —activities hostile to the Czech Republic and incompatible with the letter and spirit of the cultural agreement.

The note accused the British Information Service of employing persons carrying out subversive activities.

Last April the government took similar action against the United States, ordering the US Information Services to close.

$500,000 Fire Sweeps Plant At Owen Sound

OWEN SOUND, May 13 (CP)—A shift in the wind helped the fighters to bring under control a fire which started in the William Kennedy and Sons machinery plant here Friday night. The blaze, causing damage of more than $500,000, for a time had threatened several other structures.

Destroyed were the company's machine shops, built in 1940, with their contents, and two company-owned houses. The machine shops contained machinery valued at close to $500,000.

Employees and volunteers aided in the successful battle to save adjoining buildings, including the Canadian National Railways station and an ice company plant, with a row of seven houses. The roofs of these buildings were doused with water at the height of the fire to prevent danger from flying sparks and timbers.

Sounds Alarm

The alarm was given at 6 p.m. when the machine company night watchman, Tom Dearden, found the machine shop was a mass of smoke and flames. The fire was under control by 8 p.m.

The cause of the fire was not officially ascertained, but was believed to have been either a blaze in the roof or a short-circuit in one of the three cranes in the machine shop.

The plant's office building was saved and office records and equipment, carried out when the fire was spreading, were later returned.

The blaze spread swiftly. Victor Eden, one of the last employees to leave the plant, said there was no sign of fire at 5:35 p.m. Dense smoke hampered firefighters and a major conflagration threatened until the wind shifted to the north and firemen were able to gain control.

Discarded One Year Stove Yields $3,062

DE SMET, S.D., May 13.—(AP).—An old stove with $3,062 in it carried the luck of the Irish today.

The stove belonged to an elderly bachelor, Pat Lavelle. When he died a year ago, all the property that could be found was auctioned—about $12,000 worth. But Pat's stove wasn't counted worth selling. As a stove, it wasn't much.

Somebody tossed it in an old shed. It was still there when a neighbor, Peter Palmlund, bought Lavelle's place. Palmlund came upon a plush-covered box containing the $3,062 in bills and coin.

The Irish angle? Heirs to Lavelle's estate are 19 cousins, most of them living in Ireland.

Lie Likely To Prolong UN Visit In Moscow

MOSCOW, May 13 (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie worked far into the night after a 90-minute talk Friday with Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia.

Here to confer with Russian officials in an effort to ease tension between the East and West, the UN official may visit Moscow for a longer period than he had originally planned, a reliable source reported.

When he arrived Thursday, Lie indicated he would be in the Russian capital only two or three days.

Big 3 In One To Strengthen East Against Red Pressure

LONDON, May 13—(AP)—The west's Big Three foreign ministers today gave urgent consideration to strengthening the middle and far east economically and militarily against Russian aggression. In their final day of conferences before the meeting of Atlantic Pact foreign ministers, the diplomats—Ernest Bevin of Britain, Dean Acheson of the United States and Robert Schuman of France—dropped the problems of the Germans and Europe temporarily to take up eastern affairs.

Officials of the Conference said the ministers felt "far east problems are urgent and definite decisions are needed and must be taken quickly."

It was expected that communiques to be issued later today would lay down general policies for future big three moves in Europe, but might be more precise and decisive on far eastern problems, particularly Indo-China.

It was unlikely anything would be done on the China question since Britain has recognized the Communist regime and France and the United States has not.

Middle-east problems to be considered were mainly economic rather than military. The United States was reported to feel considerable concern, for example, about strengthening the economic position of Iran's government.

Friday the foreign ministers made formal an agreement on full incorporation of West Germany into the western European family.

It was likely that most decisions on Germany would not be made public, but would be left to the occupation powers' high commissioners to communicate to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government in Bonn, Germany.

Acheson made the German plan one of his top projects for the meeting which reviewed the progress of the anti-Communist world in economic, political and military spheres.

The French, who brought two dramatic surprise proposals to the conference, had one turned down and the intentions of the other approved.

It was learned that Schuman brought up Premier Georges Bidault's proposal for a "supreme Atlantic Council for peace."

Britain and the United States turned thumbs down on the plan because it would superimpose another organization of the many already linking the countries of western Europe, an informed source said.

The Schuman plan for pooling the coal and steel resources of France and Germany under international authority, which other countries would be invited to join won guarded approval in principle, a western spokesman said.

The spokesman said the ministers could not take any definite stand on the plan, however, until all the details were surveyed.

Flood Relief Fund At $3,496 More Promised

REGINA, May 13 (CP)—The The Manitoba flood-relief fund in Saskatchewan Friday night stood at $3,496, with thousands more promised by local governments, service organizations and private citizens.

The fund, to be administered by a co-ordinating committee will be used primarily for care of sick and disabled evacuees from southern Manitoba.

Now in Regina are 142 refugees. About 250 more were expected today.

Also housed here are 50 students from flooded-out St. Mary's College in Winnipeg. Total accommodation in the province stood at almost $8,000.

Yorkton has offered accommodation for 1,000, the Kerrobert area, 2,000, Carlyle 700, Moose Jaw 400, Maple Creek and Cypress Hills provincial park region, 200, Prince Albert 500, and Weyburn 400.

Housing surveys of Regina and Saskatoon had not yet been completed. It was expected they could handle at least 10,000 between them if necessary.

Customs Aids Cupid Ava Gets Necklace

BARCELONA, Spain, May 13—(AP)—The emerald necklace, valued at $10,000, which crooner Frankie Sinatra brought from New York Thursday has finally delivered to his actress friend, Ava Gardner.

The Spanish customs, which impounded the gems, relented today and promised Ava she was free to take them out of Spain without further red tape when she leaves.

Meanwhile, Frankie and Ava avoided reporters and photographers. They remained at the house the Hollywood actress rented in the tiny Catalan village of Tossa, on the Mediterranean coast.

At Tossa, Ava is making a movie with British actor James Mason and a Spanish bullfighter, Mario Cabre, said to be playing a leading role with Ava just now, both in and out of pictures. With Frankie's arrival on the scene, Cabre made a polite exit. He is at nearby Gerona.

Floor Price On Butter Helps Consumer—Gardiner

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner indicated Friday night in the Commons the floor price on butter helps the consumer as well as the producer. D. C. Harkness (PC, Calgary East) replied that when the consumer read that in the papers he would "laugh, and laugh, and laugh."

As the House embarked on a study of agricultural estimates, Mr. Gardiner told the chamber that although the department held about 17,000,000 pounds of butter in storage, it did not consider that amount a surplus.

Use As Reserve

Canada required that much butter as a reserve during the year's operations in producing, buying and selling. The new drop in the floor price from 58 cents to 53 cents a pound would mean a loss to the government of five cents a pound on the surplus it held.

"It might cost us $1,000,000 or $1,500,000, but what is that compared with the 372,000,000 pounds of butter sold in Canada at stabilized prices?" Mr. Gardiner asked. The price was stabilized to both the producer and the consumer.

Mr. Harkness said Mr. Gardiner was an "extremely ingenious dialectician."

Hard To Convince

The consumer, he said, was going to be "hard to convince" that the price had been fixed for their benefit.

The plain facts were that as long as butter prices were higher than margarine and as long as margarine was produced in Canada butter production would not be able to withstand the competition and surpluses would mount.

Fought Losing Battle To Open Bridge Flood Up Half Inch

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

WINNIPEG, May 13—(CP)—The Army announced early today it is giving up its fight to reopen Norwood bridge, vital link across the flooding Red river between Winnipeg and St. Bonifare, Man. Troops and diking equipment were to be withdrawn immediately, Brig. O. M. Kay, announced at 6 a.m. Residents of a relatively-small area of Fort Rouge district, at the Winnipeg end of the span, would be evacuated within three hours.

Sound trucks moved through the streets immediately to warn residents. The announcement came as a surprise to the flood-beseiged cities on either bank of the Red. Through the night the river held steady for six hours, then rose only one-half inch by dawn.

Sound trucks moved through too high at the Winnipeg end, had been the main supply artery for the huge Norwood dike skirting part of St. Boniface. For several days, efforts to reopen it had been a top-priority project.

Brig. Kay, a deputy flood-control commander, said he stopped shipment of diking supplies to the bridge shortly after midnight.

Losing Battle

"The reports of flood-control engineers have assured us that our efforts to reopen this bridge approach for traffic of all kinds was a losing battle," he said in a statement.

"In addition, all dikes in the area were being imperilled. Our operations were proving dangerous to the structure itself."

The area which will be flooded in Fort Rouge is bounded on the east by Main Street, on the west by Clarke, on the north by the Assiniboine river and on the south by the Red. This is equivalent to some 20 city blocks of residential and industrial property.

Quebec Cabinet To Aid 2 Towns

QUEBEC, May 13 — (CP). — Definite plans of provincial government assistance for re-building the fire-ravaged Lower St. Lawrence towns of Rimouski and Cabano will be decided at a Provincial Cabinet meeting next week.

Premier Duplessis revealed at a press conference Friday that the Cabinet will discuss next Wednesday what steps the government will take to help restore towns.

He said the government will certainly contribute toward the costs of rebuilding Rimouski, seminary, hospital, home for the aged, and orphanage and will replace the burned-out Rimouski court house and jail.

There will also be "generous and appropriate" government assistance to Cabano, but definite plans for the towns will come before the Cabinet next week.

Fire In OAC Building Damage At $175,000

KEMPTVILLE, May 13 (CP)—Fire roared through the machinery demonstration building at the Ontario Agricultural College here early today, causing damage estimated at $175,000.

The two-storey brick structure, housing some of the school's most valuable farm equipment, was destroyed. A water-tower-erected more than 50 feet away also was razed.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, was reported beyond control when the Kemptville volunteer fire department arrived on the scene. However, they succeeded in halting the flames from spreading to the main college building.

Gardiner Gets Going Over On Farm Policy

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP) — It was farmers' day in the Commons Friday—western farmers' day.

Members from Canada's western agricultural areas held the floor most of the day. They had plenty to say, most of it critical, to Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

The opportunity was afforded first when Mr. Gardiner introduced amendments to the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, under which western farmers suffering drought or other disasters get financial help. Another, even wider, opportunity came when Mr. Gardiner brought his departmental estimates in for consideration.

But there was so much talking that not an item of the estimates — totalling $57,000,000 — got through.

Not a Surplus

In a general statement, Mr. Gardiner said Canada's butter stocks, totalling 17,000,000 pounds was not a surplus. And the government's floor price helped the consumer as well as the producer.

He called on western farmers to produce more beef and not worry about "getting back to hogs immediately. There was money to be made in beef. As for wheat, he never had advocated cutting wheat acreage and believed that by rotating crops and using about 20,000,000 to 23,000,000 acres a year for wheat, Canada would produce more than under any other system.

O. L. Jones (CCF-Yale) urged that Canada seriously consider barter deals with other nations. H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) appealed for a national water conservation policy. D. C. Harkness (PC-Calgary East) said western farmers were not producing as many hogs now because they couldn't afford the high prices for coarse grains.

At the house opening, Defence Minister Claxton announced a new transport department regulation, effective May 5, by which all planes flying south of the United States border must file flight plans. It is being issued at the request of American authorities who want to ensure that all planes are identified.

Tax Reductions

Acting Revenue Minister Winters announced that cash donations to assist victims of the Manitoba floods and the Rimouski and Cabano, Que., fires, would be allowed as income tax deductions.

The PFAA debate was highlighted by a flare-up between Mr. Gardiner and R. R. Knight (CCF-Saskatoon). Mr. Knight pressed for an answer to his question whether PFAA and would be given to co-operative farmers leasing land from the Saskatchewan Provincial Government if they were hit by drought.

Mr. Gardiner charged Mr. Knight only wanted to be able to "go to those people and say 'Gardiner said you never will get Prairie farm assistance,'" and added heatedly that he was "not going to answer the question."

Being Unfair

Mr. Knight said Mr. Gardiner was being unfair. He could ask any question he wanted to ask.

"Yes," replied the Agriculture Minister, "but I don't have to answer."

Main charge of Opposition members was that the Agriculture Minister was attempting to "dictate provincial land policy" by an amendment that would halt PFAA payments on land leased to farmers by any government, municipal, provincial or Federal. This, they said, would force farmers to buy the land to qualify.

Another feature of the Bill which brought criticism provided that land located in drought areas but not itself hit by drought, would not receive the Federal aid. Another amendment would discourage farmers from settling on sub-marginal land, most of which was leased from provincial governments.

2,000 Acclaim King Of Corn

More than 2,000 "music lovers" attended the return visit to Peterborough of King of Corn, Spike Jones, Musical Depreciation Revue at the Summer Gardens on Friday night.

With cow bells, car horns, whistles and pistols the Jones' cast of 44 presented selections such as Hiwaiian War Chant, Chloe and Feetlebaum made famous by the "corn" version. The Kiwanian War Chant number was well received by the audience for its lighting and bell effects.

Helen Grayco, making her first appearance with the review in Peterborough, spun the male section of the audience with several blues numbers. George Rock, besides waving the baton while Jones was off the stage, performed his rendition of "All I Want For Christmas is My Two Front Teeth" which broke all record sales a year ago.

Bill King, considered to be one of the best jugglers in the world today, lived up to his reputation. He climaxed his act with spinning two hoops, one around his leg and the other around his arm, juggling Indian clubs with the other hand, balancing a half-filled glass on his head, and spinning a tray on a slender stick balanced on another stick which he held in his mouth.

Others featured in the cast were: Doodle Weaver (Professor Feetlebaum), Sir Frederic Gas, Dr. Horatio Q. Birdbath, Dick and Freddie Morgan, Lois Ray and the Slickerettes.

The Jones revue is on a Canadian tour during which it has performed in Montreal and Ottawa. They have moved into southern Ontario for performances next week.

Firemen Check Blaze Threatening Lumber

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13 — (ENS)—Disaster was averted Friday by the prompt action of firemen in extinguishing a blaze fanned by a high wind, which threatened a lumber yard on the southwest edge of town.

A bonfire on adjoining property, fanned by the wind, showered sparks and burning embers on piles of lumber nearby. Firemen extinguished the blaze with chemicals after only a few minutes.

If the flames had been allowed to gain headway, heavy damage might have resulted, as considerable quantities of lumber and building materials are stored there and a number of private residences are nearby.

Red Troops Desert

HONG KONG, May 13.—(AP).—A Chinese dispatch reported today more than 500 Chinese Communist troops had gone over to the Nationalists at Sungmen, on the east China coast 200 miles south of Shanghai. The dispatch said Red political workers assigned to Sungmen were killed before the garrison defected. The Nationalists staged a commando raid on Sungmen earlier this year.

Drama Festival Kept Alive By Competition

CALGARY, May 13. (CP)—The court of governors of the Dominion Drama Festival has decided to establish a permanent home for the festival for the first time since it was started in 1932.

The Governors Friday passed a motion calling for the setting up of a permanent headquarters and the establishment of a small permanent staff. The festival was becoming too large an enterprise to be solely handled by part-time workers.

Governors also re-elected Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey and D. Park Jamieson of Sarnia as President and chairman respectively.

All officers this year are honorary in anticipation of the change. It was learned that permanent headquarters will probably be in Toronto where Honorary Treasurer D. E. Kerlin lives.

The governors also resolved to try to introduce a monthly bulletin which would give member groups information on drama activities across the country. Rev. Emile Legault of Montreal was named to head a committee to investigate and set up this wing of the organization.

The festival award was the Sir Barry Jackson Challenge Trophy for the best presentation during a regional festival of a play written by a Canadian. The junior Theatre of the Ottawa Drama League won it for "Rumpelstiltskin," dramatized by Marion Taylor and presented in the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival.

The question of whether the Dominion Drama Festival should be a competitive affair or a pure festival was brought up by Vancouver and Montreal representatives. It was decided that the competition was needed to keep the festival alive.

Next year, it was announced, festival officials would need $30,000 to cover expenses. This year some $23,000 had been spent on competitions across the country.

Site of the 1951 festival final is London, Ont.

The land is across the Assiniboine river from the Canadian National Railways station and Fort Gary Hotel.

Even before this new inundation, six square miles of the twin cities was under conquest.

From 8.00 p.m. until 2.30, the level of the Red and its two tributaries, the Assiniboine and Seine, stood pat at 30 feet exactly Then, toward dawn, a half-inch rise took place.

Getting Break

It was a break for mud-splattered, sack-scratched dike workers. Through the night bulldozers, trucks and draglines piled new tons of earth and sand at danger spots—and there are many—along the leaking protective barriers.

They held their own and perhaps gained a little.

And the rivers' rise was definitely slowed from the pace of earlier this week.

Last Tuesday, army engineers plotted rises averaging one-quarter inch an hour. Since 10 p.m. Thursday the increase has been just about one-tenth on the average.

But for the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface which, with their suburbs, make up the 75 square miles of greater Winnipeg, the danger was great.

Great Evacuation

The greatest mass evacuation in Canadian history had moved at least 40,000 people out of the flood-ravaged cities by early today. Many thousands more prepared to leave during the week-end. Trains, buses and plane space was at a premium.

The weather forecast for today was fairly favorable: Cloudy but rainless skies were predicted. Light rain fell yesterday for a few hours in the morning. Hot sunny weather would stiffen river dikes but might cause complications by melting snow in the Assiniboine's source area.

There was no lack of accommodation for evacuating Winnipeggers. Red Cross and civic officials had offers to facilities for at least 85,000 outside the city. About half that number have gone.

Hundreds of extra railway coaches were used on regular and special railway runs. Buses and planes were crowded. Unnumbered hundreds left by private car.

Better Than Expected

Some flood-control officials said the evacuation was working out better than was expected.

"It's certainly eased the military problem if the situation worsens and we have to take more drastic steps to clear the city area," one said.

Premier Campbell said last night the exodus had been orderly.

Heavy Rail Vote On Strike Issue Due Next Week

MONTREAL, May 13.—(CP).—A spokesman for 15 International Brotherhoods said Friday night he expects "a heavy strike vote" from 90,000 Canadian railway employees who rejected a wages-hours compromise with the companies.

Frank R. Hall, chairman of the unions' conference committee, said the strike vote will be taken "because all other means of settling the dispute have been exhausted."

The strike-vote decision was made after the unions informed the Federal labor minister that a compromise proposal of a conciliation board was unacceptable. The unions are seeking a five-day, 40-hour week with no loss in take-home pay plus a seven-cents-an-hour wage increase.

Send Ballots

Ballots will be sent out during the next week, Mr. Hall said, but he was not sure when the result will be known. Returns had to come in from all parts of the country, he said.

A strike vote is also pending among the 30,000 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.C.L.) involved in a similar dispute with the railroads.

The Brotherhoods and the C.B.R.E., which has demanded a shorter work week and a 10-cents-hourly increase among other things, are in the non-operating category of employees. They do not operate the trains but work in railway shops, offices, hotels and restaurants and on maintenance-of-way duties.

Ignore Evidence

In a letter to the Labor Minister, the 15 brotherhoods said the conciliation board had ignored evidence submitted by the unions and had been intimidated by "the fiction of the $84,000,000 cost alleged by the railways."

They described the board's approach to the shorter work week as "archaic and reactionary."

Majority reports of two conciliation boards which investigated the dispute between the companies and the union groups recommended a formula that would give about 124,000 employees a shorter work week, higher hourly wages and, generally, less in actual take-home pay.

The boards rejected union demands for outright pay increases and suggested a formula that would give an average 6.8-cent increase to their general hourly rate of $1.03.

New Traffic Robot Simplifies Signals

CAPETOWN, South Africa — (CP)—A new traffic robot, which is expected to revolutionize the production of ordinary traffic light signals, has been produced in prototype form and patented throughout the world by a young Capetown manufacturer.

According to the inventor, a single source of light serves to display two or more colored lights in a timed relation, the changes being effected by the mechanical control of a perforated light masking frame which is movable between the source of light and different colored lenses.

The masking frame can be so adjusted as to produce any regularly, varied or co-ordinated signal effect desired without the complicated electrical equipment incorporated in the normal traffic light signal.

The invention is said to be applicable not only to full scale signal operation by simple mechanical means but also to a form of manually-operated toy robot for the instruction of children and others in traffic regulation.

The inventor says the robot will eventually be produced as a cheap substitute for the normal traffic light signal.

Faces Arson Charge

BRANTFORD, May 13—(CP)—Ross Powless Friday was charged with arson on the Six Nations reservation here. Witnesses said the husky Indian set fire to a friend's garage after he had been drinking in the latter's house. Magistrate R. J. Gillen reserved judgment until Monday.

Farming is the work of more than 60 per cent of the population of Estonia.

TYPICAL OF THE ACTIVITY going on in several parts of Montreal in the drive for aid to fire victims on the Lower St. Lawrence is the work at the headquarters of l'Aide aux Colons. Truckers cover the city picking up contributions of all sorts of supplies from food to furniture and bring them to the depot of the organization.

Rent Charges Too High-Fined

COBOURG, May 13 (ENS) — William Horton of Cobourg was found guilty Friday on a charge of collecting excess rentals and with failing to have a rental appraisal after a lease had been signed. He was fined $15 and costs on the first charge and $10 and costs on the second. Complainant was a war veteran's wife.

Asking for the minimum penalty, defence counsel said that Horton was in receipt of a pension for the blind and augmented the pension with renting rooms. Magistrate Baxter said he sympathized with the man's disability but said Horton was trading on it to an exent which was not justified. On other hand some people would agree to anything to get a place to rent, hoping to get an adjustment later on through the rentals board.

Mervyn Mackie, of Cobourg, pleaded guily to obtaining the sum of $886.94 from the War Veterans' Allowance Board in 1947 and 1847. Evidence was given by Constable George Pickering of the RCMP, showing that the income of Mackie was more than the maximum on which he could draw a pension.

Defence counsel told the court that his client had signed an agreement to pay back the money to the Veterans' Allowance Board and the magistrate accordingly remanded him out of custody on the stipulation that if he didn't pay back he money he would be recalled for sentence.

Secretary Advised Commission Meeting

Secretary of the Police Commission E. A. Outram said today, although he had notified the secretary of the Taxi Operators' Association three weeks ago that the commission would consider any objections to proposed change in the taxi bylaw, individual taxi operators were not informed.

None turned up at the meeting and the Police Commission passed a motion telling city solicitor W. F. Huycke, KC, to prepare a new bylaw.

Mr. Outram said he had received several complaints from taxi operators that they knew nothing of the meeting. In view of this, the commission will allow taxi men to make their representations at next month's meeting, June 8.

Mr. Outram said he has never informed the taxi operators of any commission meeting individually, but wrote to the association's secretary. In the past this system has worked satsifactorily wih the secretary sending on the word to the taxi operators.

Plan Open House To Show How 'Phone Works

News that "breaks" in any part of the world can be "piped" to Canadian newspapers in a matter of minutes—or in some cases even seconds.

Just how this is done will be shown the public May 17, 18, 19 at the "open house" being held by the Peterborough branch of the Bell Telephone Co., Hunter St., W.

A teletype machine carrying regular press service news will be operating in the dial exchange building 7-9 p.m., E. G. Baker, local branch manager announced today. The machine will be mounted in a lucite case so visitors can see how it works while they read the world's news as it looks to a telegraph editor.

The teletype machine is only one of many displays that will be on view, Mr. Baker said. Chief of the displays will be the dial exchange itself. Visitors will have an opportunity to tour the entire exchange, and watch the complicated array of switches which connect local telephone calls at the turn of the dial.

In the operating room, guests will see the girls at the switchboard putting through long distance calls, and answering requests for information. An instructor will explain the meaning of the many lights, plugs and jacks with which the operator works.

The tour will follow the actual route travelled by a telephone call as it enters the exchange, so that visitors will se the cable vault, where the huge underground sables enter the building, and the distributing frames where the wires are fanned out from these cables and attached to their terminals—each of which represents a telephone number. In all, there are about 70 miles of mile in the exchange building.

Also on display will be the power equipment, and the powerful Diesel-driven generator that is capable of providing power for the entire Peterborough telephone system and lighting the exchange building as well in case of a failure of the commercial supply.

AFTER THE BREAK—These Leighton Ave., East Kildonan homes in Greater Winnipeg were on dry ground at 8 p.m. Wednesday. By 9:30 p.m. water from a breeched dike, one-third of a mile east, had trickled up to the lawns. Early Thursday, the homes stood in three feet of water. Here RCMP constables prepare to move E. A. Wilson from his home where he had retured to salvage blankets and clothes.

House Hears Filibuster Anew

OTTAWA, May 13. (CP)—The pipelines filibuster rolled on in the Commons Friday night, amid much newspaper reading, laughter and snickering from some Liberal benches.

J. H. Harris (PC-Toronto Danforth) highlighted the one-hour show about certain views held by the government on barter trade, the need for conserving our developments for Canada's future generations and the great attraction Alberta's gas fields are holding for overseas industries seeking to locate in Canada.

Throughout Mr. Harris' speech, James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, shouted "Hear, hear," and "Don't forget British Columbia." Mr. Sinclair has indicated his opposition to the pipelines legislation.

Mr. Harris, combining his speaking efforts with Angus MacInnis (C C F - Vancouver East), managed to "talk out" the private members bill which seeks to get Commons approval to the incorporation of Prairie Transmission Lines Limited.

Opposition members opposed the bill on the grounds that the company would ship gas to the United States instead of moving it to the Pacific Coast first on an all-Canadian route.

3,300 Reserve Men Take Summer Flying

OTTAWA, May 13 —(CP)— More than 3,300 reserve members of the R.C.A.F. are expected to take active flying and ground training this summer, reporting to air force stations for periods ranging from two to 20 weeks.

Air force headquarters announced Friday that approximately 1,500 officers and men from their R.C.A.F.'s 10 auxiliary squadrons, and almost 1,000 university undergraduates will be included.

The summer training program will also offer ground training to 700 High School youths with the auxiliary squadrons.

Officers and men of 420 squadron, London, and 424 squadron, Hamilton, will camp at Muskoka airport, Gravenhurst, between June 24 and July 22.

Gets Carbon Dioxide Instead Of Oxygen

PORT JERVIS, N.Y., May 13— (AP)—Carbon dioxide, administered from a cylinder labelled oxygen, caused the death of a patient at St. Francis Hospital here, authorities disclosed Friday. They said the hospital did not appear to be at fault.

The patient, John H. McCooey 53, an Erie railroad conductor of Port Jervis, was on the operating table prepared for surgery for stomach ulcers.

Ballet Troupe Booed In Paris

PARIS, May 13. (AP)—A visiting United States ballet troupe Friday was fighting off an undeclared guerrilla warfare led—so the Americans said — by Serge Lifar of the Paris Opera Ballet Corps.

The Troupe, the Page-Stone Ballet Company of New York, opened a three-week engagement this week at the fashionable theatre Des Champs-Elysees, and ran into boos and catcalls.

Newspaper critics, led by Olivier Merlin of Le Monde, gave the performances of "Frankie and Johnny", "The Bells" and "Scrapbook" a torrid roasting.

Friday, Thomas Fisher, business manager for the troupe asserted that Monday night's boos were the concerted work of Lifar and his followers in the Paris opera; in retaliations for demonstrations against Lifar in New York City in the fall of 1948. Merlin's attitude, he claimed, was part of a plot to undermine the troupe's reputation with the French republic.

In 1948, when Lifar went to New York, the City Center Theatre was picketed by persons protesting his appearance. Posters denounced him as a Nazi collaborator. Lifar was officially cleared of collaboration charges but was kept from working at the opera for about two years.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 13 (CP)—Charles Daley chairman of the Niagara Parks Commission, Friday night described as premature an announcement that the commission will take over Oak Hall from the federal government.

Mr. Daley said he had discussed the matter with Prime Minister St. Laurent and further discussions will be held before any decision is reached.

Oak Hall, a mansion built by the late Sir Harry Oakes, is slated to be developed as a 'cultural centre.

U.S. Has Produced Baby Atom Bombs

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP) —The United States has produced "small" atomic bombs, officials say, but that doesn't necessarily mean that the bombs pack less of a wallop than full-sized ones.

The bombs are reported small enough to be carried by jet bombers and fighter-bombers smaller and faster than the B-29 which dropped early model A-bombs on Japan.

As usual, there wasn't a hint as to how powerful this "baby bomb" could be. But it may be more powerful than the early model bombs dropped on Japan or tested at Bikini.

Indeed, these small-sized A-weapons might well have been the ones tested at Eniwetok. These showed a "substantial gain in (explosive) energy release" over previous models.

Teresa Wright Will Do Without Glamor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 13 (AP)— No false eyelashes or slinky slit-to-the-knee gowns for Teresa Wright. She claims she's glamorless and glad of it.

"I'm just not the glamor type," said the forthright actress. "glamor girls are born, not made. And the real ones can be glamorous even if they don't wear magnificent clothes. I'll bet Lana Turner would look glamorous in anything.

"There's a certain quality about glamor girls. Ava Gardner and Marlene Dietrich are good examples. Perhaps it is a sexy quality. Whatever it is, they demand attention wherever they go."

Unfortunate Group

Teresa admitted she once made a stab at being glamorous. "I bought a false hairpiece," she recalled. "But the darned thing kept falling on my shoulder.

"I belong that unfortunate group of people who seem to fall apart. I can dress very carefully, but by the time the evening is over, my hair looks unkempt, my lipstick is gone and my fingernails are dirty."

The proposal to pose for some cheesecake, pictures once came to Teresa. She put an end to the suggestion right away.

Glamor Once!

"My goodness, if the public should get one look at me in a bathing suit, they would shudder!"

Her attributes as an actress have been good enough to win her an Academy Award (for support in "Mrs. Miniver," 1942). She generally plays an average girl, as she does in the forthcoming "The Man."

"I don't envy glamor girls," she remarked. "People expect them to look well-groomed and glamorous at all times. That takes an awful lot of time and work."

She has one ambition. That's to play a glamour girl on the screen. Just once.

Have No Requests For Prisoners' Release

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 13 (CP) —Rimouski Sheriff Charles Garon said Friday no request has been made to the provincial attorney-general for the pardon of six jail prisoners temporarily liberated to help fight the $20,000,000 blaze which struck this lower St. Lawrence community last week-end.

At Quebec, a spokesman for the attorney - general's department said no request for pardon of the six men had been received and could not say on what charges the men had been sentenced. He said if the charges fell under the criminal code, only the federal Department of Justice could grant pardon. Otherwise the provincial attorney-general could act.

Is The Tourist Business Overrated?

We in Canada blare about the huge profit to Canada of our tourist industry. And when we speak of tourists, we mean Americans with their U.S. dollars, for the other tourists (other than the home-grown variety seeing Canada first) with their other currencies are a negligible part of Canadian tourism. To stimulate the American tourist trade we spend hundreds of thousands of dollars and hundreds of thousands of words. What is the net result?

• • •

The year 1949, a bumper one in this business, was typical of the character of the trade. Then American visitors spent 270 million in Canadian dollars as tourists, but Canadian tourists in the U.S.A. spent 164 million comparable dollars. In fact, therefore, the overall gain to Canada was a hundred million dollars—not peanuts, but not the kind of golden profit which will buy our necessary steel, grapefruits, and pay for American investment interest and American car parts.

• • •

Canadian tourist spending in the U.S.A. last year was two and a half times as large as the average annual expenditure for the preceding twenty years. In 1947, also a big tourist year, Canada had a credit balance from the touring industry of 83 million dollars, but in the same year had a deficit on interest and dividends on American investment in Canada of 283 million dollars. Such a measurement puts the Canadian gain from its pampered tourist industry in no rosy light.

• • •

It seems that the more Americans who wish to travel to Canada, the greater the number of Canadians who want to visit the States. (Incidentally, the U.S.A. is a pretty good tourist propagandist, and moreover has much to offer touring Canadians.) The fact is that the Canadian touring in the U.S.A. spends more than the American touring in Canada. On a basis of comparative populations, Canadians spend a dozen times as much in the U.S.A. as Americans do in Canada. If the Canadian tourist industry is to become really profitable, Canadians will have to spend less touring the U.S.A. Now we are nicely holding our own in the overall balance, with a good kitty to boot. But it is no bonanza.

Time On Canada's Trade Side

A New York department store has been advertising, women's garments "from the remotest provinces of Canada". American men's shops sell suits labelled "Made in the British Empire" which have come across the Canadian border. Americans are not accustomed to a Canadian label on manufactured goods, and Canadians themselves are somewhat surprised that any products from Canadian factories sell in the U.S.A. Canada has been so long an exporter of raw materials, food and forest products that the manufactured markets have been left uncultivated. But Canada must now diversify her exports if she is to balance her trade budget. A larger volume and variety of manufactured goods must be shipped not only to the U.S.A. but to other countries whose currencies are convertible with the U.S. dollar. The label "Canada" on woollen cloths, and "Nova Scotia" on women's garments should be publicized.

While this country cannot compete with some of the mass-produced goods of U.S. industry, nor in price ranges in some foreign markets with products manufactured in devalued-currency countries like Italy and Britain, there are selling opportunities for such various products as frozen fish, skiing and other sports equipment, wood components, and specialized textiles and shoes. Canada can make and sell her own specialities. All this can be achieved without any large export drive on the present British pattern.

The great hope for the future of Canadian trade, if this country can maintain some sort of balance until it is realized, is in the oil from Alberta and the iron ore from the Quebec-Labrador border; together with valuable metals like uranium and titanium, and a continuance in a high degree of the export of wheat, meats, dairy products and forest output and by-products. In the matter of oil alone, Canada can be expected to save 300 million dollars in imports. The Labrador iron may result in an annual saving of 200 million dollars. Not only will import savings be made; it is expected that oil and iron will become major American dollar-earning exports. Canada avidly awaits that future. In the meantime, she should increase the export of her manufactured products.

Baffling Flood News

One of the most disturbing aspects of the Winnipeg flood—apart from the distress caused to the people of the district themselves—has been the ambiguity of the news reports received by outsiders. People of every Ontario city, every Western Canadian town, have relatives and friends in Winnipeg who are concerned for their safety. The flood news came pouring out but has lacked definitness. Exactly what parts of the city and environs have been affected; what are now threatened? Most outsiders have no first-hand knowledge of the area. To say that St. James is or is not flooded has little meaning. And how much of St. James is or is not threatened? Do the relatives live in St. James? Where is St. James? To wire is no comfort, for there is no assurance that a telegram is deliverable. To telephone is equally frustrating: the long-distance operators have been saying, "Sorry, no calls can be put through."

It was only after a week of the disturbing flood news, and days after anxiety became widespread, that maps and specific locations were available to the Ontario and Western Canadian press. Even then, they were pretty sketchy. James H. Gray, writing from Calgary for the Ottawa Citizen about this "lack of positive information" says "The Canadian Press, the newspapers and the radio stations have all fallen flat on their faces covering this story for outsiders . . . In telling the people of the West the story of the Winnipeg flood, the press and radio somehow lost sight of the fundamentals of good newspaper reporting—Who, Where, How, When. Particularly who and where." From the point of view of concerned Ontario people, this criticism of the southern Manitoba press seems warranted.

Mums

Mums, or to give them their full name, chrysanthemums, are deservedly popular flowers. They are favourites with commercial gardeners because of their variety and size and the quickness with which they mature in greenhouses when planted in early summer when the beds are otherwise empty. They are popular in homes because of their large beauty and wonderful hues, and in home gardens because they (the smaller types of bloom) are splendily hardy and provide garden colour and table bouquets until the first really severe frosts. Mums are Oriental in origin. The large-flowering ones were introduced to England in 1789 and to this continent in 1847. We happened to think of them now, at this untimely week-end, because our wandering eyes lit this morning on a sign in a shop window advertising something for Mum.

Fish Bandits

A shocking sample of marauding was reported in our news columns Thursday. Some crooks with more greed than brains raided maskinonge traps which men of the Ontario Government fish hatcheries had placed at creek outlets in near-by Chemong Lake. These nets are set out for a purpose, which the fish bandits must have known. The nets trap spawning lunge. The experts then take a male and a female, milking the female of roe which the male fertilizes, then release the fish. The roe are taken to hatcheries from which in the course of time our lakes are restocked with young fish. The expense of the process is not small.

One evening when the hatchery men had left the traps for a few hours (they cannot mount guard over them all the time), some person or persons not only pilfered them, but hacked the fish. The government men came back to find the largest fish stolen, the smaller ones bleeding and torn, the nets damaged.

We hope that the culprits will be found and the maximum penalties of the law imposed. It is pillage of a particularly mean kind.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Relief officials seeking to stem the flooding Red river are appealing for potato bags to use in making sand bulwarks. Though the spuds glut, their bags are bagged.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.

My dear Mr. Hydra:

I am not an unreasonable man, I hope, but the Government's action in bringing Daylight Saving, or Summer Time, has caused me a degree of inconvenience which rouses me to protest. And naturally it is to you, as Deputy Commissioner of Officially Approved Nuisances, that I turn.

The principal timepiece in my home, sir, is a striking clock. At the half hour it goes Dong, and at the hour it goes Dong as many times as it is o'clock. Or rather, I should say that it goes Whang, for the thing in its intestines which makes the noise is not a bell, but a coiled spring, which simulates the sound of a bell somewhat less than perfectly.

Now some years ago this clock fell ill of a horological malady which caused its Whanging apparatus to lose an hour, so that it always Whangs one too few. And now that you have further complicated matters with your Daylight Saving, it Whangs two too few, which is more than flesh and blood can bear, particularly when it Whangs midnight at two a.m.

As you know, it is fatal to tamper with a good clock. One must take it as it is, or not at all. But my clock is unnerving me, and I hold you and the Government responsible.

Yours at sixes and sevens,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.

Esteemed Fribble:

It is not quite honest for me to pretend that nothing ever happens to me. Now and then I too have an adventure of a mild, easily digestible sort. The other day, for instance, I had a mysterious call on the telephone from a woman who informed me that she was the rightful heir to the British Throne. I know that this sounds improbable, but cross my heart and hope to spit myself to death if it isn't true. The present King and Queen, she told me, were impostors, as the real Duke of York and Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon had been murdered in 1921. She had herself, she went on, been very near to marriage with the Duke of Windsor when he was Prince of Wales.

At first I thought it was a hoax, but it soon became clear that she was in earnest though, I shrewdly suspect, mistaken. It is the purpose of people engaged in my sort of work, I suppose, to act as lightning rods for this sort of madness. She ended her call by pledging me to secrecy, and I have been blatting her story to everybody I meet ever since.

That is my adventure for the week. Not precisely the equivalent of a brush with Moscow spies winning the Irish Sweep, but suitable to my timid and reclusive nature.

Yours in amazement,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Raymond Cataplasm, Esq., M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

Cannot the medical profession do anything about the vast quantity of medical misinformation which is foisted upon the public under the guise of beauty hints? I am just as anxious to be beautiful as anyone, and I read in a magazine yesterday that it was a very good thing to lie down for half an hour with your feet higher than your head. The writer stated flatly that this would relieve bags under the eyes, blotchy complexion, sinus trouble, slumped abdomen, taedium vitae and all the other ills from which I suffer. So I tried it.

It was not positively unpleasant, though it produced an effect rather like slow strangulation. The article led me to believe that this was wonderful fresh blood swirling around in my blood-starved brain. But when the half hour was up, and I rose to my feet, everything about me which had been slumped before slumped again with such sudden force that for a moment I thought the shock would bear me to the ground. I was just able to stagger to a sofa, and lie down in a perfectly horizontal position until the fit had passed.

My beauty has not been noticeably enhanced by this experience. Why are such impostures permitted?

Yours in a condition of utter slump,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.

Dear Pil:

You may be surprised to hear that I am going West. For years I have laboured under a sense of guilt because I have never been West, for it is an article of faith in our fair land that every Canadian ought to see the waving wheat fields, the stark magnificence of the Rockies, the breath-taking beauty of Vancouver, and the torpid Colonels in Victoria. And I have never done it. But I set out in a day or two, and I shall stop off at Calgary for the Dominion Drama Festival.

I have no idea what to expect in Calgary. The rational part of my mind tells me that it will be a city much like other Canadian cities, full of Canadians much like other Canadians. But the irrational part of my mind, which has a way of taking control when I am not being careful, suggests that it will be full of cowboys and Indians, and taverns full of dangerous can-can dancers, and fellows who think it is funny to shoot holes in your hat. I have a sneaking hope that the irrational part of my mind will be right, for once. But I shall let you know.

Adios, pardner.
SAM.

To Miss Nancy Frisgig

Charming Nancy:

I depend on you to tell me about the mysteries of womankind. Can you give me the truth about women and buttons?

Men know where they stand on buttons. They have two kinds. There is the trouser button—a dark, unobtrusive button which never varies one jot from trouser to trouser. And there is the shirt button—a white button with a small, sad face, rather like a pansy. But women have more kinds of buttons than there are sands of the sea, and they devote a degree of patience and research to their selection of buttons which, if applied to some of the major problems of science, would clear them up in no time. What is more, women will pay a price for three buttons which would buy a potato-bag full of male buttons, whether shirt or trouser.

I am not one, as you know, to exaggerate the mysteriousness of women. I believe women to be, upon the whole, fairly simple organisms. But in this matter of buttons, I confess that they baffle me.

Yours in all admiration,
SAM.

Striving For Better Newspapers

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

MR. Arthur Sulzberger, publisher of the mighty New York Times, says current world problems call for "better-balanced" and "better-educated" newsmen, call also for "more intelligent and better balanced newspapers" if new responsibilities and new pressures are to be met. This is imperative, he adds, if the people are to get "a straight view of the news in order to form their judgements".

With that declaration all newsmen will agree, and all publishers and editors. But the questions he raises are complex and varied—it isn't just a simple matter of hiring men and women of better education, and "balance" is not a matter of automatic adjustment.

Mr. Sulzberger's own paper, it is fair to assume, is his idea of what a modern newspaper should be. The Times is a massive production, little given to frivolity, its functions to inform, to instruct, to persuade, to educate. It covers the news of all the world more fully than any other newspaper covers it, and prints it in exhaustive detail.

The cost of producing such a newspaper is colossal, and would be prohibitive in a smaller city. But in New York's millions, and other millions reasonably close, there are enough people who want a newspaper like the Times to support it and makes its production possible and profitable.

Newspapers in other and smaller cities have to approach their problems differently. For a much smaller population they must have a product with a more general appeal. They print the news of all the world—not as fully as the Times prints it though adequately for the average reader—but they cannot neglect the reader who wants comics and "features" along with the more solid fare. They have to be concerned not merely with the students of high affairs but with the typical family which expects to find in its newspaper not only information but entertainment, and their editors have to maintain the nice balance readers want.

This is not to say that the average newspaper has reached any peak of perfection. The truth is otherwise. We all strive, and constantly, for improvement. The collection and preparation of news has become an exacting and highly skilled profession, and editors are keenly aware of the responsibility which rests upon them for providing fairly and completely the raw material on which public opinion largely is based. That there is steady improvement in the quality of newspapers is clearest to those who remember the shortcomings of the Press even two or three decades ago. That there still is room for improvement newspapermen are the first to admit.

Letter To The Editor

REPAYMENT IN KIND

Sir: In your editorial of May 9 you state the war in China cost Canadians $51,000,000 in loans to the Nationalists, because, as they appear to have lost the war, the loan will not be repaid. In your statement you infer that, had they been successful it would have been repaid. To most people this means repayment in dollars, raw materials or manufactured goods. To believe this is absolute folly, just as believing that the "Marshall Plan" loans will be repaid.

The actual value of the loan is lost regardless of the outcome in China.

The countries involved in loans are so completely in debt, that the only possible payment is by giving concessions to the lender in the form of: granting him permission to establish military bases in said countries, agreeing to give assistance in the event of possible hostilities with other nations and assurance of support in world organizations, such as the United Nations.

It is also logical to assume that the lender would stipulate that most of the loan be invested in products from his country thereby assuring continued prosperty for his people.

Using the United States as an example of this last statement, it is almost an assured fact, that without making these loans its economy would be on the verge of collapse because it does not use a contained system, although one is possible, as they are almost self-supporting in raw materials.

Yours truly,
VIRGO.

THE STATE OF THE KING BUSINESS

with NICK NICKELS

Judging from the hordes of pickerel fishermen who jammed the dams of the Trent waterways past midnight last night, Ol' Marble Eyes was taking a terrific beating. It could easily be a bang-up beginning of the season. I will be able to gauge the situation with more accuracy on Monday morning when the week-end fishing stories start rolling in.

If you have ever stood beside some fisherman who lost a particularly fine specimen, you will have heard it called some very uncomplimentary names. Those for "pickerel" that are fit to print are abundant and most of them incorrect since they associate the species with the pike family. What we call "pickerel" are actually walleyes, a member of the perch family, not of the pike at all. The most common names are: blue, gray, green and yellow pike, walleye, glass eye, marble eye and white eye, jack, jackfish, jack salmon, susquehenna salmon, sauger, walleye perch — the closest name of all — pickerel, yellow pickerel and yellow pike perch. So, let's be bright from now on and call them WALLEYES.

Indeed Walleyes Are Prolific

The subject of walleyes in our district waters stirs up no end of controversy among fishermen. Old timers say they have ruined bass and 'lunge fishing. The younger generation, knowing little of the Kawarthas that were, think there is nothing like them. Walleyes are certainly with us to stay. They are the most prolific spawners of all game fish, some females producing as many as 300,000 eggs. In fact, they are so abundantly productive that the provincial hatcheries has ceased to raise them artificially.

• • • •

Walleyes prefer moderately deep clear flowing waters with rock, gravel or sandy bottoms. The best fishing is usually found in deeper holes where swifter currents bring down food, or under falls, below rapids and along reefs, ledges and rocky shorelines. Because it seeks out clean swift waters, the walleye is consistently delicious eating.

• • • •

Tease 'Em With What They Like

Since walleyes are attracted by nearly everything that moves, any small aquatic animal, minnows, frogs, crawfish, worms and so forth, form its diet. Active underwater plugs designed to go deeper than average and which have a good wiggle at slow retrieve, will attract them. In weedy regions, spoons and weedless lures are better while surface plugs will produce in the late evening. A boy with a cane pole, bobber and can of bait has just as good a chance to catch his limit as his elder with a lot of fancy store-bought gear.

Legal daily catch limit for walleyes is six fish, a minimum length of 13 inches, snout to tail fork. All fishing must be done from anchored boats or from shore, no drift fishing until July 1st. No more than two days' catch, 12 fish, may be in anyone's possession at one time.

The average weight of walleyes is from two to five pounds, perhaps larger in some sections where more favourable conditions exist. If you aspire to catch a world-beater, you will have to top the one caught by Patrick Noon of Fort Erie, Canada, in 1943; it weighed 22 pounds, 4. And that's a lot of fish in any class.

Eight Graceful Wilson Snipes

The Capella Gallinago are overnighting here on their way north. Who cares? you will ask. But if I said they were Wilson snipe you might be interested. I saw eight of these rare sandpiper-like birds fishing for water insects and young plants on Meade's Creek this week, just beside Armour Rd. Their extremely long probing bills, streaked plumage and white bellies are a complete camouflage in reedy creeks. There is nothing quite like them in flight. Their 20-inch wingspread propels them on an irregular zigzag flight up to spurts of 70 feet per second.

It is said that the cock bird courts its mate by a remarkable spiralling flight that produces a "winnowing" sound from vibrating tail feathers on sudden downward plunges. Lighter coloured and slimmer than woodcock, snipes are valued game birds. Their erratic confusing flight serves as a marksman's challenge. Open season for snipe in '49 was during the whole month of October.

TROUT TALK, ETCETERA: Five Peterburians, Henry Noakes, Edmund Boyler, Grant, Harold and Garnet Burns, took 17 of the finest trout ever to reach the city; they came from a "mystery" lake in Haliburton's Highlands. The smallest was 14 inches, the largest, 19½. Don Edwards, 737 McKellar creeled 15 speckles Bethany way last week-end, the largest 2½ pounds, he estimated. Bob McLaren landed a 2-pound, 9-ounce speckle at Cold Creek in Northumberland. Gordon Cooper of Belleville went still better with a 3 pound, 14, from Rawdon Creek. City fishermen E. W. Fisher and E. J. Stuart topped this with two browns that scaled 3¾ and 4¼ respectively. Proviconstable R. A. Feeley reports as many as eight 'lunge have been speared on Meade's Creek where it crosses the Scully Line in Otonabee; he heard of one that was reputed to go 44 pounds. Dyancourt Manor owner Stan Berger, Lakefield, has purchased Capt. R. T. Bell's summer camp on Deer Lake; he will use it as an outpost fishing camp for expert rodmen. A car, carrying Indiana plate No. 433610 went through the city with a good-looking birch canoe strapped to its roof.

Trial Purifies

As therefore the state of man now is; what wisdom can there be to choose, what continence to forbear, without the knowledge of evil? He that can apprehend and consider vice with all her baits and seeming pleasures, and yet abstain, and yet distinguish, and yet prefer that which is truly better, he is the true warfaring Christian. I cannot praise a fugitive and cloistered virtue unexercised and unbreathed, that never sallies out and seeks her adversary; but slinks out of the race where that immortal garland is to be run for, not without dust and heat. Assuredly we bring not innocence into the world, we bring impurity much rather; that which purifies us is trial, and trial is by what is contrary.

That virtue therefore which is but a youngling in the contemplation of evil, and knows not the utmost that vice promises to her followers, and rejects it, is but a blank virtue; not a pure; her whiteness is but an excremental whiteness; which was the reason why our sage and serious poet Spenser (whom I dare be known to think a better teacher than Scotus or Aquinas), describing true temperance under the person of Guyon, brings him in with his palmer through the cave of Mammon, and the bower of earthly bliss, that he might see and know, and yet abstain.

Irish Settled In The Eastern Townships Familiar Names From Douro to Marmora

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

There is not much evidence on methods used in assigning the Irish to their lots. The following note from Peter Robinson to John Huston, of Sept. 24, 1825, gives a hint about the procedure in townships like Emily, Smith, Otonabee and Asphodel where there were previous settlers: "I should be glad that you would immediately begin to locate the emigrants in Emily. I shall send a small party to Cottenhams to meet you Monday morning and I will send by one of them the numbers of the vacant lots and such other information as I possess . . ." The guide had a map showing the vacant lots, and when the Irish reached the section they were either allocated to lots or allowed to choose their own. Those who had helped on the trip from Ireland were given first choice, often obtaining lots nearer the roads, or lots somewhat bigger than the average. The locatees were allowed also to barter their lots among themselves, so that relatives and friends might be close together.

The late David Conroy, whose father came in 1825 to Douro, related some years ago: "The surveyor put the numbers of the lots on a blaze on the corner trees of the lots. Then Mr. Robinson put the numbers of the vacant lots on pieces of paper in a tall hat, and the Irishmen pulled out the numbers of their lots one by one. When five or six were pulled out thus, they sent a guide with them through the woods over a blazed trail to their lots. This pilot brought the immigrants to their lots and said 'That's yer lot, Pat'." This method was probably employed for townships like Douro and Ennismore where there were few or no earlier settlers.

Some of these former settlers who had been employed to cut roads and build shanties were also given the job of transporting the Irish and their possessions to their lands, mostly by ox-cart. One can imagine such a group making their way through the brilliant autumn woods along a roughly-cut bush trail away from Scott's Plains into the dense forest, full of the unknown terrors of Indians and wild beasts, where only a few white men had ever penetrated before.

The men would be plodding ahead through the fallen leaves with axes in hand to clear away dead trees, stumps and stones, at times dropping back to help push the ox-carts through mudholes or to lift them over logs. The carts behind the patient slow oxen would be creaking under heavy piles of trunks, boxes, farm tools, spinning-wheels, food and blankets. Around and behind would walk the women, the younger ones helping the aged and probably carrying the babies and small children, while they made the air ring for miles around with loud cries calling back from the forest the older more venturesome children, ranging in search of wild fruits, berries and adventure in general. With the fear in their eyes would be mixed a growing excitement as they approached nearer the newly-built homes where their future was assured by a paternal government, as represented by Peter Robinson.

In Douro Township Messrs. Stewart and Reid were joined in the autumn of 1825 by Sidney Bellingham and Captain John Armstrong, the latter assisting Robinson in issuing rations to the Irish. About 254 of these emigrants were located on 60 lots, mostly in the middle southern part of the township, the first 12 lots north from the south border, around the present village of South Douro, a section containing some of the most fertile land in Douro.

From east toward the west, the lot-holders ranged somewhat as follows: Thomas Molony, John Molony, Michail Condon, John Tabin, Timothy Sheehan, Michail Casey, Michail Elligot, Michail Keane, Thomas Tobin, Charles Crowly, Cornelius Sheehan, John Sheehan, Maurice Clancy, George Byrnes, James Casey, Richard Meade, Thomas Torpy, William Torpy, Michail Torpy, Daniel Sheehan Jr., Michail Brien, Denis O'Brien, Maurice O'Brien, Wm. Williams, Morgan Brien, John Quinn, John Barry, James Flynn, James McCarthy, John Walsh, John Cranley, David Sheehan, John Fleming, Timothy Sweeny, Michail Sullivan, Michael Mahony, Wm. Mahony, Michail Williams, Michail Leahy Jr., Denis McCarthy, James Cotter, Edmond Cotter, Edmond Allen, John Allan, Patrick Leahy Sr., Timothy Leahy, Pat Leahy Jr., John Leahy, Wm. Leahy, Samuel Adams, Michael Leahy, Patrick Howard, Michail Londergan, Wm Hogan, John Armstrong, David Conroy, Michail Sullivan Sr., Daniel Molony, Henry Couche, Robin Walsh, John Smith, surveyor supervised the locations here.

In Otonabee Township Lt. Charles Rubidge was in charge, as he testified later: "In 1825 I assisted Mr. Robinson gratuitously in settling emigrants. The township of Otonabee where I resided was given up entirely to me to locate . . ." But like the others, he made his share of mistakes in placing Irish on lots already claimed, on unsuitable lots and lots incorrectly surveyed, involving the necessity of moving them later. The road to Rice Lake which he had just completed came north from Bannister's Landing on Rice Lake between the 10th and 11th concessions of Otonabee, turning west at lot 28 into the Scotch Village (Ashburnham). Out of 25 locations totalling about 212 persons, 18 locations were in concessions 1 to 8 in the east, while the rest were in the western half of the township along the road, near the river and the Scott's Plains depot.

Letter From Otonabee

Surgeon Francis Connin, RN, who had had charge of the Irish on the ship Fortitude, decided to settle among them in Otonabee, and on August 5, 1825, wrote Robinson in Cobourg, requesting that he be given his 800 acres as follows: East ½ lot 23, and lot 26, conc. 11—300 acres; Lots 18 and 21, conc. 14—400 acres; East ½ lot 24, conc. 5—100 acres. He added: "I would be very glad to do anything to promote the success of the expedition in which I see you so much interested . . ." After being given these lands, he wrote Robinson two important notes:

Tuesday morning, 9th Dec., 1825
"HON. PETER ROBINSON,
PETERBORO.

I request you will have the goodness to send by the bearer Edward Boswell the money you promised to send me when I had the pleasure of seeing you last, or an order on Mr. Bethune; if my occasions do not require it you would not be troubled in this manner, but I hope it is sufficient to say my home is finished . . ."

Otonibee, 16th December, 1825.
"HONBLE. PETER ROBINSON,
PETERBORO.

I received the check on Mr. Bethune for which I am extremely obliged; enclosed you have the receipts perfected as you desired . . ."

The significant thing about these, of course, is that they are earliest documents known which show the name of the new settlement at Scott's Plains—PETERBORO, and indicating that it was in common use from the time the Irish arrived.

In Asphodel Township, and Marmora Township far to the east, Richard Birdsall was in charge of locations, after he finished surveying the Peterborough townsite. They were taken down the Otonabee and along the north shore of Rice Lake in a few cases, but mostly down the Rubidge Road, branching off along a trail at Lot 13, conc. 10, and going east through the site of Keene Village. Thirty-six were given lots in Asphodel, about 176 people in all, mostly in the northern part on lots 10 to 20 in various concessions. From west to east the locatees were: Wm. Reilly, John Grady, Wm. Murphy, Denis Keefe, John Fitzpatrick, John Murphy, John Reardon, Pat Quinlan, Sr., Denis McMahon, Denis Sheehan, James Mason, Pat Quinlan, Jr., Michail Leahy, David Leahy, Denis Hurly, Richard Walsh, Thomas Purcell, Richard English, Thos. Miles, Charles McCarthy, Jeremiah O'Shea, Daniel Healy, Thomas Healy, Michail Sullivan, Pat Daly, Pat Healy, James Barry, Wm. Scanlan, Maurice Mullane, Patrick

In Marmora Township (Hastings County) to the east of Belmont Township, 11 lots were assigned to Irish, consisting of 55 persons, most of them in concessions 1 and 2: Edmond Bourke, Wm. No reason is given for placing these people so isolated from the others, 35 miles through dense bush from the Scott's Plains depot.

NO, THEY ARE NOT LISTENING to "Mule Train." The only two donkies in Peterborough, Duke and Jenny, were purchased three years ago by Herbert Kent of 88 Orpington Rd. It took the photographer ten minutes as a kibitzer rustled a package of tobacco, before Jenny, Right, would prick up her ears and look pretty. They are good work animals, says their owner, and community pets for kids in the South End of the city. —Examiner Staff Photo

Jenny & Duke, Intelligent Local Jackasses But Their Lower Lips Sag When Stubborn

According to Herbert Kent of 88 Orpington Rd., no one should resent being called a jackass.

"They are far more intelligent than horses," he said. "I have owned a pair for the past three years and have found them useful, quiet and generally interesting."

"Duke" the ass weighs about 650 pounds and his side kick, "Jenny," the female, is smaller by 150 pounds. They are both light gray in color and their large black-bordered ears stand at attention most of the time. When in a less agreeable mood, their ears lie flat along their necks and their lower lips sag. Indeed, looking "as stubborn as a mule" is a very apt expression.

It is presumed that this pair came from the United States originally. Mr. Kent bought them from a dealer in Lindsay who in turn purchased them from a midway company.

As work animals their owner says that they pull better than ponies and eat less. Unlike horses they do not gorge themselves on hay or grain if it is accessible. When in trouble they will stand patiently until things have been straightened out.

Asses used to be used extensively in England to pull small delivery carts and are still used as riding animals at seaside resorts. Some are kept for private family pets to teach youngsters to ride since their docility is a safety factor.

An explanation about asses, donkeys and mules is in the order. The first two beasts are one and the same. The gelding is called an ass, the stud a jackass and the mare a jenny. A horse stud is bred to a jenny to produce a mule and there the mule line ends. Both male and female mules are sterile.

Duke and Jenny have been used in street parades at various times and Mr. Kent says that they keep their dignity even with clowns on their backs. They are community pets for the kids down Orpington Rd., way and are often to be seen in the South End in winter on the business end of a sidewalk snow plough.

"Think I'll sell Jenny this summer," said Mr. Kent, "but don't know, for sure. Duke would be awfully lonely."

Hints On Horticulture

COUNTRY HOME SHRUBS

First of all consideration should be given to the planting of trees and shrubs. In the plantings shade trees should predominate. With them you may create a background to your home and throw the dwelling into relief. They will also act as windbreaks, and for this purpose evergreens may also be used. Woman's beauty largely lies in her lovely hair. The beauty of a country home lies in its trees more largely than in any other thing. Shorn of its trees or unplanted, as the case may be, it will stand out gaunt, bald and cheerless.

Having planted the trees at the back of the house and a few here and there to the sides of the lawn but not obstructing the view either to or from the front of the house, plantations of shrubs may be grouped within the limits of the tree-planted area, but only at the extremities of the lawn, which should be fenced in as a means of protection from animals.

Not by any means should these groups be dotted through the lawn. The lawn should be kept fully open, for it is the setting to the home. An occasional well-placed specimen shrub or tree may be planted to advantage, however.

It is the best practice when grouping shrubs to plant a few of a given kind and to follow with a few of another kind rather than to plant only one of a kind in succession. The shrubs should be grouped, not lined, and should be planted about five feet apart in their groups. The appearance of the groups should be that of a continuous plantation rather than that of a collection of groups; that is, there should be no line of demarcation between the groups in massed planting.

Unusual Stone House Has Civic Story

By DON GRANT.

If stones could talk, what a story the venerable house on Stewart and Murray Streets could tell! It was built during Peterborough's Stone Age between 1838 and 1844, and was Peterborough's second Protestant home. It flanks Stewart Street at the blind turn by the creek, where the street descends wooden steps to the footbridge.

In 1844 the land and building were bought by John W. Bedford from the Crown. After a number of years the house was sold. This started a buying spree for the house as it changed hands innumerable times until finally bought by Henry Calcutt. Throughout that period the solid two-foot thick stone wall house was used either for a pub or brewery house.

Organized benevolent work in Peterborough started in 1862, and in 1865 R. A. Morrow gave one of his houses on Sherbrooke Street for the first Protestant home in Peterborough. In 1870 the Stewart Street building was purchased by a former sheriff, James Hall, from Henry Calcutt for a new Protestant Home.

In July, 1870, the first people entered the stone building under the Protestant Home name. The intention then was to admit only destitute old women and children but as some cases of old men were presented it was agreed to admit them also. Thus the stone structure became known as the Old People's Home. The home had no endowment, and was entirely dependent upon charity and the liberality of the benevolent. It served the elderly people until the erection of the present building on Anson Street in 1912.

At that time the house started to change from one person to another. J. A. Gibbs was the first to buy the home, and since has owned it several times.

Now the stone home has been divided into four apartments and is owned by Bruce Hiller, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hillier. Only a month ago they bought the house from William Montgomery.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The other day we had a mention in of Jack Peterson, now mayor at St. Thomas, but a one-time reporter and photographer here. It started some of us discussing some of the characters we worked with. Jack was a tall guy with a short temper—and he did okay as an officer overseas in the war. Once, he nearly conked a grid coach at the Ex. for refusing to let him take a picture. He also aroused the ire of a reverend one Sunday by stamping out of the church over something he disagreed with in the sermon. Harold Robson and Alf McKee rolled off Jack's couch one night laughing when Peterson's good wife brought in a couple of his better broadcloth shirts with the collars cut off and a new V-neck in the back. She felt the sun tan effect would be good for him."

* * * * * *

Then there was big Fitz (Blimp) Fitzgerald — now a dignified editor at the Montreal Gazette. He'd write a lovelorn column as readily as he'd stir up a cafe brawl to get a story. Decided late one summer's eve to go for a swim at Inverlea in the nude. The law arrived and ran him around the park, but Fitz finally jumped off the Smith St. bridge. Floating away, he yodelled to an angry officer in his hillbilly lingo: "You're 'away up thar—I'm 'way down hyar." Later snuck off and got his hidden garments to join us in one of those two a.m. coffee sessions in a downtown beanery. On a puck trip with us to Lindsay one p.m. he pinched the bus as the driver lunched and went sight-seeing. Quite a guy.

A Neat Tattooing Job

Some years ago in the old George St. office—and Mayor Max Swanston was just one of the gang who pulled a lot of practical jokes—we had a teacher-turned-reporter named Brakefield-Moore. One eve he saw a printer named Bill Collins having a quick nap, so he took ink and brush and did a fancy and complete tattoo job on William. The latter almost took B-M apart later and the latter remarked sadly: "Collins has no sense of humor." There was fun, too, with chaps like Ken McDonald, Reg Doubt, Josh Craig, Ted Outram and the rest. We managed to get the work done if it took all night to catch up, but the hair on the head of the boss got thinner and thinner.

* * * * * *

Some of 'em claimed—like Jack Maunder and Ken Colling, for instance—that our footwork was a little too fancy, also, but we seldom got caught. Had a chuckle once on Frank Buckland on a junior hockey trip to Port Hope. A tight rink manager counted noses, only letting in so many with the team. We strode through with the players, saying casually: "This is the coach." At the end of the line, Frank was halted and barred from entering. He was in good voice and some 10 minutes later—when we dropped back to show our press card and let the angry coach in—even the rink rats around were blushing at the language. Naturally we didn't tell Buck how we'd gotten in. After all, life can be beautiful.

Anything For A Story

Oh, yes, there was Keith Copping. Tangled once with a cop at the Auburn strike and nearly mixed it later with Chief Sam Newhall on the street down by the police station. All just in good clean fun, you see, and with an eye out for a story. Told us once: "If you're having trouble digging up stuff for your column, why not just start off like this: 'Is your name in this list?' and then run a few pages of the telephone directory?" He figured it would save a lot of work and worry, and would be just as interesting as most of our stuff "to the few readers who bother with sports columns". He finally left to join a soft drink firm out west and it serves him right. Ah, well....

Seven local boxers are on a Lindsay card at the Legion Hall Tuesday p.m. Coach Charlie Rees and Manager Menzies of the Peterborough Club expect at least four decisions as these boys are coming along good now as they train thrice weekly in the Ashburnham Hall. Those going from here are: Jerry Tyler, 125 pounds; Ron Emery, scaling 149; Kid Bradley at 132; Louis Carveth, who tickles the beam at 109; Larry Howran, who hits it a harder jar at 148; Paul McIlmoyle, weighing 130; and Gord Barker, another 130-pounder. Show is at 8.45, if any amateur mitt fans care to go along from here.

Toronto Marlboros Get No Civic Welcome

TORONTO, May 13 (CP) — There will be no civic welcome for Toronto Marlboros today when the senior hockey team returns from Edmonton as the first Toronto club in 18 years to win the Allan Cup.

City clerk George Weale said Friday that Mayor Hiram McCallum is attending a mayors' convention in New York and there has not been enough time to prepare a suitable ceremony.

Harold Ballard, Marlboros manager, said he would stage a parade for the senior champs anyway.

Fred Stenson President Curling Club

At the first meeting of the newly elected board of directors of the Peterborough Curling Club, held in the club's parlours, F. Stenson was elected president, H. Bradburn, vice-president and I. D. Moore, secretary-treasurer.

In electing Fred Stenson president the board of directors have chosen one who has come up from the ranks and has earned his laurels. He is the youngest man ever to hold this office. He has been a member of the board for several years and has been chairman of several of the committees. The experience he gained should go a long way to help him in fulfilling the duties of president.

H. Bradburn, vice-president, has had a lot of experience and he should be of valuable aid to the president.

The chairmen of the different committees were chosen and some of them have already begun on next season's program.

Made Life Members

R. F. Downey, retiring secretary, was made an honorary life member of the club, as was T. F. McArthur, recently honored by the Ontario Curling Association with a life membership. Both these gentlemen are highly respected by the members of the club.

President, F. Stenson; vice-president, H. Bradburn; sec.-treas., I. D. Moore.

Williams Apologizes

BOSTON, May 13 (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox' slugging left-fielder, publicly apologized Friday for certain gestures he directed toward booing fans Thursday after two errors in the doubleheader which the Red Sox dropped to Detroit. His errors were followed by cat calls which in turn brought a two-handed gesture from Williams which some of the fans construed as insulting.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The executive council of the International Olympic Committee opened secret sessions Friday at Copenhagen, Denmark, with representatives of 19 Olympic sports. They discussed the programs of the 1952 winter and summer Olympic games. The winter Olympics will be held at Oslo and the summer games at Helsinki. They were faced with the task of condensing the summer program and pacifying one of the major groups concerned with the winter games—the International Ski Federation.

A spokesman for the council said they would not discuss their sessions publicly until they end tonight.

Any decision reached by the executive council must be acted upon by the full International Olympic committee which will begin its meeting here Monday.

The IOC and the ski group are at odds over the Olympic interpretation of amateurs. The Ski Federation permits ski instructors to take part in amateur competition.

A Japanese official said that Japan has hopes of competing in the 1952 Olympic games.

"Why then should they (the International Olympic Committee) have invited me here?" asked professor Ryotaro Azuma of Tokyo University, as he prepared to attend the IOC's annual meeting which gets under way on Monday.

At Zurich, Switzerland, Dr. Fritz Kraatz, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, proposed Friday all sports federations should set up a new international organization free from control by the International Olympic Committee. In a letter to the newspaper Sport, Dr. Kraatz said the International Olympic Committee exercised dictatorial control over the various sports federations.

John J. McHale, Jr., of London, Ont., posted a 92 to capture the doubles crown Friday in the United States amateur trapshoot championships at Pelham Manor, N. Y. It was the first time in history that a representative of the Dominion has won the tandem event. Shooting in steady fashion despite an unpredictable southwest wind that made the targets do weird things, McHale had a 19 on his first trip to the traps and followed with 17, 19, 19, 18.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said Friday night at New York that he is negotiating for a June 14 title match between middleweight champion Jake Lamotta and Rocky Graziano, of the former titleholder, but has not closed the match. Lamotta agreed several months ago to defend his crown for the IBC, and only last week the boxing club said the Bronx Bull's opponent definitely would be named by May 15.

Stewards of The Jockey Club controlling body of horse racing in the United States, said Friday the registration of 17 colts had been suspended and that future applications made by William Stremmel, owner of the Glen Cove stud farm at Vallejo, Calif., would be denied. The stewards refused to amplify their statement except to say their action was taken to guard and protest the American stud book.

Memberships in the American Bowling Congress, limited to white males for the last 34 years, were thrown wide open on Friday. Convention delegates, following recommendations of the ABC "brass" and harassed by court decisions and other pressure needed only 27 minutes at Columbus, O., to erase the controversial restriction from the books.

The Detroit Tigers' American League pennant hopes went up a few notches Friday when the hitherto ailing Hal Newhouser was named to pitch against St. Louis Sunday. It will be the first appearance of the season for the lefthander who came up with a sore shoulder during spring training.

Boston Red Sox today turned over Frank Quinn, $40,000 bonus righthand pitcher, to Washington Senators for the $10,000 waiver price.

King George Victors

King George softballers of the school loop pulled out a 14-12 decision over King Edward in a league fixture on the former's grounds. The intermediates dished up a close contest with the winners scoring six runs in the first, one next heat, three in the third and four more in the fourth. King Edward counted one in the second, five in the next, then two, with three tallying in the fifth and one in the sixth.

King Edward—Curtis, W. Rowe, Halcrow, Sutherland, Keeting, R. Rowe, Ferguson, Rusaw, Beggs.

King George — Barker, McNaughton, Cark, Baptie, Rogers, Ellis, Hale, Dorrington, Innes, English, Nurse, Hayden, Campbell, Fallis.

Cubs Trounce Maple Leafs In 7-3 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Springfield Cubs, thanks to a steady flow of players from the parent Chicago Cubs, are slowly making headway in the International League race.

One of the best to arrive from Chicago is Warren Hacker, a lanky 25-year-old righthander.

Hacker, who won five and lost eight at Chicago last year, turned in his second triumph for Springfield Friday night in as many attempts.

The promising major leaguer pitched the Cubs to a 7-3 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs. He allowed eight hits but didn't have clear sailing until the eighth, when the cubs scored four times to clinch the game. A pair of home runs by Ed Ehlers and one by Jack Wallasea featured the Cubs' 10-hit attack.

Continue To Roll

Meanwhile, the League-leading Montreal Royals continued to roll as Pat McGlothin pitched the Royals to an 8-3 victory over Baltimore Orioles. McGlothin yielded seven hits and breezed home as the Royals wrapped up the game with six runs in the third inning.

The second-place Jersey City Giants also came up with a six-run inning to down Rochester Red Wings, 10-5. The Giants tallied their half-dozen in the sixth, overcoming a 4-3 deficit.

Monte Irvin of the Giants socked his 10th homer of the season in the fifth but left after hitting a two-run single in the sixth because of a charley horse. Neal Watlington also homered for the Giants and Don Richmond for the Red Wings.

The last-place Buffalo Bisons edged Syracuse Chiefs, 2-1, in 11 innings. Rookie Charley Wilhelm homered for the first Buffalo run and then doubled and scored the winning run in the 11th.

Walt Dropo Really Clicking Leads Sox To 3-1 Victory

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Walt Dropo is off to a good start in his attempt to make Boston Red Sox fans forget Jimmy Foxx and Rudy York.

Not since the day of "Double X" and big Rudy have the Red Sox presented such a robust hitting first baseman as Dropo.

Grimly determined to make the grade after fluffing his first chance last spring, Dropo is whacking American League pitching at a terrific .436 gait, tops in his league.

The former University of Connecticut football, basketball and baseball star received his second opportunity early this month when Billy Goodman, Boston's regular first sacker chipped a bone in his ankle.

OPERATE ON IRV NOREN

Washington Senators' regular centre-fielder, Irv Noren, was operated on late Friday for appendicitis. Noren, who was bought from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League last winter for $70,000 was resting well after the operation.

Friday the 225-pound six foot five husky drove out three singles to lead his mates to a 3-1 triumph over their old tormentor, Ray Scarborough, and the surprising Washington Senators.

Doing All Right

The victory moved the Red Sox, along with New York Yankees, who also won, to within a half game of the league-leading Detroit Tigers. The Yankees edged Philadelphia Athletics 3-2 in a night game at Yankee Stadium. The Tigers and St. Louis Browns were idle.

Jerry Coleman accounted for all of the Yankee runs with a three-run homer in the fifth inning off Lou Brissie, who went down to his fifth defeat. Tommy Byrne surrendered eight hits, including a two-run homer by Sam Chapman in posting his second conquest.

Rookie Al Rosen belted a three run first inning homer to lead Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 victory over Chicago White Sox. The blow was Rosen's seventh of the season.

Ewell Blackwell turned in his finest performance of his comeback bid as he pitched the last-place Cincinnati Reds to a five-hit 3-1 victory over the Cardinals in a night game at St. Louis.

Home runs by Preston Ward and Andy Pafko plus effective pitching by Bob Rush enabled Chicago Cubs to down Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-3, in the National's only day game.

Hebrew Prophets Had Gospel Of Salvation, True Welfare

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The message of the Hebrew prophets was not all denunciatory. They saw the deep evils in personal lives and in society, and they spoke fearlessly in rebuking these evils. They saw the neglect of God's law and the perversion and corruption of religion among a people who had a great spiritual heritage—a chosen people who had renounced God's choice.

But deep in their message was the note of appeal, reminding the people of their heritage, and assuring them of God's mercy. The prophets and a gospel, for both individuals and society. It was a gospel of salvation and of true welfare for those who would turn from their evil and seek God's way.

Jesus said, concerning Old Testament religion, that He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill, and the Gospel that He revealed was the fulfillment of the gospel that the prophets declared. The prophets seemed, at times, pessimists as they dwelt upon the evil of their times, but the evils that they saw, both in individuals and in society, were very real.

A social reformer without a gospel is no reformer at all. The exposure of evil and corruption in our modern social and political life, particularly in the cities, has been known, expressively, as "muck-raking."

Too often such exposure has not gone much beyond the raking over of the muck. Newspapers and magazines have published sensational articles, that have been read eagerly by the public, but either little is done about the situation, or things soon settle back into the old shameful conditions.

It is a good many years since Lincoln Steffens published his famous articles on the shame of the cities, but more recent "muckrakers" have shown that conditions are little better than they were then, though there are some considerable exceptions.

This, probably, is because the muckraking has had with it no gospel, no constructive power of regeneration. The prophets had a gospel. Those to whom they spoke did not always receive or accept it; they persisted in their old ways until destruction came upon them.

But there were more noble chapters in the life history of Israel. When Israel had been cast away in exile, prophets arose, who recounted the history that had brought about the downfall, but who expounded the mercy and forgiveness of God's countinuing call and choice that there was a glorious return from the exile, and a rebuilding of religious life in the Jewish homeland.

The world needs moral codes. It needs critics and discerning judges. But above and beneath it all it needs a gospel. More specifically it needs Christ's gospel, and until statesmen and all leaders of men realize that, there is not much hope of the world peace and welfare for which we so much long, but have been unable to achieve.

Ascension Is Not The End, Beginning Of New Family

By The REV. E. R. JAMES

While the Disciples beheld Jesus was taken up and a cloud received Him out of their sight. Acts 1: 9.

An eye witness is telling St. Luke this story. "While the disciples heheld Jesus was taken up and a cloud received Him out of their sight." How natural. Had you been there you would have beheld—eyes uplifted—til He disappeared from human eyes, "Jesus was taken up into the spiritual world which is all around us. Your little son will understand.

You may be surprised that the Lord's first words to Mary Magdalene are not about His resurrection but about His ascension. He looked forward to seeing the Father in all the beauty of His character.

Let us think upon these words "Taken up." Inspired writing. Our Lord's work on earth has been entirely satisfactory to the Father. "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased." Moreover He takes up with Him that which had never been there before. He is standing before the Father as the "Perfect Man." Human nature made perfect by the Son through the stress and strain of temptation. He is clad in the Best Robe which has been woven through pain, sorrow and agony. He will cloth every human soul with that Best Robe who accepts Him as Lord and Saviour. The Father will see you through that Robe; He will look at you through the perfections of the Son.

The outstanding thought in the New Testament is that the Lord is to sit on the right hand of the Father to be our judge. Do you understand what that means. You and I will be judged by the God Man who is bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh. He is Man, touched with the feelings of our infirmities, who is not ashamed to call us brethren. He has the same human name "This same Jesus." You will remember all his tenderness and love and pity. You will be judged by the God Man for the Father has given all authority into His Hands. What a Comfort as you face the future on your death bed. "My Lord and My God."

The Ascension is not the end. It is the beginning of a new Family. Jesus Christ is to be the Head of a new race a new body. Each of us is to be added to that body, purified and built in by the word of the Holy Spirit, who will change you to reveal something of the Christ to your friends and neighbours. You will not need to say "I am saved." They will testify that they see something of the Master in your character.

It is the fulfillment of the Lord's prayer.

I will that where I am there Ye may be also.

May this be fulfilled in you and me.

St. Andrew's Anniversary

St. Andrew's United Church will this year celebrate its 117th Anniversary on Sunday, May 14, with Rev. D. H. Gallagher as guest preacher. Rev. Gallagher is secretary for missions for the United Church of Canada. Mr. Ronald Stewart tenor soloist of Toronto who has been heard in Peterborough on several occasions will be present and assist the choir at both services.

St. Andrew's have also been fortunate in securing J. Alex. Edmison, K.C., who has just been appointed assistant to the principal of Queen's university, as special speaker for Peterborough's Centennial Sunday on Sept. 15. Mr. Edmison is a great grandson of St. Andrew's, his great grandfather being one of the founders of this congregation, and an elder for over 50 years, and his grandfather was an elder also until his death. St. Andrew's also was the home church of his father the late Rev. John Hall Edmison, D.D.

It is felt that many old friends of St. Andrew's will want to hear him on that occasion.

Orderly Meeting

WINDSOR, May 13 (CP)—Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, told an orderly audience here Friday night that the nation who first uses the atomic bomb "can be considered henceforth as a war criminal." Dr. Johnson, known as the "Red Dean" for his pro-Russian sympathies, was not interrupted during his address in the Hungarian Labor Temple here.

New Substations On Wheels Built At CGE

One of the problems facing men working on the Freqiency standardization program in southern Ontario will be licked when the new mobile substations, produced at Peterborough Works for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, swing into action.

First of these mobile substations has just rolled off the lines at Peterborough Works. Nine more will follow in the near future. Total value of the ten-unit order is approximately $340,000

Each of these streamlined, tailor-made units is rated 1,500 kva and mounted on a six-wheeled trailer. Hauling power is supplied by a tractor suitable for semi-trailer work.

To Reduce Voltage

These units will be used to reduce voltage on 60-cycle power being supplied to an area while the local Hydro distribution substation is being changed to 60 cycles.

Individual units, which have standard substation metering and switching apparatus, weigh 34,000 pounds. They are 12½ feet in height, 8 feet in width, and their overall length is 25 feet. Their color scheme is red, standard colour for Hydro vehicles, with black trim. The GE monogram is prominently displayed on both sides of the trailer.

WINNIPEG FLOOD EVACUEES, Sandra, Left, and Karen Niven reached the East by air on Friday, were met by grandparents Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Niven of 534 Weller St., at the airport and brought to Peterborough to stay for a while. They formed part of an air group of 40 youngsters who were flown from Winnipeg to Toronto on Friday. Sandra (Above) shows her grandparents the most useful thing anyone can own in Winnipeg, a rubber boot.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

5 New Teachers For City Schools

Five new teachers—one for PCVS and the other four for the public school staff—have been appointed by the Board of Education. And there is one resignation.

To fill the vacancy for a teacher of art at PCVS, Zoltan Temesey has been engaged.

Mr. Temesy is a graduate of the University of Western Ontario, has had 2½ years experience teaching art and physical education in Bermuda, and has been attending the College of Education for the past year.

Miss Carol Donald has been engaged as a kindergarten teacher and the other three are Miss Ruth Lytle, Miss Jean Arnold and Miss Joan Brown.

Another four more public school teachers will be required before staff vacancies are filled. K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, informed the board.

Miss Ruth Telford's resignation has been accepted by the board.

ROTARY SPEAKER

Rotarian Harold Deeth, chairman of the International Service Committee of the Peterborough Rotary Club, will be the guest speaker on Monday at the luncheon. Mr. Deeth has recently returned from Mexico and will give an illustrated address, the pictures being taken on his trip to that country.

Council of Blind Meets In City For Convention

The Louis Braille Society of Peterborough is host this week-end to delegates attending the seventh annual conference of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Council of the Blind at the Empress Hotel. The delegates and spokesmen representing organizations of the blind of Ottawa, Kingston, Belleville, Kitchener, Stratford, Brantford, Toronto, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Woodstock, London and Windsor arrived in the city on Thursday in readiness for the Conference Friday and today.

They were met and welcomed by the members of the host club.

The conference was opened on Friday in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel, by an official welcome from His Worship, Mayor Max J. Swanston who wished the delegates success in their deliberations and thanked those interested groups of sighted people who gave their time and energy in assisting the blind to become responsible and active citizens of the community.

The delegates and guests, numbering more than 80, were the guests of the city at a banquet held at the hotel in the evening which was followed by a dance in the Kawartha Room. Gordon K. Fraser, Member of the Parliament for Peterborough West, was after dinner speaker.

Courses of action Mr. Fraser advocated as necessary to help the blind live happy lives in the community were abolition of the means test before financial assistance is granted, an employment program providing suitable work for the blind and adequate provision for surgical and medical treatment.

Wants Proper Assistance

Referring to the Canadian Council of the Blind's six point program, Mr. Fraser said he agreed that the old age pension was not the proper channel through which financial assistance should be given.

Loss of sight was a handicap and an allowance, without a means test, should be made available.

The Special Committee of the Federal House on Social Security was considering legislation for the blind.

If proper treatment were available to all blind people, many eyes would be saved. If a person who had lost his sight was given employment in which he could show his skill, he would live a happy and contented life.

Other head table speakers were Miss Joan Keagy, social director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind; Art McGill, superintendent of field secretaries, Ontario division of the Institute; Magistrate W. R. Philp; R. F. Jones, chairman of the Ontario division of the council, who was chairman at the banquet; J. Dutton, representing the mayor of Peterborough; Eddie Brown, field secretary, Peterborough and Mrs. A. M. Mason, president of the Women's Auxiliary to Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion. Mrs. Jones, wife of the chairman, was also present.

During the conference, R. F.

Police Start Drive On Old Model Cars

If you have an old model car on the road check the lights, brakes and mechanical parts to make sure they are in good condition.

Peterborough headquarters of the Provincial Police are starting a drive to eliminate cars with defects and they will be keeping their eye particularly on old models.

Inspector C. W. Farrow told the Examiner today that in several recent accidents old model cars had been involved.

Old cars have every right to be on the road, the inspector says, providing they have no defects. The police will be checking cars and licenses.

Firemen Seek To Save Not To Destroy

In the lurid pages of junior's comic books the fireman is generally depicted as an axe-happy broth of a boy who hopes to chop his way to captaincy.

Even some tolerably sober adults imagine that firemen brawl among themselves for the privilege of being the first to demolish a door or piece of furniture.

The idea that firemen are needlessly destructive and often do more harm than the fire itself, is why some people still refuse to call the fire department as soon as they should.

"A mistaken impression entirely," is the brisk comment of Fire Chief George Smith of Peterborough. "The training and instruction of firemen today emphasizes the absolute minimizing of property damage."

Blamed On Volunteers

In the old days of volunteer brigades there may have been an element of truth in the charge that firemen did more damage than the actual blaze—and firemen admit it.

Too often a helmet, red shirt, and a shiny badge the size of a pie plate, constituted the only equipment (mental or otherwise) necessary to hold the job. As one wag observed: "Every fire was gleefully welcomed as an opportunity to display one's prowess in swinging an axe or shooting Niagaras through a nozzle."

But those days have gone, says Chief Smith flatly. Gone with the horse and buggy and the moustache cup. Professional training, competition, science and the development of modern methods have increased not only the quality of the personel but also have led to the adoption and application of new techniques.

Your present fire insurance rates reflect the trend of improvements in the science of fire fighting. Underwriters — hard headed business men all of them —establish these rates for communities on many tangible factors. One of these factors is the methods of selecting firemen and officers protecting your premises; their physical and education backgrounds; and whether they are regularly instructed and trained in the conservation of property as part of their extinguishing operations.

Not All Perfect

"Not all firemen are perfect," Chief Smith concedes. In fact he can tell many a tale of excited rookies swinging axes on stout doors when this battering process could have been easily avoided.

"Unnecessary destruction of a building or its contents is something the average fireman of today is constantly being warned against during drill and training periods," he said.

What frequently causes the layman to criticize firemen is his failure to understand why sertain things are done during an outbreak. Why do they break windows? Why punch holes in walls and ceilings? Why, when a room or rooms are fully involved in fire do they go to the next floor and remove surbases or open up pipe enclosures? Why do tney pull burnt mattresses apart?

Highly Skilled Job

"There is a good reason for every one of these tactics," says Chief Smith. "And the public should know they are not the acts of individual housewreckers or excited men acting on the spur of the moment. Today firefighting is a highly-skilled profession and these tactics are adopted with four main objectives in view."

One—save life.

Two—confine fire to point where found.

Three—control it.

As stated his primary objective is to save life and this is often done at great personal risk to the fireman.

To confine it he must deploy men and equipment at points where the fire may spread That means getting ahead of the blaze by closing off vertical and horizontal openings; probing with hooks and axes all nearby concealed spaces such as pipe or other ducts, hollow lath and plaster or other combustible partitions and ceilings, removing surbases of rooms directly over fire, cutting holes in floor, and then placing small hose streams in operation at those opened up points if there is evidence of spreading fire.

After surrounding the enemy flames the chief must then move move in to control them.

Depending on the size of the fire he causes one or more hose lines to be sent in to the building. The floor, and rooms involved are heavily charged with flames, intense heat and choking smoke as well as deadly gases.

One Must Back Down

At this point either the fire or the fireman must back down. The later know they cannot hold out for long unless they turn the tide quickly. If they are unsuccessful it's a case of "back out or be blown out."

Exterior windows in the fire area and skylights or vents above must be opened and quick. Where a normal opening cannot be made —to carry off the volcanic heat, smoke, etc., and allow hose lines to be advanced—they must be

17 Grownups Ill With Mumps MOH Reports

It isn't only the kiddies that get the mumps. During April 17 of the 32 cases reported to the Board of Health were adults.

These were the figures presented to the board by Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health

Here is a roundup of communicable diseases for April: Chickenpox 14; German measles, two; measles, one; mumps 32, and whooping cough, six.

Despite the prevalence of mumps, Dr. Kelly said he did not find this alarming "and it is not expected that an outbre.. of epidemic proportions is in any way imminent." The only unuausl feature, he pointed out, was that of the 32 cases reported 17 were adults.

"While only six cases of whooping cough were reported, more concern was felt over the appearance of this infection," said Dr Kelly. "This is due to the fact that contagion can be prevented by present-day methods of immunization."

For some unknown reason some parents remain indifferent to immunization, he stated And there is evidence that "reporting in certain instances has not been overly conscientious."

In evidence reported in the trial of Frederick Christie, Parnell St., fined $100 for reckless driving in police court, it was Christie, not Howard Berry, who said he had six or seven seven beers that night.

ADDRESSES DELEGATES

Thomas A. Lister, safety engineer at the CGE, was one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Industrial Accident Association in London Friday. More than 200 attended the meeting of which John Petford of Stratford was chairman.

SEEKS NEW INDUSTRY

The Board of Trade at Port Hope is keeping mum at present on the report that a new industry may locate there with a site on the lake shore. It is said that the company would employ about 150, of which 65 per cent would be female employees. No announcement has been made yet as to the type of manufacturing firm it would be, and it is thought that a final decision will not be reached for two months.

HAVE LEFT WINNIPEG

Alec Sinclair, recreation director here, is a happy and relieved man today. He received word yesterday that his wife and mother-in-law had left flooded Winnipeg and would arrive in Peterborough on Monday. In a phone call with his wife, Mr Sinclair was informed that the waters of the rampaging Red river were up to their doorstep then and slowly rising.

Hundreds Line Otonabee As Clock Strikes Midnight To Open Pickerel Season

The early bird may get the worm but the baits that hit the water with the opening of the pickerel season at midnight failed to lure the fish.

The fishing haunts along the Otonabee River from below the Locks' bridge to the locks above Nassua reported poor results. Cold weather and too much food in the water were given as reasons for the poor catch.

The Locks bridge over the Otonabee on Highway No. 7 was selected by 75 per cent of the "early birds". Fishermen started gathering shortly before 11 p.m. along the dam, canal and banks of the river. Game Overseer Ron Menzies patrolled the area watching for any "time-jumpers".

Siren Blowen

The whine of 200 reels coincided with the siren indicating that the pickerel season was open. In a matter of minutes other fishermen joined the ranks along the banks causing not only a traffic jam along the roads but on the shore of the canal and river.

Jim Nichols, 196 Reid St., making his first try at fishing in Canada since he came here from England two years ago, claimed the first pickerel caught at the dam shortly after the season opened. On his first cast he had a strike. He added a second fish in the first half-hour.

Despite backlashes, snags on bottom and crossing lines Nichols' expressed his feelings by "Blimey what a time "

Bob Fickling, 108 Montgomery St., took a small pickerel from the river side but returned it to the water.

Harry Martin, 1064 High St. landed a fair size fish using a live minnow while Ben Quesnel, 86 Lynch St. whipped two "glassy-eyes" from the river using a pikie minnow and a red-white plug.

From the lock, four pickerel were taken up to 2 a.m. Two of these were landed by Wilfred Perry, 73 Pine St. with a red-white plug while Ray Fry, 718 Lock St., after two hours fishing had one fish with a live minnow and Tom Hughes, 775 Monaghan Road, one fish on worms.

Some Got Suckers

Suckers were numerous and provided humorous conversation to fill in the time. One fisherman who had travelled 60 miles for the grand opening caused a fury along the canal side when he landed a large sucker which bent his pole. His words were "drop dead".

Another fisherman weary waiting for at least a nibble stretched out along the cement with a sleepy snore.

"Just making myself comfortable", was his remark to nearby men.

Refuse to Bite

"Nothing doing" was the an-

PICKEREL SEASON

It is hard to say whether last weekend among trout fishermen or this, among walleye favourites, cause the greatest consternation and exodus in the city. If numbers count for anything, the walleye boys are the winners by a huge majority.

Starting last Sunday, the walleyes clan spread out through the swift waterways below the dams on the Trent, at the foot of natural rapids, by overhanging rocky ledges, to look the situation over. And they have found it good. The first spots they make for are where their largest fish was taken last season, perhaps the season before that. The enthusiasts stand, just so, making imaginary casts while dreaming their dreams.

From then on all through this week, walleye sickness worked in their minds. Gear came out of cellars and dusty closets and replacements made at the corner hardware store. Boys caught the bug from their fathers, knowing that they had just as good a chance to bag their six-fish limit at their elders.

Put by Live Bait

Such small streams as Jackson Creek were visited each evening after work by minnow fishermen to put by live bait for this weekend. Sporadic work in the family garden plot added worms to the growing bait supplies and did not a whit of good to the garden.

Friday afternoon dragged by in factories, shops and offices as the clocks crawled to quitting time. You would think Friday evening would give anyone ample time to get ready for his favourite fishing pond. But some left home in a flurry, chewing on a sandwich supper, with the excuse of having miles to drive. Actually, it was a matter of getting seating room on the spillways of dams before dark, to be really safe about it.

The power house dam at Lakefield offered the most ideal spot where restless fishermen could talk with their kind as the illuminated Town Hall clock wound slowly on to midnight.

Before the last bongs floated across the dark swift water over the roar of the watergates, the first casts were made and no man spoke to his brother for

Use Only Seasoned Wood For Framework of House

Framework is a stage of construction that is of most vital importance for generally when you inspect a finished home it is well hidden from your eyes and only the most experienced can detect hidden defects. This is the frame construction, so easily cheapened, and very properly called the "heart" of a home. It is wise to know what kind of wood is used in the construction of the framework of your home as well as how it is put together.

Be sure the wood used in your home is seasoned, either sun-dried or kiln dried. When properly cured wood is used, it greatly lessens the possibility of shrinkage, plaster cracks and buckled floors. Undried or green wood, shrinks, warps and checks, causing considerable trouble and expensive repairs. First point of frame construction are the joists (the seams on which the floors are laid). 2"x8", 2"x10" or 2"x12" joists are used as required for span. They are spaced 16 inches apart and where unusual stress or weight occurs, a double joist is used. In the case of a partition carrying heat ducts or plumbing pipes, two pairs of joists are used with trimmers cut in between each pair and spaced on 16-inch centres. The paralle joists on all stair wells or other frame opening are doubled or tripled as the case may require. A box joist or outer joist running entirely around the building is a sign of extra quality.

Made More Rigid

Bridging, or X-bracing nailed up between joists make them more rigid and aid in properly distributing concentrated loads. The best type of bridging is 1"x3" rough-sawed white pine, nailed into position with two nails, rather than one, is a quality feature not to be overlooked; the extra nail adds extra strength. The white pine does not split with nailing.

Atop the joists the sub-flooring is laid. This is always laid diagonally on about a 45 degree angle to the side walls. Laying it diagonally causes some waste of wood, but this is amply compensated for in that it prevents the warping and opening of finish-floor joints and adds to the rigidity of the building. 1"x6" is used in the best construction with the butt joints cut diagonally over the parallel with the joist. Slight spacing is allowed for swelling due to moisture.

When we come to the outside partitions much the same specifications hold for studs, the upright framing members of the home, as for joists. Studs are never less than 2"x4" in cross sections and never spaced on less than 16-inch centres. The corner posts are usually composed of at least three studs strongly nailed together. The studding rests on a single 2"x4" bottom plate and topped with a double 2"x4" plate. These specifications also hold true on all inside partitions.

A wall has a great deal of weight to carry and because of this all openings in the wall must be reinforced if a high standard of quality is to be maintained. Doors and windows, therefore, in a quality-built home are provided with double studding on either side and headers of the three-piece or channel type. For example, short headers should be made with two pieces of 2"x4" nailed securely side by side making a 4"x4" with another piece nailed on the bottom making a 4"x6". This makes for greater strength, less shrinkage and gives a smooth joint for finish trim.

Fears Torture Escapes Jail

NORTH BAY, May 13—(CP)—Alex. Twanuira, who said he feared he would be deported to his Austrian homeland to be tortured or killed, escaped Friday from jail here where he was serving a nine-month sentence for burglary.

Twaniure told police he believed he would be deported to Austria and vowed never to go. He said that if he were put on a ship bound for Europe he would jump overboard in mid-ocean. He was convicted of entering cabins of United States visitors in nearby West Ferris and stealing jewelry. Twaniura had served four months of his term.

HOUSE No. 197A — Situated only 15 miles from the heart of downtown Toronto, is the pleasant village of Cooksville; fast becoming a haven for city-weary homebuilders. Lots are spacious and pleasantly wooded, as this spring-time picture indicates. Here, away from noise, dirt and congestion, the owners decided to build a house that would be a home. They called in their architect friend and he designed this chipper little Colonial for them. It's hard to imagine a house more in keeping with its site. The house is situated far back from the road and at right angles to it. A study of the floor plan shown reveals that there is a generous supply of windows throughout the house, and that closet space is also above average. Plan frontage is approximately 32'. Expert Says Flood Control Too Expensive In Manitoba

WINNIPEG, May 13—(CP)—A top United States expert said Friday night it is "economically impossible" to stop a large-scale flood of the Red river valley.

H. W. Harich, of St. Paul, Minn., head of the operations branch of the U.S. Corps of Engineers, said the cost of building reservoirs or dams to trap spreading spring waters would exceed the worth of the land saved.

The only possible solution was diking—a measure which would prove adequate except "once in 25, 50 or 100 years."

Mr. Harich spoke at a press conference called by Premier Douglas L. Campbell. He arrived Thursday night and is making a survey of the situation in Greater Winnipeg and St. Boniface, where the worst flood since 1832 rages.

A reservoir or dam, to be effective, would have to be 12 miles wide. The proper strategic position was near the Canadian-U.S. border, but its construction there would cause large-scale flooding in North Dakota and Minnesota in a bad year.

"But with a flood such as this," he said, "it is economically impossible to stop the waters."

4 Believed Drowned

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 13—(CP)—Four persons, three from Quebec province, were missing and believed drowned after a barge broke loose from a towing tug and foundered near Burgeo, on Newfoundland's south shore, Thursday, during a raging storm. Missing are Rene Charette, of Montreal, his daughter, Mrs. Ulric Tremblay, of Matane, Que., her husband, chief engineer aboard the tug, and Capt. Hamlyn, of Newfoundland.

Bad Traffic Jam

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—A Manhattan-to-Queens train broke down in the fast river tunnel of the independent subway system during the rush hour late Friday, causing 8,000 persons to be evacuated from underground trains and disrupting traffic over a wide area. The 75-minute tie-up resulted from a short circuit.

RCAF Modern Force

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP)—The RCAF now is "moving forward fast towards becoming a truly modern, operational force," Defence Minister Claxton said Friday. He told the first convention of the RCAF Association, an organization of air veterans, "the groundwork of the past four years is beginning to pay off . . ."

Insurance Rates Cut In North

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP)—Northern shipping traffic between Churchill, Man., and the United Kingdom is expected to pick up with a government announcement that shipping insurance rates have been trimmed for the second time in two years.

Transport Minister Chevrier told the Commons Friday that under an arrangement with U.K. marine underwriters in London, the additional premiums applicable during the summer season have been cut by 33 1/3 per cent., effective May 1 last.

The new reduction is in addition to a reduction of 25 per cent which went into effect last summer. A transport department official explained that the whole thing had been made possible because of the fact that a relatively few number of accidents have occurred along that route in recent years.

In small frame construction, the vertical studs are capped by a top plate. As shown in Figure 1, the top plate runs across the studs for the entire length of the building. The size of the top plate should not be less than doubled 2" material. It should be the same width as studs, lapped at all corners and intersecting partitions. Laps should be securely spiked. End joints should be made over a stud. The grade and species of the wood is the same as that used in the studs. Top plates should be nailed firmly to each stud with two nails. Corner studs are used at an intersection of two walls. As a single stud does not have sufficient nailing surface for inside finish at the corners, three two-by-four's are joined together as shown in Figure 2. This is simple to assemble, and adds strength to the walls. The corner studs should be framed and assembled along with the regular studs. In certain types of construction, a ribbon is used to support the joists above the first floor. The ribbon, shown in Figure 3, is spiked and notched to the studs. A one-by-four is sufficient. Any grade lumber may be used but the harder woods are preferable. It should be free from defects such as cracks or large knots. The length should be continuous but if this is not possible the joint should be at the centre of a stud. There should be two nails at each stud. When the studs are framed before raising, the ribbon should be fitted into place during the assembly.

Speaking Knowledge Of French Necessary In Visit To France

By JEAN E. STENTON

PARIS May— It may be a surprise for you people who have never been to Paris to learn that they don't speak English here. They speak French.

"Paris," they always tell you, "Oh, you don't have to know the language in the hotels and restaurants."

But after 24 hours here, I had learned there wasn't a desk clerk, policeman, taxi driver or waiter who has more than a few words of English.

Jean Stenton

After my 21 easy lessons I decided not to be overconfident and took a pocket size dictionary to bolster my faltering tongue . . . not really expecting to use it. I didn't, but not quite for the reason I intended.

After exchanging the amenities, I would struggle slowly word for word, to explain what I wanted. My polite French audience suffered tortures trying to anticipate what I might be going to produce. After about six words, my companions and the onlookers would let loose at each other with a barrage and a wild finger pointing and hand waving. Why I didn't lose an eye I never quite understood. They never gave me time to even pull out the dictionary, they were trying to be so helpful.

In addition, for some strange reason, because I didn't understand the language, they seemed to think there was something the matter with my ears. Everyone shrieked at me as though I had completely lost my hearing. When I arrived in Britain later, I had to keep looking around to see if someone had really spoken.

Know all Angles

I spent hours before I went, pouring over such words as beef, pork, fish and vegetables, so I could look the waiter in the eye and with a perfect accent, present my order. But the French are ready for strangers on that one too. It's very simple. They just hand-write the menus in the special French script and it might as well be Greek. I was smart. I could tell what the sections were. Left to myself, I would have had hors d'oeuvres, potatoes and ice cream every meal.

The first time I rode on a French train, I thought I had committed an unbelievable faux-pas and retired with a very red face. However, after the first time, I learned that it was quite customary to have only one washroom for the whole car . . . male and female.

Before I went, everyone told me:

"Be careful about riding in French taxis. They not only think they are piloting a plane, but charge you twice as much for the pleasure of making you think your last hour has come."

But I returned home completely disillusioned. One afternoon we overstayed our time at Notre Dame. Knowing we had only a few minutes to make our train, we decided to be extravagant and flagged down a cabbie. Instead of flying through the air with the greatest of ease, a snail could have gone faster. The driver deliberately steered for the worst traffic jams, forgot to watch the stop lights and refused to move an inch faster. Taxis passed to the right and taxis passed to the left, but we crawled on. Half way there, we knew we had missed our train, so we hopped out and didn't even give him a tip. He took it all philosophically, and ambled off to the shouted maledictions of a policeman.

Wanted—New Feet

There is one sure fire way to make money in France and that is to manufacture shoes. Not only are they expensive, but after 24 hours in that country they are a necessity for Frenchmen and foreigners. When I first arrived, I wondered why all the women wore only a certain type of heelless slipper that strapped over the ankle. I found out very shortly.

Almost all the roads and sidewalks in France (even Paris) are of uneven cobblestone. By the time you have walked a few blocks, even in low-heeled shoes, your feet ressemble minced hamburg. The day we went to the opera my friend and I returned in disgrace. It wasn't that we did so much walking, it was the streets we walked on. As the afternoon wore on, we went slower and slower, limping more and more. When we parked in a sidewalk cafe, we talked our companions into sitting an hour so we would be able to walk four blocks to the restaurant. When we got to the opera, the shoes had to come off altogether. But the crowning touch came when we arrived back in Pontoise at 2 am.

There was no taxi at the station and there was a 20-minute walk home, yes you've guessed it . . . all up hill on rough cobblestone roads. We both went on strike declaring: "We can't walk any further."

Our companions, reluctant to leave us sitting on the curb all night, tried to bolster our flagging spirits. They ranged themselves between the two of us, supporting us on their arms and half carrying us. In addition to our miseries, we had to stagger up these horrible roads (and we were perfectly sober) in pitch dark because the street lights are turned off at midnight. It took us 35 minutes to do that death march and my feet have never been quite the same. The favorite expression in the household was "les pauvres pieds de Jeanne, (poor Jean's feet) and the first inquiry that greeted me every morning was "Did you sleep well?" and "How are your feet today?"

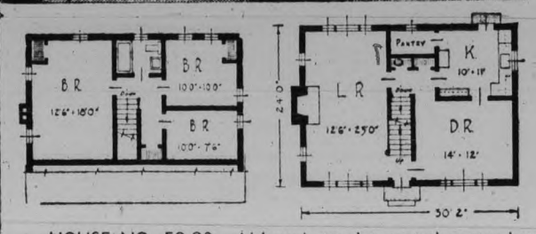
Handy Gadgets

The French have one thing in the newer houses and all hotels that I would strongly recommend importing into Canada. The first few days I was there I wondered what this peculiar article of furniture was in the bathroom. When I finally got up enough courage to ask, I learned it was a foot bath. I am quite sure that no one before or since has made as much use of it. It's wonderful.

But don't let the shattering of these little illusions scare you. You can still get along in France without French (I met several who did); the people are most kind and helpful; and the things you see are worth twice as much trouble. I'd go back tomorrow, cobblestones and all.

Call Air Strike

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—A country-wide strike against Pan American Airways by flight service personnel was called Friday night by the Transport Workers Union (CIO).



HOUSE NO. 59-20—Although to the casual passer-by this home appears to be tiny—it actually has six rooms! And the living room and master bedroom are really large. That old-fashioned pantry adjacent to the kitchen is a feature of this plan which many a housewife will like. Notice that there is a window directly over the kitchen sink, too. This Cape Cod cottage boasts a most efficient plan, wasting not one square foot of floor area. It has been planned to face east. Heating is by hot air. The owners deserve praise for the choice of his lot, and the attractive landscaping which has added so much to the house. Outside walls are white stucco, the roof is black, and the shutters and doors are red. Contents: 15,500 cubic feet. For further particulars, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Driveway Should Measure Nine or Twelve Feet Across

A rutted-up lawn seriously detracts from the appearance of the house even if it does go under the name of "driveway".

Winter is likely to be a poor time in which to begin driveway construction, so if repairing is to be done, or a new driveway is to be built, now is the time to start.

Planning experts say that nine feet is a desirable driveway width, although long driveways usually look better if made 12 feet in width. In locating the driveway, consider carefully the drainage angle, for if water collects under the surface, the road will eventually break up and will be subject to damage from freezing and thawing. Water on the surface of a road is equally dangerous and annoying.

Tile Drain Helps

In heavy soil, it is thought advisable to lay tile drains along the edges of the driveway, emptying into the street gutter or other low point where no damage will result. Care should be taken to prevent water in the street gutters from flowing into the driveway. This may be done by keeping the driveway several inches above the street pavement for several feet back from the curb before descending. Sharp breaks in grade should be avoided, otherwise the car may bump or scrape when driven at reasonable speed.

Driveways should be planned to permit easy access in and out. Home owners should avoid, for safety's sake, driveways which make it necessary to back out "blind" because of existing planting or other obstructions. In such cases, and if space permits, a turn or "Y" should be worked out. This manoeuvre will require a 13-foot radius on the inside straight piece of driveway for at least four feet at a garage entrance. Assuming a normal garage opening of 8 feet, it is possible to swing into th garage from a position against a wall with the garage door and 24 feet away.

However, 26 to 30 feet is recommended; 20 feet is possibl with two trys.

Level Space Needed

Backing out and heading toward the street will require a space 13 feet longer than the wheelbase of the car, if the driveway is at the extreme left going out or somewhat less if it is not necessary to back fully parallel with the garage door before going ahead. Garage courts should have a level space out of the drive or turning way where a car can be parked. More space should be allowed if guests are to be accommodated, as well as the delivery boy. This extra space is handy for repairs or can be used as a washing space.

Three pavement surfaces are suggested. The least expensive would probably be eigth inches of brickbats or rubble rolled on tamped firmly, topped with one or one and one-half inches of slag, chips, or good grade of local bank gravel, thoroughly compacted to a crown surface. This type is suitable on relatively flat grades. Calcium chloride or light oil binder may be added.

Macadam Formula

For a permanent pavement of rather rough driving surface, penetration macadam is suggested. This consist of six inches of compacted bluestone or broken washed gravel base penetrated with four-tenths of a gallon per square yards of cut-back asphalt. Chips or screening should be applied with each coat at the rate of 25 pounds per square yard or three-fourths-inch thickness.

Concrete wheel runs are sometimes desirable where the driveway is straight. These strips should be 20 to 24 inches in width, spaced 57 inches apart on centre. The concrete should be of good quality, six or seven inches thick.

TIM-BER-LOX

Protects Paint from Peeling and Blistering

A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-ber-lox is a clear liquid made from the finest, toughest resins and water repellent oils and is used as a thinner for oil based paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

OUTSIDE PAINTING

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. It is in this prime coat that the addition of Tim-Ber-Lox to paint is highly recommended. Paint with Tim-Ber-Lox added, has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and helps prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

PLYWOOD

A single application of Tim-Ber-Lox will prevent separating, will greatly reduce warping, buckling, surface checking and will eliminate "Grain Raise", leaving the surface smooth and uniform for subsequent coats of varnish or paint. It costs no more to use Tim-Ber-Lox—as Tim-Ber-Lox replaces the prime coat of paint or acts as a varnish undercoat where plywood is later to be varnished.

Learn Basic Principles In Correct Use of Nails

While no attempt to provide complete technical data on the correct use of nails for specific jobs, the following general observations provide a good "refresher" on some of the basic principles governing their use.

Harder woods hold nails better than softer woods, although they are more difficult to nail and have a greater tendency to split. Wood that is green or not thoroughly dry may lose most of its nail-holding power when it dries after the nails are driven. This is one of the reasons why green wood is not recommended for building construction. The resistance to withdrawal is higher when nails are driven into the side grain than when driven into the end grain of the wood, and therefore side grain nailing is always to be preferred.

Th common wire nail has attained by far the widest use of the many types developed. By varying the number and size, the kind of point, and the type of surface, the common nail can be adapted to cover a wide range both every-day and of exacting uses.

Facts On Holding Power

The resistance to withdrawal of common nails increases directly with the depth to which driven and increases almost directly with the diameter or surface area; that is, if the diameter of a common nail is doubled the holding power is doubled, provided, of course that splitting of wood does not occur.

The resistance of nails to side loads (lateral resistance) increases nearly 1½ times as fast as the diameter; that is, if the diameter of a common nail is doubled, the lateral resistance is nearly three times as great. The development of the maximum lateral resistance of a nail, requires a depth penetration into the member receiving the point of from not less than one-half the length of the nail for dense hardwoods to two-thirds the length of the nail for the softer woods.

The softer woods are often preferred for construction purposes because of their greater ease in nailing—the lack of nail-holding power being compensated for by the use of additional or larger nails. For example, in tests of diagonally sheathed panels an increase of about 40 per cent in strength (resistance to racking forces) was obtained by nailing with three rather than two nails at each stud crossing. In tests of wall panels made of sofe pine, a 30 per cent increase in stiffness and 40 per cent increase in strength was obtained with horizontal sheathing by a small increase in nail size.

Cement-Coated Nails

The nail-holding power of wood can be increased by changes in the surface condition of the nail. One of the common methods of surface treatment is the so-called "cement coating", which, if properly applied, may double the resistance to withdrawal in the softer woods, the increase dropping off for the denser woods, like hard maple, birch or oak, to no advantage over the plain nail. All cement-coated nails are not subjected to the same treatment, so that nails may sometimes be obtained that will show only a slight initial advantage over the plain nail. The increase in holding power of cement-coated nails is not permanent, dropping off about one-half after a month or so for the softer woods. Because boxes are usualy built for short-time service, cement-coated nails have been used extensively in their construction.

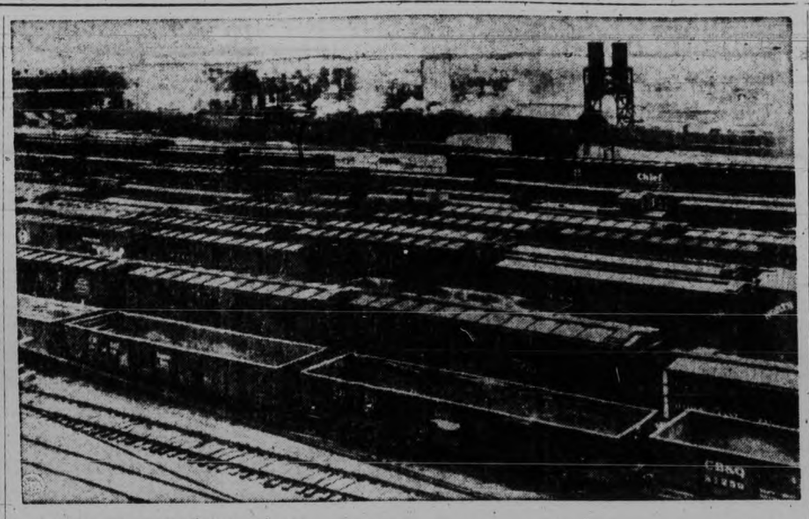
Blunt Points Stop Splitting

Sometimes in nailing it is found that the wood splits with the ordinary sharp-pointed nail. One way of preventing splitting is to use nails of smaller diameter, increasing the number, if necessary, to give the required strength. For special purposes, holes may be bored that are of slightly smaller diameter than that of the nail to be used.

When used under conditions favorable to corrosion, a nail of special material or coating is desirable. One of the most common types is the zinc-coated nail For the most effective holding, an even uniform coating is essential.

Where Nails Won't Do

For many types of fastening, of course, the ordinary nail or even the screw is of little value. In fact it is an easy matter to mutilate walls and to find that the holding power of the nail is in reverse ratio to the damage done. For such jobs fixing plugs especially designed for the purpose are essential. They are available for use in all types of materials—plaster, masonry, etc., and if a reliable make is selected, they can be trusted to do a thoroughly satisfactory job.



JAM THAT SPREADS—In the railroad yards of Amarillo, Tex., freight cars begin to jam up soon after the strike of the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Enginemen was called. The jam was spreading through 27 states as the effect of the strike on four major railroads began to be felt.

Tighter Tempo Needed In Play

CALGARY, May 13 (CP). — The Brockville Theatre Guild Friday night presented Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" at the Dominion Drama Festival.

Adjudicator Michel Saint Denis said the tempo was not tight enough and the characterization lacked precision, but "the last act sent us away with an impression of beauty."

The plan, in three acts, was directed by Filmore Sadler and produced by John Carroll. It is a story of daily life, love, marriage and death in the framework of a small town.

Mr. Saint Denis said the play—"bewildering but of great quality"—was in danger in the first two acts of "boring or falling flat" because the banality of small-town life required animating acting. But the last act saved the play.

Jack Radford as stage manager and narrator was "very good."

"He had the feeling of the play; he had a human quality but never became pompous although here and there was a slight monotony."

Howard Lapp as Mr. Webb "was exactly right as the publisher." Other characterizations were criticized more severely by the French-born adjudicator.

Murder Conviction

VERNON, B.C., May 13 (CP)—Joseph Arthur Ouellette, 21, Friday was convicted of murder in the shotgun-death last year of Mah Sing, 60-year-old market gardener. Mr. Justice A. N. MacFarlane sentenced Ouellette to be hanged Aug. 3.

Says Evidence Circumstantial In Witness Case

MONTREAL, May 13—(CP)—Judge Oscar Gagnon testified Friday he had "strong circumstantial evidence" that Frank Roncarelli, former Montreal restaurant owner, had distributed literature of the Witnesses of Jehovah in 1946 prior to cancellation of his liquor licence.

He was the first defence witness to testify on the third day of a court hearing into a $118,000 damage action against Premier Maurice Duplessis. The suit was launched by Roncarelli because, he claimed, cancellation of his licence resulted in heavy financial loss when he sold his cafe.

Roncarelli also charged that his permit was revoked because he acted as a bondsman for the religious sect arrested for distributing allegedly subversive literature.

Defence lawyers Emery Beaulieu and Edouard Asselin opened their defence of the premier today by producing a copy of a pamphlet published by the Witnesses. The pamphlet, entitled "Quebec's Burning Hatred," was admitted as evidence.

Judge Gagnon then told the court his attention was drawn to the Witnesses' pamphlet while he was Chief Crown Prosecutor prior to his appointment to the bench.

He said he informed Chief Judge Edouard Archambault, then head of the Liquor Commission, that Roncarelli was acting as bondsman for the Witnesses while holding a liquor permit. He said he had no positive proof that Roncarelli distributed the literature but only "strong circumstantial evidence."

Great Bunch Of Characters Present Play

CALGARY, May 13—(CP)—Producer John Carroll says the Brockville Theatre Guild—which Friday night presented Thornton Wilder's "Our Town"—is the largest company to attend and "the damnedest bunch of characters" to play in the Dominion Drama Festival.

Mr. Carroll has attended the festival since its first competition in 1933.

Director of the cast of 23 is Fillmore Sadler, owner of a summer theatre at Knowlton, Que.

Among the "cnaracters" is George Fulford, Liberal member of parliament for Leeds constituency in which Brockville is situated. Son of a former Canadian senator, wealthy head of a trust company, he was a member of parliament from 1940-45 and re-elected last year.

The man he defeated in the last election is John Carroll, the producer of the play. They are the best of friends although Mr. Carroll said he is still an unrepentant Progressive Conservative.

Nothing To It

"When George asked for a role in this play," said Mr. Carroll "I gave him the farmer part and told him that if the spotlights made him nervous he could close his eyes and pretend he was in the House of Commons."

Mr. Carroll is a rugged, hearty fellow who played football for the University of Toronto "in the days too far back to remember." He said he thought his group, which he founded in 1929, is the oldes amateur theatre group now operating in Canada.

The Brockville Drama Organization now has a strong membership of 400, uses a school auditorium for its plays and has a workshop on one floor of a downtown office building.

When the guild came through with a regional victory, to send them to the festival final for a second time, Brockville citizens came through with $4,000 needed to send their entry here.

Red Cross Serves 3,600 Meals In Fire-Swept Cabano Daily

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 13 — (CP)—This fire-stricken lower St. Lawrence river city is well on the way to recovery today, but in the little mill town of Cabano, just 60 miles west of here, reconstruction and re-organization is a slow-paced struggle.

A reconstruction and rehabilitation committee formed of business and civic leaders in Rimouski has done all the spade work for rebuilding a better and more beautiful city from the blackened remains fo a $20,000,000 weekend fire.

Tuesday, the committee will present Premier Duplessis with a broad outline of its plans.

Meanwhile Leo McLaren, a Red Cross representative, said there were ample supplies of all sorts in Rimouski. But supplies of baby foods were getting short. There are 1,500 children among the 2,500 homeless under Red Cross care.

Need More Supplies

George Balcer, another Red Cross official, said he got in touch with Dr. Edmy Latulippe, Red Cross representative at Cabano, and informed him that additional medical supplies to take care of immediate needs of Cabano would be sent by the Rimouski Red Cross organization.

Rimouski is bustling with reconstruction activity. Mechanical shovels are at work and Quebec Colonization Department bulldozers are cleaning up the mass of ruins in the western section of the city.

At Cabano, things are going more slowly, as the Temiscouata county mill town is still struggling to its feet.

Food services for the 1,500 homeless in Cabano are well organized. Dr. Jean Marie Tremblay said they were prepared by expert bush cooks loaned by the Fraser Company, the only large lumber industry that survived the blaze.

Medical Supplies Poor

The medical supply situation, entirely different than that at Rimouski where four drug stores survived the fire, is poor.

In Rimouski, the homeless were able to obtain a variety of medical supplies either from Red Cross emergency stations or by obtaining a coupon to exchange at drug stores.

Dr. Latulippe, one of the three physicians in Cabano, has no equipment. He lost all in the blaze.

In Rimouski, Red Cross officials said they serve 900 meals three times a day. In Cabano, the Red Cross serves 1,200 meals three times a day.

Hygienic conditions in Cabano are well under control, according to Dr. Tremblay, head of the provincial government health unit there. But is is not as good as in Rimouski. In Cabano, there was trouble for some time over the water supply and the construction of outdoor latrines was necessary.

Jean Arthur Still Modest On Broadway

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, May 13 —(CP)— A modest actress sounds like a contradiction in terms but Jean Arthur currently enchanting New York stage-goers in "Peter Pan," seems bent on proving it isn't.

Stories about her shyness and aversion to publicity have been current for years. In 1942 she was dubbed by the Women's Press Club in Hollywood one of the least co-operative actresses.

Now she's showing New Yorkers that her attitude isn't a myth or a reverse-twist publicity stunt.

At the opening-night curtain of the revival of the Barrie play, the enthusiastic audience called for a speech from Miss Arthur, who plays the title role of the pixyish boys with wings. She stood with the rest of the cast, embarrassed and silent.

Finally, Boris Karloff, who plays the dual roles of Captain Hook and Mr. Darling, stepped forward with the star actress and said: "I think I can say that Miss Arthur wishes to thank you."

The youngs, who were trained at a cathedral choir in Toronto, entertain the patrons with a medley program that includes French-Canadian folk songs, spirituals and jazz numbers. Their engagement runs another six weeks.

Highland Fling

"Brigadoon," the popular musical about the highlands of Scotland, is back in town for a three-week engagement, bringing joy to lovers of tartans and bagpipes. The musical, which ran 580 performances on Broadway in 1947 and 1948 before going on tour, is still delightful entertainment.

Coming Events

Hollywood actress Paulette Goddard is to make her first North American stage appearance as an adult in Shaw's comedy, "Caesar and Cleopatra," at the Olney Theatre, Olney, Md., June 16, the play's producers announce The local premiere of "The Liar," a musical of which actor Alfred Drake is one of the co-authors, has been put off one week, to May 18. Its present run in Philadelphia will be extended a week.

St. Laurent Sees Reds Making Great Gains

HULL, Que., May 13 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday communism has made great gains despite unprecedented activity by the West, and called for application of "our spiritual energies to the solution of the problems of peace" as an answer.

He told Canadians and Americans attending a Rotary international district convention that a universal solution must ultimately be found to the problem of peace and, for that reason, the West must make its appeal to all mankind a universal appeal.

Mr. St. Laurent quoted an opinion that American world policy must be thought out in terms of fundamental universal ideas. He added:

"It may seem strange that we have not sooner resorted to this means of applying our spiritual energies to the solution of the problems of peace, because our civilization is a Christian civilization and, therefore, universal in its essence, since Christianity is by definition universal."

Rotary's motto: "To live as citizens of one world and act as members of one humanity," outlined beautifully the type of universal solution he meant.

It contained the formula for strengthening democratic institutions, to eliminate economic conflicts, to furnish the west's ideological bulwark and reply to communism.

Ask Rate Concession

YW Water Fantasy Demonstrates Children's Ability

A capacity crowd packed itself into the YWCA swimming pool balcony Friday evening for the first presentation of the water fantasy, "Toyland at Midnight". And with nearly 90 swimmers taking part, the water below them was, at times, crowded too. A repeat performance is to be given Saturday evening.

Miss Audrey Hustwitt, swimming director and choreographer, demonstrated the progress of her winter classes with a show that was interesting. She included an exhibition of diving relays and races, but the title story was carried through by those who have mastered ornamental tricks and ballet in the water.

Alternative name for the fantasy, given on the program, was "Quest For the Toy Princess" and in this the children who have accomplished the most were signalled out for honor. Four-year-old Catherine Porter dived into the water and swam to the end of the pool, with aid, and seven-year-old June Northey followed suit, unescorted. Peggy Noyes and Barbara Todd of Teen Club and Junior class played the parts of prince and princess in a duet. They also started this work in the fall.

The outstanding number was "Glowworm" by the Teen Club, done with the pool in darkness and lights on each swimmer's wrists. This the audience asked to see a second time.

Balloon routine by the senior ornamental class was pretty and featured soloists Audrey Watkins and Dorothy Clements as the gingham dog and calico cat. The beginners' class as "bunnies" with great big ears stole a good bit of the show.

Toyland decorations around the pool made an attractive setting with red-coated toy soldiers guarding the queen's throne. Gaynor Galoska as "toy queen" was escorted by Carol Howe, Nancy Butler, Jane Bamforth, Frances Cooper, Doreen Churchill and Anne Arnold as "toy soldiers" and the Junior Club did a soldiers' parade routine. The queen, who was chosen because of her outstanding progress in stunt and synchronized swimming since fall, performed a solo number.

The attractive costumes, giving more variety with Indians, Hawaiian dolls, gypsies, panda bears, were designed by Mrs. A. R. Gariepy.

Centennial Military Ball Follows Tradition With Uniformed Officers, Bands

A brilliant function in honor of Peterborough's 100th birthday was the Centennial Military Ball of Friday evening.

In the Armoury drill hall there was an atmosphere of "Do you remember?", heightened by the military dress worn by most of the officers attending, army khaki predominating but the navy also represented. More than 400 had accepted the invitations jointly extended by the officers of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment RCA and the officers and members of the 57th Regiment Chapter, IODE.

In the officer's mess, the officer commanding, Lieut. Col. M. E. Clarke, the regent of the chapter, Mrs. C. M. Scott, and Mayor M. J. Swanston were receiving, assisted by Mrs. Clarke, Dr. Scott and Mrs. Swanston.

Martial music set toes a-tapping as floor entertainment was presented in traditional military style with the Regimental Trumpet Band, under the direction of Albert Croasdale, showing excellent form in a drill parade. The CGE Pipe Band, led by Pipe Major Alex. Milne, stirred up Scottish blood until guests were doing reels on the side lines. The pipers graciously bowed to requests and added "Road to the Isles" and "Bonnie Dundee" to their program.

Effective red and royal blue stripping decorated the covered bandstand and the hall was hung with colorful flags and banners. The IODE crest was on the covers of tables arranged cabaret-style and members of the Chapter had prepared the refreshments that were obtainable. A feature of the arrangements, set up by a committee of ladies and officers, was a miniature garden.

This is the first time the regiment and the city's only regimental chapter of Daughters of the Empire have combined forces in a social event. As a tribute to the Centennial it was most fitting, and as dancing continued in the early morning hours enjoyment seemed thorough. With such evidence of success, it is possible they may make it an annual practice.

Pleasant Nature Best Bet For Successful Marriage

A bride asked me: "What is the one quality above all others that a wife should have in order to hold her husband and keep him in love with her?" To which I unhesitantly answered: Good nature. Being easy to get along with. That's a wife's best best. One that she can play all the way across the board and be certain to win out on.

Of course, every man would like to have a wife who is balm to his eyes, an intelligent companion and a good cook and manager, but these charms and grace are but the meringue on the lemon pie of matrimony. The thing that has the real nourishment in it is the bland, rich sweetness of amiability on which the airy charms and graces rest. That is truly the food of love.

Dorothy Dix

For a man soon ceases to see beauty in the fairest face if he finds that it is only a mask that covers a mean and selfish soul. The most stupendous aggregation of classical features and a flawless complexion, rouse no admiration in his breast if the expression is peevish and fretful and irritable.

Wit No Real Asset

Nor does a man enjoy the conversation and society of a wife, no matter how brilliant and intellectual she may be, if her wisecracks are mostly directed at him and if she uses her keenness of mind in searching out his every fault and foible, and turning the spotlight of her wit upon them.

Nor can a woman keep her husband eating out of her hand merely by stuffing him on cake if she is nagging and whining and complaining, and if he dares not speak for fear of starting something that will take an all-night curtain lecture to finish.

But the wife who is good-natured and easy-going, who takes her husband as is and likes it, the woman who fits herself as comfortably into a man's life as his old coat or his old shoes or his old pipe, has a charm to conjure with that never fails, that never wears out, that never loses its potency. And its power and its virtue increase every year after marriage, so that it is irresistible in the end. You hear often of men divorcing wives who are beauties and wits, but never of a man divorcing a wife who was pleasant to live with.

The obsessing fear that haunts the days and nights of virtually every wife past 35 is the dread of losing her husband's affection and having him philander off after some other woman. This is a fear that strikes at the heart, because she loves him and life will be cinders, ashes and dust without him. At her pride, because it proclaims her lack of charm and marks her failure as a woman. At her pocketbook, because when she loses her husband she loses her job and her comfortable support, and is thrown out on the world to earn her own living or exist on grudgingly paid alimony.

So for every reason it is important to a woman to hold her husband, but, curiously enough, the only formula they have evolved for doing this is by trying to retain a synthetic youth when they are fortyish. Which can't be done.

Want to be Confortable

It is sad but true that after thousands of years of studying how to please men, women have not yet assimilated the fact that man's dominant passion is for having things made easy and pleasant and comfortable for him, especially at home and where women are concerned. They like women who are not too hard to please and women who do not expect too much of them. That is why you see haughty Lady Disdain losing out so often to a girl who is a good incense burner, and why we observe so many husbands wandering away from wives with high ideals to ladies with no ideals at all.

Men get all the fighting they want in the outside world and when they come home they want to find peace and rest and quiet, and for this reason they will overlook sloppy housekeeping in a wife who will let them go to sleep on the living-room couch. They dread a scene as they dread a cyclone, and if a wife will only meet the stress of domestic life with calmness and reason, and if she will only laugh off her husband's little blunders and faults, she may be extravagant and a gadder and he will pay her bills without a murmur and eat downtown on her club nights and still think he married a paragon.

As long as a woman sings her husband's praise; as long as she makes him feel that she considers him the greatest man in the world; as long as she shows him appreciation and affection; as long as she uses tact in handling hmi and gives the soft answers that turns away wrath; as long as she smooths his fur the right way, he never knows that there is another woman in the world even if she isn't a beauty or a wit or a good housekeeper.

And that's a sure tip for wives. If you want to hold your husband's affections all you have to do is just to be pleasant to live with.

UN Accused Of Leaving Women Out of Key Posts

LAKE SUCESS, N.Y., May 12 (AP).—Members of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women charged Thursday that the UN discriminates against women in filling its key posts.

They also criticized the 59 member countries for not giving women a fair break in their own national delegations.

Mme Lina P. Tsaldaris of Greece submitted a resolution calling upon the commission's parent body, the Economic and Social Council, to draw the attention of the member countries to the desirability of giving women a greater part in their delegations and to ask the secretary-general to hire more women for top UN jobs.

Mrs. Olive Remington Goldman, U.S. delegate, said the secretary-general's report on women participating in the UN secretariat is "a record not of participation but of non-participation."

She said some governments seemed to take the attitude that if they name a woman delegate to the commission on the status of women that takes care of the question of women as far as the national delegations are concerned.

"If that were true," she said, "we would be defeating our own purpose by continuing in existence."

The 15-member commission, meanwhile, has broadened its agenda to include two humanitarian problems in addition to the list of long-range proposals for erasing discrimination.

1. A Greek proposal to aid Greek mothers whose children were taken behind the Iron Curtain by Greek guerrillas and still have not been repatriated.

2. A French plan to study the problem of women sent to Nazi concentration camps and subjected to medical experimentation.

Desire To Escape Causes Tiredness

WINNIPEG —(CP)— If you have that tired feeling, just ignore it, says Mildred McMurray, legal consultant of Provincial Welfare Services—and "graciously and gracefully sail on."

"You needn't coddle or give in to fatigue," she told a women's meeting. "You not only have a second wind, but a third, fourth and fifth wind."

Most of the tiredness in the world was caused by a desire to escape from unpleasant tasks and situations, not by overwork. Newest question of psychologists was "who is the matter with you," not "what is the matter with you."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"What is the advantage," asks L. E. J. of San Francisco, "of making the initial meld from your hand? I can see that it pays to meld if you can pick up a big discard pile, but I don't see any advantage in just taking cards out of your hand and putting them down on the table."

My correspondent has a good point, but he carries it a little too far. It is true that it is better to take a big discard pile when you meld than not to get any pile at all. However, it is sometimes a very good idea to take cards out of your hand and put them down on the table.

One important advantage is that it may help your partner get the pile. He may have everything he needs to get the pile—except for the minimum count. Once you make the count, he can stop worrying about it. This is often important when the minimum count is 90 or 120 points; it is occasionally important even at 50 points.

The next advantage is that it is usually easier to take the discard pile after your side has made its initial meld. Instead of needing a pair of natural cards that match the previous discard, you (or your partner) need only one matching card and a wild card. This is usually a great deal easier.

A third advantage is that you make it possible for your partner to pick up a discard that matches your meld. For example, suppose you meld two jokers and a pair of jacks. If a jack is discarded to your pariner, he can pick it right up even if he doesn't have a single jack in his hand. He could not have done that if you had kept the jacks in your hand.

A final advantage is that your first meld may give you a good start towards a canasta. This is especially true if you put down as many as four natural cards in a meld. However, any meld at all, even one that contains only two natural cards, is still a start.

Q—Is it possible to make a canasta of red threes? If so, what does it count?

A—There is no such thing as a canasta of red threes. You simply put red threes down on the table as soon as they appear in your hand. They do not count as melds but merely as bonus cards.

Q—The pack was frozen, and the discard pile was very heavy. I did not have a safe discard in my hand, so I wanted to discard from one of my melds. I had four sixes melded, and would therefore still have a meld of three sixes even if I discarded one of them. Did I have the right to do so?

A—No. You are not allowed to discard a card that has been legally melded. It's painful to make an unsafe discard, but it happens to the best of us now and then.

• • •

Q—The original turn-up card is a joker. The dealer turns up the next card, which is a red three. What happens then?

A—The dealer must turn up still another card. He keeps turning until he comes to a card that is neither a wild card nor a red three.

6—In Memoriams

MOTHER

We laid her away where the shadows
Swept over the grasses green
Where the sunny ray and the breezes play,
With a quiet hush between.
In silence stood, for memory did
Our tenderest thoughts revive.
The heart would tell that all was well,
When Mother was alive.
Our brightest hopes in fragments lay
All scattered at our feet,
For mother knew just what to do,
Her counsel wise and sweet.
Alas, for love if that was all,
And broken sighs remained.
But all our loss of Mother love,
May be in Christ regained.

—Albert Wass, Sr.

Stock Markets Up Notch In 11-Month Drive

By FRANK KAPLAN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Stock markets advanced another notch this week in their current bull market drive.

Prices have been advancing with little interruption for almost 11 months.

In recent weeks, markets have encountered considerable profit-taking. However, the general trend has continued upwards.

Problems that caused market jitteriness in previous weeks have virtually disappeared. Unemployment figures are decreasing steadily and quarterly reports are good. Observers say that the second quarter should be better than the first three months of the year.

Money Available

Brokers report that there is still a large amount of investment funds available. These funds are just waiting for a chance to jump into the market. The streeters say that should the market be set back suddenly in a sharp technical reaction, the many investors on the sidelines will leap in and steady prices.

New York crept ahead slowly over shaky ground this week to reach a four-year peak. The Associated Press 60-stock average closed the five days at 77.3, a gain of .3 from the previous Friday.

Canadian markets largely reflected Wall Street movements. Low-priced mining stocks found increasing attention. The highly-speculative penny stocks have accounted for much of the increased share volumes on Canadian exchanges. Many observers predict booming mining markets this summer.

New Properties

A sudden influx of financing and development plans to open up and develop new properties has brought much of the general public into the mining market. The tip sheets are flourishing.

In Toronto, industrials chalked up a gain of 1.49 on the index over the week despite late heavy selling pressure. Senior and junior gold producers didn't fare as well as penny stocks as the index dropped 2.62 at about the lowest point of the year.

Base metals edged ahead 1.75 into new high price territory following increases in the price of lead. Western oils slumped 1.43.

Grain markets climbed higher from the previous Friday. In Winnipeg May oats featured, rising some seven cents. In Chicago, May wheat, corn and oats were strong while soybeans and rye dipped.

Hundreds Line

The late spring season, which set most things back, has proved a boom to walleye fishermen. The fish run is at its height and reports from near and far tell of whitewater seething with bronze backs. They are the most prolific of our sport fish, females laying as many as 300,000 eggs in a season. Old timers say that the species is so numerous that it spoils the chances of other types.

Not only Canadians but Americans are here to take part in the sport. Since Thursday, cars with United States license plates and small boats and canoes on their roofs, have been stopping in Peterborough to stock up with supplies on their way to various favourite fast-water walleye spots.

In the Kawarthas, fish from three to five pounds are considered average and very few are taken to surpass the lunker caught at Chandos Lake last summer that scaled more than 12 pounds. John Little of Monaghan Rd., was the lucky man. And every one who is a connoisseur will agree with Mr. Little that fried walleye is the most delectable of any of our fresh water fish but this statement, to troutmen, is sheer heresay.

Firemen Seek

made artificially usually with an axe.

This opening phase of operations is called "ventilation," and is naturally often the cause of much unavoidable property damage.

Another common kick of laymen is water damage. Few realize that water extinguishes by cooling. Chief Smith points out.

"The BTU's (British Thermal Units) generated by heavy fires will often require large quantities of water to cool them to points below the burning points of materials involved. That's the reason water damage to other parts of a burning building can reach the "excessive" stage.

As time goes on this complaint will decline. Fire departments are leaning more and more to the use of gas masks, water fog and chemical penetrants in extinguishing fires.

To make sure the blaze is out for good the firemen must overhaul all parts of the burned structure and its contents. Here again, walls and voids in the fire infected area must be opened up to make sure nos parks remain.

The charge of "unnecessary damage" is very often claimed at this point; but firemen do not want to come back a few hours later because of a "rekindle."

In this final cleanup job they must pull apart any filling such as cotton, kapok or similar fibres because fire will travel to the heart of such layers and give no indication of its presence on the surface.

"When the last spark is out our men help to clean up. Those are their instructions," said the burly Peterborough Fire Chief. "This department is proud of the fact we frequently get phone calls and even letters of gratitude because of our conduct during and after a fire. We have a well trained group of men—as good as any in Ontario—and we do the best job we can for the citizens."

swer from all fishermen at the London St. dam. A few tried the raceway with poor results while others dotted the northwest side of the dam. Minnows, June bugs with worms and all types of plugs were tried but the fish refused to bite.

"Too much food in the water", said fishermen at the Auburn dam raceway. Despite a varied display of bait only four fish were taken in the first hour and a half. At the south corner of the raceway near the power house Bill Bruce of 634 Union St. caught two walleyes with a black and white plug.

Along the eastern wall of the end of the raceway a father and son, Clifford Graham and son, Ronald, 473 Elm St. combined to match two pickerel on minnows. A small pickerel was returned to the water by Ronald after it had taken a plug.

The shores of the Otonabee above the CGE power house at Nassau were lined with fishermen who claimed the cold weather was holding back the catch. A number of people were fishing with minnows from the bridge.

Even then the catch was better in proportion to the number of fishermen than anywhere along the river. A large number of small pickerel were caught but returned.

Won Her Bet

Miss Dawn Ephgrave, 854 George St., caught two pickerel to win a 25¢ bet. The money changed hands shortly after the season opened as she brought in the first fish.

William Milne, 152 Dufferin St., with a live minnow caught his first fish for the season while J. H. Wood of 462 Park St. landed a beauty luring it to the hook with a live minnow.

One Locks bridge fisherman summed up the opening saying: "All the pickerel season openings are the same, too many fishermen and too few pickerel."

Ladies' Guild At Home Of Mrs. J. R. Reynolds

MARMORA, May 13 (ENS)—St. Paul's Ladies' Guild met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Reynolds. Mrs. D. Robertson presided and the financial statement was presented by Mrs. D. McInroy, revealing a good financial success from the recent presentations of the Dark Town Minstrels.

Plans for the visit of the troupe to Bancroft and Havelock were further advanced. Mrs. P. Eamer offered her home for the June meeting. Refreshments were served.

Will Get Chance To Speak On Code

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson told the Commons Friday the commission studying revision of the Criminal Code might later hear representations from persons who feel the code should be amended to protect fundamental freedoms.

That, he told John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), was the intent of a statement made recently before the Senate Committee on Fundamenal Freedoms by F. P. Varcoe, his deputy minister.

He indicated Mr. Varcoe's statement had been taken in some quarters to mean he was recommending a bill to that effect. That was not the case.

Lay Seven Charges

TORONTO, May 13 — (CP) — Seven charges under Foreign Exchange Control Board regulations, involving more than $50,000, have been laid against Norman Samuel, of Toronto.

TELEPHONE EXPANSION

During the past 10 years the number of local telephones has jumped from 6,000 to 12,600, according to Bell Telephone statistics. Local calling has increased 103 per cent and long distance calls have shown a gain of nearly 400 per cent. But in spite of this huge expansion there are nearly 600 unfilled orders for service on file. E. G. Baker, local branch manager, promises these will be filled as soon as the necessary cable and wire can be installed.

Plan To Organize Medical Corps Unit

A third reserve force unit will soon join the 50th Heavy AA Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers, RCA and the 37th Heavy AA Workshops, RCEME at the armouries.

The first steps were taken this week to form a Casualty Clearing Station in Peterborough. Space has been allotted to the new group which will be composed of former members of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps and others interested in medical work.

With the primary stages well under way the nucleus of former Medical Corps members now wished to contact all former warrant officers and non-commissioned officers of the corps in Peterborough. With these men enlisted in the reserve unit a training program featuring RCAMC work in atomic and Arctic warfare will be drafted to start in the fall.

All former members are asked to contact Major L. J. Calvert by phoning 23574.

Caught Drinking So Breaks Bottle

COBOURG, May 3 (ENS)—So long as the police kept within lawful limits they should be given every respect and support by the public, said Magistrate R. B. Baxter during a hearing of a charge laid under the Liquor Control Act. The accused was Ronald Craven of Kingston and he was charged with obstructing police by breaking a bottle of liquor. He was fined $10 and costs.

Constable Homer Seale testified that on May 6 around 11.15 p.m. he and Constable H. Pearse were on patrol in the park and noticed a car parked on McGill St. They saw two men get into the car and when it did not start away they went over. Pearse went to the left door and Seale went to the right. Constable Seale said he saw a bottle of liquor on the seat in the beam of Constable Pease's flashlight, and he opened the door and told Craven to hand over the bottle.

Craven held the bottle behind the front seat and then asked "what bottle?" said the constable.

"I repeated to him to hand over the bottle and he threw it out of the car on to the sidewalk where it broke. I told him to get out of the car and when he didn't I helped him out. On the way to the police cruiser he broke away and ran between two cars. I caught him and he struck me on the chest until I overpowered him," related Constable Seale.

Craven told the court that the liquor was not his but that he and his friend, Harold Veal, had been on a sales conference and were deciding to go up to the hotel to spend the night. He said that he was confused when the constable jerked the car door open and that at first he thought it might have been some roughneck looking for trouble.

The accused said that we was surrendering the bottle to the constable when the latter grabbed his arm and the bottle slipped out of his hand on the pavement and broke. The accused denied striking the constable but asserted that the constable pushed him around. Several times during his evidence he said he was confused and did not realize what was going on at first. He mentioned that he flew in the last war in a bombing plane.

"How many missions?" asked the Magistrate. The accused replied that he had been on 23.

"After being on 23 bombing missions it is hard to realize how you could be confused and upset under the circumstances when the police opened your car door," commented the magistrate.

"Veal didn't see the bottle breaking episode. Craven said he was confused. Constable Homer is quite cool and positive about the whole thing. I can't find other than that the accused is guilty. I always feel that a police officer, so long as he is within his lawful rights, should be backed up and supported by the courts. If his authority was not respected by the public a sad state of affairs would result. He has no easy job and he should receive the support of the public," the magistrate declared.

Decorations For Civic Festivities

The co-operation of all citizens is requested to assist in dressing up Peterborough at this time, so that it may convey an impression of the gala spirit associated with civic celebrations.

Peterborough citizens have every reason to celebrate at this time and to spread themselves a little on flags and bunting since the city is observing its hundredth birthday.

The Prime Minister of Canada is honouring the city with an official visit—a rare occasion indeed—next Saturday, May 20th.

Let us all get a little proud and gay about our city and show our confidence in its future by stringing up flags and bunting. Let's put up our decorations so that they will remain for the summer, because in the months just ahead we will have numerous important guests along our streets.

YOUR CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE.

Council Of Blind

Jones, chairman of the Ontario division, welcomed the new member clubs of Woodstock, Belleville and St. Thomas.

Welcome New Clubs

The report of the recreational committee indicated that two ten-day periods were held at the Lions' Club summer camp at Ancaster, Ontario, for the blind of the province. During these two periods last August 80 blind women and blind men had a vacation. Arrangements have been made to hold the camp for similar periods this year.

It was also reported that a Braille reading contest, a first venture of the Ontario Division this year, proved successful. Each club held its own contest. The contestants read from special Braille literature and were judged by three local citizens prominent in the field of education. The finalists, winners from each club, competed on a provincial scale through the medium of tape recordings. A panel, chosen from the staff of Western University, picked the winners of the contest from the recordings.

REQUIRE DENTAL CARE

The dental care of public school pupils is behind schedule. And unless extra help is forthcoming many children will not be treated before the summer holidays begin, the Board of Education was informed. Last year a senior dental student was hired to help with this work but the experiment was not repeated this year. To date the Health Committee has been unable to get assistance from Peterborough dentists, Dr. Russell Morgan announced. He promised to make further efforts.

Nick Peconi Issues Writ After Conviction

COBOURG, May 13 (ENS) — Magistrate R. B. Baxter Friday deferred until June 9 his decision as to the penalty for a conviction against Nick Peconi of Baillieboro. Last month Peconi was found guilty on a charge of operating a slaughterhouse without a permit from the township council of South Monaghan or the counties health unit. At that time the magistrate adjourned the case to May 12 for sentence.

Counsel for defence told the court Friday that a writ had been issued against the township and health unit for damages and for a mandamus to compel the issuance of a permit to the accused. Dr. Charlotte Horner, chief medical officer of the health unit, had intimated that no decision would be possible until the counties health unit board held a meeting. Defence counsel commented that there had been a similar case at Cornwall in which a writ had been issued against the township and board of health; the action had been settled and a permit granted.

Abbott Asks US Import More

CHICAGO, May 13 —(CP)— Finance Minister Abbott of Canada today urged the United States to import more Canadian goods in order to narrow the trade gap between the two countries. In an address prepared for delivery before the Bond Club of Chicago, he said:

"We shall endeavor to achieve a better balance by increasing our exports rather than by restricting imports. This has been our policy. But we cannot do it without your help."

The Finance Minister made these other points:

1—The countries of Western Europe have largely repaired the widespread damage caused by the war and "have in fact surpassed their pre-war production and trade."

2—The encroachment of Communism has been "successfully halted" in Western Europe.

Railway Equipment Speeded To Winnipeg

MONTREAL, May 13—(CP)—Canadian National Railways said Friday that all facilities have been mobilized and the railway is in a possition to meet any demands made upon it by flood-relief authorities at Winnipeg.

"In order to do this," a statement said, "the company has had to keep in reserve every piece of spare equipment."

It added that preparations to assist in the Winnipeg emergency make it impossible to add extra cars on week-end and other trains in eastern and central Canada to meet the usual demands at this time of year.

Anti-Divorce Law

The new act permits public prosecutors to appeal marriage annulment decrees all the way to the Supreme Court.

Newspaper Boys Too Busy To Become Delinquents

Newspaper boys, as a general rule, are rarely delinquent boys. This was the opinion voiced Tuesday night in an Examiner radio broadcast by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society.

She told her audience that "out of approximately 250 boys who have been brought to the attention of the Children's Aid Society during the past three years for some type of delinquency, only one delivered papers, and that boy was already responsible for many delinquent acts before he became a carrier."

Parents in Peterborough have also found that a paper route has done much to develop a sense of responsibility in their children.

In a letter to The Examiner the mother of two of the newspaper's 150 carrier boys and girls said: "My two boys have learned many lessons from their experiences and responsibilities. The most notable change is in self-confidence and self-reliance."

Another wrote to tell The Examiner that a newspaper route "teaches him to meet and deal with the public and to be prompt and courteous."

Mayor Max Swanston, an Examiner carrier when he was young, said "I honestly believe that a lad carrying papers does learn the value of money—and the value of being able to handle responsibilities."

These responsibilities, often new to the boy who has just started as a carrier, give him a sense of satisfaction, a feeling of self-approval that most children need.

Miss Young said she believed feeling of self-approval replaced to a certain degree the "gang approval" a boy may want who is not constructively employed.

She said: "I would not deduce from the fact that only one carrier boy was delinquent, that children are not delinquent because they deliver newspapers but it would be fair to say that, having a job which demanded the qualities of courtesy, tact and thrift, they are getting satisfaction which does not necessitate their looking elsewhere for approval."

"Growing up," she said, "included moving from one level of responsibility to a higher one until finally one has severed himself from the traditional apron strings. Children who do not find out early what it costs in human efforts to get money start out with a greatly underestimated idea of what earning one's living really involves."

Carrier boys, she said, have the opportunity of learning so many things of value all through life. "There courteous approach and tact with their customers, their bookkeeping which is not so simple, their opportunity to learn how to save and save for something of real value—all these are inestimable worth."

This approval of the carrier boy is not limited to Peterborough. Sociologists, judges, and others have praised the newspaperboy highly for his good qualities. Your carrier boy tries to win your approval by good service.

Salvation Army Plans Concluding Musicale

The Salvation Army will hold its final Sunday Afternoon Musicale on Sunday at 3:15 in the temple. The concerts were started in the fall by Major Charles Everitt and were held monthly featuring local and out-of-town talent.

To accommodate an expected overflow audience a public address system has been arranged to carry the program to other rooms in the temple. At the April musicale a large number of people were turned away due to insufficient accommodation.

Artists for the musicale will be baritone, Adam Hawley, pianists, Mrs. S. J. Richardson and Major Everitt. They will be assisted by the Peterborough Temple Band and Songsters, the Young People's band and Singing Company. Brigadier Reginald Gage of Belleville, in charge of the Mid-Ontario area, will be the chairman.

Shaw Says College Teaches Manners

OXFORD, England, May 13 — (AP). — George Bernard Shaw says the best thing about college is that it gives students manners equal to those of sailors.

In reply to the question, "Is Oxford worth it?" put by the editor of the university's undergraduate magazine, "Cherwell," Shaw wrote:

"Collegiate residence, common meals, and cap and gown give a priceless social training in good manners which is shared with sailors only. The incidental scholarship counts for nothing except its delusive qualiffcation for certain professional jobs."

Conservatives Score New Gain

LONDON, May 13 — (AP) — Winston Churchill's Conservatives scored gains in Britain's town and city council elections as urban dwellers continued their drift away from the ruling Labor Party.

The Conservative swing in the municipal elections on Thursday was too slight, however, to give a clear-cut sign for the possible outcome of the general elections expected this fall.

Voters in 378 municipalities went to the polls on Thursday to pick one-third of their councils.

Latest returns from 373 boroughs gave the Conservative Party a net gain of 213 seats, among the 3,217 seats being contested. Most of them were won from the Labor Party and Independent candidates.

These returns showed that Labor had suffered a net loss of 79 seats, the Independents a net loss of 112, and the Liberals a net loss of 22.

There was no such dramatic swing as occurred in the municipal elections last year when the Conservatives made a smashing comeback with city voters to seize control of many councils which had been in Labor hands since 1945.

Although the voting was only for local offices many of the candidates had introduced national issues in their campaigns.

Two Rescuers In Helicopter Tossed Into Niagara Trying To Reach Woman

Second Plane Gets Three Safely Ashore By Means of Rope, Rowboat; First Craft Upset When Hit By Wave

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 15.—(AP).—Two men in a helicopter escaped death today while rescuing a woman clinging to a rock above the Horseshoe Falls of the Niagara River. A second helicopter effected a dramatic rescue after the first had pitched its two occupants into the swift current. Both craft were pontoon-equipped. The first craft was starting to haul the woman into the air by means of a rope when a wave struck a pontoon and caused the tail motor to smash on a rock. The ship nosed over.

A burst of steam from the engine as it submerged at first caused bystanders to believe it had exploded.

The woman, Mrs. Jeannette Bugay, 25, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., suffered from shock and explosure and was taken to hospital.

Her husband, Sigmund, a taxicab driver, said she had suffered a nervous breakdown and had been ill for some time.

Hear Screaming

The two men in the helicopter were Owen Q. Niehaus, 28, Grand Island, and Joseph A. Cannon, 30, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The woman was clinging to the rock about 75 feet from one of the Three Sister Islands about 300 feet above the Horseshoe, or Canadian Falls. Two park employees heard her screaming.

They were Herbert Sedita and John Paonessa.

Sedita fastened a rope about his waist and waded into the 15-mile-an-hour current in a rescue attempt, but was swept off his feet and his companion pulled him back to shore.

Firemen made an unsuccessful attempt to get a rowboat to her, then summoned the helicopter which arrived from the nearby Bell Aircraft Corporation about half an hour later.

The pontoon-equipped craft landed on the water near the woman. Cannon climbed out on a pontoon and put a rope around her.

As he started to pull the woman towards him, the helicopter nosed over. Both Cannon and Neihaus were tossed into the swift-running Niagara current but managed to climb back aboard.

The helicopter started drifting toward the cataract but caught on a rock before it had gone 25 feet.

Drops Rope

The second helicopter hovered low enough to drop one end of a rope ashore, then dropped the other end to the stranded pilots.

The rope then was used to pull the rowboat to the wrecked helicoper. First ashore were Mrs. Bugay and Niehaus. Cannon made it in the second trip.

Mrs. Bugay's husband, reached at home, exclaimed:

"Oh my God, was she the woman on the rock?"

He said he had just heard a radio report of the incident.

How Mrs. Bugay got to the rock was not determined. The bridge approach from Goat Island to the three Sister Islands had been barricaded to the public.

Seretse's Wife Gives Birth To Daughter

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 15 (AP)—Ruth Khama, white queen of the Bamangwato tribe, gave birth to a daughter today at a Serowe, Bechuanaland hospital, a spokesman for the British High Commissioner announced.

Her negro husband, exiled Chief Seretse Khama, has been given permission to leave for the protectorate at once, British authorities said.

The white queen, former London stenographer Ruth Williams, entered the Serowe hospital early in the day. The baby was delivered by a negro physician, Dr. Moikangao, and it was at least a month premature, the authorities said.

A British spokesman said both mother and child are "doing fine."

Seretse has been in Lobasti, South Africa, but British authorities had promised to allow him to return during Ruth's confinement. The heir to the tribunal throne married the London typist in October, 1948.

The mother previously had rejected British offers to supply medical attention.

Their marriage stirred up a tempest in Bechuanaland and in London. The British government finally ordered Seretse exiled from his tribal homeland for five years because of the fuss. He was permitted to return a month ago to see his wife and clear up personal affairs but was permitted to stay in Serowe, the tribal capital, only five days.

Welch Victorious On Jail Appeal

OTTAWA, May 15.—(CP). — Joseph Vernon Welch of Aylmer, won out today in his two-year battle against a prison term arising from the death of his wife Florence from poisoning.

In a majority decision that ended a long series of litigation, the Supreme Court of Canada allowed his appeal against a 10-year prison sentence on a charge of manslaughter. Three of the nine judges dissented.

The court quashed Welch's conviction at St. Thomas last March and ordered that he be discharged.

Announces Allocation Of Forestry Planes

TORONTO, May 15 — (CP) — Allocation of aircraft that will patrol Ontario's forests this summer was announced today by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Some 33 planes will operate from bases situated etween Toronto and Pickle Lake. Of the aircraft, 22 will be Beavers noted for the ability to take off and land on small bodies of water while the rest will be Norsemen planes which have a greater lifting capacity.

Largest single grouping of planes and pilots will be at the Sioux Lookout base where two Beaver and two Norsmen craft will operate over the large stretches of wilderness where other means of transporting fire fighting crews and equipment are practically non-existent, or impractical due to great distance between bases.

Alexander Tours Dikes Urges Evacuation Speeded

WINNIPEG, May 15.—(CP).—A tall, vigorous-looking soldier in his waders Sunday strode along dikes in flooded suburban Winnipeg, surveyed the flood from a helicopter, and talked over emergency plans with top civilian and military authorities.

Viscount tAlexander of Tunis, Canada's Governor-General, came up with this advice at the end of his brief but comprehensive examination:

"Don't evacuate the present people to nearby areas. Ship them as far away as possible, leaving the nearby districts to accommodate the workers if the worst should come."

The Governor-General, commander-in-chief of Allied troops in Italy during the Second World War, said he agrees wholeheartedly with the evacuation of "non-combatant" personnel—a policy pursued by the army flood-control authority. But he said it should be stepped up.

"There has to be a quicker evacuation than at present. More people have to get out, providing they have some place to go."

The Governor-General toured flooded areas in a jeep, clambered over slippery dikes to chat with volunteer and military workers, and made his first flight in a helicopter.

He was impressed.

"You've got to see the disaster before you can realize its magnitude," he said. "The situation is a nasty one, a very serious one . . because you don't know what might happen in the next few days."

He complimented those handling evacuations for a "magnificent job."

He said plans should be laid for the possible evacuation of everyone, (which is being done) and that civic officials in outside cities should be approached for accommodation.

Reprisal Raid

GRAND FORKS, B.C., May 15—(CP)—A Canadian Pacific Railway bridge was blasted, Sunday night in what Provincial Police said was a "reprisal raid" by Sons of Freedom Doukhobors. Bombing of the 157-foot steel bridge on the CPR's Kettle Valley line following the arrest Sunday of 40 "Sons" on arson and nude parading charges. The bridge, 2½ miles east of this East Kootenay settlement, was badly damaged but a railway spokesman said traffic on the line will be resumed tomorrow night.

Operation Fails Siamese Twins Die In Edmonton

EDMONTON, Alta., May 15 (CP)—Medical science's latest attempt to give normal life to Siamese twins ended in failure here Sunday with the death of the six-months-old Townsend twins, Brenda and Beverley.

The little girls, who spent all but a few minutes of their lives joined together face to face, will be buried together in one specially-made casket Tuesday.

A team of 12 medical specialists waged a losing three-hour battle to save the twins in an operation to separate them at the Royal Alexander Hospital.

Dr. William Freebury, who delivered the twins last Nov. 17 in the small municipal hospital at Tofield, Alta., told the mother, 20-year-old Mrs. E. A. (Bud) Townsend. Dr. Freebury was one of about 20 doctors and nurses who were in the operating room.

Thanks Helpers

After the operation Mr. Townsend thanked the many people throughout the dominion who had "offered us their comfort and blessing during our time of need." He said members of the medical profession "did everything that was humanly possible under the circumstances and to them go our sincere thanks."

"Failure would have been inevitable if the operation had been attempted in any other centre," said Dr. Earley S. Allin, head of the medical team.

Preliminaries—blood transfusions and general anaesthetics—began at 7 a.m. The actual operation started at 9 am. Beverley's heart stopped beating at 10.45 a.m., after separation of the twins had been accomplished. Brenda died at noon. Only her operation was completed.

When the abdominal sections were opened doctors found the livers were fused at the area of greatest dioameter—three inches. It had been hoped the join would be an hour-glass construction nature.

The hearts, beating independently, were found to be enclosed in the same pericardial sack so that each of the twins' hearts was beating half in the chest cavity of the other. The hearts protrunded about 2½ inches, making it impossible to close the chest wall.

5,000 More Fleeing Flood Area

Army Wants Evacuation To Be Speeded, Crest Likely Tuesday

WINNIPEG, May 15.—(CP). —The treacherous Red River, its expected flood crest a day hence, levelled off at Winnipeg today. But just across the river, in St. Boniface, it forced 5,000 Manitobans from their homes.

Greater Winnipeg's new victims of the muddy torrent, which has covered more than 540 square miles of Southern Manitoba, were mostly parcel - carrying women and children, bundled from their homes on two hours' notice.

WINNIPEG—(CP). —D. M. Stephens, Manitoba's Deputy Minister of Natural Resources, said today the Red river flood is "on the peak" in Greater Winnipeg and that by Tuesday noon—barring bad weather or other unforseen circumstances—a gradual drop should begin. He said there may be minor fluctuations in the rivel level before noon tomorrow, but that the Red's crest has been passing through the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface since Sunday.

cars they travelled in stunned silBy special train and private ence—except for wailing babies—to points as far away as Saskatoon and Portage La Prairie, Man.

And the remaining 15,000-odd residents of St. Boniface and its Norwood residential suburb faced probable eviction as soon as transportation is available.

Third Exodus

The exodus, third in three days from places in the metropolitan area, was the latest chapter in a tragic migration—the most extensive in Canadian history.

Before the Red drops 12 feet or more to get back within its banks from the international border to Lake Winnipeg, some 100,000 may have been forced temporarily to leave their homes.

Even if the river's rise is finally halted—there was no proof of that today—more than 100,000 probably will have been driven from the city to points outside the danger area.

And if it rises sharply, as it might if heavy rain fell or its tributaries started to kick up, a general, army-directed evacuation of Greater Winnipeg's 350,000 population could be necessary.

Plans Ready

Brig. Ronald Morton, the army flood-control commander, said at the week-end such a plan is ready. It calls for camps on high ground several miles from each bank of the river, fed and supplied from army dumps now being organized.

Launch Explodes 2 Men Drown

HONEY HARBOR, May 15 — (CP). — A launch explosion caused the death of two Hydro workmen today and plunged 11 other men into the icy water of Georgian Bay.

Drowned after the launch caught fire and blew up half a mile from shore were Girard Vasseur 21, and Anthony Moreau 24, both of Honey Harbor. Mareau was married and had two children. Vasseur was single.

The survivors were picked up in a large open cruiser operated by Nelson Piitz of Penetanguishene.

The blast occurred near Tomahawk Point, six miles north-west of here and about 14 miles north of Midland.

The occupants of the launch were members of a crew that set out from here to work on the extension of a Hydro line from the mainland to Cognashene Island, about 17 miles north of Midland.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. However, it was believed here that the gasoline line of the launch might have broken, causing the engine to catch fire.

FIVE HUNDRED AND SIXTY RED RIVER VALLEY FLOOD REFUGEES—12 of them sick, were rescued Thursday from a CNR relief train marooned by a washout 15 miles south of Winnipeg. Five DUKWS operated by the Navy and manned by naval and army personnel ferried the refugees, who included 150 children, to a second relief train, which took them to Dauphin, Man. One of the DUKWS is shown in the above photo during the transfer of flood victims, which took five hours to complete.

Try To Revive 2 Workers Suffering Shock

PORT COLBORNE, May 15 — (CP). — Two workmen suffered severe electrical shocks today, and artificial respiration was being applied in an effort to revive them.

Dr. G. N. Black said resuscitation efforts were being continued on Fabian Fanning 23, of Lindsay, and Lawson Abrams 35, of Uxbridge. So far, he added, neither showed signs of responding.

Both Ontario Hydro linemen, they suffered the shocks when their digging machine touched an 8,000-volt line. Both were thrown off the machine by the impact.

Fellow workers applied artificiti respiration while awaiting the Port Colborne Fire Department's mobile rescue unit, which brought them the 14 miles to the fire hall here. Inhalators were used en route and the work continued at the fire hall.

Economic Plans Under Review

LONDON, May 15 (Reuers) — The proposed establishment of a new Atlantic pact organization and future planning for economic co-operation between the United States, Canada and Western Europe will be priority subjects for discussion by the North Atlantic Council, which met here today.

From last week's talks among the big three foreign ministers, two new ideas on North Atlantic treaty organization have emerged. There seems general agreement that a permanent secretariat it needed to provide continuity and co-ordination in all fields —political, economic and military.

Previously it existed in defence matters only.

Windsor Police Dept. Being Investigated

WINDSOR, May 15.—(CP). — Provincial Police Inspector W. H. Lougheed today began a survey of the Windsor police department. He will be joined tomorrow by another investigator, Inspector Frank Kelley.

"The survey may take weeks and we may find several things wrong that will need attention," Inspector Lougheed said.

The inspectors were ordered to Windsor by the Attorney-General's Department at the request of the Windsor Police Commission. They will have no supervisory duties, and will make their recommendations to the Provincial Attorney-General's office.

The City Police Commission requested a survey of law enforcement methods in the city by provincial police inspectors following an inquiry investigating charges of laxity in the Windsor police force. The inquiry found no evidence to support the charges.

Two Drowned Near Dorset Boat Upsets While Fishing

DORSET, May 15—(CP)—An annual fishing expedition to the Muskoka Lakes by business men from Milton ended in a double drowning Saturday. George Coulson, 41, of Milton, and Wilmer A. Arnold, 42, of Sarnia drowned in Hollow Lake on the first day of their one-week holiday.

A third man, Frank Johnson, 49, also of Milton, was revived by artificial respiration after he was found unconscious lying across the overturned boat which had spilled the three men into the icy waters.

Coulson's body was recovered Sunday. Search parties are still dragging for Arnold.

The men were among a group of 11, mostly Milton business men, who started across the lake in three boats. The water was calm at the time and the reason the boat capsized is not known.

Navy Songs Canadianized

OTTAWA, May 15.—(CP).—A further step in the "Canadianization" of the Royal Canadian Navy is seen in the adoption of "O Canada" in place of "Rule Britannia" as a formal salute by navy bands.

But no disrespect to Britain is intended.

"The present policy is to make the Canadian navy more distinctly Canadian," a navy spokesman said, "and the adoption of Canadian patriotic airs is in line with that policy. It does not reflect any change in the navy's relations with Britain."

"O Canada" will in future be played as a salute to the chief of naval staff, the Naval Board of Canada, admirals of the fleet, admirals and commanders-in-chief.

Two other changes were announced by naval headquarters. The first and last two bars of the chorus of "The Maple Leaf Forever" will salute vice-admirals and rear admirals instead of "Iolanthe."

Convict Flees Guards On Train

TORONTO, May 15 (CP) — Search for George Belland, 28-year-old penitentiary-bound drug addict who leaped from a moving train near Belleville Saturday, shifted to Toronto today.

A man answering Belland's description was seen walking on the tracks at Don Valley Sunday night. Police searched six houses in mid-town Toronto but found no trace of the man who escaped while en route to Kingston Penitentiary.

Police said they believe Belland is hiding in Toronto and will try to reach other drug traffic operators.

Belland was sentenced to three years for illegal possession of drugs and was being taken to jail with three other prisoners when he broke away.

The three others apparently helped Belland although they didn't get away themselves. Police are attempting to determine how Belland was able to pry open a welded ring from his leg shackles.

Belland dashed for the smoker door of the train and was followed by the three other prisoners who blocked the door and kept the police back until Belland had a good start. He rushed across a field after jumping from the moving train and eluded a dragnet of the Belleville area.

To Halt Information

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—Britain has ordered the Czechoslovak embassy in London to halt its information activities, it was disclosed today.

Ernest Davies, parliamentary undersecretary for the Foreign Office, told the House of Commons the action was a "measure of retaliation" for the Czech step last week in shutting down the British Information Service and British Council in Czechoslovakia.

Master Plan To Check Reds Discussed In Australia

SYDNEY, May 15 — (Reuters) —Commonwealth delegates met here today to decide first moves in a "master plan" to check Communism in south and south-east Asia by providing economic aid to threatened countries.

But several delegates to the meeting — The Commonwealth Consultative Council, set up after the Colombo Conference last January, implied the plan would not work without substantial American aid.

Their job is to pool ideas in an effort to give "body and bones" to the scheme known as "The Spender plan," put forward at the Colombo Conference by Percy Spender, Australian Minister for External Affairs.

Spender opened today's conference with a warning against any aggression— "no matter in what new guise it may appear"— which attempts to take advantage of the new forces of nationalism and their accompanying changes in this region."

He said the aims and objects we had in mind at the Colombo talks" had become more urgent. Sustained influences were at work to increase economic chaos.

In southeast Asia, said Spender, there are many conditions favorable to these influences: (1) low standards of living (2) dislocated domestic economics and overseas trade and (3) special difficulties arising from the growth of new national governments.

Farm Home Destroyed By Flames

Ruth Milne Brings Small Children To Safety, Sends SOS

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15. — (ENS).—Thirteen-year-old Ruth Milne of the 11th line, Seymour Township, was the heroine of a fire when she saved a brother and two sisters from flames which completely destroyed the farm home of the James A. Milne family, about eight miles north of Campbellford, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Milne were attending a funeral and the four children were alone in the house when Ruth smelled something burning and went outside the house to look around. The roof of the house was ablaze, apparently from sparks from the chimney. She ran back into the house and sent her younger sister, Carol, aged eight, upstairs to get the baby, Barbara, two, who was sleeping in her crib.

Wayne, aged 4 years was asleep in the downstairs part of the house, and Ruth wakened him and took him outside, while she returned to meet Carol on the stairs with the baby. She got both children outside, only to discover that Wayne still half asleep, had re-entered the burning house and crawled back into bed.

Ruth once again got the child outside where she posted Carol as guard, then went back into the house to telephone for help. She spread the alarm over the rural party line, and within minutes, help was on its way. While she waited, she gathered pails and filled them with water from the pump, ready for the men to use on the flames.

Gerald Petherick was first to arrive, and said he believed he could have checked the flames if he had been able to reach the roof, but had to waste time getting a ladder from the barn. By the time he had the ladder in position, the flames were out of control, and the arrival of Bill Burkett, who was second at the scene of the fire, gave courage to the little group, but the fire gained headway. Other neighbors began to arrive and helped remove furniture from the home. Much of the furniture was saved, but was severly damaged in the hurried exit.

Canadian Forces Boycotting Czechs

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP)—The Czechoslovakian embassy appeared today to be under at least a partial boycott by the Ottawa sections of Canada's forces, apparently partly because it attributed the Czech's liberation in 1945 entirely to Russia.

The first indication came when a reporter spotted on the bulletin board of the RCAF's 412 Transport Squadron at nearby Rockcliffe a heavily-chalked notice that "all invitations to attend functions at the Czechoslovakian embassy will be declined."

There have been rumblings around defence headquarters over a formal invitation sent out by the Czechs in large quantities to attend a social function May 9 "to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the liberation of Prague by the Soviet army." A considerable number were received by Canadian officers.

Labor Claims Gain In Local Contests

LONDON, May 15 (Reuters) Labor today claimed an over-all net gain of 85 seats in last week's country-wide local government contests, most results of which now have been reported.

But the Conservatives said that in the contests in 378 provincial boroughs they had 317 gains, including a net gain of 97 seats from Labor.

Socialists offset losses in the boroughs by gains in the 560 urban and rural district contests.

On the whole the elections showed no spectacular change in the position of Socialists and Conservatives. About 3,000 seats in all were at stake.

Rail Strike Peace Hopes SaidDimming

Picketing Spreads As Conference Ends Without Pact

CHICAGO, May 15. — (AP). —Picketing was spreading today in the railroad firemen's strike and hopes for peace grew dimmer.

The strike went into its sixth day with pickets halting or attempting to halt rail operations in widely-separated areas of the United States. Effects of the walkout were spreading.

Representatives of the National (Railway) Mediation Board held separate conferences Sunday with railroad officials and heads of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, who went on strike to enforce a demand for a second fireman on multiple-unit diesel locomotives.

The conferences broke up late Sunday night and Leverett Edwards, a member of the board, said "it looks bad".

Earlier, it had appeared that the mediators might be making some progress in their effort to halt the strike of more than 18,000 firemen which began last Wednesday.

Complete Tie-up

In the south meanwhile, a union official claimed that every important sector of the 8,000-mile Southern Railway system had been tied up or crippled by the walkout of 1,200 more firemen and enginemen.

In Central Illinois pickets made their first appearance Sunday night, halting two freight trains of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad at Pana, a point where the line uses tracks of the New York Central system, one of the strike-bound lines.

Police said about 25 pickets stood in the tracks and prevented the two freight trains from moving.

At Harrisburg, Pa., Pennsylvania Railroad officials claimed the road had moved out 42 freight trains Sunday despite marching pickets who tried to halt all operations of the strike-bound line.

L. A. Evans, superintendent of the Pennsylvania's Indianapolis, Ind., division, said three men who passed through picket lines to man trains there had received telephone threats that they would be beaten unless they stayed home. The pickets made no effort to halt emergency train crews that reported for work Sunday.

WINDSOR, May 15 — (CP) — Five break-ins and one attempted break-in were reported by police during the weekend. One person, Donald Norman, 18, was arrested by police. Two cleaning stores, a jewelry store, restaurant and the office of the Canadian General Electric Company were entered. Police said losses were not heavy at any of the places

Get Food Banks For Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, May 15 —(CP)— Food banks sufficient to maintain 75,000 persons for five days have been set up in greater Winnipeg, J. M. Sinclair, chairman of the groceries division of the emergency flood relief committee, said today.

Mr. Sinclair said the estimate was made on the basis of army diet. He stressed there is no need for citizens to hoard food; that food supplies "are sufficient to feed everybody and more are coming in."

Mr. Sinclair said there are 577,074 dozen tins of canned goods in wholesale warehouses with shipments continuing. These amounts were exclusive of stocks now in the hands of retailers.

Slides Out Back Door To Miss Demonstrators

LONDON, Ont., May 15 (CP)— The Rev. Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Anglican Dean of Canterbury, Sunday night addressed a rally of the London Peace Council in H. B. Beal Technical School and later slipped out the back door to avoid demonstrators.

A crowd of 600 waited outside the school's front door, some of them chanting "we want the Red Dean." We want the Red Dean." During the demonstration a stone shattered one of the school's front windows.

The audience at the rally remained quiet while the Dean spoke but it persistently heckled the Rev. Dr. J. G. Endicott, chairman of the Canadian Peace Congress, and Arthur Mould, chairman of the London Peace Council, who spoke later.

Report Inonu Ousted In Turkish Vote

ISTANBUL, May 15 (AP) — Turkish newspapers reported today that President Ismet Inonu's regime has been buried under a landslide of opposition votes apparently stemming from popular resentment against the country's economic ills.

Inonu's government maintained a tight silence over the unexpected political upset. But unoffi al returns gave Celal Bayar's Democratic party upward of 300 of 487 seats in the new parliament.

As vote counting progressed, one high member of Inonu's ruling People's party said it was plain the Democrats were winning.

Inonu, who has been president since 1938, had been expected to lead his party to victory by a narrow margin. But today the Democrats claimed that even nine cabinet ministers had gone down in defeat.

Whatever the outcome, Turkey's foreign policy is expected to remain the same, with the country standing solidly on her opposition to Russia and her allegiance to the west.

126 Planes Fly To Rochester

ROCHESTER, NY, May 15 — (CP). — In the largest civil air show of its kind ever attempted, 126 Canadian planes with 312 Canadians flew here Saturday for the civil air meet. All types of planes were in the armada from Canada, coming from Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Carp, Gananoque, Toronto, Brantford, St. Catharines, Welland, Oshawa and Kitchener.

Bad weather developed during the day and five planes of the Montreal contingent were forced to put down at Watertown, NY, while one from Kingston also landed short of the goal. All later finished the flight. As the Canadians left, planes of the Rochester Flying Club escorted them 40 or 50 miles outside the city.

A bronze plaque commemorating the event was presented to the Rochester Pilots' Association by Sam Bernardo of Toronto, past president of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Milne were returning from the funeral they had attended when they were overtaken by Mr. Murray Heath, who stopped them and informed them the house was on fire. Mrs. Milne was almost hysterical during the fast ride home. She did not know whether the children were inside or not, and Mr. Heath could not tell her.

Barn Saved.

The wind blew the flames away from the barn and other buildings nearby, and these were not touched by fire. Sunday evening, Mr. Milne, was busily milking cows in the barn, assisted by many neighbors who rallied to his assistance. It is estimated the home will cost about $7,000 to replace. There is $1,200 insurance on the building.

Children of the family are scattered over two townships, staying with relatives until the family can move into another house they have on an adjacent property. The house has not been lived in in many years, and will need considerable renovating to make it habitable.

In spite of the heavy loss, Mr. Milne was able to smile Sunday night. "You'll never know the feeling of relief the wife and I experienced when we saw that all the kids were safe," said Mr. Milne. "I hate now to even think of the thoughts that raced through the minds of my wife and I on that wild ride back home."

Six square miles of Greater Winnipeg, about one-twelfth of its area, are inundated. Whole suburbs have had to be evacuated. Several thousand homes have been surrounded and abandoned to the water. The business centre of the city is threatened if the water rises much more, but river experts said that is not expected if the weather holds.

Flood-control headquarters has made it plain it will be weeks before the Red is back to normal and all evacuees are back at home.

Flood-control headquarters has made it plain it will be weeks before the Red is back to normal and all evacuees are back at home.

Maj. - Gen. F. F. (Fighting Frank) Worthington, director of Canada's Civil Defence Planning, said flood damage already has surpassed that of the Fraser River floods of 1948. Those floods were classed by Ottawa as a "national emergency."

Breaks Good News

D. M. Stephens, Manitoba's deputy resources minister, was the first officially to speak the good news that the Red was levelling off in stricken greater Winnipeg. The fact had been apparent for a couple of days in the statistics of the river's height.

He said the flood crest probably would reach Winnipeg and St. Boniface by Tuesday noon, and that "given good weather we discount the possibility of any sudden rise."

"But sudden storm or prolonged rain and we're in for serious trouble," he warned.

W. D. Hurst, Winnipeg city engineer, said the river likely will not reach the 31-foot level he predicted earlier, despite a recent rise at Emerson. (The river dropped 1½ inches there last night.)

When Mr. Stevens spoke to newspapermen at a press conference in Brig. Morton's headquarters at the legislative building, the river had held steady at 30.2 feet for 13 hours. The reading was the same for 11 hours more, then eased down a little more than an inch to 30.1. It was still at that figure at 4:00 a.m. CDT.

However, engineers said the drop meant almost nothing. A north wind chasing the water upstream could cause a temporary lull.

There will be no sudden break in the flood crest, Mr. Stevens said. The river might fluctuate a bit but would hold near its peak for about a week.

Fear Dike Collapse

During that time dikes will be settling and may collapse. Heavy rain anywhere in the Red's watershed could bring a drastic rise and threaten the metropolitan area, including downtown Winnipeg, for a couple of miles on each side of the river.

Plans for emergency evacuation of the populace to dry land beyond the flood-risk area would go into effect if the Red reached 32.5 feet, about 27½ inches above its present reading.

So far the mass evacuation of greater Winnipeg has been voluntary, under the urging—but not the order — of Brig. Morton's headquarters. The aim is to "thin out" the population, swollen by perhaps 20,000 evacuees from the Red River valley, to make a rush evacuation easier if it comes.

Headquarters figures showed about 28,000 left the city area Friday and Saturday. An unofficial estimate indicated the total of evacuees to Sunday night was something less than 75,000—about one-fifth of greater Winnipeg's normal population.

Not Fast Enough

Brig Morton said that wasn't fast enough. So did Viscount Alexander, who spent a few hours here Sunday inspecting dikes and damaged districts.

Last night's evacuation was a confused affair. The army's first statement said it affected everyone. This was twice amended when municipal officials changed their minds—first to "women and children," finally to "women with children."

Two special trains were spotted at sidings on either flank of the main east-west road.

About 400 of an expected 1,200 showed up. Eventually one train was cancelled and the other took all the evacuees.

But 1,217 cars crossed a hastily-built new ramp leading to Provencher Bridge, reopened for the occasion after being closed for repairs for several days. Canadian National Railways officials in Winnipeg said four extra cars were needed at the last minute for women and their children who wanted to go to Saskatoon.

Striking Union Has Petition

Striking union members of the Peterborough Lock Co. are circulating a petition calling on Labor Minister Charles Daley to mediate the present contract dispute.

Some of the strikers (Local 527, United Electrical Workers) were soliciting the support of Peterborough residents Saturday and a serious, door-to-door canvass is going on today. The petition will also be taken to the larger plants in the city. And the lockworkers say they received a sizeable stock of food from donors during their Saturday night campaign.

Pickets were removed from in front of the Peterborough Lock Co. plant Saturday night. It was considered pointless to picket all day Sunday, particularly as the plant is deserted.

The mass demonstration was held there again early today and regular picketing was resumed.

Local 527 officials report that the Local 524 executive members and stewards have pledged $1 a week for every week of the strike and they are asking the union membership at CGE to do the same.

Ontario Marble workers have pledged an hour's pay each week and it is expected that those in Raybestos will follow suit. Both plants are part of the composite local, Local 527.

Russians Order Polish Purge

LONDON, May 15 — (AP). — A reported purge of Polish Communist Party leaders is the latest development in a campaign in all the Russian satellite countries to tighten Communist control and shut out Western influence.

Diplomatic sources in Warsaw said Sunday government ministers were bitterly criticized at last week's meeting of the Polish Communist Party Central Committee. Complaints ranged from mismanagement of public affairs to failure to obey party directives.

Soviet influence in Poland was believed strengthened by the appointment of the party's ruling politburo of Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, a farmer Russian army commander who now bosses Poland's army. Another politburo appointee was Zenom Nowak, a veteran Communist believed to be heading the drive to rid the party of Polish Communists who dislike dictation from Moscow.

Political observers here believe the Polish shake-up is following the pattern established in such other satellite states as Czechoslovakia, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria.

See Prices Settling Into Narrow Range

TORONTO, May 15 (CP). — Prices settled into a narrow range as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Some signs of easiness were evident in market leaders. Activity slowed considerably from last week's heavy-trading markets, volume for the first three hours was 1,554,000 shares.

In industrials Dominion Steel and Coal B was sharply down but most changes were held to small amounts. Steels, foods, textiles and a few utilities weakened. Constructions, refining oils and liquors brightened.

Junior gold producers sagged on declines ranging up to five cents. Low-priced prospects continued brisk traders for some good gains and seniors were quiet. Lake Wasa, Dulama, Donalda, Elder and Newlund were features among the secondary issues.

Base metals brightened in dull dealings. Market leaders gained fractions. Quebec Labrador featured in activity, trading heavily for a good gain following news of financing plans.

Western oils bounced up from opening easiness.

Farmer Electrocuted In Laneway Of Home

WINCHESTER, May 15—(CP) —Charles Pratt McRobbie, 44, of the near-by Ormond district, was electrocuted in the laneway of his farm home Sunday after his automobile had crashed into a hydro pole.

Police said McRobbie was driving to the Ormond Baptist Church when the car struck the pole. He was killed when he accidentally touched a live wire as he stepped from the car to investigate the damage.

His wife, watching from the house, suffered severe burns and shock when she ran to the scene and attempted to pick up her husband. She was rushed to hospital in Ottawa, where her condition is described as serious.

Ormond is about 35 miles south of Ottawa.

Experts Study Obstacles To News Flow

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 15 —(AP). — Experts from 12 countries today start a two-week study of obstacles that block free flow of news over the world.

They are the United Nations sub-commission on freedom of information and of the press. Many shades of editorial opinion from east and west are represented, but the delegates sat as technical experts in their respective fields, and not as representatives of their governments.

Despite political differences, they hope to draft a series of recommendations which, although lacking news of enforcement, may lay the ground work for an international agreement easing access to and distribution of news.

The delegates are Carrol Binder of the United States; Philip Jordan, Britain; Alfredo Silvaa Carvallo, Chile; P H Chang, China; Mahmoud Azbi, Egypt; Andre Geraud, France; Devadas Gandhi, India; Karim Azkoull, Lebannon; Melchor Aquino, Philippines; Steven Dedijer, Yugoslavia; Roberto Fontana, Uruguay; Pavel Kotik, Russia.

Expect Walkout

Observers generally expect the Soviet expert to follow the practice of the Russians at U. N. sessions elsewhere by walking out rather than set with a Nationalist Chinese delegate.

First item of business calls for consideration of the "adequacy of news available to the peoples of the world and the obstacles to the free flow of information."

Other problems to be taken up include a classification of the existing agreements in the field of freedom of information, a study of legislation and other practices affecting the spreading of news, and promotion of the dissemination of true information to counter-act Nazi, Fascist and other propaganda advocating racial and religious discrimintion.

New Precautions Ordered On Ships

DETROIT, May 15 (CP)—Federal inspectors have ordered extensive safety precautions on all United States passenger-carrying ships on the Great Lakes. The accent is on fire protection, following the Noronic disaster at Toronto last September.

Before a ship is allowed to sail it must have a modern fire detection system, automatic sprinklers, adequate fire alarms and stations, a public address system, and fire-resistant bulkheads.

There must be more than one means of getting ashore when at dock with passengers aboard, and ships must be connected with shore telephone service while docked.

Plants Too Backward For Hurt By May Frost

COBOURG, May 15 (ENS) — There was a light frost late Saturday night but little damage was caused.

Owing to the late spring, growth was not advanced enough for the frost to damage plants.

Home gardens, which were well advanced this time last year, are still in the digging stage.

Have Truce Called

BRANTFORD, May 15 (CP) — With a truce called in the Cockshutt Plow Company strike until both sides confer with Labor Minister Daley in Toronto today, the company issued a statement over the week-end in which it reminds that the current contract has not been cancelled, and that a long strike would be harmful to everyone.

Fuchs Spends 16 Hours A Day In Small Cell

LONDON, May 15 (Reuters)—Klaus Fuchs, convicted atomic spy, spends 16 hours a day in a small cell, 12 by eight feet, on the first floor of a London jail.

It is the same jail—Wormwood Scrubs prison, on the western fringe of London—where William Joyce, better known as "Lord Haw Haw," was taken to be hanged four years ago.

Fuch's was one of Britain's top atomic scientists. Earlier this year the German-born scientist was sentenced to 14 years imprisonment on two counts of betraying western secrets to Russia.

The Sunday Express, in a story about the convicted spy, said the Federal Bureau of Investigation agents due here soon from the United States to question Fuchs will find him a changed man.

Once natty, the former scientist now is just a number clothed in a rough, suit of prison grey, the Sunday Express said. It added that his soft, delicate hands are calloused from scrubbing and making mail-bags 5½ hours a day.

Allowed To Read

Fuchs is allowed to read two books a week, but nothing technical, the paper said, he has struck up a friendship with another prisoner, Brian Donald Hume. Hume was jailed this year as an accessory-after-the-fact to the murder of an automobile dealer whose dismembered body Hume admitted dumping near the mouth of the Thames from an airplane.

On nine occasions, Fuchs had been taken from prison routine to a small room to be interviewed by agents of MI-5 Britain's counter-espionage service.

When he entered Wormwood Scrubs prison instructions were given that all his mail should be looked over by MI-5. But he has written no letters and received only printed tracts from religious societies.

Gamble 12 Billion

The figures were compiled by editors of the annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, a private organization.

Toronto Nearly Misses Festival Then Walks Off With Drama Win

CALGARY, May 15 (CP)—All the drama in the Dominion Drama Festival, which wound up its week-long competition Saturday night, was not confined to the stage.

There is something of the theatrical in the way honors were won by the Belmont Group Theatre of Toronto and director Ben Reid's Canadian Legion Players of Regina.

The Toronto cast was almost a festival scratch. Mrs. Rebecca Erenberg, property mistress, said the group after winning the Central Ontario Regional Festival with their performance of Clifford Odets' "Wake Up and Sing," considered withdrawing from the final festival because of a lack of funds.

An appeal to Toronto's mayor and council brought no results, Mrs. Erenberg said, but the Dominion Drama Festival came through with an additional $150 to a previous $650 and made the trip possible.

The group then went on to win the Bessborough Trophy, awarded to the best presentation in the festival. The group's director Ben Lennick, was named the best director in the festival by adjudicator Michael Saint-Denis to win the Louis Jouvet trophy.

Subscriptions Help

Most of the drama groups—like the Brockville Theatre Guild which raised $4,000 in the Ontario city of 12,000—had large part of their expenses covered by popular subscription.

The Regina festival triumph had a different slant. Last year Mr. Reid directed a Noel Coward play with Bill Walker in the lead. It won the regional award as best play but was not chosen—which surprised and annoyed Saskatchewan drama officials—for the final festival.

This year a Regina group directed by Mr. Reid in a production of Noel Coward's "Present Laughter," walked off with three awards.

Bill Walker, 27-year-old former RCAF bomber pilot, won the Henry Osborne Trophy as the best actor in the festival. He won this honor once before, in 1947.

Mrs. Jeanne Morphy, appearing in her first festival play, won the Nella Jeffries Trophy as the best actress. And the play, was chosen the best presentation in English excluding the winner of the Bessborough Trophy.

The festival plaque for the best presentation in French went to Le Cercle Moliere group of St Boniface, Man., for their presentation of Molier's "L'avre."

The Martha Allan Trophy for the best visual presentation (design, scenery, costumes and lighting) in the festival, was given to the London Little Theatre for its complicated lighthouse set in "Thunder Rock."

Huge Log Drive Under Way On Restigouche

DALHOUSIE, May 15 (CP) — The biggest log drive this year in the Maritime Provinces is under way on the Restigouche river in northern New Brunswick.

During the [illegible] drive, end about June 1, 3[illegible],000 cords of pulpwood—roughly equivalent to 150,000,000 feet of sawlogs — will move downstream to mill booms at Dalhousie and Atholville.

The logs represent only an average cut in Restigouche county. This phase of the industry had a poor start last fall when lumber markets were weak. In the winter, however, international demand grew stronger and woods work picked up as companies increased their quotas.

The drive is one of the new major stream-driving operations to survive east of Quebec province. In New Brunswick, especially, stream-driving generally became a colorful story of the past when companies decided it would be cheaper and easier to set up sawmills in the woods and bring out lumber by trucks.

Applies To St. John

This applied even to the mighty St. John river, running 400 miles north to south and through almost the entire length of the province. The first lumbering in the Maritimes was done on the banks of the St. John.

The annual Restigouche river drive began with the bringing of millions of logs to snubbers, or temporary dams at the mouths of streams emptying into the Restigouche and its tributaries. When river conditions became favorable the snubbers were torn away and the pent-up water and logs rushed through.

At the mouth of another river—the Kedgwick—all the logs will be herded together in a gigantic mass. Then the drive will be piloted to mill booms by about 150 sure-footed stream-drivers, who follow the floating wood with their cook, baggage and horse scows and boats.

The lumberjacks are the same hardy breed as of old. Like their forebears, they wear brightly colored mackinaw shirts, talk the same language and take the same risks.

Baptize Nine Children At Warkworth Church

WARKWORTH, May 15 (ENS) —Nine children were baptised during the Mother's Day service Sunday morning at St. Paul's United Church. The church was filled, the Sunday school joining the adult congregation.

W. Grant Allen, Sunday school superintendent, was in charge of the service and the address was delivered by the Rev. H. G. Lester.

The children baptized by Mr. Lester were: Frank Windover and David Warren Brickenden, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Brickenden of Toronto, (nee Shirley Windover of Warkworth); Alvin Douglas Greenly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood D. Greenly; Janis Lynn Gummer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Gummer; Glen Phillip and Joan Anne Hatcher, children of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hatcher of Norham; Gladys Mary Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Jones; Terrence Edward Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Pearson of Norham; James Edwin Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Watts of Belleville (nee Ethel M. Morrow.)

Hears Parole Board Talks Smuggles Records Out

DES MOINES, Ia., May 15.—(AP).—The case of a prisoner who used an electric gravevine to listen in on closed parole board sessions and smuggled wire recordings outside the walls set Iowa buzzing this week-end.

Governor William S. Beardsley, who said he was intrigued but not amused by the prisoner's feat, ordered an immediate investigation.

The governor said Saturday he was particularly interested in the question of how 47-year-old Pete Hellyer, a life-termer, was able to smuggle out the spools of wire recordings.

The story was disclosed Friday night in a copyrighted broadcast by Jim Bormann, news director of radio station WMT at Cedar Rapids.

Bormann interspersed his broadcast with excerpts of recorded interviews between board members and prisoners seeking clemency. He said he got the recordings from an intermediary for Hellyer in a Chicago airport rendezvous.

Bormann related the story as follows:

Hellyer entered the Iowa men's reformatory at Anamosa 19 years ago to serve life for a sex crime. Later he was placed in charge of the prison radio shop which pipes standard broadcasts through the institution. In this shop he built a wire recorder and a powerful radio transmitter.

Months ago, with the connivance of other prisoners, Hellyer's microphone was planted in the warden's conference office. His electric eavesdropping on board interviews was recorded on wire smuggled into him.

Smuggled Out

Hellyer also made hand-tooled leather bags which he was permitted to mail to friends and purchasers. In some of these bags, Bormann said, the prisoner concealed the wire recordings.

On the very day Hellyer planned to go on the air with his transmitter, he was caught, Bormann said. The broadcaster added that he had unofficial word that Hellyer was put into solitary confinement, but that his reports indicate Hellyer's full privileges were restored when coolly told authorities about the recordings."

Bormann said he was told Hellyer had let other prisoners know "he was determined to tell the outside world" about the reformatory conditions "regardless of the consequences."

Warden Foss Davis, en route from a convention in Colorado, was not available for comment.

The Floods and The Fires

The Local Branch of the Canadian Red Cross has already received a number of enquiries regarding the collection and shipment of clothing and other articles for the flood victims in Winnipeg and the fire victims in Rimouski, Que., and wish to give the information to our citizens, that unless a request comes from the government of Manitoba or the Red Cross officials who are on the ground, no organized effort is to be made here.

If the request does come it will likely be directed to His worship Mayor Swanston and in such a case the local Red Cross Branch will co-operate with the City and all other organizations that may be interested, to accomplish what may be required of them.

Citizens who have relatives in the flood and fire areas are asked to be patient as word will be forwarded at once if any one is sick or in danger. No news is about as good news as one may expect of those in the danger zones, but it does not refer to property damage.

Winnipeg Appeals To Us

Winnipeg has appealed to Peterborough for assistance.

A Manitoba flood relief fund has been organized under the honorary chairmanship of the lieutenant-governor of the province, the Honourable R. F. McWilliams, a native of this district and a former mayor of Peterborough. Distinguished citizens of Manitoba are serving on the special relief committee, and join their appeal with the lieutenant-governor's. They have asked various newspapers in Ontario to undertake to organize the appeal in their communities. The Examiner responds wholeheartedly and immediately to the urgent Winnipeg telegram to us, as, we feel sure, all the citizens of Peterborough will respond to the appeal. We have set up a Peterborough and district Manitoba flood relief fund account, and on behalf of the Manitoba committee and the distressed victims of the flood will receive at our business office donations by cash or cheque. Monies received will be despatched to Winnipeg immediately.

Contributions by cheque should be sent to The Examiner and made payable to the "Manitoba Flood Relief Fund." All donations will be acknowledged in due course by the official committee, and will be deductible for income tax purposes. The Examiner will publish daily during the appeal the names of contributors.

The extent of the flood's devastation, the plight of the people who have had to abandon their homes, the property losses and financial burdens have been, and are, extreme. In the number of people affected and the extent of the damage, it is the worst flood in Canada's history. The need is urgent and great. The appeal is direct to the hearts and purses of Peterborough and district. Let us all respond with real neighbourliness and generosity.

"Feather-Bedding" Attempt By U.S. Rail Union

Since Canadian railroads have begun a program of conversion from steam to diesel engines, the current strike of the firemen's union in the United States is of interest to this country. Four railroads have been disrupted by the strike, which arose from a dispute that followed the introduction of diesel engines some seven years ago. The dispute has been before two presidential fact-finding boards, which rejected the union's demands, but the union has nevertheless persisted in its attempts to saddle railroads with additional and unnecessary firemen.

Briefly described, the situation is as follows: A multiple-unit diesel engine, with two or three times the power of a single unit engine, can be easily tended by one fireman. The firemen's union, however, originally took the stand that an extra fireman should be carried for each unit up to three, in all passenger and freight locomotives. There would be nothing for the two extra firemen to do, and the demand appeared to be little more than a costly and indefensible proposal to provide more jobs for union firemen.

• • •

This demand was taken before a board appointed by the late President Roosevelt in 1943. After months of hearings, it was rejected. It was again brought before a board appointed by President Truman last year, and again rejected. The union reiterated its demands, however, and was granted hearings by the U.S. National Mediation Board, which recommended that the demand be dropped. There was no subsequent change in the attitude of the union with regard to its present demand.

• • •

The present demand is a modification of the original. The union apparently recognized the utter absurdity of the original, and abandoned the request for a third fireman, but insisted that a second fireman be carried. When it became obvious that the railroads would never accede to this demand, the union proposed arbitration, to relate only to passenger trains, and among those only to high speed, streamlined and through trains. The railroads, fearing insertion of the thin edge of a wedge, refused to arbitrate, and the union is now attempting to place blame for the strike on the railroads because of this refusal to arbitrate.

• • •

This seems a case of "feather-bedding" gone completely mad. No other issue is involved in the strike except that of employment of men who would add substantially to operating costs while contributing nothing to the operation of the railroads. The strike has stopped operation of four railroads, and has already forced certain industries served by them to close down. It is an example of selfishness and irresponsibility that will almost certainly harm the cause of organized labour far more than it will ever benefit the striking workers.

Global Defence

Today two important international conferences begin, one in London, the other in Sydney, Australia. The London conference is an extension of the discussions of the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the U.S.A. held last week. It is a conference of all the foreign ministers of the Atlantic Treaty countries, to which Canada is party. The chief task of participating foreign ministers is to co-ordinate the efforts of the treaty countries for their own defence against Russian imperialism, which requires economic and political, as well as military co-operation. The geographical frame is not limited to Europe, any more than Communism limits itself to the one continent. The meeting in Sydney is a Commonwealth affair, and is concerned with devising ways and means of raising the living standards of the people of Southern Asia by co-operative development. It is thus related to American economic world policy and very directly with the political and defensive purposes of the London talks.

Our Bip Pares map reproduced on this page shows graphically the world scene which confronts the two conferences. It indicates the line at which the penetration of Russian imperialism must be held if areas vital to the Atlantic powers and the Commonwealth are not to disappear behind the Iron Curtain. It also shows the dangerous gap in the West's political defence of Southern Asia.

Western Europe is bulwarked by the Atlantic Treaty; the Middle East by American military aid to Greece, Turkey and Persia; the Pacific by an American security system extending from the Philippines to Japan. Thus far Southern Asia is outside the range of American strategy, although last week's decision to give military aid to Indo-China is a move towards closing the gap. The chief cure for the Asiatic ills which Communism exploits is a better standard of living; therein is the importance of the Sydney conference.

Overhead Wire Danger

Last September a young woman climbed into her light plane and took off from an airstrip at Perth fairgrounds. A few seconds later the plane struck overhead telephone wires at the end of the airstrip and crashed. The young woman died. In the same month four people in a light plane, about to land at Barker airport near Toronto, were extraordinarily lucky to escape serious injury when their plane hit overhead wires and flipped over on its back while travelling at seventy miles an hour. The disastrous Rimouski fire is said to have been caused by an overhanging power line short-circuiting and igniting a pile of lumber underneath it.

In these columns we have already pointed out the unsightliness, the hazards and the outmoding of overhead wires. We have mentioned the advantages of underground wires, and referred to places which have switched to them. The accidents mentioned above show that the subject is not merely academic. We hope that the time is near when the telephone company will extend its system of underground cables and get off the poles; and that even our Peterborough Utilities Commission will venture underground—if only experimentally—before too long.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We read that the recently-settled Chrysler strike in Detroit costs the 50,000 plant workers an average of $1,038 in lost wages. The strike lasted some three months. According to our arithmetic, the average pay of the 50,000 workers must therefore have been $4,152 a year. In Canada a sum like that is called an executive's salary.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE folk music of Spain is amongst the most interesting and vital in the whole world. In order to appreciate it properly, though, it is necessary to know a little of the historical background of the country. Spain has sometimes been called "Africa in Europe". Its proximity to the "dark continent" and its climate show striking similarities. Even more than this the architecture and the habits of the people betray marked non-European characteristics. They are living witnesses to the occupation of Spain by the Moors, which lasted for five centuries and left a lasting impression on the country, especially in the Southern regions, where they were first to arrive and last to leave. It is not to be supposed that the Moors were barbarous people—in many respects they were superior in civilization to the people of Western Europe, especially in the field of mathematics, medicine and natural science. After the expulsion of the Moors every effort was made to wipe out all traces of the invader, but the occupation of five centuries had left its mark on the people and the land.

Spanish folk music is very strongly tinged with Moorish elements. This is especially true of the music of Andalusia, the nearest province to Africa. In the northern provinces there are far fewer Moorish elements. Spain never has been an integrated country like France, and regional differences have always been strong. Each district has its own dances and music. Folk music in Spain has always been intimately associated with the dance, and the Jota, the Bolero, the Seguidilla, and many others too numerous to mention are witnesses to the popularity of the dance in the various provinces.

RICH as she is in folksong, Spain has been comparatively poor in "art music". I am using the word "folksong" in its narrow sense, that is to say music that has been passed down by oral tradition as opposed to "art music" which is written down in the first instance by a composer. There was a fine school of composers which flourished around the time of Palestrina, but decadence set in and Spain soon became a musical backwater during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

In the latter part of the nineteenth century foreign composers in search of exotic "local colour" began writing works based on impressions of Spanish folk music. Many of these, such as Lalo's "Spanish Symphony" and Rimsky-Korsakov's "Spanish Capriccio" are delightful pieces of music, but they show only a superficial understanding of the Spanish idiom. Other composers such as Ravel and Debussy have got nearer to the authentic Spanish idiom, but it was left to Spain herself to interpret herself best to the outside world.

Granados and Albeniz both wrote a good deal of music, mostly for the piano, in which they used the characteristic rhythms and melodic inflexion of Spanish folk music. They both had a real gift for effective piano-writing, and they managed to convey the impression of a guitar. Of the two Albeniz was more adventurous. They were both evidently anxious that their music should be played with every nuance just as they conceived it themselves, and their scores are liberally provided with marks of expression and phrasing. Sometimes this very abundance of directions is a little confusing, and there are evidences of afterthoughts which make it difficult to perceive what the composer's real intentions are.

The most important Spanish composer in recent years is nowever Manuel de Falla. He is best known by his ballet music which he wrote for Diaghileff and by excerpts from his opera "La Vida Breve", the story of a peasant girl who is jilted by her lover. The excerpt most often heard is the music at the opening of the last act, at the wedding festivities of the young man, who has married a rich heiress. De Falla is uncompromisingly Spanish, yet his music has a universal appeal. It is full of the contradictions of the Spanish temperament, the voluptuous langour and the fierce energy, the gaiety and the melancholy of this proud people. His "Nights in the Gardens of Spain" for piano and orchestra conveys to me the essence of Spanish music at its best. Unfortunately it does not appear that there are any worthy successors to him or Turina, who interprets Spain in a more turgid style and lacks the refinement of de Falla.

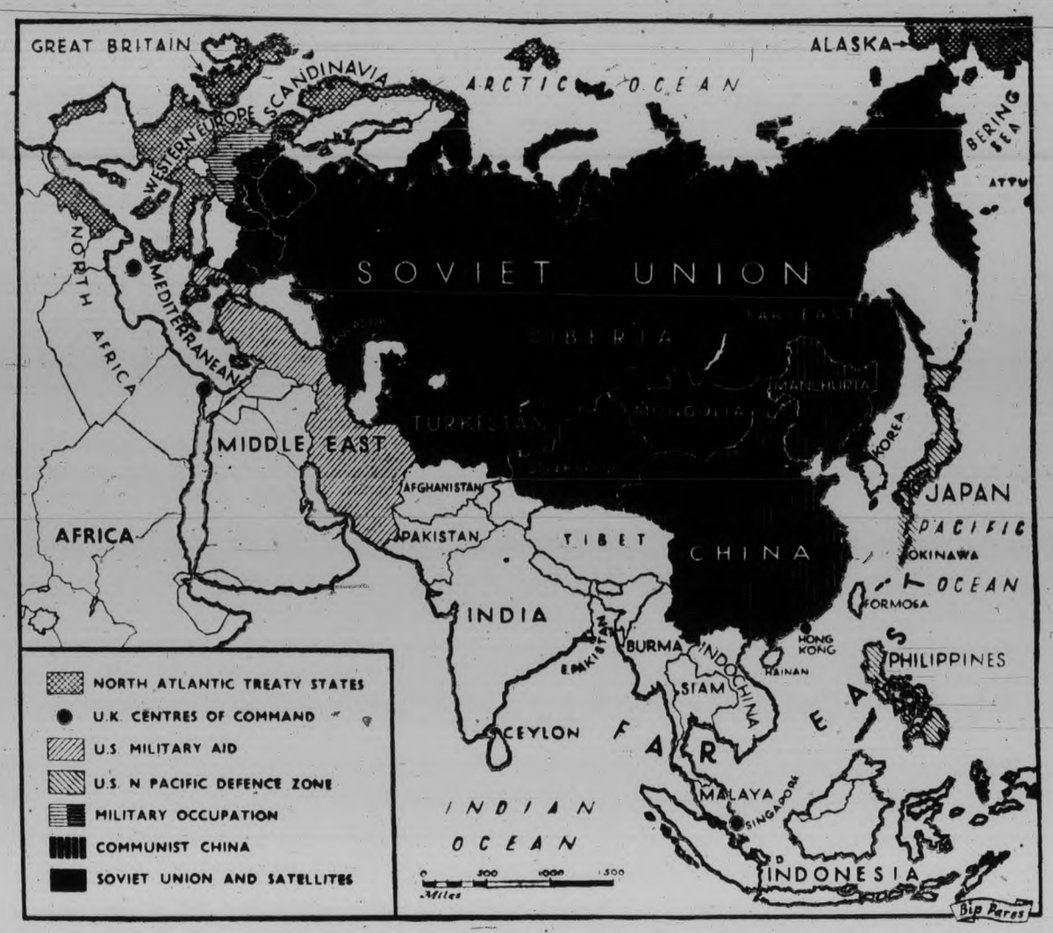
THE question of national temperament in music is interesting and debatable. In the first place, is it legitimate to generalize about large numbers of people? I have met placid Italians, excitable Englishmen, matter-of-fact Welshmen and modest Americans. Is it correct to say that Italians are excitable, Englishmen phlegmatic, Welshmen emotional idealists and Americans boastful? Although human nature is basically the same the world over it is nevertheless true to say that each nation has a certain pattern of behaviour which is accepted as the norm. This is instilled from earliest childhood, and while some do not conform to type the majority does in greater or lesser degree. These patterns are the result of history and geography. The stamping rhythms and bright colouring of Russian music are characteristic of a race that has been only lightly tinged with civilization, where the primitive forces are still strong.

At the opposite pole the polish and sophistication of French music is the product of a highly civilized society. American music reflects the dynamic and restless energy of a young yet powerful nation conscious of its own strength and destiny: somewhat scornful of airs and graces, yet with a leaning towards powerful sentiment. As for Canadian music it is too early to say what characteristics it will develop: the process takes time, like the maturing of wine. At present this country has a number of composers, but as yet no characteristically Canadian style has emerged. Such a style would inevitably be strongly influenced by American trends, but with a greater sobriety of expression and a greater respect for tradition.

MARRIAGE NECESSARY?

Marriage is much more necessary to a man than to a woman, for he is much less able to supply himself with domestic comforts.



GLOBAL DEFENCE: Interpretive map by Bip Pares. Copyright to The Examiner by The London Observer.

Col. Agnes Neill, OBE, RRC, LLD

(AN APPRECIATION BY CHARLOTTE WHITTON, CBE)

(Ed. Note: This tribute to an outstanding Canadian woman by another outstanding Canadian woman is published here by courtesy of the Ottawa Citizen.)

THE Sunday nearest the twelfth of May, Florence Nightingale's birthday, is now kept as the day of rededication of nursing throughout the world, and a commemoration of the day of victory of the forces of liberty over tyranny in the European theatre of the Second World War. There seemed some strange mysticism in that being the week-end in which Agnes Campbell Neill would die and be carried to rest beside her forebears in the haunting beauty of the cemetery at Peterborough, throbbing with the life of spring.

For Canadian nursing could hardly hope to claim a woman who, in charm and grace of person, in happiness of mind, in sincerity of purpose and vigorous, able discharge of duty so carried within herself all the attributes which nursing asks and hopes, mark, in some degree, those who affirm the Nightingale pledge. And, from her enlistment in the first month of war to her discharge, the day after Armistice Day, November 12, 1946, Agnes Neill served continuously in the overseas theatre, longer and in heavier responsibility than any other woman in any branch of the Services, the greater part of that time as Matron-in-Chief, R.C.A.M.C.

Born of the gracious traditions of the old Peter Robinson settlements in Peterborough, Agnes Neill entered Arts in Victoria College, but, in her second year, changed to nursing training in Toronto General Hospital, where that stateswoman of Canadian nursing, Jean I. Gunn, who came from her own nearby county of Hastings, was the superb Superintendent of Nurses (and where, incidentally, our own Ottawan, Mary Macfarland, has followed on).

UPON graduation Miss Neill served for eight years in the operating room, then moving on to the heavy responsibility of surgical instructor and junior assistant to the Superintendent. Immediately upon the declaration of war she enlisted and proceeded overseas with the first two units in June 1940 as Captain (Matron) and later Major (Matron) in charge of No. 15 "Canadian General", our 1,200 bed hospital at Bramshott. In 1935, Miss Neill had been a student, under international award, at Bedford College for Nursing in London. That experience and her contacts yielded rich rewards to Canada, her fighting men and her nursing services, as Agnes Neill devoted herself to building up the line of succour and of care for our sick and wounded behind the blitzing and in preparation for the days of armed invasion. She was the natural successor as Matron-in-Chief at C.M.H.Q. in London when Kingston's gracious Lieutenant-Colonel Emma Pense, R.R.C., retired in the spring of 1942.

Agnes Neill took over then with a nursing strength, overseas, of 300 sisters, which was to expand to more than 2,000, and not a detachment put in at any port of the British Isles, day or night, peak of blitz or bursting bombs that the Matron-in-Chief was not there, herself, waving gaily, with that outgoing Irish warmth and buoyancy of spirit which could take command of any room five minutes after she entered it.

Last summer an Englishwoman asked me whether I had known Miss Neill. "You know in one awful blitz, our whole building was demoralized; children killed, old people hurt, men and women bleeding and banged about: your Matron-in-Chief had been there, looking for some Canadian. In five minutes that fine looking woman in her uniform, all spattered with plaster, and her own handkerchief torn up, had us all not only steady, but laughing. A great woman, have you many like her?"

I had to say we had not, though in her corps were many of her fineness and spirit—10 nursing sisters died, casualties in the service, 14 were wounded, 10 won foreign decorations and 300 were honoured by the Crown, among them, of course, Agnes Neill, Royal Red Cross of the first class and Officer, Military Division of the Order of the British Empire. An honourary doctorate she held, too, the award of the University of Toronto on her return to Canada.

IN the Italian and French zones, home to Canada, back and through the war, she served, returning to merge the responsibilities of Matron-in-Chief (Canada) and Matron-in-Chief (Overseas) in July, 1945, from which date she served through demobilization to retirement, even then, a lifetime of service and achievement already hers, though she was not yet 50 years of age.

She had earned surcease, and had both the disposition and the means to take life pleasantly, but after a few months of holidaying with her colleague and friend, Major (Principal Matron) Mary Shaffner, she yielded to the continuing appeal of the casualties and accepted the post of Ontario Area Nursing Consultant to the Department of Veterans' Affairs, at the same time getting great joy out of the cabin she was equipping for the rest she eventually planed, at Stony, loveliest of the Kawarthas, in the Peterborough country, which her people had helped to open.

Eager, questing of mind, keen in perception and sympathy, she was sought in service everywhere, and generously she gave of all she had,—president of her Alumnae Association, chairman of the Jean I. Gunn Memorial Fund, Foundation to her own great teacher and beloved friend, Canadian Nurse representative on the Florence Nightingale International Foundation Committee, member of the Nursing Committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society and of the board of the Victorian Order of Nurses. Perhaps more truly typical of Agnes Neill than all the "brass hat" appointments — for though a woman of great dignity, she never stood upon it,—was the simple fact that she gave hours of voluntary service weekly to the Infants' Home of Toronto, helping at their clinics and conferences beside the youngsters who held not even a first aid certificate, in peals of laughter when they would "tick" her off on handling a baby.

THERE were years of strength, of service, of leadership ahead of her, of the sharing of the pools of her compassion and courage with those who called her friend. Then, suddenly, it struck and the sheer gallantry of the woman shone, the clear light of an unfaltering faith, through the months of suffering and darkening days which her own knowledge told her would not be long in their closing.

They sang the hymn she loved as townspeople, army, veterans, medical men and nursing services gathered for the last time in the memory of her laughter, her strength, her courage and her faith:

"O Cross that liftest up my head,
I dare not ask to fly from thee:
I lay in dust life's glory dead
And from the ground there blossoms red
Life that shall endless be."

The Venerable F. J. Sawers, Archdeacon of York, did not know, when in his funeral message he likened Agnes Neill to Mr. Valiant for Truth in The Pilgrim's Progress, that he was quoting the same words which are carved in the bevelled margin of the stone slab of the altar-tomb in our national Memorial Chamber:

"My marks and scars I carry with me to be a witness for me that I have fought His battles, who will now be my Rewarder: so he passed over, and all the trumpets sounded for him on the other side."

Of that goodly company indeed was Agnes Neill, who could have no more fitting epitaph, for indeed she, with them, had "kept faith in the hour of trial and in the day of battle".

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved. (Ps. 66: 8, 9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Truly God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart. Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire beside thee. My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever. (Ps. 73: 1, 25, 26.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law, which Moses the servant of the Lord charged you to love the Lord your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul. (Josh. 22: 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For though there be that are called gods whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him. (I Cor. 8: 5, 6.)

Letter To The Editor

WEST END BEAUTY SPOT

Sir: Well I see where the Prime Minister of Canada is going to visit our fair city and the council wants us to decorate our homes, a very worthy effort indeed. As the Prime Minister will likely pass my home on the way to the hospital I hope that the council will stop and show him the monstrosity at the corner of Charlotte St. and Monaghan Rd. I am referring to the dozen tulips surrounded by a broken down wire fence which would be a disgrace to any back township. If they don't want to look after it why don't they fill it in as it is a disgrace to my property and I pay plenty in taxes for the privilege of living there. I feel like putting up a sign stating that this beautiful piece of property belongs to the city of Peterborough as I don't like the public to think I own it.

FRANK SMITH.

Mix Soil, Chemicals In UK Get Roads At Mile A Day

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, May 15 —(CP)— So now it's "roads made while you wait."

The British Army's Royal Engineers, working with civilian industry, have come a long way from their Second World War dependency on United States heavy equipment.

New, improved bull-dozers, scrappers and graders have been produced and besides bringing the sappers up-to-date they promise to aid the country's export drive.

And the sappers also have developed a new road-making technique.

The work has been done at the military engineering experimental establishment, nicknamed "Mexe," located at Christchurch, Hampshire.

A recent demonstration there unveiled the results, and a mile-a-day process of making roads of the heaviest classification, over virtually any type of soil.

Scientists Work

While the bull-dozers, scrapers and graders are shifting the soil and preparing the road lay-out, scientists in a mobile laboratory analyze the soil's moisture and organic content. Cement, lime, certain chemicals and water then are spread over the cleared surface in proportions indicated by the tests.

A fourth piece of equipment, called a stabilizer, then makes one passage over the projected roadway. Its revolving blades and teeth churn up and mix the chemicals, cement and soil, which a roller following behind then compounds into a solid mass.

Road Bashed

Setting is almost immediate and the new road shortly undergoes its first tests, as severe as any it is likely to receive in any military campaign, or in civilian use.

A three-ton vehicle called by the specialists a "traffic simulator" but by the troops a "road basher" then comes along. Its whirling arms vibrate and pound the road with the pressure that would be exerted by 10,000 three-ton trucks or 3,000 10-ton tanks a day.

Two weeks of that sort of testing have left such new-type roads unimpaired.

Great Saving

Roads built across country in this way—which saves the transports of rocks for road-beds, forms for concrete setting and manpower for crews—are serviceable for the heaviest type of modern aircraft as well. They are harder than concrete, yet the soil a few inches away may sink a walking-stick.

Said the R. E. colonel in charge of the demonstration:

"This means that in any future war, instead of using up and immobilizing a large number of men and transport and masses of material to build roads that won't take tanks or 10-ton lorries, we shall, by treating the soil with these powder or liquid chemicals, have A-1 roads at the rate of at least a mile a day over the worst terrain."

Marooned 9 Days By Flood, Aband on Transmitter

Written for the Canadian Press
By BERT HOOPER

WINNIPEG, May 15 —(CP)— I'm so tired I can hardly talk. I just came in from radio station CKRC's transmitter.

My two assistants and I were marooned out there for nine days by the Red River flood. We'd been trying to protect the transmitter and the building but the flood was too much for us.

It's in St. Vital, just east of the Red River. It's the only place anywhere near above water in a huge lake.

We started sandbagging our own place and trying to keep the station operating on a 24-hour basis. But before we finished we were a clearing house for refugees, a supply centre, and a dock for Navy Ducks.

Area Desolated

The whole area is desolated. Many of the people are mink or fox farmers. Most of them were wiped out.

Their barns and houses were up to the eaves. They lived in lofts, trying to keep their animals. Most of them ended by shooting them. When they ran out of ammunition they strangled the animals with handling hooks.

We saw all kinds of thinks that were tragic, but some were almost funny.

Yesterday, just before we left on the nine-mile boat trip to Winnipeg, we saw a whole string of boats coming down St. Mary's Avenue. It looked like a canoe race. There were women, children, dogs, and chickens in the boats.

Behind was an old fellow in a horse trough—yes, a horse trough. He was paddling it with a shovel. I laughed like it was a big joke, but I guess it wasn't funny to him.

Shut Down

Our own place is a mess. We built a dike around it and the transmitter, but there's water behind it now. We pulled all the switches, then let the water into the basement and ran like hell.

The nine-foot basement filled in a couple of minutes.

My crew of 19 sandbaggers got out early. Two assistant engineers and I stayed on. We had lots of food—it's still stacked away above the equipment. We brought some back for the Red Cross.

The Navy brought people in to us in their Ducks. We fed them and they moved on. I must have made a hundred gallons of coffee.

We loaded about 3,000 pounds of radio equipment and ourselves into a boat with an outboard and started for town.

Outhouses, parts of bridges, dead mink and dead mice floated all around us.

We saw cows and horses in barns with just their heads above water. Dogs on dry places were howling their heads off. That's an awful noise to listen to for eight nights.

I never saw such desolation.

We passed some lovely big houses. Through the big front-room windows you could see living-room furniture — good stuff — floating around.

We floated right up to bedroom windows, on the top floor, and saw beds all made up, just like everyone was still home. There wasn't a soul for miles.

Some houses were right off their foundations, toppled over.

I think the worst thing, though, was an old man near the station. He was living in his loft — no stock, no nothing. But he wasn't leaving.

He said: "This is all I've got."

I guess he's too old to start over.

Develop New 'Farm Loaf' In US By Using More Flour

By WILLIAM E. MACKLIN

KINSLEY, Kan., May 15 (AP) Western Kensas have mixed up a new loaf of bread they hope will become as well known elsewhere as their famous sunflowers and infamous dust storms.

Conceived by a farmer who yearned for a slice of bread like mother used to bake, the new bread has picked up fans steadily since the first loaf was sold here in early February.

One western Kansas bakery chain making the new loaf reports white loaf sales have increased 400 per cent.

What's the new load got that the old loaf doesn't? Just 16 per cent more flour.

New Recipe

The bakery recipe calls for 116 pounds of flour in a batch of dough usually mixed with 100 pounds. No additional water is added, so the dough is stiffer. Baking takes longer.

The following recipe will make 155 one-pound loaves of the new "Coover loaf:"

One hundred per cent whole wheat flour, 6 pounds; white flour, 110 pounds; water, 63 pounds; yeast, 2 pounds 5 ounces; salt, 2 pounds 6 ounces; powdered skimmed milk, 6 pounds; sugar 5 pounds; shortening, 4 pounds; mycoban enrichment tablets, 3 ounces.

The baked loaf is more solid, weighs 19½ ounces and sells for 15 cents here on the prairie. A firm producing this loaf said its regular bread weighs 18 ounces and sold for 14 cents.

Won't Squeeze

About all the new bread flunks is the squeeze test. It doesn't mash together easily between the thumb and finger like popular sliced loaves.

"That's why it's so good," says the loaf's creator, Morris A. Coover of Kingsley. "It's got body."

Memories gave Coover, who farms 1,280 acres of wheatland, the idea.

"I suppose," he said, "a man never forgets the aroma from that home bread baking—and the flavor of a warm slice of newly-made bread with a heavy layer of butter soaking down into it."

Not a Baker

With no financial interest in baking, nor domestic science background, Coover took his idea of more flour in bread to make it taste better to James F. Lloyd, baker in this southwestern Kansas town of 2,500 persons.

They dabbled in dough and produced the "Coover loaf" or "farm loaf" as some call it. One day Lloyd baked 15 loaves and sold them without explanation to 15 customers who came in to his shop and asked merely for "a load of white bread."

Five of the 15 customers, an encouraging 33 per cent, came back and asked for "that new kind of bread." Since then its popularity has spread.

Stassen Denies Articles Untrue

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen today denied a charge by Sir Heneage Oglivie that articles he wrote for Reader's Digest magazine about the British national health service "paid little more than lip service to veracity."

Sir Heneage, a surgeon at Guy's hospital in London, made the charges in the March 25 issue of the British Medical Journal.

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, made his reply in a letter published today by the New York Herald Tribune. This letter incorporated another sent to the Spectator and the British Medical Journal in London, in which Sir Heneage charges appeared.

Stassen said he wanted to "point out that all my statistics were taken from officials British sources".

The British doctor had claimed Stassen's article, called "Never, Never, Never," was based on "interviews with discontented doctors and a few slightly-inaccurate figures."

Stassen's letter cited British figures for his claims, which he said Sir Heneage disrupted, that the death rate in the British Isles had goneup since the national health service started.

Want To Unionize

QUEBEC, May 15 (CP)—The Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor Sunday night sent a telegram to Labor Minister Mitchell askin that an order in council be amended to allow some 900 employees of Canadian Arsenals plants here and at nearby Valcartier to unionize. Rene Harmegnies, director of organization of the CCCL, said the order in council passed after the Royal Commission on Espionage showed violations of the Officials Secrets Act in Canada.

Ban On Confirmation Of Lutheran Scouts

PRINCETON, Wis., May 15 (AP) — A ban on confirmation of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts has been threatened by a Lutheran pastor here.

Philip Lehner, Jr., a scout leader and president of the St. John's Lutheran Church congregation, challenged Rev. Walter Strohschein's stand as "false doctrine."

The pastor contends that membership in scouting violates a doctrine of the Wisconsin synod and so forbids confirmation of participants. He claims the scout law, "a Scout is reverent," and the oath "to God and my country" interfere with church work. He directed members of his congregation to have their children cease scouting activities.

E. L. Hiestand, Princeton manufacturer and president of the Twin Lakes Boy Scout Council, said a book published by the Lutheran committee on scouting included all Lutherans but the Wisconsin synod, stated: "Under proper guidance, the Boy Scout program may be successfully integrated with the program of the church for the moral and spiritual development of its growing boys."

Pope Orders Man Reappointed Bishop

VIENNA, May 15—(AP)—Msgr. Franz Jachym, who refused on April 23 to be consecrated Archbishop coadjutor of the Roman Catholic Church in Austria, has been reappointed to that post by Pope Pius, church sources here announced Saturday.

The informants said another ceremony of consecration will be held in the very near future in St. Stephen's Cathedral. It was before the altar of that church, just as Theodor Cardinal Innitzer was preparing to consecrate him a bishop three weeks ago, that Msgr. Jachym refused.

He informed the cardinal, whose assistant he is to be, that he felt himself unworthy to be a bishop. Then he left the church, leaving church dignitaries stunned.

Won't Give Permission

MONTREAL, May 15 (CP) — Premier Duplessis said Saturday he has told the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation the Quebec government will not authorize the city of Montreal to sell or cede to the CBC property on Mount Royal for construction of a television station. The premier said he told General Manager Augustin Frigon of the CBC the request was not reasonable because the government corporation had deprived the province of the right to establish its own radio station.

The Ability to Save Money is the Seed of SUCCESS

IT IS NEVER too early to teach a child the importance of thrift — or a youth that Life Insurance is the easiest and safest form of thrift.

It is impossible for most people to accumulate large sums by ordinary saving. Life Insurance enables a man to save for his future with ease and regularity. It can be arranged in such a way that, should he die prematurely, the proceeds will be paid to his dependents in the form of a guaranteed monthly income.

Mighty Batter Johnny Mize Sent To Kansas

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—Big Johnny Mize, for 14 years one of the most feared hitters in the major leagues, today was sent to Kansas City by New York Yankees.

Two other players were consigned to the American Association farm along with Mize, who was bought by the world champions last August from New York Giants. They were pitcher Duane Pillette and infielder Billy Martin, both of whom were optioned on a 24-hour recall basis.

Wednesday midnight is the deadline for major league clubs to reduce rosters to a maximum of 25.

The Yankees also announced that pitcher Clarence Marshall and outfielder Johnny Lindell would be among the missing by deadline time.

Marshall has been informed that a deal is pending with another club involving him. Lindell also will be transferred to some other club.

Agrees To Play

A Yankee official said that Mize had been sent to Kansas City after he had expressed a willingness to play in the American Association. That was the only way the club could have sent the veteran first baseman to the minors. A 10-year-man can demand and receive his release before accepting a transfer to a league of lower classification.

Mize, 37 last Jan. 7, has been bothered by a lame right shoulder following an injury last September. He feels that steady work will enable him to get back into shape.

Mize led the National League in batting in 1939, he drove in the most runs in 1940, '42 and '47. He won the home run crown in 1939 and '40, and tied Ralph Kiner for the honor in 1948. He hit three homers in a game five times, a record. He reached his homer peak in 1947 with 51.

Shorter Stretch May Change Preakness Win

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP) — Listen to horse racing experts try to pick a winner and you'll hear everything up to astrology mentioned. Maybe even that.

Usually the word recurring is "distance." This is true particularly in figuring three-year-olds just getting around to running a mile and more.

The front runners in the Kentucky Derby showed they could weather a 1¼ miles—one-sixteenth longer than this Saturday's Preakness. But where did they show their distance stuff in the stretch? There poses a problem.

The old Pimlico course, where the No. 2 tilt in the American triple crown will be run, has a shorter stretch than either Churchill Downs or Belmont.

A Little Difference

This can mean a lot to such a come-from-behind runner as C T. Chenery's Hill Prince, which could do no better than second in the derby. When the distance was reduced to a mile on the shorter Belmont stretch in the Withers last Saturday, Hill Prince finished first with King Ranch's Middleground, the derby winner, second.

Five other colts are considered good prospects to compete with Middleground and Hill Prince in the Preakness.

They are Mrs. Andrew Schuttinger's Ferd, third in the Withers; C. V. Whitney's M. Trouble, third in the derby; Mrs. James Carson's Kinsman; Middleground's stable mate On the Mark; Sylvester W. Labrot's Arcave and William H Labrot's Balkan.

William Goetz's Your Host, derby favorite who faded to finish ninth after setting the pace for a mile, was declared out of the Preakness Sunday. He will be shipped back to California.

Three Contests Commence Viaduct Season

TORONTO, May 15.—The Viaduct Major Baseball League got away Saturday afternoon at Millen Stadium, with the youthful Staffords surprising Dover Men's Shops, 6-0, in the lid-lifter. Simpson Fords from New Toronto wound up the busy afternoon by defeating Ace Bowling Centre, 12-4. Simpson Fords copped their second Vitduct triumph as amateur ball ushered in Sunday sport, eking out a narrow 6-4 win over Dovers.

Lanky Jack Rosen led his Stafford mates to their verdict with a neat two-hit job while whiffing 10 batters. The 6 ft. 4 in. youngster showed amazing control and a fast ball, strolling only two in his senior debut. Second baseman Al Burrows, another graduate of Greenwood junior loop, took command of the offence, homering with one mate on base and adding a run-scoring triple. Harry Winkle chipped in with two hits. Harry Winkle chipped in with two hits. Warren Godfrey adn Ike Kline got the Dover singles.

Ronnie Hastings and Johnny Harick featured for Simpson Fords in the late game, recording a trio of hits each. Rus Enright, making his first start at Viaduct for Fords, struggled through to gain the victory although tapped for 11 safeties. Bus Gagnon was the batting star for Aces with three solid singles. Joey Irvine registered a pair. Duke McLaughlin used four tossers trying to stem the tide. Don Rogerson sent four runs home for New Toronto with a mammoth grand slam roundtripper to ease the burden for Enright in the big sixth frame.

More than 1,200 turned out for the Sunday affair. Bullet Joe Brown spaced seven Dover safeties to gain the nod over Joe McGowan, who permitted the same number of safe blows. Bobo Kitchen set Simpson Fords away to a two-run lead in the initial stanza with a 400-foot homer with one on. Phil Shadlesky at second base for Dover was the star player of the tilt, with three hits while pilfering two bases. He also starred afield.

Golfers Out In Force At Peterborough Club

There was plenty of activity at the Peterborough Golf Club course over the week-end as many took advantage of fair weather. Few real good scores were turned in, but the sweepstakes proved popular with more than two dozen taking part. The course is in fine condition for this time of year. Lockers will be re-arranged this week in the enlarged locker rooms, and 40 new ones are being added.

In the first flight of competition, Jack Hardill (club champion in 1949) posted 84-7 for low net of 77. Reg Stewart (of the Legion hockey team) had 90-17 for low net of 73 in the second flight. Another Legion hockeyist, Bob Parnall, had a 95-26 for low net of 69 in the third flight.

President Hugh McLean of the Viaduct Major Baseball League says: "We have six solid clubs, all fairly evenly matched. The competition should be keen and I think the league will play to at least 100,000 people before the season ends." Four teams started it off Saturday, Staffords vs. Dovers and New Toronto vs. Ace Bowlers. The other two, Petes and Oshawa, are due to go this coming Saturday, though not against each other. Dovers are made up mostly of oldtime Lizzies, who won the OBA junior crown several times. They have two ex-pros for pitching, Joe Lipka and Eddie Wiseberg. Solly Tenenbaum is coach.

All Bolstering Clubs

Staffords, handled by George Hoskings, have a hustling young squad, we hear, except for Maurice Walsh at first—he referees hockey in the winter—and Al Dewsbury of Detroit Red Wings. Ace Bowlers are said to be plenty strong, while Coach Sam Spero has bolstered New Toronto to the point where that team threatens to be the toughest in the loop. Peg Hurst is working hard to get Oshawa, COBL champs last year, built up to be a serious contender, whilst Eddie Murphy expects the Petes—OBA senior "B" champs last season—to be much stronger this summer.

* * * * * *

However, they all are optimistic at this stage. Games, of course, are won on the diamond, so we'll have to wait and see. But not for long as they've started already. The Petes have a fair club at the beginning, but will be quite a bit stronger shortly as several college stars join the club. And it shouldn't be long ere the floodlights are installed at Riverside, and this along with the fact the Petes are in a new and stronger circuit should mean a swell senior ball season for local diamond followers once again. Don't forget the big opener at Riverside this Saturday afternoon. It's "Play ball" time once more.

Prexy Bill Flint of the Girls' Softball League is calling a meeting of officials and club representatives at his home on 47 Park St. south tomorrow eve at 7.30. They will pass on the schedule, which opens May 26, and deal with the matter of the provincial hospitals tax as it affects amateur sports. This tax is not expected to hit local softball except where playoffs or exhibition games are concerned, and an admission charge of more than 16 cents is made. Teams in the lasses' loop, which play double-headers under the Bowl arcs Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, are: Ashby's, CGE, Marines, Woollens and Westclox.

UEW Team Gets 5-1 Victory Over Belleville

Opening their Eastern Football League schedule in Belleville on Saturday, the Peterborough UEW soccer team defeated the Uniteds of that city 5-1 before a good attendance of fans. They played sound soccer throughout to earn the decision, with F. Attard outstanding as he scored two goals. Blaker, the Belleville goal custodian, was brilliant, despite the score.

From the kick-off Belleville took advantage of the wind to confine the activities to the Petes' goal with Murduff and T. Foster relieving the pressure time and again. A breakaway by George Downer, gave a perfect pass to Duffus who rattled the cross-bar. Soon it became evident that, despite Blake's herculian efforts, the UE would be successful through Strong's and Downer's rocket drives. A perfect Strong corner kick resulted in Attard scoring with a brilliant header. Half time—Petes 1, Belleville United 0.

Outplayed Belleville

On resuming, UE aided with the wind at their backs forced the issue into the Belleville territory with Blaker holding the fort intact, with two fine saves. Strong increased the count on an opportune pass from Steele. Then the Belleville goalie saved a terrific drive from Downer who on the next visit made it read 3-0. Belleville never faltered in keeping the UE defence on the move to prevent a count and at this point the UE team made a mistake in taking things easy to find Belleville hemming them inside their own goal area. After two fruitless corner kicks, UE broke away but Blaker saved two hard drives from Strong and Downer. Combination play resulted in Downer and Strong testing the goalie but Attard caught him napping when he slipped the ball into the rigging. Petes added another to their count when Belleville were caught flat-footed in Petes' area where a three-way play resulted in Foster scoring from Steel and Downer. Belleville continued to fight back and were finally rewarded when Gemmell's aggressive drive terminated with a smart goal through an individual effort.

Goal scorers—Petes: Attard 2, Strong 1, Foster 1, Geo. Downer 1. Belleville: Gemmell 1.

Belleville—L. Blaker, goal; F Dale and J. Williamson, full backs; J. Fleet, O. Maudsley and S. Moody, half backs; S. Scott A. Gemmell, F. Moody and S Cathcart, forwards; subs, P. Alexander, J. Cox, H. Lee.

Peterborough UE—E. Hutchinson, goal; S. Murduff and T. Foster, full backs; J. Craig, E Downer and S. McGann, half backs; R. Strong, H. Steel, F. Attard, E Duffus and George Downer, forwards; subs, J. Chamberlain and G. Foster.

Royals Take Twin Bill From Orioles

By The Associated Press.

Omar (Turk) Lown, whose 1949 International League tenure was highly unprofitable, ranks today with the ball circuit's aces.

The Brooklyn-born righthander of the high-flying Montreal Royals has four victories to his credit and no defeats. Last year he won only one game and lost seven before he was sent to Fort Worth of the Texas League, where he did an about-face and copped eight—including a no-hitter — and lost one.

Lown Sunday turned in his fourth triumph as he pitched the Royals to a 7-0 decision over Baltimore Orioles in the second half of a doubleheader.

The Royals also took the opener 6-5 in 10 innings. Al Gionfriddo won the game with a bases-loaded single.

Take Twin Bill

Rochester moved to within half a game of second-place Jersey City by taking both games of a twin bill from the Giants, 2-1 and 7-5. Righthander Johnny Yuhas gunning for his fifth victory, left the game in the fifth after he was struck on the head by a thrown ball while running for second.

Veterans Bud Beverley and Jim Prendergast pitched Syracuse Chiefs to 6-0 and 6-2 triumphs respectively over the last-place Buffalo Bisons.

The up-and-coming Springfield Cubs also won a doubleheader, beating Toronto Maple Leafs 5-4 and 4-1.

Ed Ihde granted only four hits in the first game but needed help from Warren Hacker in the ninth when the Leafs staged a three-run rally. Bob Spiecer went the route in the second game, yielding only three hits.

JOHNSTOWN DIES

Johnstown, the winner of the 1939 Kentucky Derby, died unexpectedly Sunday at the Claiborne, Ky., stud farm of A. B. Hancock. Johnstown had a successful season at the races as a three-year-old, winning, in addition to the Derby, the Wood Memorial, Belmont, Withers and Dwyer stakes.

Cards In Second Place Smack Cincinnati Reds 8-7

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If Stan Musial isn't the greatest hitter in baseball today, then his figures are a pack of lies. At that, some of his slugging feats this season have been almost unbelievable.

One look at Musial's sky-scraping .467 batting mark and it is easy to understand why St. Louis Cardinals are in second place in the National League, only half a length behind the pace-setting Philadelphia Phils.

The mighty Cardinal ace smacked a single, double and triple Sunday to lead St. Louis to an 8-7 triumph over Cincinnati Reds. He drove in a run and scored twice. Musial now has hit safely in all but two of the 19 games he's played.

Johnny Hopp, veteran Pittsburgh first-baseman, enjoyed the greatest batting day of his major league career as the Pirates swept both ends of a National League doubleheader from the Cubs in Chicago 6-5 and 16-9. Hopp collected six hits in six times at bat in the second game. He smashed two home runs, drove in three runs and scored three times.

Get 21 Hits

In all, the Pirates registered 21 hits off six pitchers to win the first game in a breeze, but it took a pinch single by rookie George Strickland with the bases loaded in the ninth to pull the first game out of the fire.

The Cubs also lost the services of Hal Jeffcoat for approximately six to eight weeks. The outfielder suffered a broken collar bone while making a diving catch in the first inning of the opening game.

The six-game winning streak of the Phillies ended when New York Giants won a 4-3 thriller in the opener of a National League doubleheader in Philadelphia. Successive triples by Willie Jones and Dick Sisler had the tying run on third with only one out in the ninth. Larry Jansen, however, bore down to retire the next two batters. Bob Thomson's three-run homer in the first was the big blow.

The Phils came from behind a 6-1 deficit to forge ahead, 9-7, at the end of eight innings in the second game, halted by the curfew. It will be resumed from that point on when the two teams meet again in Philadelphia. Until then, the game will not figure in the standing.

Dodger Triumph

Walker Cooper continued his heavy hitting since joining Boston, but he could not prevent Brooklyn Dodgers from gaining a 6-4 National League triumph over the Braves. Cooper, who drove in five runs against the Dodgers Saturday with a homer and double, collected another four-bagger as well as a pair of singles in four times at bat.

Lefty Hal Newhouser, long kingpin of Detroit's pitching staff ran into heavy going in his first American League start this year as St. Louis Browns tamed the Tigers 7-3. The 28-year-old veteran, sidelined for a month because of a sore left shoulder, lasted only three innings.

New York Yankees remained half a game behind the American League leading Tigers when the visiting Philadelphia Athletics overcame a 7-1 deficit to edge them out 9-8.

Heavy Hitting

Big Walter Dropo continued his heavy hitting as Boston Red Sox divided a doubleheader with Washington Senators. The rookie first-baseman homered in each game. The Sox won the first 8-1. Dropo's sixth round-tripper, with two on, was hardly enough as the Nats went on a 19-hit rampage to win the second 10-5. Sam Mele, former Red Sox outfielder, got four hits in the nightcap and Eddie Yost homered in each game for the Nats.

Chicago and Cleveland divided another American League doubleheader. The White Sox won the opener, 3-2. The Indians won a 3-1 triumph in the nightcap.

Charles Boyer Never Liked Top Lover Title

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 15 (AP)—Charles Boyer, named one of the five greatest lovers of film history, would like to abdicate the title.

A week ago, Clarence Brown celebrated 35 years of film directing by selecting the five great lovers of the screen. He chose Boyer, John Barrymore, Clark Gable, John Gilbert and Rudolph Valentino.

"I don't like the title," the French actor told me. "I have never liked it and have never been flattered in one particular role. In Paris, I always played a wide variety of roles and I have tried to do the same here. The trouble is that two or three performances always stick in the public mind."

This may come as a blow to hundreds of night club and amateur imitators, but Boyer added that he never uttered the words: "Come wid me to the Casbah." Somebody else dreamed the line up.

Away From Romance

The actor is going far afield from romance in his current movie. He is playing a priest in "The First Legion."

A season ago, Boyer doffed his toupee to play on Broadway in "Red Gloves," his first American stage appearance. I asked if he would appear without the hairpiece in the picture.

"No," he replied, "I always like to look the same on the screen. Lighting is a different matter in pictures too. There has to be a definite hairline."

Likely Remain

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, May 15 (CP) — A government trademark associated with the darkest days of the Second World War may become a permanent feature of British life.

The insignia is "CC41," hallmark of utility, as familiar to housewives as their shopping bags and ration books.

Early in Hitler's war, the government and Lancashire clothing industry agreed to devise a range of clothes of precise specifications designed to keep the people clothed at a minimum cost.

The plan worked well. The blue "CC41" mark stitched on cotton goods and some other materials became a guarantee of cheapness and reasonable quality. In a country where the best is always for export, women dressed in utility goods seldom were confused with the latest Paris models, but they didn't mind.

The goods produced for the utility market are tax-free. Non-utility goods carry a whopping purchase tax. So the women swallowed their pride and pocketed the savings.

Police Cut Race Wires Near New Mexico

EL PASO, Tex., May 15.—(AP).—A sheriff's officer scaled a pole at the New Mexico border Saturday night and cut Western Union wires, severing an Anapra, N.M., race news service.

Sheriff Joe Campbell said the action disrupted race service to the west coast and Mexico.

Campbell said he hopes the action taken here will set a precedent throughout the United States. "If the wire-service and news-dissemination part of horse race betting can be stopped," he said, "I'm sure organized gambling in the country can be curtailed."

The wires were cut after County Crown Attorney Ernets Guinn decided the act would not violate state or federal laws.

MINEOLA, NY, May 15 (AP). —A 56-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Clara F. Smith, Sunday left Mother's Day flowers from a cell in her living-room, and went to jail for 30 days. The charge was leaving two boys and their motor scooter lying in a gutter after she had struck them down with her car.

Farmers Oppose Change In Market Site

Objection to the proposed recommendation that the market be moved to the drill hall in the Exhibition grounds was voiced on the Saturday morning market.

More than half of the farmers were against the change while hucksters were unanimously against the recommendation.

Wednesday at the Board of Health meeting Dr. Harold Worton, food and dairy inspector, recommended that it be moved to the drill hall in Morrow Park. The possibility of obtaining the drill hall will be discussed with the Exhibition Board. The Board of Health would like to see the market operating at the new location by July 1.

Too Far South

The main argument against the new market site was that it was too far south. An area nearer the centre of the city was preferred.

The George St.-Rink St. property was suggested by the hucksters as a possible site. They maintain that two buildings of light structure could easily be built to house all the farmers on the market. The buildings, they added, could be built in such a way that cars and trucks could back into the stalls.

Several weeks behind last year the hothouse plants began to appear in greater quantities Saturday. Cabbage, cauliflower and tomato plants were all 30c a box while some onions were selling at 35c. All boxes of flowers were also 30c. They included pansies, asters, snapdragons, petunias and marigolds. A few large geraniums were offered at 75c a pot while the smaller variety were 35c and 50c each.

Maple syrup was selling fairly quickly at $4 a gallon or $1.25 a quart. Pints were 65c each. Maple sugar was slow at 10c a cake.

Strawberry plants were offered at $2 for 100 plants and raspberry canes were $6 a 100.

Two Cars Collide At Aylmer-Brock Sts.

Two cars collided Saturday as one driven by Clifford Emberson, 184 Dalhousie St., was making a right turn from Aylmer St. to go east on Brock St.

Emberson said the other car, driven by Harry Sharlow, York, Otn., was parked and pulled out from the east curb of Aylmer St.

Sharlow told Traffic Officer Claire McGillen he had not been parked, but was driving very slowly north on Aylmer St. Both cars suffered some damage.

FAMILY PRAYER is an easy and sure road to peace, thousands of men, women and children who gathered in Exhibition Grounds Sunday were told by Rev. Patrick Peyton, CSC, founder and director of a worldwide crusade for a return to family prayer in all homes. The rally was the first of some fifteen that will be held in key Ontario cities during the next two weeks.

8,500 Attend Opening Of Family Prayer Crusade At Great Religious Assembly Held In Morrow Park

The grandstand at the Exhibition Park was packed Sunday afternoon for the opening of the Family Prayer crusade in the southern deanery of the Roman Catholic diocese of Peterborough.

Just as many other people stood on the grass across the race track. Some others remained in automobiles. An estimate of that reverent company was at least 8,500. It was one of the largest religious assemblies ever witnessed in Peterborough, and its purpose was to restore daily prayer to its former place in family life.

Parishes from all parts of the four counties of Durham, Victoria, Northumberland and Peterborough, from Grafton to Kinmount, Bobcaygeon and Lindsay in one direction and from Bowmanville to Havelock were represented. Two weeks hence families will be asked to promise adoption of group prayer at least once a day.

In 25 Dioceses

The special prayer of the crusade is accepted in 25 dioceses the first of [illegible] two years [illegible] 90,000 families.

Rev. Patrick [illegible] University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana, was the visiting speaker at this rally. He was introduced by Bishop Gerald Berry. Father Peyton said that during a protracted illness of tuberculosis he felt inspired to undertake this endeavour if he recovered. Eventually, he regained his health, obtained the permission of his superiors, and the Family Rosary Crusade has been widely adopted in the United States and Canada.

Ernest C. Wolff, chairman of the simple program, said it was a most happy circumstance that The rally was taking place on Mother's Day, "as a tribute to our God-given spiritual mother."

God's Own Weapon

Bishop Berry said that with the failure of human efforts to bring peace to the world after the Second World War, Christian people had to use God's own weapon, prayer. Enemies of God were directing a cold war of violence, strife and hatred.

The Famiy Rosary crusade was providential, and its appeal to the hearts of the people was indicated by the great gathering of people from the towns and farms of the four counties. God had raised up Father Peyton to undertake it, that people should be inspired by deeper sense of their duty to God, to their families and to their neighbors. They should also ask God's blessing even upon those who were obstructing peace, that they might see the light and truth.

The Blessed Virgin was once a girl who walked this earth. Father Peyton suggested as one of the greatest unknowns of infamy in the Christian era was the man who said he had no room in his inn for Joseph and Mary on the eve of the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem.

Father Peyton recalled his own childhood in his father's house of family prayer, and his faith in the intercession of Mary, as [illegible] little kingdom for God.

Family worship even for only ten minutes a day would bring the group closer together in spirit with God, and in the peace and happiness that only the love of God could secure to the human [illegible] duty to direct and gov[illegible]

Former Constable Protests Being Given Parking Ticket

His experience as a city policeman didn't save former constable Vern O'Donoghue from a $2 fine in police court today for illegal parking on May 2.

He was charged under Section 10 of the traffic bylaw which forbids vehicles to park on, or obstruct a cross walk.

Constable Gordon Trennum said he gave O'Donaghue a ticket because he was angle-parked partly across the crosswalk at the southeast corner of Simcoe and Water Sts., opposite the police station.

O'Donaghue said he had driven around the block looking for a parking place. He said he could have double-parked his truck while he went into a store to pick up a package, but considered he was less of a traffic hazard by pulling in at the corner.

He said Traffic Officer Trennum was a greater obstruction to traffic when he double-parked to give him a ticket. He also argued that courts have consideration to commercial vehicles double-parking to pick up or deliver. He said the same consideration should be given to him because he had gone to great lengths to avoid tying up traffic.

"I quite agree that you were much less of a traffic hazard parked as you were rather than double-parked, but the by-law does not take that into consideration," commented Magistrate W. R. Philp KC.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said a commercial driver had no right to double park any more than he had a right to park on a cross walk. But after this, he said, the city solicitor can prosecute his own cases, and defend his own bylaws."

Appeal Is Made To Red Cross

The Peterborough Branch Canadian Red Cross Society has received a telegram from Red Cross Headquarters, urgently requesting the following supplies for Winnipeg:

1. Flash lights with bulbs and batteries.
2. New heavy work socks.
3. New work gloves.
4. New rubberized or plasticized gloves.
5. New or used hip length waders.

Any individual or organization wishing to contribute any of these articles may leave them at the local Red Cross rooms, corner of Brock and George Sts. (upstairs) between 9.30 a.m. and 9.00 p.m. beginning Monday.

Since this is an emergency call the Peterborough Branch is anxious to ship these supplies as quickly as possible. One shipment will leave Peterborough early Tuesday morning for Malton Airport to be sent by air to Winnipeg.

Bancroft Branch of the Red Cross received the same urgent request on Saturday and they went right to work and have three boxes now in Peterborough ready to ship to Toronto.

Two Theatres Filled For Crusade Film

For more than an hour Sunday evening the theatre section of George St. was crowded with people waiting to see the film being shown at the Paramount theatre as part of the Roman Catholic Family Prayer crusade program staged in the city on Sunday. When the Paramount theatre was filled, the Capitol was opened and the crowds soon filled the second theatre.

CARS COLLIDE

Two cars, both travelling west on Charlotte St., collided when the first, driven by Percy E. Moore, 314 Frererick Ave., turned left to go into a laneway between Margaret Ave. and Frederick Ave. Saturday. Milton Hobden, 775 New Romaine St., driver of the second car, had started to pass and swerved in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the collision. Both cars were damaged. Constable Andre Dalton investigated.

Examiner Opens Fund To Aid WinnipegPeople

The Rotary Club at noon today voted $1,000 for flood relief in southern Manitoba and fire victims in Rimouski.

At the same time it was announced that the Examiner has agreed to accept any cheques or money donations for the newly-organized Manitoba Flood Relief Fund and also for the Rimouski Fire Fund.

A national disaster is the way most Canadians sum up the flooding in the Red River valley and it was felt that residents of Peterborough and district would want to lend a helping hand.

Early today Mayor M. J. Swanston sent a telegram to the Hon. R. S. McWilliams, lieutenant governor of Manitoba and former mayor of Peterborough, pledging the assistance of local residents.

Past president Ian McRae and E. L. Sackville made the $1,000 motion at the Rotary luncheon today. It passed unanimously. The Examiner has opened the fund with $100 donation.

The telegram to the Lieutenant-Governor reads:

"On behalf of the citizens of Peterborough I pledge you and the people of Winnipeg every assistance in this grave emergency. A special fund is being opened in the name of the city of Peterborough by the Examiner." (Signed) Maxwell J. Swanston, Mayor.

If you wish to make a donation address your envelopes as follows:

"Manitoba Flood Relief Fund,
Care of the Examiner,
Peterborough."

Cheques must be made out to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

Money given in this way will be deductible from income tax, and official receipts will be forwarded to the donor by the treasurer of the fund in Winnipeg.

The flooding in the Red river valley is the worst in Canadian history. Already some 60,000 people—many of them women, children and the aged and infirm — have had to leave their homes. Most of the 350,000 [illegible]

MICHAEL SADLER, director and producer of the Peterborough Summer Theatre which is to have its second season beginning the last week of June.

Summer Theatre To Open Season June 26

Michael Sadlier has returned to Peterborough to complete final arrangements for the second season of the Summer Theatre. Plays, actors and dates have already been selected, Mr. Sadlier says, and the advance sale of season subscription tickets will open Wednesday. The plays will be presented as last year in the Queen Mary auditorium, except the first week when the company will play on the Collegiate stage.

The season of plays is scheduled to begin Monday, June 26.

The first production will be "Harvey," with Bill Needles playing the famous Elwood P. Dowd role. This is the comedy that won the Pulitzer Prize, and kept New Yorkers laughing for five years. Mr. Elwood P. Dowd is the gentleman who always takes his six foot white rabbit with him when he goes promenading.

Other plays on the summer [illegible] new play, specially written for Peterborough's centennial, will be staged in mid-summer, in the fifth week of the season. Each play runs a full week, with curtain time at 8.30, Monday through Saturday.

Actors Return

Many of last season's favorites will be back on the scene: Frank Perry, John Primm, Bill Ueedles, Gerry Sarracini, Anna Cameron and Pat Atkinson will need no introduction to the audience. Kate Reid and Barbara Hamilton played in Peterborough during the winter with "Arsenic and Old Lace," and Charmion King, Clarine Jackman, Amelia Hall, Don Glenn, Chris Plummer, Richard Neilson, Bill Hutt, and Henry Kaplan will be new additions to the Summer Theatre.

An interesting sidelight on Richard Neilson, one of the new members of the company, was the ban last month on the English movie, "No Orchids for Miss Blandish" in the United States because of his portrayal of an American gangster.

Aid To Britain From UEFB Draws To Close

The local branch of the United Emergency Fund for Britain has received word from the Ontario headquarters that the fund will very shortly come to a close. Operations have ceased in the women's division, which was largely responsible for the collection of foods and clothing.

While conditions in many ways have improved, there still exists a need in some cases, but it is felt that these largely can be taken care of by those who are sending parcels privately. Another factor was the withdrawal by the British government of the arrangement by which they paid shipping charges from Canadian seaboard.

Since the local branch was organized, the sum of $4,730.89 has been contributed in this city and district, of which $4,616.25 has been transmitted to headquarters in Toronto, and the balance on hand of $114.64 goes forward this week.

Thus, the second efforts of a similar type to aid the British people, conducted by Fred G. Mann, since the early days of the war comes to an end, and in all it has meant that $102,415.22 made up of the aforementioned amount, and $97,684.33 through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund was raised. There was also $5,704.48 raised for the Ontario Flood Relief campaign.

The happy feature of all three of these efforts was that not one cent of it was used for expenses, so that the amounts donated in their entirety were used for the purpose they were given.

Mr. Mann and others responsible for the management of these various efforts, takes this opportunity of expressing their sincere appreciation and thanks for the support that was given their leadership in efforts that they believe were all of a very worthwhile nature.

The party had a picnic at the Shield farm before returning.

AWNING BURNS

Firecracker-throwing boys set fire to the awning of Richard Hall Ltd. Sunday night. A hole the size of a hat was burned in the awning before the flame was put out. The young boys had been throwing firecrackers from a car at girls walking along George St. One of the firecrackers landed on the awning, starting the blaze.

EVACUATED SAFELY

Two sisters of R. M. Houston of the Federal Business College have been evacuated safely from the Norwood district of Winnipeg, according to word received today. They are in the western part of Winnipeg. Mr. Houston has sent word through the Canadian Red Cross that when further evacuation takes place his sisters are to come to Peterborough.

PRESENTED WITH BOUQUET

The Young People's Union of Mark St. United Church paid special honors to Mrs. Henry Goodwin at the Mother's Day service Sunday morning. Mrs. Goodwin, the oldest mother of the congregation, was presented with a bouquet of roses by Joyce Trotter, on behalf of the Young People. Ten children were baptized by the minister, the Rev. B. S. Morwood and the mothers of the children each received a rose from the minister.

RUNAWAY HORSE

A runaway horse caused some excitement on George St. this morning before it was caught by a truck driver who with others ran into the middle of the street and grabbed the flying reins. The horse was being broken in to draw a milk wagon for Silverwoods Dairy. It became excited and bolted leaving the driver stranded on the pavement. It ran several blocks before being halted.

Weather Men Now Agree Earth Getting Warmer

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP) You're right, old-timer. The weather men now agree.

If the world's temperature keeps rising at its present rate, many things will happen, mostly bad.

For instance, glaciers are melting, making the ocean rise. If the polar ice caps start melting more rapidly, their waters could send the seas so high that places such as Coney Island or Washington would disappear unless somebody built gigantic dikes.

One scientist has estimated that if only the ice in Greenland melted—which isn't likely for several thousand years—it would cause all the oceans of the world to rise about 150 feet.

Low-level countries such as the Netherlands or cities such as Washington, would be more than 100 feet under water. Many seaports around the world would be "inundated."

There could be some good effects too. More land would appear from under the world's ice sheets, covering many millions of square miles. There would be more fish in the seas as the oceans grew larger and warmer.

Glaciers Melting

H. W. Ahlmann, Swedish authority on glaciers, has assembled information showing that most of the glaciers of the world are melting.

Scientists at the 1950 meeting of the American Meterological Society reported that the average temperature at Boston and at Washington has gone up between three and four degrees in about 100 years.

Ahlmann collected evidence showing fish moving farther north in the ocean, forests growing farther north in Alaska than at any other time of record, new land beginning to show in the Arctic regions.

Ahlmann's evidence indicates the oceans are rising at the rate of about one foot in 300 years. He also has evidence that Arctic temperatures may be up as much as four or five degrees.

Weather men can't agree on what is causing the warm-up, nor how long it may last. Many scientists believe sun spots have a great deal more to do with the earth's weather than has been discovered. Others believe that the atmosphere, or some conditions on or around the earth play a big part.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Canadian Canoe Association at its annual meeting at Kingston Saturday decided that this year's annual regatta will be held at Mooney's Bay, Ottawa, on Aug. 12. After lengthy debate a proposal to make it a two-day affair was rejected.

Ken Strouiger of Ottawa Rideau Club was elected by acclamation as new Commodore of the CCA.

The Olympic Games committee empowered to select and manage the team to participate in the 1952 races in Finland, was named.

Edgar Gilbert, one of the veteran officers of the association, relinquished his post of secretary-treasurer owing to ill-health. A new office, honorary commodore, was created and Mr. Gilbert was unanimously elected to this post.

The meeting decided that when more than nine crews are entered in the half-mile war canoe event at the annual regatta an elimination event will be staged in the morning among those crews which finished third in club competition. The winning crews will be eligible for the CCA championship final.

Toronto Marlboros received a double-barrelled welcome Saturday when they returned from the west after winning the Allan Cup. A last-minute switch in plans resulted in an official welcome by the city as well as the one arranged by the hockey club. The team, led by coach Joe Primeau and manager Harold Ballard, were led through Union Station by a brass band. Controller John Innes, acting in place of absent Mayor Hiram McCallum, headed the civic welcoming committee which did an about-face on original plans.

Earl (Doc) Whittall, Canada's paddling envoy to Scandinavian countries, returned to Montreal Sunday after a three-week trip to Sweden where he instructed leading paddlers in the art of blade-wielding, Canadian style. Whittall left immediately for Kingston, where the Canadian Canoe Association's annual meeting opened Saturday.

Carl Voyles, former coach of the Brooklyn Football Dodgers, arrived Saturday to take over as coach of the combined Hamilton Tigers and Wildcats for the next three years. He promptly told assembled players and candidates for the team that "no player who is just playing for his cheque is going to make the club. We don't want him."

The program for the 1952 Olympic games will be almost identical with that of the 1948 contests. The executive council of the International Olympic committee Saturday at Copenhagen refused either to enlarge or to trim drastically the program for the coming games.

Hon. Earl Lawson Dies At Home; Ill For Year

TORONTO, May 15.—Hon. J. Earl Lawson, former federal cabinet minister, barrister and motion-picture executive, died on Saturday at his home, after a year's illness. He was 58.

He was president of the J. Arthur Rank film organization, in Canada and its associated companies, including theatres. Mr. Lawson, a lawyer, was a member of the Toronto firm of Lawson, Stratton, Green and Ongley.

Mr. Lawson won a federal cabinet post at the age of 44 and served as minister of national revenue toward the end of the Bennett administration. He sat in the Commons from 1928 until 1939 first for York West and afterward for York South.

Mr. Lawson retired from politics after unsuccessfully standing for leadership of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Party at a convention in January, 1939. He lost out to George Drew.

Cabinet Rank

He moved up to cabinet rank after serving as national organizer, while the Conservatives, led by the late Viscount Bennett were preparing to go to the country in the fall of 1935. He held the portfolio only a few weeks, for the Conservatives were defeated, although Mr. Lawson himself held his York West seat.

Following the resignation of Paul Nathanson as president of Odeon Theatres of Canada in 1946, Mr. Lawson became president. He had not been active with the company for the past year because of illness.

For 30 years he was associated with the motion-picture industry and was president of the Canadian Picture Pioneers. His business interests were extensive and he held directorships in a number of corporations in Canada and the United States.

Eight Fatalities During Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Five traffic accidents, a double drowning and a suicide were among eight fatalities reported in Ontario during the week-end.

The double drowning occurred at Hollow Lake, a few miles east of Dorset in northern Haliburton county. A boat capsized and Geo. Coulson, 41, of Milton, and his companion identified only as a man named Arnold from Sarnia lost their lives.

Clifford Roach, 43, was killed near Gravenhurst when his car skidded off the road. Five-year-old Frank Short was killed by a truck at Kirkland Lake and A. W. Betson, 22, was fatally injured when his motorcycle struck a stone and threw him in a ditch near Oshawa. Charles P. McRobbie, 44, was electrocuted when his car hit a Hydro pole at Winchester. At Sarnia, Edward Mitchell, 58, was fatally injured by a motor car on Saturday.

The other death was that of Ernest Robinson, 48-year-old Kirkland Lake carpenter, whose body was found hanging from the rafters in a cabin at North Bay.

Step Up Propaganda

HONG KONG, May 15 (AP)—As a likely sign of things to come, the Chinese Communists have suddenly stepped up their propaganda campaign on Tibet. Several months ago the Reds announced that a small column of their army had reached the Tibet border. They have repeatedly vowed to "liberate" the region, but have mentioned no military operations.

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—A strike of 700 Pan-American World Airways flight attendants, supported by 3,000 maintenance workers, was called off Saturday 17 hours after it started.

Soldiers Climb Phone Pole As Jeep Sinks

WINNIPEG, May 15 (CP)—An amphibious jeep isn't always amphibious, five soldiers on Red river flood duty discovered on Sunday.

Their jeep sprang a leak and sank at Morley Avenue and Fisher St. Two soldiers climbed a telephone pole. Two went up a tree. One swam to a house, smashed a window, and climbed in to safety.

All were back on duty in short order.

It may be weeks before residents of deeply-flooded Winnipeg suburbs get back in their homes.

Not only will the Red drop very slowly, but the city flood-control committee has decided not to permit return of evacuees until their homes are given a clean bill of health. This is to avoid risk of contamination left by stagnant flood water.

Dr. M. S. Lougheed, city health officer, said 70,000 of the 350,000 normal population has been inoculated so far—10,000 in one hospital alone last week.

For the second Sunday, the Winnipeg Free Press and Tribune published four-page flood extras, for distribution free to all subscribers.

Last week the headlines told of growing crisis: "Marshal flood relief" (Tribune) and "$8,500 homeless in Manitoba" (Free Press).

This week the headlines told good news: "Red river rise stilled" and "Red levelling off.'" respectively.

The Rev. Lawrence Wilmot of Saint Mary Magdalene Anglican Church in St. Vital, travelled by navy launch Sunday to hold a service in the flooded community.

Mr. Wilmot is not a newcomer to emergency travel. He won the Military Cross in Europe evacuating casualties under fire.

Almost 500 hospital patients and inmates of old folks' homes, many of them stretcher cases, were evacuated from Winnipeg Friday and Saturday. Most went to hospitals in Saskatchewan in special railway cars and by plane.

EDMONTON, May 15 (CP) — Health Minister Dr. W. W. Cross Sunday night announced that 200 patients evacuated from Winnipeg hospitals will be accommodated immediately in 14 Alberta hospitals.

The 200 are expected by tonight.

Dr. Cross said an additional 200 patients are expected to arrive from Winnipeg by Tuesday night. They will be placed in emergency hospital quarters set up in campus residences at the University of Alberta.

Hospitals accommodating the first 200 patients are at Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Camrose, Vegreville, Red Deer, Wainwright, Elnora, Lamont, Rimbey, Daysland, Lacombe and Claresholm.

MONTREAL, May 15 (CP) — The national executive of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities Sunday night issued a statement suggesting that mayors of Canada organize a public subscription list in their community to which contributions may be sent in aid of the Winnipeg flood sufferers and the fire victims in Rimouski, Que., and Cabano, Que.

Peterborough CIVIC HOSPITAL

EXPLANATION OF OPENING

Many weeks ago the Prime Minister of Canada was invited by the Mayor and City Council to open the celebrations of Peterborough's centenniary year by a visit to Peterborough on a date that would be selected by him. The date chosen was May 20th, 1950.

The Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital was asked whether or not the hospital would be completed by that date. After consultation with the architects and the contractor, the Board replied that while there was doubt as to the final completion of the hospital building by the 20th of May, the construction would be advanced to a point where the Prime Minister could be invited to honor the city by declaring the hospital officially open. The Right Honourable Mr. Saint Laurent has graciously accepted the invitation to perform this city on May 20th.

After the building is declared open the public will be admitted to the first and second floors only. About the middle of June it is the expectation of the Board of Governors that there will be a public inspection of the whole building when it is hoped our citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the completed work.

TRIPLETS SAFE—The 10-month-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Aime Chenard are safe after the Rimouski fire, but for a time they caused some worry. When patients were evacuated from burning hospitals, the infants, Ginette, Huguette, and Odette, were turned over to a citizen for care. He was unaware of their identity and the father, in the confusion, lost track of his daughters. Red Cross headquarters reunited them after three days of investigation.

Canadian Soldiers Canada's Best Ambassadors

By JEAN E. STENTON

PARIS, May—Canadian soldiers were the greatest ambassadors to France that Canada will ever have. In the short time this army was crossing that country, they made more friends and did more to promote good fellowship between the peoples of our two countries than our envoys, hard working though they are, will do in many hundred years.

This is a strange thing. An army of occupation with the best of intentions can rarely be popular. There are always some objectionable features. Yet never did I hear anything but praise for our men. Their diplomacy was the diplomacy of universal kindness and humanity and perhaps the answer was given to me by a Frenchwoman in Caen.

Jean Stenton

"We were standing in Canada Square when the Canadians marched through. We saw something that moved us to the heart . . . a scene that we can never forget," she told me. "As these weary, grimey men marched along, they spoke kindly to children and smilingly dug down in their pockets, producing some tidbit of candy or gum. Many of them were going to the front to die in a few hours and they were so young. But they took time to be kind, and it had been so long since any of us had known kindness. We had almost forgotten it existed. Is it any wonder that we loved your soldiers? They taught us that the world could be a good place to live in and worth fighting to rebuild again. We shall never forget them."

This tie of friendship was one of my strongest impressions as I left France for an interesting visit to Great Britain.

Beautiful Boulevards

One of the most memorable things about Paris is its magnificent boulevards. The metamorphosis of Paris took place between 1852 and 1870 under Napoleon. Paris was "Haussmannized." Baron Haussmann tore the old huddled city apart and rebuilt it on new lines with broad arteries knotted together, where necessary, by a spacious rond-point. For example, l'Opera with a group of streets, is knotted together at the square in front of it and it is only one of the gigantic works.

This beautifying, which has made it a unique city, was not done from asthetic or humanitarian angles, but for strategic purposes. They wished to make it impossible for the mobs of Paris to entrench themselves behind barricades in the narrow, labyrinthine streets which the military could not clear. The lessons of 1830 and 1848 sank in and with the new roads, the troops could march anywhere quickly.

Parisiens have a genius for having a striking building or church at the end of everything—l'Opera at the end of the avenue de l'Opera and the Madeleine Church at the end of the rue Royale, to name only two. Most of these happy endings were planned, but some just happened.

My first view of Versailles was one of my disappointments. From the outside courtyard it is just an ugly, huge building. But when you enter the gardens and see it in its proper setting, it becomes a wonderful royal palace, with all the regal trappings and splendor that one could wish. It is a palace of pools and terraces that lead to its "Grand Canal." The vista from the top terrace of these pools is wonderful under a spring sun. The complete little village, built by Marie Antoinette in the palace grounds, is charming with its thatched roofs.

Find Good Friend

Another of my most delightful memories is of Henri Nugues, our chauffeur in Normandy. I was told he was a typical Norman with his dark, square face and rollicking temperament. The Normans are great people to laugh, and he added much to the enjoyment of our trip.

As with most people we met, Mr. Nugues remained in Caen during the battle. He lived in a house on the corner opposite the Town Hall and was in his cellar during the bombing of June 6-7. The house was so badly damaged that it was later pulled down.

This Norman was good for all of us, his knowledge of the area and his humorous remembrances lightening many tragic memories. He was one of the few French people I had no difficulty in understanding and we carried on some interesting conversations about the battles fought at Caen and the surrounding villages.

"Village Of The Radio"

In the last part of 1948, an unknown French radio script writer developed an idea that took France by storm . . . a plan for rebuilding some French village destroyed by the war. It started in a small way and swept the country far beyond its sponsor's wildest dreams.

He suggested that if everyone sent in one or two of the old, dirty torn bills in circulation then (of small value such as 5 and 10 francs) it would help rebuild some shattered place. The post office couldn't take the money in letters, but special arrangements were made to forward notes with the words "For the Village of the Radio" on them. The Bank of France agreed to honor them and the plan was under way and it is not yet finished.

A vote was taken to determine the village and the spot having the most votes was to be built first. This turned out to be Epron, in Calvados, Normandy, the same area as Caen.

Sights across France which delighted me were: the men wearing their jaunty berets; the cheap and quick rides on the metro; the houses with their casement windows from ceiling to floor and the graceful iron balconies; the enticing sidewalk cafes; the smartly dressed policemen; the cosmopolitan atmosphere at Le Bourget airfield with planes leaving for Cairo, Lisbon, Amsterdam, Brussels, Geneva and London; and the gay atmosphere everywhere.

Take Life In Hands

Nowhere have I ever encountered, nor expect to encounter again, traffic quite like that in Paris. The vehicles are a menace to humanity. The cars dart like mad and the worst are the cyclists, who ride like maniacs, straight at whatever pedestrian is unfortunate enough to set foot off the sidewalk. With bells clanging furiously, they charge with the ferocity of a mad bull and I had several near misses.

One of the people who did a great deal to make my trip such a success was Mr. Jules Mone, 5717 Notre Dame de Grace Avenue, Montreal. He is the Canadian representative of the French National Railroads and prior to assuming that job, was 20 years with the Canadian Pacific Railway. He arranged my railway tickets and hotel reservations in Tours, and I am forever indebted to him for a letter of introduction to his friend, Mr. Laurent Treynet.

Besides this, his office furnished me with a great deal of tourist literature, many books of which will make an excellent addition to my library. The books put out by the French government on chateaux and cathedrals in France are expensively and attractively published. They cannot be bought. They are much more elaborate than the Canadian and United States travel publicity. He was exceedingly helpful and has the advantage of knowing France thoroughly.

It was with anticipation, but the greatest regret, that I climed aboard my BEA plane at le Bourget, bound for London. France has been like a second home and the people were wonderfully kind in whatever section of the country I happened to be. Their hospitality was unlimited. I will always have a warm feeling in my heart for these people and their beautiful country.

Bond Machinery In High Gear Across Country

OTTAWA, May 15 — (CP) — Bond-selling machinery went into high gear across the country today to start the ball rolling on the biggest refunding operation undertaken in federal history.

Some 3500 investment dealers and their 8,200 agents and some 3,600 branches of Canada's banks will take orders on $745,000,000 worth of new government bonds to finance repayment of two federal loans.

Finance Minister Abbott announced the new offerings, to be made available either in the long or short-term variety at rates of interest which are just slightly below those offered by the government in previous years.

The long-term bonds will run for 18 years, bearing an interest rate of 2¾ per cent and maturing June 15, 1968. They are being offered at 99.50 per cent to yield about 2.79 per cent to maturity. The government can call these in for retirement any time after June 15, 1967.

Short-term Bonds

The short-term bonds, non-callable, will run for 4½ years, bearing an interest rate of two per cent. They are being priced at 99.80 per cent to yield about 2.05 per cent.

Every one will be able to place orders for the bonds, to be available in a variety of denominations, of $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $100,000. The two-per-cent bonds will be issued in similar denominations with the exception of the $500 category.

Entire proceeds of the new loan, said Mr. Abbott, will be used to refund the three-per-cent 1935 bonds, amounting to $95,000,000. They will be redeemed June 1. The government also will redeem $650,000,000 worth of three-per-cent first Victory Loan bonds, called for payment June 15.

Baptize Grandson After Dedication Of Memorial Font

NORWOOD, May 15 (ENS)—Dedication of a baptismal font placed in the Norwood Presbyterian Church in memory of the late John Ewing Roxburgh of Norwood took place Sunday afternoon, and his grandson, John Roxburgh, eight weeks old, became the first to be baptized from it.

The font and the inscription it bears were chosen June 5, 1949, by his wife, Laetitia Meharry Roxburgh, who died a month later. Unveiling and dedication of the gift were performed by the daughters, Mrs. T. B. Murdoch, (Jean) and Mrs. J. H. Somerville (Mary), both of Toronto.

The Rev. R. D. Duncanson accepted the font for the church and then administered the sacrament of baptism to three children.

During a children's Mother's Day service preceding the dedication, Mr. Duncanson spoke on infant baptism. He stressed the sacred duty of parents to "see the children become citizens of the Kingdom of Heaven and receive instruction in the Christian faith."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

'Some people are hard to convince," writes a Jacksonville correspondent. "They won't believe even when they can see it in black and white.

"Last night we had three red treys down on the table, and the opponents were pretty desperate. If we got he last red three, the bonus of 800 points would put us over the 5000-point mark. So they were drawing from the stock at every turn, trying to get that last three.

"When we saw that they were doing, we didn't bother to make safe discards. Finally, I made a discard that the next player could obviously take, since it matched one of her melds.

"That player thought quite a bit and then drew the top card of the stock. Luckily for her, it was the last red three. She put it down on the table, and then the fun began.

"She tried to take the discard pile. We said she couldn't do it. She said she was entitled to another draw, and she wanted to draw the discard pile. We said she couldn't swap horses in midstream. She said horses had nothing to do with it. Pigs might, but horses never. Somebody mentioned cats, and it took an hour and a box of candy to restore order.

"The funny party of it is that I showed her where you covered exactly this point on page 139 of your book, but she wouldn't believe it. She said she'd believe it if she saw it in her own newspaper that she bought with her own money.

"Will you cover this point soon?".

Glad to oblige. My correspondent is right, of course, but I'm sorry the argument got so hot and heavy. Canasta is much more fun when it's taken good-naturedly.

The rule on replacing red threes covers two compelely different situations. In one case you have a red three as part of your original hand. In the other case, you get a red three later on.

When you are dealt a red three, you must put it down on the table before beginning your first play. You then replace it by drawing from the stock. This is not considered a play—but just a sort of preliminary. In this situation, if you replace the red three, you may then make up your mind about your first play. And you may make your first play either from the stock or from the discard pile.

That is true even if you happen to draw another red three as your replacement. You put that down on the table also and draw still another card. That is still considerd a preliminary play, and you may still take the discard pile as your first regular play.

After you have made your first regular play, the case is quite different. Then if you draw a red three from the stock, you must replace it from the stock. You cannot switch to drawing from the discard pile.

Q—I had one card in my hand, and the player ahead of me took the discard pile. He then threw a card that I could meld. Was I allowed to take that card and meld out?

A—No. A player who has only one card is not allowed to take a one-card discard pile. The only exception to this rule occurs when the entire stock pile (undealt cards) has been drawn. In this exceptional case you are forced to take the card and meld out.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 26 years old and desperately unhappy over the fact that I am not married. I am a graduate of a boarding school, a finishing school, and am now holding a very good business position. I am not unattractive, yet I have had only two pretty impossible proposals of marriage, and a few men, already married, who have been attracted by me. I enjoy my work fairly well, but I know I would find real happiness in my own home with a man whom I could trust and like reasonably well (if not love him).

Dorothy Dix

ANN.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: It seems to be that you are unduly pessimistic about your matrimonial prospects, and that you might reasonably give yourself more time before you get into a panic about not being married. After all, 26 is still young in these days when people marry later in life than they did in our grandmother's day, and no doubt if you will just continue watchful waiting Mr. Right will come along before long.

May Pick Wrong Man

Your danger is not so much in not getting married at all as it is in marrying the wrong man and spending the balance of your life in regretting it. Plenty of women wreck their lives by making that mistake. They see their girl friends getting married and setting up homes and having babies, and they are seized with an unreasoning terror about being passed over and becoming old maids, and while they are in this blue funk they will jump at the first man who pops the question to them and marry him, no matter how unsuitable he is.

I wish that I could give you some sure method of getting a husband, since you are so determined to have one. Perhaps the best advice that I can offer is the rule of the Canadian Mounted Police, who always get their man, and that is: ever give up the pursuit. Fix on your man and track him down. Of course, men like to think they are the pursuers and women the pursued, but the woman who is determined to marry a man nearly always gets him.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a man 31 years of age. Single. For the last fifteen years my entire salary has gone for the support of the home. So has that of my sister, who has worked for the past twelve years. We have done this although until lately our father has not only earned good money but has had several legacies, but he has been such a poor manager that he could never pay the bills. Like all human beings, my sister and I have our ambitions in life. We would like to become somebody and do the things that would make us feel that life is worth while, but what can we do under the circumstances? L.W.D

ANSWER: There is no problem more heart-breaking or more insoluble than that of children with improvident parents. Of course, in many cases this could not have been prevented. The parents' earnings were so small that after they took care of their children there was nothing that they could put aside to provide for their old age. But in many, many other cases, as is this one for instance, it is sheer selfishness on the parents' part. They wanted to eat and drink and be merry and to leave their children to pay the score. They indulged themselves in whatever they wanted as they went along and depending upon their children's supporting them when they were too old to work.

It is hard. No one can deny that, but what can they do about it? They cannot let their parents starve: neither their love nor their sense of duty would let them do that. And the only suggestion one can make is a half remedy, that they should try to salvage a little of their own lives by trying to cut down on their parents' unreasonable demands and by making all the other children do their part.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a girl of uncertain disposition, have found her to be insincere, selfish and unappreciative, but she says she loves me. Question: Can a girl of that kind love any man as he wants to be loved? Will she play fair?

COLD FEET.

ANSWER: Not without reason have you acquired cold feet in contemplating matrimony with that type of of girl. She will surely give any man chilblains, who marries her and you will do well to take to the tall timber while the going is still good.

An insincere woman is never to be trusted, and a man's whole happiness depends upon his being able to have perfect faith in his wife. A selfish woman never loves any one but herself. She is incapable of it and the only use she ever has for a husband is as a bill-payer and a dancing partner. The girl who is unappreciative makes the kind of wife who takes all that her husband gives without a word of thanks and berates him because it isn't more.

Substitutes Water For Egg Cake Is Hit With Family

By MARY MOORE

Doris, that's my non-cooking sister, has made a new cake.

What is more she had the courage to change one of those tricky chiffon cake recipes.

There are countless times when I have changed recipes—especially accidently, when both children have been talking to met at once—and have had good but surprising results—and then have put the recipe in the paper with a see-what-new-recipe-Mary - has-cooked-up-for-you-today attitude.

But she did hers deliberately. She substituted 1 tablespoon of water for an egg white. She blithely used what she calls single-action baking powder for double action, adding a mere ½ teaspoon to make up for that word "double."

She flirted around with other details, and the result was so memorable that the recipe is now in my permanent files. And in a moment you will have a chance to add it to yours.

Doris' Chiffon Cake

One and one-half cups sifted any kind flour, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons single action baking powder (as you see I am quoting), ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup corn oil, 3-8 cup water, 2 egg yolks, ½ teaspoon each of vanilla and lemon flavoring, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, 3 egg whites plus 1 tablespoon cold water. Mix and sift first four ingrediants. Make a well in them and add the corn oil, water, egg yolks and flavoring (that is the 3-8 cup water). Beat until smooth. Add the cream of tartar to the egg whites and the 1 tablespoon water and beat until egg whites form very stiff peaks. Gently fold first mixture into egg whites until well blended. Fold—do not stir. Turn this batter into ungreased tube pan. Bake in oven of 360 deg. Fahr. about 35 minutes or until cake springs back when touched lightly with tip of finger. (Isn't she precise and dainty sounding?) Immediately turn pan upside down, letting hang until cold. (This isn't in the recipe but verbally she told me she had never heard of hanging up a cake and the only equipment she could find to do it on was a milk bottle! I presume she stuck the tube part of the tube pan in the top of the bottle. Some people will go to tremendous lengths to follow instructions—but you know I think she has discovered something.) The recipe ends feebly with the remark that if you want to remove the cake from the pan loose with spatula.

Now to give this masterpiece its crowning glory you spread all over

Elsie's Fluffy Frosting

(Elsie is a friend of hers in her office.)

(I quote) "Put 1 good tablespoon butter in a saucepan and add 2 squares chocolate (melted). Cool. (I imagine she stirred it some before cooling.) Put 1 heaping cup icing sugar into pan. Break 1 egg on sugar, add ¼ cup milk, stir with spoon to mix. Now beat with rotary beater until it is fluffy like the title says—this may take years! Amen."

Now you are on your own—apparently she knew how to follow these instructions for the cake she brought to my house was perfect—the best cake I can remember—and in my many years I've tasted plenty of them.

What's Right

You are arranging for a group of young couples and go out to dinner together, and expect each couple to pay for their own dinner and whatever entertainment follows.

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I have just read your column referring to cloudiness in dill pickles. I'm going to file this away as I have the same trouble. I was wanting to find out what caused cloudiness and the white sediment in sweet pickles? We all like pickles but I have such discouraging results that I gave up. What kind of vinegar do you recommend. I shall watch for a reply. Mrs. M. C.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: The chief chemist at a large pickle factory told me to tell you that they use spirit vinegar on dill pickles. It causes the least trouble. If you have other pickle difficulties please write to me. I do not profess to be a pickle expert, but there are a few favourites and a few routines that I use every year that I find successful, and anything I have worked on I shall be glad to share.

◇ ◇ ◇

QUESTION: This my first attempt at writing to your column, so hope I have sent this to the right address.

I read all of your cooking advice and we have enjoyed a good many of your delicious dishes.

I was wondering if you have a recipe for Dutch Apple Pie. My mother used to make it. She would chop the apples and add milk but that is a far as I can remember. Would you please print it in your column one day if you can.

Please send me your calorie chart. Mrs. C. W. T.

ANSWER: I have sent you the calorie chart by mail.

On first reading your letter I thought you meant Dutch Apple Cake (Apfel Kutchen), but realized there is a Dutch Apple Pie too and am reasonably sure the following is the recipe. It certainly is a delicious pie and the Moore family is going to have one this week, thanks to your reminder.

Dutch Apple Pie

Quarter and dice tart apples. Line a pie tin with a good crust, sprinkle with flour and place apples in crust to nearly fill it. Mix 1 beaten egg with 1 tablespoon flour, pinch of salt, dash of nutmeg and about ½ cup whole milk or cream. Sprinkle over from 1-2 to 2-3 cup sugar and sprinkle again with a little nutmeg. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until custard is set and apples are tender. This method may be used with cherries or plums or peaches instead of apples. It is a delicious pie and not quite so filling as a 2-crust apple pie.

If this is not the pie you want, write to me again and describe it in a little more detail.

◇ ◇ ◇

QUESTION: I would be especially pleased if you would kindly let me know through the paper, the different vitamins contained in foods, and whether it is A or B etc., and if you would kindly let me know what each vitamin is good for and what it helps in the system. Mrs. Margaret C.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I am glad to answer this question which requires a detailed answer and quite a space, so will be glad if interested readers will clip this chart on vitamins.

Vitamin A:

To be found in high quantities in apricots, beef liver, broccoli, chard, dandelion greens, escarole, kale, parsley (it is found in greater quantities in parsley than in any other known vegetable), hubbard squash, winter squash, turnip greens. (You will see by this list that it is mainly found in green colored vegetables.)

Vitamin B:

To be found in large quantities in bacon, beef brains, beet greens, Brazil nuts, whole wheat bread, chard, chicken, endive, hazelnuts, ice cream, dried milk, parsley, peanuts, peanut butter, pork chops, pork sausage, wheat bran, whole wheat, fish yeast.

Vitamin C:

High quantities are found in asparagus, green lima beans, beef liver, beet greens and Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, clams, currants, grapefruit, guavas, horseradish, kohlrabi, lemons, limes, loganberries, mangoes, cantaloupe, muskmelon, mustard greens, parsley (notice that parsley has high quantities of all these first three vitamins, which means we should not only garnish our foods with it but eat it whenever we get a chance), parsnips, green peas, grean peppers, rutabagas (turnips), spinach, strawberries, tomatoes, turnips greens and watercress.

Vitamin D:

This is a scarce vitamin and is not found very freely. The foods containing it should be eaten regularly: beef or calves' liver, butter, cheddar cheese, chicken, crabs, sweet and sour cream, egg yolk (high), whole egg, halibut, herring, ice cream, lobsters, sardines, shrimp, tuna fish.

Vitamin G:

Almonds, beef liver, Brazil nuts, dried cocoanuts, sweet and sour cream, dandelion greens, egg plant, endive, hazel nuts, hickory nuts, ice cream, dried milk, mushrooms, oysters, dried prunes, peanuts, English walnuts, fresh yeast, lemons.

Uses of Vitamins

The presence of vitamins in our daily diets is essential for normal health and growth. Fat soluble Vitamin A, water soluble Vitamin B and Vitamin G afford protection against certain diseases and promote growth. Vitamin C prevents scurvy and is essential for normal tooth structure. Vitamin D controls assimilation of phosphorous and calcium and is believed to assist in the prevention of rickets; it is produced in the human body by ulra-violet radiation, that is why it is called the Sunshine Vitamin.

Vitamin E is a special vitamin found in isolated foods, but necessary for normal reproduction. To be found in rather large quantities in wheat germ and germ oil, soy oil, peanut oil, cottonseed oil.

If these vitamin facts are not sufficient for your needs, please write to me again. Then I will print more details in instalments on each vitamin.

WRONG: Say, "I don't believe you've met Mr. Smith."

RIGHT: Say: "I want you to know my husband." Socially a woman never refers to her husband as "Mister". She either uses his first name or refers to him as "my husband."

Peterborough last week saw its first two flood refugees arrive—two little girls. Their parents were remaining behind to fight the battle of the dikes.

Following is the telegram of appeal sent to Canadian daily newspapers by Cecil Lamont, organizer of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund:

"The Manitoba Flood Relief Fund has been organized under the honorary chairmanship of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba Hon. R. F. McWilliams, with H. W. Mannin, managing director of the Great West Life Assurance Company, as chairman, and a committee of distinguished citizens of Manitoba with myself as honorary organizer of the fund for the relief of flood sufferers of Manitoba.

"In view of the magnitude of the disaster the committee is requesting assistance of the daily contributions to the full. We request that your paper agree to solicit and accept contributions to the full.

"We request that your paper agree to solicit and accept contributions for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. These contributions would then be forwarded to the honorary treasurer, Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, City Hall, Winnipeg.

"Official receipts would be mailed to the contributors."

"Contributions to the fund will be deductible from taxable income. It is the committee's desire to get the fund under way immediately and this is your authority for your paper to commence accepting contributions immediately."

Evacuated By Train

Today the Red Cross announced that more than 1,200 stretcher and walking cases have been evacuated from greater Winnipeg by train since the flood emergency began. There are no special cars or special Red Cross trains. Pullmans and coaches are being pressed into service to handle the daily turnover of 200 to 300 patients from flooded hospitals.

And an airlift service starts today based at Calgary. Evacuated patients will then be distributed among 14 cities and towns.

These emergency services obviously cannot be paid for in full by the flood victims. Money is needed on a national scale to alleviate their suffering.

Peterborough district residents do not have to fight the battle of the dikes; nor even perform any volunteer relief work. But they can help with money contributions.

Any amount will be appreciated by the flood-weary Manitobans, and sums over $2.00 will be acknowledged in the Examiner.

Freak Tire Accident

Sixteen-year-old Bernard Upton of Eagle Lake, is being treated in the Haliburton Red Cross outpost hospital for injuries received when the locking ring of a truck tire slipped and struck him on the head. Upton was assisting in the assembly of a truck tire at the Boice garage, Haliburton, when the accident occurred Friday night. He was not employed there.

Train Derailed No One Injured

WINGHAM, May 15 —(CP)— About 150 feet of track and ties on the Canadian National Railways Kincardine to Palmerston line were torn up just north of Wingham Station early today when a two car passenger train ran off the rails while crossing a switch leading to a branch siding.

The entire train, No. 1379 on a scheduled run from Kincardine to Palmerston, left the track, derailed were the engine and coal tender, a passenger coach and a baggage and mail car.

Three passengers and the crew escaped injury.

An auxiliary crew from Palmerston is clearing the line and repairing the track.

Cause of the mishap has not yet been definitely established. Gordon Moorehead, Palmerston engineer, said "it looked as if someone had tampered with the switch, the lock being partially open."

Drive To Aid Athletics Falls $800 Short

When all donations have been received in connection with the Catholic High School Athletic Advisory Board's campaign to raise $5,000 to promote sports and physical training at the school, it is expected the objective will not be reached, Rollie Hull, president told a meeting of the club. "We expect to receive $4,200 after some promised donations are in; beyond that it does not appear it will go any higher unless some donors, not indicated, help to raise the total. We are not going to close the campaign officially for another couple of weeks in that event."

At the meeting, it was decided to completely outfit a 24-man senior rugby team at a cost of $1,200. This is the team that will enter into competition in the Catholic Ontario league. New sweaters will be provided for the junior team.

Another matter of financing is the decision to spend up to $200 for softball equipment for the high school students in the four city parishes, comprising a four-team, inter-parochial league.

Sports which the Club will support, in addition to those mentioned are hockey, basketball and track and field. Bob McCabe was appointed chairman of the sports committee while Rollie Hull was appointed chairman of a committee to purchase equipment.

Mr. Hull, referring to the campaign, said he was well pleased with the response from donors without whose support the Club would not be able to function in an active manner. He said he was especially pleased to note that St. Peter's CYO had donated $25 to the campaign and made a second donation of $100.

The Club will have its books audited by an independent auditor at the end of each year, it was announced. Date of the next meeting is June 8 at the K of C Hall.

Following the business portion of the meeting, several Carling's Conservation Club films were shown by Doug. Delaney after which a lunch was served.

Ottawa Man New Chairman Ontario Council of Blind

J. P. St. Jean, Ottawa, was elected chairman of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Council of the Blind, at the annual conference held at the Empress Hotel, Peterborough, Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. J. S. Patterson, London, was elected vice-chairman, and other officers are: Past chairman, R. F. Jones, Windsor; directors, Miss Norma Hughes, Toronto; Miss Isabel Thomson, Kitchener; William Gomm, Toronto; Robert Berry, London; Ernest Philpott, Hamilton.

Delegates appointed to attend the national conference in Montreal in September are Mrs. Mary Patterson, Mr. St. Jean, Mr. Gomm, and Frank Simmons, of Peterborough.

The conference, which opened Friday morning, concluded late Saturday evening after two busy days.

The report of the committee on education revealed that definite steps have been taken to provide pre-school training for blind children. At present, a total of 71 children are being taught to develop right habits of dressing, eating and playing, in preparation for school life.

New buildings for The Ontario School for the Blind, at Brantford are being contemplated. It was said that of 130 recent graduates of this school, 55 have been immediately employed and a number have sought higher education at universities and other schools.

In view of the success of the white cane campaign, it was decided to make it an annual event.

The 1951 conference will be held in Kingston.

Wm. Johnston Dies

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP) — William F. Johnston, 61, one of the younger brothers in a family of sports promoters, collapsed and died Sunday night in a drug store. He was the brother of the late James J. Johnston, former Madison Square Garden matchmaker, who died in May, 1946, at the age of 70.

Find New Drug May Aid HumanInfluenza

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP)—A possible lead towards a drug treatment for the most prevalent type of human influenza and a costly disease of chickens was described today to the Society of American Bacteriologists.

A California scientist reported that a substance derived from a microbe found in hay proved capable—in laboratory experiments—of destroying viruses of human influenza "A" and of Newcastle diseases, a serious malady of chickens.

Influenza "A" is the commonest of all known 'flu' types. At present, there is no specific drug treatment for it or for any other type of 'flu.' Neither is there a drug weapon against Newcastle disease once it develops.

Dr. A. J. Salle of the University of California at Los Angeles emphasized that his experiments have been limited to trials on viruses of both diseases purposely made to grow in hatching hen's eggs.

Not Tried On Animals

There have been no experiments so far on virus-infected animals—a necessary preliminary to any thought of human application in the case of influenza.

But Dr. Salle said the work constituted a forward step in that it marked the first time that any substance had been able to destroy viruses of these types in a developing chick embryo without killing the embryo itself.

Up to now, germs of the "virus" class have proved virtually invulnerable to all drug — even the wonder drugs such as pencillin.

The substance used in the tests is called "subtilin." It is an extract of particular strain of "baccillus subtilis"—a microbe that is found in hay.

St. Andrew's United Church Observes 117th Anniversary

St. Andrew's United Church celebrated Sunday its 117th anniversary.

For 114 years the church's congregation has worshipped in the building at the top of Brock St. Previous to that the services were held in a hall near the present CNR station.

The Rev. D. H. Gallagher, associate secretary of the Board of Overseas Missions of the United Church was guest preacher. He spoke on the significance of names at the morning service.

Rev. Gallagher said that the surname often relates back to the ancestors' calling in such names as Smith, Farmer and Carpenter. He recalled one United Church minister who was called the Rev. White Beans. The Indian minister's ancestors were noted for growing white beans.

Similarly names like Peter and Simon in the Bible had some significance.

During a tour around the world, Rev. Gallagher remarked that in China the people had trouble with his name. Upon request he stated his mission to China for the church and from this they formed his Chinese name which means Conqueror for Jesus.

Rev. Gallagher selected several names used in the Bible for God such as the Almighty, Jehovah, the Shepherd and gave each name's significance. The name of most importance for God, he said, was that brought by Jesus in the Epistle of Luke, "Our Father".

The fatherhood of God, he said is the key to the understanding of Christianity. Besides helping in this way it also helps people to understand problems.

During the evening service Rev Gallagher related some of his experiences during his tour around the world to the various mission fields of the United Church. He told the congregation of the problems and conditions in India, Korea, China, Japan, Africa, and Trinidad. His task on the trip was to give counsel and inspiration to the missionaries, visit churches, schools, hospitals and universities of the church, a visible link between them and home. During the fireside following the service a question period was held.

Ronald Stewart, Canadian tenor, was the guest soloist. During the morning service he sang "How Love Are Thy Dwellings" and "O Divine Redeemer" and at the evening service "Remember Now Thy Creator" and "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked".

Firemen Plan Musical Comedy

It's A Date, a musical comedy, will be presented Wednesday and Thursday night in the Collegiate auditorium by a cast of more than 100 local amateur actors and actresses. Proceeds from the play will be given to the Social and Benefit Fund of the International Association of Fire Fighters, Local 519.

Based on a young couple who can't decide in which month they want to get married, the play has 12 scenes, one for each month, in which the advantages or disadvantages of getting married in the month are discussed.

Miss Barbara Tobin of Elgin, Illinois, is directing the show for the local firemen. Some of the local persons taking part are Miss Kay Doris, Mrs. Pansy Forbes, Ed Murphy, Del Crary, Romeo Mongraw, George Sullivan and Mrs. Eveline Foster.

In conjunction with the show a Popularity Baby contest is being conducted for babies under six years old. The winner will be announced Thursday night. Proceeds from the contest are also for the fund of the local firemen.

Oddfellows Parade To St. Paul's Church

Members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows and the Order of Rebekahs held their annual church parade on Sunday evening to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The parade was headed by the CGE pipe band.

Rev. C. G. Boyd took as his text "See How These Christians Love Each Other" and his sermon discussed the brotherhood of man. He related several Biblical incidents where brothers were affected, the final one being the story of Cain and Abel. From this he said that mankind today was divided into two brotherhoods, those of the brotherhood of Cain and those of the brotherhood of God.

All the selfishness, all the tyrrany, all the disturbere of the peace, all the troublemakers in the world today Mr. Boyd claimed belonged to the brotherhood of Cain.

George Coleman sang the solo "Arm, Arm, Ye Brave," and the choir the anthem "O Taste and See."

100 Lightermen Strike

LONDON, May 15 (Reuters) — About 100 lightermen, whose barges ferry in cargoes discharged from ships in mid-stream went on strike at the London docks today, threatening a big hold-up of sugar shipments. They are protesting against suspension of 14 men for refusing to work overtime.

4 Children Drown

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 15 (AP) — Four children were drowned Sunday night in a tragedy which struck a Mother's Day outing on the Ohio river. An outboard motor-boat overturned in the flooded Ohio river and tossed 7 young people into the water. Two were rescued and a third swam ashore.

The gears of that combine, for instance, are made of tough, long-lasting Nickel Alloy Steel because of the terrific strains they have to bear.

Think of the punishment tractor parts have to take! That's why axles, gears and other critical parts are made of Nickel Steel. It gives greater strength, longer wear.

There's a lot of Nickel in that truck —in its gears, steering knuckles, and numerous other parts.

Forty-three years of research have uncovered hundreds of uses for Nickel in the United States and other countries. Now Nickel exports bring in millions of U.S. dollars yearly. These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees in Canada and also help pay Canadian railwaymen, lumbermen, iron and steel workers and other men and women making supplies for the Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.

200 Teachers Needed For Germany

By DON DOANE

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 15.—(AP)— The number of American children in Germany is growing so fast that the United States Army has trouble finding enough school buildings and teachers to educate them.

The army must build several new school houses and recruit more than 200 new teachers in the United States before the new school term opens next fall.

When the American schools first opened in October, 1947, there were only 1,700 pupils—children of occupation soldiers or American civilians working in Germany. Today there are more than 8,000. Next year school officials expect 12,000.

Why so many children when the occupation force has been steadily reduced?

That's because most of the Americans here are of child-bearing age, and they now are raising those families they postponed during the war. More than half the pupils are in the kindergarten, first and second grades.

Lots of Volunteers

With a 1949-50 budget of $2,500,000, the system includes seven high schools, 57 grade schools and 39 kindergartens in 57 cities scattered through the American Zone of Germany and the American sector of Berlin.

The system employs about 400 American teachers. Instructors must have college degrees and at least two years experience.

But when the army sets out to recruit teachers in the United States it has plenty of volunteers. The pay is $3,800 a year plus free living quarters and a free ride to Germany and back.

Find Drinks Of Salty Water Plasma Substitute In Disasters

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP) — Drinks of salty water, seven to 12 quarts a day, are proposed as an effective new life saver in peacetime disasters or war emergencies.

Large amounts of it apparently can overcome shock as does blood or plasma, it is found in laboratory studies by Dr. Charles L. Fox Jh., physician and assistant professor of bacteriology at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University.

The salty drinks would fight shock, an often fatal collapse following burns, wounds, or haemorrhages.

In a disaster such as the Texas City explosion, the salt drinks could substitute if blood and plasma weren't available, he said. Or, if there weren't enough doctors or technicians to give blood or plasma quickly to all the victime needing it.

The salt drink is cheap, and easy to prepare, by adding two teaspoonsful of table salt or other sodium salt to a quart of water. This is about the normal saltiness of human plasma.

Nothing New

This isotonic salt solution isn't new. It is used now as one aid in overcoming shock but the new experiments suggest that larger amounts of it are needed. The key is lots of salt and water, quickly.

Shock often follows loss of blood or tissue fluids from burns or other injuries. The heart has less blood to pump. Blood pressure falls and less oxygen is delivered to the brain and other organs. A person feels weak, clammy and may become unconscious.

Whole blood, plasma (the fluid part of blood) and albumin (a protein in blood) are used to fight shock and restore blood volume. The salty water, by injection or mouth, also is used, but doctors rarely give more than two or three quarts of it a day.

Drinking seven to 12 quarts a day is a different thing, Dr. Fox explains in reports to medical journals and to the American Federation of Experimental Biologists.

In shock, experiments show, sodium is lost from the blood and from the fine network of body tissues. Potassium is released from injured tissue cells. The potassium acts like a poison, slowing down the heart and affecting other organs. Water also is lost from the blood, and floods into the injured area.

Act Quickly

The salty drinks, if enough is given, quickly restore the salt or sodium content of the blood, Dr. Fox said. More plasma and tissue fluid—which are salt and water—are formed. She salty drinks also stimulate the kidneys, so poisonous potassium is excreted.

At a new hospital, Dr. Fox and associates tried the long salt drinks on 26 people with third-degree burns, the severest kind. One died four hours after his accident, they reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The others all pulled through, after drinking large amounts of the salt solutions for three to four days. They were given smaller amounts for another or more.

College President Denounces Attack

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP).—The president of Fordham University, the Rev. Laurence J. McGinley, Saturday denounced as "slanderous and cowardly" an attack made against Louis F. Budenz by Senator Chavez (Dem.-N.M.)

Chavez accused Dudenz last Friday of using the Roman Catholic Church as a "shield and cloak" in the United States Senate's enquiry of charges of Communism in the Government.

Budenz, now assistant professor of economics at Fordham, once was managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker. He renounced Communism in 1945.

Father McGinley said the attack made by Chavez on the Senate floor brought "personal vilification of Professor Budenz to a point even lower than that reached in the columns of the Daily Worker."

Margot Fonteyn Worried Dancing Gets No Better

By SYDNEY MIRKIN

LONDON, May 15 — (AP) — Margot Fonteyn, rated the finest dancer of this generation by critics and audiences alike, is worried because she says she isn't getting any better.

She described herself in an interview as "dangerously near the age where I am standing still."

To thousands of ballet fans on both sides of the Atlantic, Fonteyn standing still is better than most dancers in motion.

Intimates say her worry about the future as a dancer is not a pose but rather a reflection of the drive and determination that made her a leading dancer at 16 and keeps her way ahead of the pack at 31.

Americans and Canadians got their first view of Margot Fonteyn last year when the Sadler's Wells company toured the United States and Canada.

Unbelievable Grace

Critics were rapturous in their praise of her almost-unbelievable grace and fluid movements

But there is no consciousness of her pre-eminent stature as a dancer in Miss Fonteyn's off-stage personality.

There in none of the temperament associated with great artists, no "high-hatting" of young members of the company.

Most dancers who dedicate themselves to ballet start in childhood, give up formal schooling in their early teens—and limit their world to ballet.

Miss Fonteyn knows there is a world outside—and has some ideas about what makes it go around.

Has Cool Humor

Small land slender, the suppleness of her figure indicates the strength that makes her leaps on stage seem unearthly. Long, dark hair, bright, flashing eyes and a quick smile give an impression of cool humor reinforced by her conversation.

She has no favorite role, finds modern and classical ballets equally interesting.

Dabbing on her make-up for a role in the new ballet "Don Quixote" and inspecting the result in her mirror, she smiled and said: "Thank goodness I don't have to do something like 'Swan Lake' where the make-up has to be perfect. Here I play the part of a slut."

Still smiling, she added puckishly:

"Don't you think sluts are more interesting?"

Joe E. Brown Taking Leave Of Harvey

By JACK QUIGG

HOLLYWOOD, May 15—(AP) Joe E. Brown is parting company with his best pal and meal ticket—Harvey, the man-sized invisible rabbit.

After 4½ years both have dates in Hollywood. The hare will cavort with James Stewart in a screen version of the play bearing his name. Brown plans a television show and is juggling movie offers.

The oven-mouthed comic and his long-eared friend will say their final goodbyes a few months hence when they return from Australia on the last lap of a marathon road show.

Joe is quitting the Mary Ellen Chase comedy, he said. "because I don't want to be thought of as a one-role actor."

There aren't many places where "Harvey" hasn't been seen. The 58-year-old funny man capered through the Elwood P. Dowd role 1,300 times before leaving for the Antipodes. He played many of the major United States and Canadian cities and took the play to London.

Enjoys It

Why has Brown, one of the top money-making film stars of the 1930s, stuch with a play so long?

"I like it. I have a clean taste in my mouth when the audience leaves the theatre." He added that as Dowd he comes closest to playing himself. "Like Elwood, I always have a wonderful time wherever I am."

Joe has a reputation as a "clean" comedian. He recalled he almost turned down "Harvey" because Dowd is a drinking man. But he got around it, like this:

"I've a theory that it doesn't look nearly as bad if you don't actually hoist a glass to your lips. There is only one scene with liquor—when Dowd takes a bottle from behind a book case. Frank Fay (star of 'Harvey' on Broadway) pulled it out and took a slug. I just set the bottle on a table beside me."

The actor disagrees with author Chase, who holds that Harvey should be visible in the film. "It would be ridiculous. The play's fantasy. The rabbit is in the mind." (The studio plans to film alternate endings, one showing Harvey, and let preview audiences decide).

People See It

Even though the rabbit doesn't exist, Brown says people keep saying they see it.

"The first week I was in the play a man came to the theatre manager and said: 'I have a suggestion. The play's a hit, granted. But one thing is ridiculous—the rabbit should not be on stage.'"

Does Joe see Harvey?

"Of course—figuratively. I'd be looking in the wrong place if I didn't. The Hardest part of my role was learning to focus my eyes on the spot in thin air where Harvey was supposed to be."

Proposal By France Proves Popular

PARIS, May 15. — (AP). — France's proposal to put her own coal and steel under a joint management with West Germany's has changed the political and economic picture in Europe radically—and evidently for the better.

West Germany's chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, pledged in a political speech at Dortmund Saturday night that the Germans will co-operate "with all our strength and as fast as possible." He said French and German technicians will meet soon to discuss technical details of the proposal.

It has eased the disputes between France and West Germany over the Saar coal basin. Now they can join in asking that neither Britain nor the United States get in the way of an arrangement the sponsors regard as rich with promise.

For both West Germany and France, it offers mutual aid in solving unemployment and reconstruction problems.

If the plan works as France hopes, both West Germany and France will be seeking a larger share of world markets, aided by lower prices. France hopes Britain and other countries will come into the program.

BELIEVE FLOOD CREST NEARLY REACHED

Lewis Denies Sending Secret Signal

Declines To Testify Voluntarily Before Sub-Committee

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP)—John L. Lewis today declined to testify voluntarily to a House of Representatives labor sub-committee, but denied he sent secret signals to miners during last winter's coal strike.

Chairman Andrew Jacobs (Dem. Ind.) had asked Lewis to appear before the sub-committee tonight. He made public a letter from Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, turning down his invitation.

Jacobs called the hearings to investigate charges by Lloyd Sidener, president of a United Mine Workers local at Canton, Ill., that Lewis sent secret orders to the miners to continue their strike although publicly calling on them to go back to work in compliance with a Federal Court's "stop strike" order.

"Mr. Sidener," Lewis wrote Jacobs, "is in error in his press quoted assertions that he received or indirectly any 'whistle stop' instructions from this office.

Never Authorized

"No such instructions were uttered or authorized at any time by this office to Mr. Sidener or any other of the hundreds of thousands of officers and members of the United Mine Workers of America."

Lewis, in using the term "whistle stop," was referring to the type of secret orders Sidener said the miners received. Sidener said that after Lewis publicly ordered the miners back to work the word was passed that "Lewis said the whistle blew one." Sidener said that meant no work.

Sidener led a group of Canton, Ill., coal miners and tried to return to their jobs during the strike. After the strike was over, Sidener was fined $50,000 by his United Mine Workers union local and given the privilege of paying that sum at a rate of $25 a day. This is more than his daily pay.

The House group is to hear Sidener's story at tonight's session.

New York Starts Work-Relief First Since '30s

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP). — New York City's first work-relief project since the depression days of the 1930s is expected to get under way by July 1.

City departments bid eagerly Monday for the first 5,000 able-bodied relief clients to be made available by the Welfare Department.

Some will be used to clean vacant lots, guard waterfront buildings, watch play streets and work in hospitals.

They will be paid at prevailing wage rates and are expected to work enough hours a week—up to a 40-hour maximum — to make up for the relief cheques.

The city now is assisting 350,448 persons, of whom 140,000 are on home relief. The remainder are blind, aged, or otherwise incapacitated. Of the home relief group, Welfare Commissioner Raymond M. Hilliard hopes to have 21,000 available for the work program when it gets into full swing.

Women as well as men will be selected, he said.

Hiliard said he hoped the program would have three results: To restore self-respect to many of the clients and lead them into private employment; to force out clients who already are quietly working on the side while receiving relief, and to aid the city itself.

Border-Crossing Permits For Cars Valid For Year

OTTAWA, May 16—(CP)—Government officials confirmed today that border-crossing permits for automobiles of Canadian travellers to the United States will be valid for a one-year period ending March 31, 1951. The change, second to be made since the Revenue Department introduced the controversial Form E-60 about two months ago, was announced Monday by Edgar Wackett, collector of customs at Windsor.

One official in Ottawa said Form E-60 was being retained but was being issued on a yearly instead of twice-yearly basis. No reason was given for the change.

When first introduced to go into effect March 22 the permits were to have been made out each time a traveller drove into the U.S. Special arrangements were made for commuters.

Opposition Makes Change

Following opposition to the ruling at border points, the permits were made valid for a six-month period. Now they have been extended to a yearly basis.

Opposition to the permits in their original form was based on the claim that they would cause congestion at border-crossing points because of the time taken to fill them out. The permits show the licence number of the vehicle, its serial number and lists all accessories. One copy is retained by the customs department.

Request Report On Flood Plan

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP)—The Commons External Affairs committee agreed today to call a high official of the International Joint Commission on boundary waters for a report on its powers and plans to prevent recurrence of the Red river flood disaster.

It was indicated that he will appear at the next meeting, on Thursday.

The request for his appearance came first from the parliamentary spokesman for the flooded rural area of Manitoba, who said the area must never again be left entirely without guidance as to what to expect.

Rene Jutras (L-Provencher) said his flooded constituency had relied entirely on Winnipeg for guidance about the flood danger.

"But apparently Winnipeg did not feel it was their responsibility or they didn't have the facilities . . . there was no guidance from any source."

Mr. Jutras, backed by other committee members, said members should be informed immediately what Manitoba can expect from the joint commission as a result of its study of conservation and control of the mid-western watershed area, which embraces the Red River.

The committee declined to vote a $10,000 item for the commission until the official has appeared before it.

Falling Red Threatens 14-Foot Dike

Evacuation Slowing For First Time As Situation Quiet

By NORMAN MICHIE

WINNIPEG, May 16.—(CP).—The eyes of two flood-weary, crippled cities focussed today on a precarious, 14-foot-high dike and the hundreds of empty homes it protects from the bloated Red River.

For three weeks the river, higher than since 1832, has eaten at the huge earth-and-sandbag barrier which skirts St. Boniface and its Norwood suburb, opposite the Winnipeg business district.

Other whole suburbs in the metropolitan area have been inundated by the Red. The Winnipeg business section has been threatened. Even most of St. Boniface has been evacuated as "precautionary measure."

But the Lyndale dike—pet project of contractor Rosario Brabant who nursed it from a frail ditch-lip to the strongest dike in greater Winnipeg—still held.

Sandbags around the riverside power stations and protection of the water supply were infinitely more important. Power and water failure would be the only likely cause of general evacuation of all greater Winnipeg if the now-cresting river rose unexpectedly.

"Crisis Point"

But to thousands of volunteers who have piled its sandbags, the seven-mile Lyndale dike was the main "crisis" point.

Today it was a case of watch and wait. Engineers said the dike seemed in good shape. But there was fear constant erosion had eaten away its base, threatening to topple sections outward into the river.

The army said it was unsafe to pile more weight on top. Instead, 200 civilians and 120 service men worked last night and today strengthening its back. Sixty bulldozers, nine draglines and 60 trucks moved earth and gravel to make the dike thicker. Two hundred other volunteers filled sandbags to plug any minor break.

Experts said the Red and its tributary Assiniboine and Seine would have to fall five feet at least before the Lyndale dike and others in greater Winnipeg could be called out of danger.

Holds Steady

For 30 hours up to 5:00 a.m. EDT today, the Red and its tributary Assiniboine and Seine held steady at 30.1 feet. That is 12 feet above the flood-risk level in Winnipeg district, but an encouraging one-tenth foot below the high reported Sunday.

D. M. Stephens, Deputy Minister of Resources for Manitoba, said yesterday the river's crest was passing the metropolis and that there should be a gradual drop starting at noon today if no complications occurred.

Again today, at the headquarters press conference, Mr. Stephens said the "wobbly crest" was here. The Assiniboine had dropped six inches at Portage La Prairie, Man., and gained a little more than one inch at Headingley; but it seemed to be "behaving itself nicely . . . but bears watching."

ARRAS, Northern France, May 16.—(Reuters).—A reveller returning from a bus outing thought it would "enliven the party" if he shouted "fire." It did. Two By-Elections Go To PC's, Woman Elected

TORONTO, May 16 (CP). — The Progressive Conservative Party won two Federal by-elections Monday. It retained Toronto Broadview by a wide margin, and wrested Hamilton West from the Liberals in a tight race. Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, 45-year-old Hamilton Controller, became the first woman member of the present Parliament when she won in a three-way race in Hamilton West by a plurality of 388 votes.

George Hees, 39, former Toronto Argonaut football player and now executive of a venetian blind factory, kept Toronto Broadview for his party with a victory over three other candidates, including runner-up Ruth Radford, Liberal.

Three of the seven candidates in the two by-elections — one Labor-Progressive and two CCF —lost their $200 deposits because they failed to poll half as many votes as the winner.

The results:

Toronto Broadview (155 of 160 polls): Prof. George Grube, CCF 4,763; George Hees, Progressive Conservative 10,157; Ruth Radford, Liberal 5,876; Charles Weir, Labor-Progressive 182.

Hamilton West (165 polls complete): Alfred Collingdon, CCF, 3,200; Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative 7,980; Harold Lazier, Liberal 7,592.

42 Seats Now

The results brought Progressive Conservative strength in the Commons to 42. The Liberals now have 186 members.

The standings:

Liberals 186; Progressive Conservatives 42; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independent 5; Independent Liberal 3; vacant 3; total 262.

Mrs. Fairclough, proprietor of a successful Hamilton accounting firm, had campaigned on the belief that there should be at least one woman in the Commons. The House had been without a woman member since last June 27 when Mrs. Gladys Strum, C.C.F., lost out in the Saskatchewan constituency of Qu'Appelle.

The Hamilton West by-election resulted from appointment to the Ontario Supreme Court of Hon. Colin Gibson who held the seat from 1940 to 1950. Before that the constituency had been constantly Conservative.

Kept In Fold

The victory for Mr. Hees, father of three daughters, kept Toronto Broadview in the Conservative fold where it has been since 1933. T. L. Church, whose death early this year precipitated the vote, successfully contested the seat from 1935 on.

U.S. Railway Strike Settled Worst In 4 Years, Men Ordered Back To Jobs

Carriers Claim Victory On Principal Issue Not To Hire 2nd Fireman; Union Declares It Modified Demands

CHICAGO, May 16.—(AP).—The worst railroad strike in the United States in four years was settled today and striking firemen on five major rail systems were ordered back to their jobs immediately. The affected carriers—their passenger and freight service disrupted by the six-day walkout—planned to resume normal service "as rapidly as possible."

The carriers said they won the fight on the principal issue—not to hire a second fireman on multiple-unit diesel locomotives. They said the union, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, withdrew its demands on the issue, which has been in dispute between the brotherhood and carriers for more than 10 years.

Union President David B. Robertson, in a statement, termed as "satisfactory," the settlement "of all issues involved."

The union said it did not withdraw "entirely" its request for assignment of a third man on big Diesel locomotives. A spokesman said the Brotherhood "modified" its demand.

Eliminate Differentials

The union said the agreement eliminated wage differentials which it said existed in pay of oil burning steam locomotives and straight electric locomotives. They had lower rates than those on coal burning or Diesels, the union said. The new agreement, it said, brings all rates at the same level. No figures were given.

The strike started May 10 against parts of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, the Southern Railway and Santa Fe systems. It was extended to the southwestern district of the Union Pacific Railroad last Saturday.

Although only some 18,000 locomotive firemen went on strike, the walkout disrupted much of the U. S. rail transportation and had made idle some 200,000 workers—mostly railroad employees.

The break in the strike was announced shortly after 4 a.m. EDT

The union and carriers had met continuously with Federal mediators for nine hours during the night and early morning hours.

Lawyers Ask Petain Given New Trial

PARIS May 16.—(Reuters).—Lawyers who defended 94-year-old Henri Philippe Petain, former Marshal of France, at his treason trial in 1945, today presented a petition to Justice Minister Rene Mayer asking for a retrial.

Jacques Isorni and Jean Lemaire, both leading French lawyers, called on the minister and presented the 190-page petition.

The former marshal has been imprisoned on the Ile d'Yeu, windswept Atlantic fortress, since 1945.

Isorni said one of the most important elements of new evidence in the petition would be the memoirs of retired Admiral William Leahy United States ambassador to Vichy France from 1940 to 1942.

Isorni, after a 25-minute interview with Mayer, said "we are very hopeful."

Mayer informed Isorni that "some improvements will be brought to Petain within the framework of his present condition."

These will consist mainly of a better room on the ground floor of the Ile d'Yeu fortress. His present first-floor room proved too hot for the marshal during summer.

In their plea for retrial, Ptain's lawyers said "pressure was exercised on certain witnesses by the government of the day." They complained of "gross material errors and inexactitudes in the judgment pronounced by the high court which was dominated by Communists."

Statue Stolen Borders Closed

PANAMA, Panama, May 16 — (AP)—The daring theft of the million-dollar statue of Costa Rica's patron virgin has brought the little Central American country to a virtual state of siege, travellers arriving here from San Jose reported.

They said the jewel-encrusted gold image of Our Lady of Angeles was stolen Friday night from the basilica at Cartago, 20 miles southeast of San Jose. The thieves murdered the church watchman and escaped with the two-foot tall statue, as well as with money and jewels from the church alms box.

Amid a country-wide wave of indignation, rewards totalling 4,000,000 colonies (more than $600,000) have been offered by individuals and business houses for information leading to the recovery of the statue. It is valued at 6,000,000 colones (nearly $1,000,000).

Costa Rica's frontiers have been closed and travel out of San Jose has been forbidden, except with a special pass. Police were reported making continuous raids on hotel rooms and private home. Persons were stopped in the streets and searched on the spot frequently.

Report Quadruplets Born In Missouri

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., May 16 — (AP) — Quadruplets were born Monday night to a 19-year-old mother at a hospital here. One of them—a girl—died five hours later.

Dr. Martin L. Riemann said the surviving babies were alive and well. Two boys and one girl lived.

Mrs. Dean Potter gave birth to twins less than two years ago. The twins did not survive.

The quadruplets were born between 11:05 and 11:27 o'clock and were placed in incubators immediately.

"We knew there would be twins, at least," Dr. Riemann said. "We expected triplets—and got quadruplets."

Blame Crash On Overloading

CARDIFF, Wales, May 16 (AP) —A Tudor V airliner crash in which 80 persons were killed may have been caused by flying tail-heavy, crown counsel said today.

He opened a public inquiry into the world's worst commercial air disaster of last March 12.

The Tudor V was returning on a charter flight from Dublin with 78 football fans and a crew of five. It crashed within seconds of landing at Llandow Airfield, near here.

Air ministry experts who examined the wreckage found no evidence of structural or mechanical defects before the crash, said Edmund Davies, crown counsel. The inquiry is expected to last eight days.

City Pays $1,978 For Tank Trip

OWEN SOUND, May 16 (CP)—A single eight-block trip by a reserve army 30-ton tank to an inspection parade this week created a $1,978 repair bill for damage done to city streets, Alderman Duncan McLellan told city council Monday night.

City engineer Gerald Briscoe said that three more trots by this same armored vehicle over the route from the city armouries to the fairgrounds would "completely disintegrate" the streets. Councillors voiced alarm at what would happen here next Sunday when Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, officer commanding central army command, will hold a full-scale inspection of the 45th anti-tank regiment.

Tanks and other heavy mechanized army equipment from Midland, Orillia, Barrie, Meaford and Durham are expected to parade over the route.

Council decided to request an army engineer to come from Camp Borden to inspect the damage and perhaps give tank-drivers a short course in vehicle-handling on city pavements.

Commonwealth Conference Stalemated On Aid To Asia

SYDNEY, Australia, May 16—(AP) — The British Commonwealth conference here was reported today partially stalemated on the question of aid to Asia.

Pakistan and, to a lesser degree, Ceylon, were said to be the only countries sympathetic to an Australian proposal for immediate aid by Commonwealth countries to Asian areas threatened by Communism.

Australia was reported as regarding Indonesia and Indo-China as chief danger spots. Percy Spender, Australian minister for external affairs, was quoted by informed sources as saying only immediate aid would help meet the Red threat.

Britain and most other powers represented at the conference were said to be urging a "go-slow" attitude toward immediate help to Asia.

Australia's proposal for immediate aid was reported to have drawn solid support from the leader of Pakistan's delegation Chaudhry Nazir Ahmad Khan, minister of industry.

The leader of the British delegation, Lord MacDonald, denied that his country was following a "go-slow" policy on the aid proposals.

Circles close to the conference said Britain and the countries supporting her were urging that individual Commonwealth countries reach bilateral aid arrangements with the individual Asian states.

Australia, however, was reported sponsoring a plan that all economic and other aid be on a Commonwealth basis, financed by a Commonwealth pool to which all the conference powers would subscribe.

Dies In Scotland

TROON, Scotland, May 16 (AP) —Sir Alexander Walker died here Saturday at 81. His great grandfather was Johnny Walker, for whom a brand of Scotch was named. Sir Alexander was former chairman of John Walker and Sons, the distilling firm that Johnny Walker founded.

Refuse To Recognize Princess' Marriage

CAIRO, May 16 (AP)—Egypt's Royal Council refused today to recognize the California marriage of King Farouk's sister, Princess Fathia, to a Christian commoner, a palace spokesman announced.

The council ordered an administrator to take control of the properties of both Fathia and Queen Mother Nazli.

The Queen Mother had approved the marriage of 19-year-old Fathia last month in San Francisco to 31-year-old Riad Ghali. King Farouk did not approve. The bridegroom is the Queen Mother's secretary.

The council also ordered Fathia's sister, Princess Faika, to return to Egypt immediately from the United States, the spokesman, Muhammed Zulfoukar Bey, reported.

Fisherman And Son Stranded On Island

FORT FRANCES, May 16 — (CP) — An international border commercial fisherman and his teen-age son are stranded on a small, uninhabited island near Brule Narrows on Rainy Lake, it was learned Monday.

Clarence Oveson, 41, and his 16-year-old son Duane have been on the island since Saturday when their plane broke through lake ice as they were landing.

The ice is reported too weak to hold a plane with ski.

The only way the two can get out before the ice breaks up is to make their way in a rubber liferaft across two miles of ice and water to Brule Narrows, 25 miles east of here, where a plane can pick them up.

Chiang Gives Up Chushan Islands

TAIPEH, Formosa, May 16 (AP) —Nationalist China tonight announced abandonment of the Chushan Islands.

The official announcement, coming on the heels of vows by the Nationalists to defend the islands to the death, said 150,000 troops were evacuated.

Only Monday a Nationalist general from there who insisted that he not be named, said the battle for the Chushan had not started.

The Chushans were extremely important to the Nationalists. From that base 100 miles southeast of Shanghai an effective air and naval blockade of the big Communist port had been affected.

General Ontario Frosts Fail To Materialize

TORONTO, May 16 (CP) — General frosts predicted for Ontario Monday night failed to materialize, but local frosts were experienced in some regions, the Dominion public weather office said today.

Icy blasts of Polar air swept southward over the Georgian Bay region Monday, bringing temperatures during the night down to 38 at Muskoka and 33 at Wiarton.

Fear Depression Looms If Too Much Goes On Guns

LONDON, May 16 (AP)—The risk of a possible depression if too much is spent on defence lies squarely before the foreign ministers of the 12-country Atlantic Alliance at their meeting here.

The fateful questions whose answers may mean the difference between war and peace boil down to these:

How many guns must the West muster to be confident of knocking back any Russian aggression which they fear my come?

If they build and pay for a safe number of guns, will the gun-making bring on economic misery which Communism can use to capture the Allies one at a time from within?

Committees of experts meet today to write resolutions attempting to answer both these questions safely and translate their answers into a plan of action.

Later today the foreign ministers, with State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States presiding, will take up the resolutions. Two or three sessions stretching through Wednesday probably will be needed to iron out conflicting views and to decide on a course of action.

The Atlantic Allies already have two suggested plans summarizing their dilemma.

Their generals and defence ministers, meeting last month, laid plans for large-scale rearmament which diplomatic forces say includes a total ground force of 30 divisions backed by British and American air power.

The finance ministers at the same time contended their economies could not stand such drains on manpower, materials and money.

50 Demonstrators Try To Crash Reception

SYDNEY, Australia, May 16 — (Reuters)—About 50 demonstrators, believed to be Communists today tried to crash the Lord Mayor's reception to Commonwealth conference delegates at Sydney Town Hall.

Carrying banners with the words "hands off Malaya" and shouting slogans at any delegates within range, they attempted to march into the hall. Police and town hall officials, hurriedly forming a cordon, held them back.

No arrests were made.

Police said they believed the demonstrators planned to rush Malcolm MacDonald, British Commissioner General for Southeast Asia, but mistook the British delegation leader Lord MacDonald for him and began the demonstration as Lord MacDonald arrived.

House Gives Pipe-Line Bill Final Reading

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP)—The Commons has cleared from a crowded order paper a big legislative stumbling block—western oil and gas pipe-line legislation.

Filibustered last session and in this one, two private bills to incorporate western pipe-line companies were given final reading Monday night in a last-minute flurry of debate and divisions. There were four recorded votes which split party lines and the bills were approved "on division"—indicating disapproval without a recorded vote.

They now go to the Senate where demands for assurance of an all-Canada pipe-line route could be renewed. But this is considered unlikely since the Senate passed them last year and they later bogged down in the Commons.

The bills are those incorporating the Alberta Natural Gas Company and Prairie Transmission Lines Limited. Both companies seek the right to construct a natural gas pipe line from the oil fields of Alberta to the Pacific coast.

Last-ditch Stand

In a last-ditch opposition stand Monday night, the Progressive Conservative and CCF parties put forward two amendments to each bill and forced four divisions of the house.

The house voted 93 to 34 and 100 to 35 against the Progressive Conservative amendment. It was sponsored by Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra), a leader in the Canada-first policy fight and asked that the bills be sent back to committee for consideration of Soviet Accuses Iran Of Using U.S. Experts

MOSCOW, May 16 (AP)—The Soviet Union has accused Iran of using American experts to make aerial surveys of "military significance" along the Russian-Iranian border.

The use of such foreign experts said a Russian note delivered to the Teheran government, "can create a danger to the frontiers of the USSR." Such action, Russia added, is "incompatible with good neighborly relations" between Iran and Russia.

The note, made public Monday night, called on Iran's government to "eliminate the abnormal position that has been created."

(In Washington a State Department official termed the Russian demand "just another fantastic Soviet story with no basis in fact.")

Chiang Pledges Death If Formosa Falls

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 16 — (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek pledged today to die defending Formosa if he cannot beat back the Communist tide that has swallowed all of mainland China.

"There have been great military debacles but the Nationalist defeat on the mainland was unprecedented in the history of the world," the Nationalist president said.

"Now we've retreated to Formosa, the last stronghold of the Kuomintang (Nationalist party) and I cannot retreat any more even if I wanted to. . .

"There is now nothing left but honorable death for country or return to the mainland."

The average Winnipegger looked ahead with optimism.

But the head of army-directed flood control warned that "tragedy of life or further loss of property is still quite possible."

Voluntary evacuation, which has already stripped Greater Winnipeg of 80,000 of its 330,000 normal population, must be continued until all danger was past, he said.

No Call for Volunteers

But last night radio stations carried no frantic calls for volunteers, and many were turned away from loading stations usually humming with activity.

The migration of evacuees continued, but apparently on a reduced scale. Where thousands had crammed railway and bus stations, now a few hundred moved to the safety of dry centres east and west.

Hospital patients were still being sent across the prairies, but the Red Cross said that exodus, too, had slowed.

Life in Greater Winnipeg, six of its 75 or 80 square miles already lost to the two rivers and the smaller Seine, was on a quasi-wartime scale. Theatres were closed; blocks of business buildings were without central heating or elevator service; pumps throbbed in the main streets and pedestrians dodged hoses draining flooded basements; residential districts were deserted and in darkness, washed by the filthy current.

Meanwhile, in Ottawa, Justice Minister Garson gave parliament some details of the "if" plans—the emergency schemes for clearing almost everyone from Winnipeg if torrential rain or other causes should raise the Red to 32.5 feet.

Last week-end he conferred with civic and military authorities and flew over a river-made lake which has swallowed more than 540 square miles of southern Manitoba's farmland.

Under the plan the army would provide housing and food at camps east and west of the city. Stocks of food and vital supplies such as gasoline have been gathered and cached. Enough milk, butter, eggs and meat has been placed in cold storage to tide over a host of evacuees until reserves arrive.

Rail transportation in both directions would still hold up, even with the city cut through the middle.

Fire Breaks Out In Railway Depot

FORT ERIE, May 16 (CP). — Fire broke out early today in the large frame Canadian National Railways depot here.

Fire Chief Harold Morningstar said when firemen arrived they found flames licking up an interior wall toward the ceiling. He said that if they had arrived two minutes later they could have done little to check the blaze. The fire was discovered at 4 a.m.

It is believed a carelessly thrown lighted cigarette in a men's lavatory was the cause. To bring the blaze under control it was necessary to cut all wires leading to the building, which houses the CNR Express, US Customs, CNR Telegraph, and Passenger Departments.

The fire chief estimated the fire damage at about $600. In addition there is water damage as well

Turkish Leader Stands By West

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 16—(AP)—Turkey's new strong man Celal Bayar, said today his country's newly-elected government stands loyal to its alliances and friendships with the western world.

He gave his pledge in an interview after disclosing his five-year-old Democrat party had already taken 375 of the 487 Grand National Assembly seats in Sunday's general election.

The Democrats' triumph left in ruins President Ismet Inonu's People's Party, which has ruled Turkey for 27 years.

With returns still awaited from some provinces, some observers said Inonu's group might have no more than 80 seats when the Assembly meets next Monday to elect a new president.

Turkey receives American military aid under the Truman doctrine and economic assistance pact Turkey also has been frequently mentioned unofficially as seeking membership in the alliance.

The Democrats' sweeping victory was attributed to widespread dissatisfaction with high living costs, which have threatened Turkey with economic collapse.

The defeat of Inonu's party included the loss of Assembly seats by 12 cabinet ministers.

The results of the by-elections were given two different interpretations in Ottawa.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said that "while I am naturally disappointed that the Liberal candidates were not successful in today's by-election, the very light vote suggests that most of the people remained satisfied with the present government."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the two victories for his party indicated public dissatisfaction with the government's attitude to their interests.

Compared with last June 27, the turnout in both ridings was light. Total vote in Hamilton West was 18,772—less than half the 41,464 eligible—and almost 10,000 below the 28,000 who cast ballots in the general election. Toronto Broadview ballots numbered just more than 21,000 of 43,437 eligible and compared with 27,000 a year ago.

Three Serious Fires Prod City To Act

OWEN SOUND, May 16 (CP)—Still figuratively reeling after the impact of three serious industrial fires within the last 10 days, with damages totalling nearly $1,000,000, city council Monday night considered proposals for expanding the fire department.

Randall S. Browne, chairman of the fire and street lighting committee suggested that fire sub-stations might be established in the northwest and northeast sections of the city.

Prior to the fires at Kennedy, Amerwood and Haycraft manufacturing plants, said Ald. Browne he had believed that Owen Sound fire-fighting services and equipment were inadequate, but now he felt that the fire department "had not kept pace with the growth of the city."

HAT IN RING — Walter C. Thomson, 54, member of Parliament for Ontario constituency, is seeking the Ontario Liberal leadership. Spot Big Plane In Yukon Area

EDMONTON, May 16—(CP)—No immediate word was received Monday night on the outcome of a quick aerial search for a C-54 plane reported to have been seen on the ground about 25 miles northwest of Watson Lake, Y.T.

An RCAF Dakota en route from Edmonton to Whitehorse, Y.T., made a pattern search sweep over the area. The plane was piloted by Wing Commander J. M. Sutherland, commanding officer of the RCAF base at Whitehorse.

The report on the plane was made Saturday at Fairbanks, Alaska, by two airmen. They said they spotted the downed aircraft —with all four engines showing— while aboard a U.S. transport plane flying from Great Falls, Mont., to Fairbanks last April 22. No explanation was given for the delay.

A C-54 transport plane with 44 persons aboard disappeared in this area last Jan. 26. The greatest aerial search in Canada's history failed to locate it.

Fish Reel Tangle In Police Court

A charge of theft of a fishing reel and line against Michael Collins, 18, Smith township, was dismissed in police court today when Grant Lytle, Smith township, who laid the charge told the court Collins had said he had not stolen the reel, but would "take the rap" for it.

The reel and line had been left last October in a house Lytle was building on north Water St. north of the city limits, but was owned by William Swiss, 190 Charlotte St.

Swiss testified Collins had offered to give him a cheaper reel in exchange for the one taken. He said Collins told him he took the reel to see how it worked. He had taken it apart but when he was unable to put it together had thrown it into the river.

Swiss said he had been holding Lytle responsible for the loss and Lytle had brought Collins into the picture.

Lytle testified the locked chain which fastened the door of his uncompleted house had been broken and some tools taken. However, the tools had been returned and he had not laid a charge in connection with them.

Lytle said Collins had told him another person had stolen the reel, but he would "take the rap."

"But knowing that you swore in the charge you laid that Collins stole the reel," commented W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, who represented Collins. He then moved for dismissal.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said "I advised against laying of the charge in the first place."

Find Prices Mixed On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 16 (CP) — Prices were mixed in brisk trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Easier tendencies continued in market leaders for a second successive session. Low-priced mining stocks again held the trading limelight. Volume for the first three hours was 2,075,000 shares.

Gains and losses were about balanced in industrials but market leaders were among the losers. Papers were in moderate demand for some slight fractional advances.

Senior golds slipped fractions while juniors steadied from Monday's sharp late decline. Penny prospects traded heavily. Bevcourt, Dulama, McMarmac and Wingait were among the more active and higher issues.

Base metals moved irregularly, opening lower but pushing into plus territory at the half-way mark. Noranda was ahead a fraction and Waite Amulet and United Keno Hill were strong.

Find One Man Victim Of 2 Fire Disasters

CABANO, Que., May 16 (CP)—Paul E. Arsenault is probably the only person with the unenviable distinction of being a victim of both the Rimouski and Cabano fires.

When the Rimouski fire began racing through the city May 6, Arsenault, like others, hurriedly removed his furniture before his home was destroyed. He piled his furniture in a vacant lot and joined others in fighting the fire.

After the fire he told his employers, the Lower St. Lawrence Power Company, of his plight. He was told a transfer for him to Cabano was already in the books and he might as well move at once.

At work in his new office, he once more heard the cry "fire" and saw another conflagration sweep through residences—his own included.

Money Depreciates

LONDON, May 16 (AP) — Domestic purchasing power of the pound sterling has depreciated about one-fifth in the last five years, Sir Stafford Cripps told the House of Commons today. The Chancellor of the Exchequer said the purchasing power of the pound in March was 16 shillings, one penny compared with 20 shillings in 1945. He was replying to a questioner in the house.

Pepper Red Dean With Barrage Eggs, Tomatoes

HAMILTON, May 16. — (CP). —The Dean of Canterbury doggedly completed his local speaking engagements on behalf of the Canadian Peace Congress Monday night despite a barrage of eggs and tomatoes and one large rock that showered members of his audience with glass splinters.

Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson—the so-called Red Dean—who advocates friendship with Soviet Russia, spoke before two audiences at the Central and Hungarian halls. He repeated that "Russia does not want war" and declared "people of the world are hungry for peace." He urged that people join the Peace Congress to bring this about.

The 76-year-old Dean and the Rev. J. G. Endicott, chairman of the Peace Congress, were on the platform in the first hall where an audience of 500 was interrupted once a side door was flung open and a number of rotten tomatoes were thrown at the speakers.

The main trouble started when the Dean and the Congress members moved to another hall where an audience of 400 waited.

Tough Reception

A crowd of several thousand had gathered on James St. north, in the foreign section of the city, and they greeted the Dean and his party with eggs, tomatoes and the explosion of numerous firecrackers. At one time the bursting firecrackers appeared like a halo around the clergyman's head. Several members of the Peace Congress were struck by the eggs and tomatoes but the Dean himself apparently was not hit.

Police, who had tried to keep the mounting crowd on the move, put in a hurry call for reinforcements and four carloads of policemen arrived. Several of them were not as fortunate as Dean Johnson. One constable was hit square in the eye with an ancient egg and others were shoved around.

Two men, George and Richard Ive, were bundled into a police cruiser and taken to police headquarters where they were charged with creating a disturbance.

The dean's second address was interrupted when a large square of cement was tossed through a wire-glass window, fragments of glass cutting several persons. Police refused entry to Archie McMillan, anti-red editor of the weekly Hamilton Review, who was in the thick of the heckling when the dean was unable to finish his speech here last week.

When the second meeting was over, police escorted the dean out of a back door and he entered a car waiting in a darkened alley. Some of the crowd discovered the secret and threw some more eggs.

Campbellford Plans Regatta, Fishing Contest

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16 — (ENS)—Campbellford Fish and Game Protective Association has decided to sponsor a fishing contest again this summer. At the Association's meeting Monday at the Aron Theatre, committees were appointed to obtain prizes.

The club will also h ld a regatta again, at Ayrhart's Woodland Estate. This wil' include all the features of other years with additional attractions, one of which will be a dog show. Lloyd Taylor will be in charge of this and dogs from Toronto and Western Ontario will be entered. The regatta will be held on Wednesday June 26. There will be a lucky draw for a boat as first prize and an outboard motor as second prize.

Fred A. Burgar was appointed general chairman of the committees and Walter Wiggins, vice chairman.

Two officials of the Department of Lands and Forests were guest speakers.

Explains Department

Gordon Buie, who is the district inspector of Fish and Wild Life told the organization of his department. He was introduced by Reg. McCulloch, local conservation officer. In 1946, the old Department of Game and Fisheries was merged with the Department of Lands and Forests.

There are many separate divisions of this department, among them, reforestation, fish and wild life, forest protection etc. Mr Buie said that the conservation officer is the link between the department and the people of his particular district. If he receives the co-operation of all the club members in his district, he can carry out his duties more efficiently.

Mr. Weir, who is also a member of the department, and an old friend of the Campbellford club also spoke. He praised the club for its efforts in reforestation and stocking, and improvement of streams in the district. He said it was up to all members to see that the proposals of the club were carried out.

"Half Baked" Resolutions

He warned against sending in weak or "half-baked" resolutions to the department, demanding change of seasons and regulations etc. He said that if the department took into consideration all the resolutions it received every stream, lake, river, and stretch of forest in the province would come under some different regulation and no one would be able to figure out the game laws.

Each club must work in conjunction with neighboring clubs, and in that way, improvements in game laws and enforcement in districts can be improved.

A film was shown to the club by Mr. Flood of the department. This was entitled "Gun Dogs", and dealt with the training of dogs in flushing and retrieving game. It described the extensive training a dog must undergo, and the great patience required by the trainer, before a dog becomes competent. George Lucy moved a vote of thanks to the speakers.

High School Cadets Parade At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16 — (ENS)—Boy and girl cadets of Campbellford High School were on parade for their annual inspection on Friday. The regular inspecting officer, Captain E Thirgood, M.M., of Kingston, was unable to attend and in his absence, Major G. H. Free of Campbellford, inspected the corps and took the salute.

Fights Last Round

MILWAUKEE, May 16—(AP)—Thousands of letters and cards helped Armand Schultz, 9, win a round against chronic lympathic leukemia last winter, but Monday the fight ended with his death. The lad's plea last Christmas for mail to "keep me company" drew tremendous response. Armand rallied, though doctors gave him but one day to live. He began failing this month and had to be fed through the veins in his final week.

Catches Whopping Rainbow Trout In Creek With Worm For Bait And Old, Worn-out Line

COBOURG, May 16.—(ENS). The dice were certainly loaded in favor of Perley Parks, of Cobourg, when he dropped a line Monday in Shelter Valley Creek. It was not a fancy fly on a fancy rod with a super-duper test line. It was an old line that would snap with a three pounder on the end of the hook and the hook was baited with common worms.

However, something about the modest fishing tackle attracted a big rainbow —six pounds seven ounces of rainbow, in fact, measuring 26 inches long. When the big fish hit the bait, Perley left the line slack. The rainbow headed under the bank with every intention of staying there, but Parks shoved an arm under water to root him out. The fish then ducked under a log with the hook still in his mouth. Parks worried about the strength of the line and proceeded to lift up the log with a fence pole his fishing partner handed him. Then he reached along the fish line until he had a good grip on the trout and hauled him out by hand.

COBOURG, May 16 (ENS) — Arrested at the week-end by local police, Harold G. McMaster, St. John, N. B., appeared in police court Monday on three breaking and entering charges. He was remanded to Friday after pleading guilty to all three charges.

McMaster was charged on May 13 with theft of $1.08 from the residence of Phillip Ashcroft; breaking and entering the office of Dr. W. W. Brett with intent to commit theft and breaking into the office of J. J. Oulahen with intent to commit theft.

Orville R. Hannon, 40, of Cobourg, was charged with breaking into the Canadian Canners factory here on May 12. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Friday. Bail was set at $2,000. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the court that two other charges would be read against the accused on Friday, one of joyriding and one of theft of caned goods.

Thomas Urtell of Kingston appeared on a charge of failing to allow sufficient road clearance to oncoming traffic and the case was laid over until May 22. The offence was dated Nov. 15, 1949, but had been adjourned owing to Mr. Urtell's illness.

Peterborough CIVIC HOSPITAL

EXPLANATION OF OPENING

Many weeks ago the Prime Minister of Canada was invited by the Mayor and City Council to open the celebrations of Peterborough's centenniary year by a visit to Peterborough on a date that would be selected by him. The date chosen was May 20th, 1950.

The Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital was asked whether or not the hospital would be completed by that date. After consultation with the architects and the contractor, the Board replied that while there was doubt as to the final completion of the hospital building by the 20th of May, the construction would be advanced to a point where the Prime Minister could be invited to honor the city by declaring the hospital officially open. The Right Honourable Mr. Saint Laurent has graciously accepted the invitation to perform this duty on May 20th.

After the building is declared open the public will be admitted to the first and second floors only. About the middle of June it is the expectation of the Board of Governors that there will be a public inspection of the whole building when it is hoped our citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the completed work.

Free Education in a Free Country

The Honourable Dana Porter, Ontario Minister of Education, speaking last night over the radio, linked the flexible new school curriculum and grade system with the liberal aims of a state system of education in a free country. "In the free countries we have attempted to avoid, as far as we possibly can, the use of the schools for political propaganda for the 'indoctrination' of children with 'the right views' and 'the right conduct' to gain some particular objective. . . . When we consider our educational system and the teaching in the schools, let us not judge it because it may have failed in any systematic indoctrination of children with the right views and conduct."

* * *

These are heartening pronouncements to come from the minister of education. Society, national standards of conduct, a nation's political creeds, are not static and immutable. There are some basic principles which are as nearly eternal as anything on earth can be; there are patterns of conduct which an organization such as a nation passes on from one generation to another. The patterns should be acquired and the principles expounded. But to indoctrinate children and older pupils with "right views" is baneful. Whose are the "right" views? And if they are "right" for the present adult Canada, will they be "right" for the Canada of which today's pupils will be the core twenty-five years hence? In a country which wishes to maintain its freedom, the schools should be free—free from prejudices and political platitudes of the day or of the nation.

* * *

Here is a specific example. If ten years ago all our pupils were taught day in and day out to hate the Germans, and told that their chief aim in life should be to kill a German, how many paranoics would there be in Canada by, say, 1970, when the official Canadian version of the German may be that he is our great ally and friend? If today in our schools all children are taught to spit on Communists, encouraged to break up left-wing meetings, and told that Russians were human beasts, better dead than alive, how will fare such indoctrinated people by, say A.D. 2000? By that time the Yellow Peril may have again reared its head, and the Russian Communists may be the chief bulwark against invading Asiatic hordes.

* * *

It may be perfectly all right to hate Germans, to spit on Communists, and admire Russians only as corpses, but let our youth find out these things for themselves. It is wrong to teach it.

* * *

Our schools, even in Ontario, are far from being free of prejudices and doctrine-stuffing. That is inevitable. There is, for instance, generally approved propaganda, not always subtle, about Christianity, democracy, intemperance, the unwashed, Canadian valour, the United Empire Loyalists, and the Royal Family. There are undoubtedly hints in Ontario schools that the C.C.F. is not really the most respectable political party; in Saskatchewan the hints may veer the other way. It may be put as a general thesis, that the schools with the least propaganda and the greatest freedom from indoctrination are the most successful in educating people who will live in a democracy such as Canada. If as adults they must make their own decisions in a flexible society, as children they should be given a flexible system of schooling and encouraged to think for themselves, without being nailed to current prejudices and ready-made ideas.

Schoolboy Prank?

When the Dean of Canterbury (the so-called Red Dean) attempted to address a meeting in Hamilton last week, it was broken up by rampaging school pupils. A contemporary, mildly deploring the rumpus, gives the excuse that it was in the nature of a prank and compares the schoolboys' action with student antics in Canadian and the older British universities. To do this is to gloss over what were, in fact, hooligan tactics employed by schoolboys who have not the maturity of university students and have more liking for notoriety and a row than understanding of the issues.

Most Canadians do not approve of Dr. Hewlett Johnston's political bias nor have they any strong desire to hear his pro - Russian speeches. Nevertheless, freedom of speech is still considered in this country a valued right to be cherished. The Dean of Canterbury and his Hamilton sponsors should expect to exercise that right.

More deplorable than the Dean's failure to get a hearing was the fact that mere schoolboys perpetrated the outrage. Mass pupil antics of that kind do not spring out of thin air. Is today's Canadian youth being so poisoned that they will grow up to despise personal liberty for which twenty generations of their forefathers battled? Is there a canker in our society which would eat away its virtures? To accuse the "big business press" of being the boys' abettor, as the chairman of the Hamilton Peace Council did, is windy talk. There is a fault somewhere, however, since this pupil demonstration did happen, and it is a fault of adult society. Is intolerance being preached at home and school? Gangs of youths used to demonstrate viciously in the years between 1930 and 1939 in Germany. They were called "Hitler Youth."

Oslo—Aged 900

There is no convenient word in English for a 900th anniversary, perhaps because so few places or things ever have one. There is an octocentenary, and of course, a millenary, but nothing neat for 900th. Oslo, the 900-year-old capital of Norway, has had its octocentenary; it will have to wait a century for the millenary. This week its 535,000 inhabitants are making merry because of the city's 900th birthday. The festivities began Sunday and continue until Thursday, but all summer long tourists will be made aware of the great anniversary.

Today for the occasion flags and bunting are fluttering along the main streets, twenty-five new fountains, flood-lit tonight, are playing in public places. In one of the main squares a giant "flower wheel" 500 feet high is revolving with flower baskets. Eight million jubilee stamps have been issued in three denominations. Mayors from distant points like New York and Moscow have been invited. Last night the National Theatre presented Ibsen's League of Youth, and the Norwegian royal family lent their presence. The modern red-brick Town Hall with the great clock on its tower (the diameter of the clock is 27 feet, the largest in Europe) dominates the city, fjord and festivities, and its interior has been lavishly decorated. One of the murals specially painted covers an area of 4,000 square feet.

Young Peterborough, which is beginning this week the first of a series of its centennial observances but cannot hope to spread itself as handsomely, widely and heroically as the Norwegian capital (even if we have a new city hall rising), salutes ancient, brave and lively Oslo.

The Unification of Toronto

We cannot pretend from this safe distance of ninety miles, and not being to the Toronto manner bred, to understand the ins-and-outs of Greater Toronto or Lesser Toronto, or unified Toronto or segmented Toronto. But union of the suburban areas into a metropolitan, net-spreading Toronto is in the air, and particles of the dust of the storm reach even Peterborough. We understand that Mayor McCallum wants union, that Premier Frost has tapped his finger and said yes it must be. We also understand that several of the about-to-be Toronto-ized municipalities are heatedly opposed—chiefly because their tax rates might increase.

So we stand on the sidelines, and, yawning a little, watch the tussle. It is the old story of suburban municipalities sprouting under the skirts of the mother-city, which is actually giving the commuters their jobs, their pay, their trams and their streets for going and coming. Yet the suburban municipalities want all these; they want the utility services which Toronto provides, but they also want a snug little nest in village atmosphere with village taxes.

If Union of Toronto Now can promote faster ways for Peterborough travellers to get out of the city, without the horrible journey down the shoddy shoppy Danforth or without the detours by the Queen Street route around gas plants, packing houses and back yards, we are heartily in favour of the merger.

Grand Coulee Mighty Dam

By NORA BELOFF

(Ed. Note: Last Thursday President Truman dedicated the Grand Coulee Dam and its reservoir the Franklin D. Roosevelt Lake on the Columbia River in Washington State. Nora Beloff wrote this article aboard the Presidential Train.)

THE dizzy magnificence of the world's giant dam at Coulee on the Columbia River—last week the object of a ceremonial visit by President Truman himself — obscures the basic fact that it marks the beginning rather than the end of a new era in American might and wealth.

It is hard to confront the achievements of the last ten years or even gaze at the falls, twice as high as Niagara, and still realize that the potential development of the Columbia River ahead dwarfs today's Wagerian wonder.

AS part of the President's party we were Thursday shown the Grand Coulee Dam itself, the largest concrete construction upon earth, weighing twenty-two million tons, and told that its power production, though still incomplete, has already broken all records. During war-time alone the Coulee monster produced power estimated to equal the work of a million men working for seventy-eight years.

We were also able to visit the largest man-made lake in the world, stretching for 150 miles to the Canadian border and called after President Roosevelt, although our expedition did not venture into the steep wooded slopes around it where deer an deven bears are often seen. The major task of the lake itself has not yet started; ultimately, it is hoped, it will irrigate one million acres, turning desert into rich farmland. Pumps will go into operation next year and by 1952, it is hopped, the transformation of the land itself will begin.

IT is characteristic of all Americans but particularly of the North-Westerners among whom the pioneer spirit is liveliest, that instead of sitting back and marvelling at their own colossal creation they are already looking ahead and asking for more.

Columbia River, as President Truman himself said, is the nation's greatest potential source of hydro-electric power. It is therefore startling to discover that, despite the fantastic spurt in the population of the region, industrial development and diversification is lagging behind for want of electric power. Every day experts at Portland, Oregon, told me, plans and projects for building new factories or enlarging old ones are suspended or cancelled because there is no guarantee of adequate supplies of electricity.

THE President himself has said that the Coulee Dam can be used at full power only if upstream storage is provided to keep high-level supplies of water constant throughout the year. In the higher reaches of the river there is plenty of storage space and energy for countless additional dams. I have heard British economists complain that their anxiety to rush the development of atomic energy for civilian use is not matched by the Americans. If you consider the limitless and relatively cheap potential supply of hydro-electric power in regions such as Columbia it is easy to see why what seems a pressing emergency to Britons is a relatively remote need in a country which possesses these fabulous natural resources.

IT is doubtful, however, whether the full benefits of these potential resources will reach the American public unless the Government obtains power to co-ordinate and accelerate the development plan and to dovetail essential projects of irrigation, flood control and hydro-electrical development. This principle has has been successfully applied in Tennessee, where the Tennessee Valley Authority has raised standards of living and employment levels beyond all recognition.

In Columbia Government authority is scattered among various and rival agencies and is strictly limited by Congress. Today Truman wants to apply Tennessee methods to Columbia, but is bitterly opposed by vested interests, particularly private electricity companies who are howling against the alleged "socialism" of the Truman programme. Efforts are being made politically to stifle the development project by stirring up the deep-rooted American distrust of Socialist theories and the tendency to equate Democratic Socialism with Kremlin Communism.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE fact remains, however, that the Coulee Dam, itself a monument to human achievement, was conceived, financed and built by a Democratic and non-socialist Government. North-Westerners today seem less concerned with abstract theories of political science than with the need for prompt, cheap and effective development of the vast resources of their underdeveloped economy. That is why, although the battle will certainly be long and bitter, Truman and his team are confident of ultimate victory.

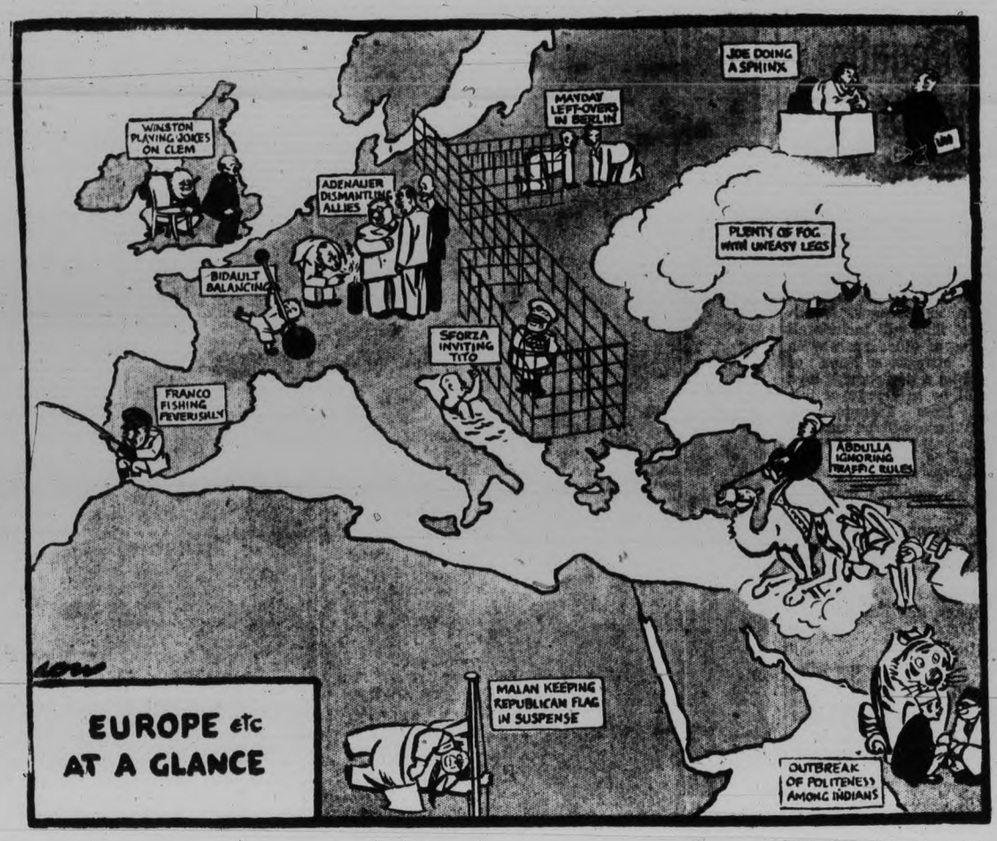
Bjornson Leads—Ibsen Second

The 99 works of "the four great" in Norwegian literature, Bjornstjerne Bjornson, Henrik Ibsen, Alexander Kielland and Jonas Lie, have just been published by Gyldendal in Oslo in a collection of 18 books. For almost three generations the popularity of these works has remained unshaken.

Of the four only Ibsen has become universally known. In Norway, however, he is far outranked by Bjornson, more than 7 million copies of his works having been published. The figure for Ibsen is 3.8 million, and for the novelists Lie and Kielland 3.4 and 2.1 million respectively. Bjornson's story "A Happy Boy" leads with 415,000 copies and his "Synnove Solbakken" is second with 390,000. Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" comes third with 276,000 copies. Lie's most popular work is "The Family at Gilje." 200,000 copies having been sold, while Kielland's "Garman and Worse" and "Skipper Worse" both have passed 160,000.

A BRITISH OPINION



Letters To The Editor

CANNOT IMAGINE THOSE FIGURES

Sir: Would appreciate you giving me some space in your valuable paper to answer an ad which the Peterborough Lock Co. has the unmitigated gall to print in the community paper.

First of all they tell us that some of the employees under their employ have made as high as male $77.97, female $49.22. I cannot imagine where they got those figures as I myself who am on day rate only make $41.85 for a full 45 hours. Some of these figures must of been taken from the moulders in the foundry, but to my own understanding and knowledge there is none of them making $77.97 a week. It so happens that I work in the foundry and therefore have a pretty good idea just about what they make in a day as I have helped some of them figure up their day by day wages. I am so burned up right now that I just had to answer such a scandalous tabulation as they printed in the Examiner of the above date.

They mention that they pay pensions to their older employees but they state no amount. I will tell you that the pittance they dole out and call a pension is the measly sum of $40.00 per month. I know one fellow in the foundry who has been there for 46 years and cannot afford to retire on the pittance they would hand him.

For anyone's information I worked for this company from 1922 to '24 and received the handsome hourly rate of 12c per hour. So citizens and other workers you can see from that figure that this company has the reputation of being a low wage industry in this city.

They tell us that in order to avoid a strike that they wished to sign the old contract. Last year they laid off 40 workers and if we had been suckers enough to sign a repeat contract from '49 we would of been left open to a lay-off of at least 60 more this year.

I am of Irish descent and I will tell the company here and now that there is no green in my eye.

Thanking you in advance for space in your valuable paper. I remain,

Yours sincerely,
JOSEPH M. O'BRIEN.

WHY AID STRIKERS?

Sir: The Canadian House of Commons recently defeated a motion to outlaw the Communist Party in Canada. Mr. Drew and his party are to be congratulated for their patriotic stand on this question. Although Australia has made it a crime to carry on Communist activities, I doubt if it would be very effective here in Canada. Perhaps a complete boycott would make the Communists realize that the majority of Canadian citizens do not want them at all.

A complete boycott of Communists in Canada would be accomplished only if every patriotic citizen does his part unselfishly. When a known Communist political or labour is going to make a speech the hall should be empty, except for a few fellow-travellers who actually believe that Communism is a good thing for this country. If a Communist-dominated labour union tries to rent an office, or meeting place, they should be told to try elsewhere. The same applies when they ask a newspaper to publish their phony advertisements. A well-known union leader freely shouts, as loud as his lungs will allow, over a public address system. Is there no by-law in Peterborough that deals with excessive noise? If there isn't, then there should be one to prevent further Communist-inspired speeches in public.

Many Peterborough citizens have been disgusted recently by the begging for food by the strikers of the Peterborough Lock Co. Especially when there were thousands of dollars saved up in the U.E. treasury. Or has this money been turned over to the Communist Party to further its own plans for the future? I am certain that my many friends who were killed during the war would literally turn over in their graves if they knew that strikers in Peterborough were begging for food, while tens of thousands of fellow Canadians were homeless due to serious floods and fires. With twenty-six million dollars damage, and four thousand people homeless, due to the fires at Rimouski and Cabano in Quebec; and untold property damage, and tens of thousands of people homeless in Winnipeg, we should ignore the red-led strikers. Our patriotic duty tells us to aid the disaster victims. Let us start it now while the need is the greatest.

Yours sincerely,
R. M. POWELL.

HELPERS AT GANNON'S

Sir: I wish to draw your attention to the dozen or more paragraphs you published in your paper under the heading "Giant waves whip Gannon's Floating Bridge," and received here Wednesday, May 10.

In this article you state "Fortunately for them they were spotted by George Hutchinson, etc., who was returning home at the time, rounded up several neighbours, Albert Chase and Bert Weiss, Harvey farmers and Wolseley Northey, a resort owner, and they walked out to lend what assistance they could." Farther on, "the men were in no immediate danger but a valuable car might have been swept away at the time, together they managed to chain it to the planking etc."

Now George Hutchinson was nowhere to be seen, as Albert Chase spotted the car in trouble, as not being well that day was in the kitchen of our home, with an open view of the whole structure. He immediately went to the telephone and called Mr. Northey, who has a very good car also, and is ever ready to use it to go to anyone's assistance, to come as soon as possible and bring Bert Weiss next neighbour, who would have had to walk otherwise, but can always be counted on to come to anyone's assistance in an emergency. These we called and I sent my daughter to get her father and brother working in remote fields, who could not possibly have gotten to the scene as quickly as Mr. Northey and Bert Weiss who were coming in sight as my son Albert had started down the road. At that time, George Hutchinson had stopped his car at Mr. Alexander's gate, gotten out and was part way out to the floating structure.

The chain, was one supplied by Albert Chase from the store of supplies housed in the tool-house provided by County of Peterborough.

We the Chases, have always gone to the assistance of any one, who seemed to be in difficulty, from any cause whatever, day or night. The men of our family for many years, are never all away at once. Once years ago, I supplied what was needful to get two cars off the bridge, several pails of sand, pail and shovel used on the slanting approach.

Yours truly,
MRS. J. A. CHASE

LOCK COMPANY WAGES

Sir: First I would like to thank the people of Peterborough and surrounding districts for their generous donations for our strike kitchen. Most of the employees of Peterborough Lock can and do figure out their own pay envelopes from week to week and as I do that, I know and can prove I do not make "quote" forty-nine twenty-two or forty-three sixty-four "unquote." In fact in two weeks I barely equal the top figure quoted in their ad.

Management also stated they wished to settle this affair. Did they? Why then for eight months did they refuse to negotiate with us.

RURAL SCHOOLS AT FESTIVAL

Sir: I have been watching with interest your editorials and articles on the Kiwanis Music Festival. One thing has struck me as peculiar about these articles. This one thing is the lack of interest they show in the Rural Schools.

One gentleman expressed his regret at the small number of local entries but entirely ignored the 30 odd schools entered from rural Peterborough. Could it be that those of the city hate to recognize the rural people as part of their locality?

This lack of interest is very evidently shared by those who direct the festival. These honourable gentlemen chose to leave rural schools out of their final programme. Of course this programme was only for the outstanding performers and judging by the reporter's remarks that leaves the rural schools out. However the question that enters into my mind is whether this feeling was shared by the adjudicators. If it was why did Dr. Lang assign 87 marks to S.S. 1, Smith? This was second highest mark given for any vocal performance at the festival.

I know that at least two teachers and a music director feel hurt by this very evident discrimination. Such conduct could easily discourage the rural schools from entering the festivals in the future.

Yours sincerely,
CURIOUS.

THE WAGE LIST

Sir: It is quite apparent that the management is deliberately attempting to mislead the public by the wage list published last Friday. I have been employed in the factory for close on 25 years and can vouch for any worker who states he never made anything like the wages listed in the paper unless he worked piece work continually, overtime included, and I have yet to meet any worker in this plant who made much more than $65.00 even under conditions quoted above. The lists published are obviously taken from the payroll of the fastest workers in the factory. I venture to say that the rest of the approximately 150 employees would certainly never have voted for strike action on wages, if they had been earning the pay quoted in the ad. My own wages as a day worker never exceeds $43.70 and there are many more like me.

Yours,
ALF. A. SIMMONDS.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear my cry, O God; attend unto my prayer. From the end of the earth will I cry unto thee, when my heart is overwhelmed: lead me to the rock that is higher than I. I will abide in thy tabernacle for ever: I will trust in the covert of thy wings. Selah. (Ps. 61: 1, 2, 4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels. (Isa. 61: 10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God. For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. (II Cor. 4: 15, 16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life. Now he that hath wrought us for the selfsame thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord. We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. (II Cor. 5: 4-6, 8.)

Fined $70,000 Ignored Ruling

TORONTO, May 16 (CP) — Norman M. Samuel, 48-year-old Toronto broker, Monday was fined $70,000 for seven violations of the foreign exchange control regulations.

J. J. Robinette, counsel for the Foreign Exchange Control Board, said the fine was the highest ever imposed for breaches of the regulations.

Charges against Samuel were that he possessed foreign currency illegally, purchased securities from a non-resident, unlawfully sold securities to non-residents without a permit and illegally endorsed securities.

The $70,000 fine matched the amount estimated by investigator George Crotey as the profit Samuels made on the illegal operations. The charges cover a period between May 15, 1947 and Dec. 31, 1949.

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP)—Doctors from every section of Ontario were arriving Monday night for the 70th annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association, which has opened its five-day session.

When all delegates have checked in, officials expect the final register will be between 150 and 175.

Dr. W. V. Johnston of Lucknow, 1949-50 president of the association, is presiding over meetings this week. Just before the convention's close he will turn over the office to Dr. E. K. Lyon of Leamington, president-elect. Council meetings are under the chairmanship of Dr. W. W. Bartlett, Brampton.

Pictures Nearly Trap Photographer

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Photographer Roy Crogan of the Niagara Falls Gazette, who took dramatic rescue pictures Monday, said he and nine other men nearly had to be rescued, too.

Air currents from the whirling blades of the helicopter used to rescue a woman and two pilots came close to blowing Crogan, a reporter, six firemen and two park employees from a rock off the Three Sister islands, Crogan said.

Crogan climbed over a barbed-wire barricade on a bridge and waded through muck to a rock about 110 feet from Mrs. Jeannette Bugay, 25, who was clinging to another rock above the Canadian falls.

He shot 18 pictures with his speed graphic at one-200th of a second, F-8 lens opening. Some were distributed to newspapers as Associated Press wirephotos.

Will Wed Soon

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)—Judith Coplon, facing up to 25 years in prison for espionage, said Monday she will be married soon. It was her troubles, she said, that brought her and her husband-to-be together. The 28-year-old former Justice Department employee, free on bail while appealing her spy convictions, said the man she will wed "within the next few weeks" is Albert H. Socolov, 29, a New York lawyer and war veteran.

MOSCOW, May 16 (AP) — Prime Minister Stalin Monday night received Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of the United Nations.

The avowed purpose of Lie's mission is to ease east-west tensions.

Monday night's meeting took place four days after Lie's arrival in Moscow.

It came after Lie had met one time each with Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky and Andrei Gromyko, Deputy Foreign Minister and former chief Soviet delegate to the UN.

Britain Eases Regulations For Skippers

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 16 (CP). — Britain is going to make it easier for deep-sea skippers who want to go fishing in Newfoundland waters.

Under a bill now before Parliament, masters of fishing boats trying their luck off the new Canadian province will no longer require a foreign-going certificate of competency.

After the bill becomes law — its passage appears to be just a formality—an ordinary certificate of competency will be good enough.

The new measure, given second reading in the House of Commons April 28, removes an anomaly which dates back to 1894. It also brings the practice for Newfoundland into line with regulations applying to British vessels in such other deep-sea fishing regions as the territories around Iceland.

Times Change

Transport Minister Alfred Barnes, proposing second reading, said that in 1894 fishing boats were much smaller than they are today. Expeditions to Newfoundland were liable to be of a hit-and-miss variety, possibly endangering the lives of the crew.

"Now, however, the type and designs of these ships have changed," said Barnes. "It now is common for them to journey far afield. Therefore we propose to adjust the circumstances and remove the anomaly."

Barnes said Britain's fishing fleet lands more than 1,000,000 tons of fish every year. About 50,000 men and 14,500 vessels were involved.

RC Priesthood Grows Anglican Clergy Fewer

LONDON (CP). — Anglican clergy outnumber Roman Catholic priests by less than two to one in Britain, says the Southwark Record. Thirty-five years ago the proportion was six to one. The Record, organ of the Roman Catholic diocese of Southwark, recalled that the Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril Garbett, had recently deplored the fact that Anglican clergy had declined in number from 25,000 in 1915 to 15,000 today. The Record cited figures from the Catholic directory to show the growth of the Catholic priesthood. In 1915 there were 4,000. This year the number is 8,500.

10-Mile Chase

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP) — A 10-mile auto chase along the Montreal road Monday night ended in the arrest of a Renfrew man who is being held in connection with leaving the scene of four accidents. Wants Inquiry In UP Strike

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP). —Representative John Blatnik (Dem.-Tenn.) Monday proposed a Congressional investigation of the strike of United Press telegraphers.

In a statement he put in the Congressional record, Blatnik asked:

"Is the United Press using the Taft-Hartley Act as a shield under which it will spearhead a drive to bust unions in the newspaper industry?"

United Press teletype and maintenance employees, members of the Commercial Telegraphers Union (AFL), have been on strike since April 30 demanding higher wages.

The union asked a $10 raise in the basic wage of $90 a week. During negotiations, the news agency offered $2.20 increase and the union came down to $6.50, but no agreement was reached.

Blatnik said the UP at first maintained its wire service by using "supervisory scabs." He identified these as editorial employees classified as supervisory under the UP contract with the American Newspaper Guild (CIO).

But after a few days, Blatnik said, the UP "went into the open market and began hiring scabs wherever they could be found."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Two senior amateur hockey champions — one from the east and one from the west—will rule the rinks of the United States this year as a result of a schedule playoff that never was played.

The Amateur Hockey Association of the United States announced Monday following its annual meeting that the Spokane (Wash.) Flyers have been awarded the western title and the Chatham (Ont.) Maroons the eastern crown. Each team have possession of the Senior United States trophy for six months.

Spokane, representing the Kootenay League, comprised mostly of British Columbia clubs, was to have entered a playoff for the 1950 national senior championship with Chatham, playoff winner of the International Amateur League.

Their meeting was delayed and the Spokane team disbanded before a champion was determined. A squabble developed over which club would be given the title.

The U.S.A.H.A. ruled that it would prefer to recognize two-sectional champions rather than decide a single titleholder by legislation, instead of actual competition.

To guard against a repetition of the mix-up the convention adopted a new playoff plan for 1950-51 in which the country will be divided into four zones, with champions from each zone meeting in two semi-final playoff rounds and winners going on to a title series.

The first small community in Ontario to vote in favor of Sunday sports is Port Dover, resort hamlet on the Lake Erie shore 25 miles south of Brantford.

Under provincial legislation Sunday sports are permitted in communities that vote in favor in local plebiscites, and Toronto and Windsor have already done so. Monday Port Dover voted almost three to one in favor.

Less than one-third of the eligible voters, 1,640 cast their ballots. They voted 365 in favor, 133 against.

Decision of which Canadian city would be awarded the 1945 British Empire games will not be made known for at least a week.

Ken Yost of Winnipeg, national secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, Monday said balloting had been held up because of flood conditions in Manitoba.

"Some of the letters explaining the voting didn't get out of Winnipeg until late last week due to the floods," Yost said. "It probably will be at least a week before complete returns are in."

More than 350 horses already are at Blue Bonnets race track at Montreal for the opening of the racing season next Saturday, it was announced Moday. Several horses worked out during the day in preparation for the Inaugural Handicap which will be the feature race opening day.

At Providence, R.I., Georgie Araujo of Providence, New England featherweight champion, won a unanimous decision over Rudy Pasco, formerly of Toronto now fighting out of Paterson, N.J., in a 10-rounder Monday night. Araujo weighed 127¾ to Pasco's 129½.

PCVS And SPS Teams In Races At Oshawa

Bev Goulding of PCVS and Fred Allore of St. Peter's High School had track teams entered in COSSA competitions Saturday in Oshawa, the home athletes pretty well cleaning up on honors.

Ted Chapman as a sprinter and George Hall, a jumper, also made a fair showing during the meet. St. Peter's were second in the mile relay with their runners being Bob O'Rourke, Steve Morrissey, Terry Fitzpatrick and Harry O'Neill. The SPS team of Bob Fitzgerald, Johnny Armstrong, Clare Crowley and Greg Crowley was third in the half-mile relay.

Good Showmen

SYDNEY, NS — (CP) — Belief in the adage that the show must go on was demonstrated recently by a band from nearby Donkin. Shaken up when the bus carrying them to the Cape Breton Music Festival skidded into a ditch, the bandsmen went on and gained a high mark of 90 for two seleetions. Bob Reid puffed a big horn despite two broken ribs.

COACH LEW HAYMAN (left), of the Dominion Champion Montreal Alouettes, gave out with an unusually serene expression recently because of the two Montreal lads who will play for the "Als" again in the forthcoming season. Ralph Toohy is blowing the ink dry on his signed contract while Keith English is affixing his moniker. The Grey Cup team's first game will be with last season's western champs, the Calgary Stampeders, in a pre-schedule exhibition in Calgary.

Czech Skater Gets 30 Marriage Offers

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP).—Aja Vrzanova, 19-year-old world figure skating champion, came to North America "just for a holiday" and not in response to 30 proposals of marriage.

The pretty, Czech exile said today that's how many offers — "mostly from Americans" — she got after winning the world title in London last March.

Aja arrived in Canada last week and the only proposal she has accepted so far is to tour the United States as the star of an ice show. After that, the graceful continental beauty hopes to develop her whirls and spins into a movie career.

A lively young woman, Aja flew in from Montreal Monday to see the sights, and be seen.

Miss Vrzanova is resigned to having her name mispronounced a dozen ways. For the record it goes this way: A-ja Ver-za-nny-ova.

Senior "A" Petes' lacrossers are rapidly shaking down into a promising looking pack for the heavy grind ahead. Coach Red Creighton, Manager Pete King and the able executive have been busy lining 'em up, and the players have been drilling hard. They have an exhibition game here Friday of this week against George Snowden's OLA senior "B" champs of '49, the Huntsville huskies. Quite a few new faces on the local lineup this semester as the Petes hit into their second senior "A" schedule. There's Jerry Fitzgerald of St. Catharines, Joe Nolan of Belleville, Jim Kinna of Vancouver, Russ Buchanan from out that way, too, Don Ashbee of Owen Sound, an intermediate named Hill from Port Hope, and several young chaps stepping up from the PMLA.

* * * * * *

Ralph Speck is back in goal, his second year here, with Bill Edgar spare goalie. Along with Fitzgerald, Kinna and Nolan, there will be big Pup Curtin, Ron Horton and Jack Breakspear for defence. A flock of forwards available, including Arn Dugan, Dootch Vitarelli, Mick Magee, Em Creighton, Bob Thorpe, Russ Buchanan, Bob Breakspear, Don Ashbee, Wendell Lewis and probably a few more. This chap Hill, as well as youths like Robinson, Batley and Beavis. The definite lineup will be known ere the OLA schedule opens here on May 26, Hamilton Tigers tackling the Petes. Local squad should be quite a bit stronger than a year ago.

PMLA-ers Out In Force

PMLA-ers got off to a good start on their workouts and it looks like the tadpoles, peewees, bantams, midgets and juves will have another setup of maybe 350 players. A few more good coaches needed, while Barney Dundas has agreed to handle the bantams. Jerry Fitzgerald of course is head coach for the minors. About two dozen juniors (some over age) took in the first drill under Lou Vitarelli, and several husky newcomers were noted. They'll go again at 10 a.m. on May 21, with everyone welcome. It might grow into a four-team junior city loop, yet, depending on how many are available. Further PMLA practices will be announced as we get them.

Manager Eddie Murphy—and Johnny Russelle will help him on the coaching end of it—is working the Petes' baseballers this week to get them in shape for their opening here Saturday. It's against the Toronto Dovers of the Viaduct League. Bill Edger, Bill Dadson, Doug Plunkett and Gunner Whitehill form the pitching staff, with a new one to be added later. Al Menzies is catching again, and the infield to start is likely Joe Stewart at first, Freddy Garvey on second, Danny Brown at short (he'll be here from the States) and Howie Dalton on third. An outfield of Joe Lowrey, Paul Estlick and Pat Wilson. Later a few more USA players will join the club. Officers are endeavoring to have the Prime Minister and other officials drop in at Riverside when they tour the city Saturday afternoon.

Men Softballers Ready

Bert Bailey has drawn up the first two weeks of the men's City Softball League schedule at the Bowl. It opens this Thursday eve at seven p.m. with East City playing Mutual Benefit, followed by UEW against the Orphans. All twin bills start sharpe at seven, and umpires have been ordered to commence second games 10 minutes after the first finishes. On Tuesday next, it's East City vs. UEW, and Mutuals vs. Orphans. May 25 sees East City playing Orphans, followed by Mutuals vs. UEW. Then, on May 30, Orphans tackle UEW, as Mutuals meet East City. We start into June then, the first night having Orphans playing Mutuals, and UEW tangling with East City. On June 6, it's UEW vs. Mutuals, and Orphans vs. East City.

There was a PMHA meeting last night to wind up seasonal business, and for the first time the minor puckists have a fair credit balance, which speaks well for the officials, managers, coaches and the arena management, among others. A five-man committee was chosen to govern the PMHA next year: Johnny Russelle, Ed Faux, Les Mountney, Reg Moore and Arnold Olmstead. This committee—which will choose its own executive—plans to meet from time to time with association managers and coaches to discuss grievances, hear protests, and so forth. But the committee is the governing body and has the final say on all matters pertaining to the PMHA-ers.

Little Abbey Theatre Used To Patrons' Interruptions

By MICHAEL O'MARA

DUBLIN, May 16. (CP)—The historic Little Abbey Theatre is used to interruptions from its patrons. But the show goes on.

Ever since J. M. Synge's then-controversial "The Playboy Of The Western World" was produced in January, 1907, and was jeered and counter-jeered every night for a week — the actors kept talking but they couldn't always be heard — the Abbey has often been a cockpit of conflicting opinions.

Synge's detractors said he was "anti-clerical." That's the charge also levelled against the latest play to stir up trouble here.

The piece is Seamus Byrne's "Design For A Headstone," a sombre drama set in an internment camp for Irish patriots. Local critics found the play's conflict between a Marxist prisoner, played by Walter Macken, and the prison chaplain, played by Liam O Foghlu, hard to grasp, unformed and inconclusive.

Strong Language

Some of the strong language Byrne put in the mouths of his characters prompted The Irish Independent to ask:

"Is it necessary for realism to make such free use of the name of the Divinity on our Dublin stages?"

The first three performances went off quietly, but the fourth night was marked by shouts from the back seats of "This is an insult to Irishmen!" and "This is an insult to the Temperance Union!"

Midway through the third act, a man rose from his seat, informed his fellow patrons "This is enough," and left. About 20 following the ink dry on his signed contract while Keith English is affixing his moniker. The Grey Cup team's first game will be with last season's western champs, the Calgary Stampeders, in a pre-schedule exhibition in Calgary.

In the Abbey's tiny lobby, the anti-Byrne group held a meeting, passing the resolution that "As Irish Roman Catholics we should protest against the stage of the National Theatre being used as a smear on the Catholic priesthood and as the basis for an attack on the mystical body of Christ."

One of the group, Thomas O'Connor, said the stage was being used "for the glorification of the Marian Revolution without an opportunity being given for an adequate reply."

A police car drove up, constables entered the lobby and "suggested" the group disperse.

Theatre officials assured reporters who hurried to the Abbey that the play would continue for the balance of its run.

There were no further immediate protests. Five days later The Independent reported:

"There was a large audience when 'Design For A Headstone' by Seamus Byrne began its second week."

The OVENBIRD, though a warbler, is often mistaken for a small thrush. Look for the spots on his breast, and the dull orange crown. He walks on the ground, unlike other warblers. His call is a well-known forest sound, and he should be protected.

Special Plays Presented By Film Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 16 (AP).—Any Saturday night, you can see such performers as Dana Andrews, Robert Preston and Victor Jory hauling chairs, tables and other props into a tiny park building in Pasadena.

And shortly before 11 p.m., you can see the same persons hauling stuff away. Another performance of 18 Actors, Incorporated, has been given.

Until recently, the acting group kept its activities sub rosa. But one of the members, character actor Morris Ankrum, divulged some of the details to me on the set of "Beyond The Sunset."

The 18 actors, most of them graduates of the Pasadena Playhouse, have been gathering for six months. After reading plays at each others' houses, they decided to go in for the real thing. They rented a building from the Pasadena Park Commission at $10 per Saturday night.

Free Show

"We presented Ibsen's 'A Doll's House' first," recalled Ankrum. "We played it free of charge to a number of invitational audiences. They were invited to pay — if they liked us. About 75 per cent of them did, and soon we had close to 300 subscribers. We now present a play on four successive Saturday nights."

The company performs with the central staging technique, which means they act in the middle of a room with the audience all around them. No large scenery is required.

The 18 perform their weekly stint for the love of acting and to improve their own craft. The project is non-profit.

Capsule Review

"The Asphalt Jungle" (MGM) ranks with "The Maltese Falcon" and "The Killers" as one of the fine film studies in crime. Armed with a beautifully-constructed screen play, John Huston has fashioned an exciting picture that avoids all the pitfalls of most crime movies. The picture has no stars, but is filled with tough and memorable characters. Standouts: Sterling Hayden, Louis Calhern, Sam Jaffee.

Giants Humble Rochester 20-3

By The Associated Press.

That elusive winning formula —explosive power and strong pitching—is keeping Jersey City hot after the league-leading Montreal Royals in the International League chase.

The Little Giants broke loose with a savage 23-hit attack Monday night to humble Rochester 20-3 and move within 2½ games of Montreal.

Roger Bowman went the distance for Jersey City, marking the sixth complete game turned in by a Lil Giant pitcher in the last eight games.

The Giants sped to a 16-2 lead after four innings, handing Rochester starter Dick Bokelmann his third loss.

Nap Reyes, Fred Gerken and Stan Jok hit homes for the winners, while Russ Derry slapped one for Rochester.

All was not lost for the 1,143 Rochester fans, though. As a reward for turning out in the cold, damp, foggy ewather, Red Wings management announced all rainchecks would be honored at another game. That, incidentally, was before the roof fell in on the home forces.

Germans, Japs Likely Included

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 16.—(AP).—When the Olympic flag is hoisted in Finland in the summer of 1952, German and Japanese athletes probably will be among approximately 6,000 men and women taking the Olympic oath in Helsinki's new stadium.

Japan's participation in the 1952 summer and winter games is almost assured. Japan, unlike Germany, never was banned by the International Olympic committee.

German participation is a more delicate problem. The I.O.C. decided Monday to accept an Olympic committee from Western Germany—"provisionally and under certain reservations."

Those reservations were kept secret by the I.O.C. members. After a full meeting, reservations were handed to a five-man committee, which met behind closed doors last Monday night. The committee was to report to the I.O.C. today.

There is a strong feeling among the delegates that Germany should again be a member of the Olympic family but that it should only include Western Germany.

15 Ball Players Released By Clubs In Major League

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP) — Most of the major league clubs today were busily engaged clearing the decks in order to come within the 25-player limit.

The deadline goes into effect tomorrow at midnight, exactly a month after the start of the season.

A feverish two days of buying and selling resulted in the release of 13 players and the sale of two others to rival clubs in the majors. More are sure to feel the ax. With some 30 hours to go, there are 19 surplus athletes.

Brooklyn Dodgers, with 30 on the roster, must dispose of five. Detroit is next with three over the limit. Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Phillies were faced with two amputations while Washington, the two St. Louis clubs, Cincinnati, and the Chicago Cubs were one over apiece.

Within Limit

Clubs already within the prescribed limit include the two Boston and New York clubs, Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia Athletics. The Yankees have 25 exclusive of Dick Wakefield. They were given special permission to carry the extra man indefinitely. The Giants were expected to bring up outfielder Monte Irvin from their Jersey City farm club and release veteran flychaser Mike McCormick.

The Yankees lopped off five players Monday. They sold outfielder Johnny Lindell to the Cardinals, pitcher Clarence Marshall to the Browns and optioned veteran first baseman Johnny Mize, rookie infielder Al (Billy) Martin and pitcher Duane Pillette to their Kansas City farm club of the American Association.

The Giants optioned pitcher Frank Fanovich to Minneapolis and outfielder Pete Milne to Jersey City. Fanovich, a bonus player, was obtained via waivers from the Reds.

Other Changes

The White Sox assigned shortstop Jim Baumer to Colorado Springs of the Western Association, and released pitcher Bill Connelly to Toledo. Baumer is a bonus player signed by the Sox last year.

The Cubs placed Hal Jeffcoat on the voluntary retired list and recalled Bob Borkowski from Springfield of the International League to take his place in the outfield. Jeffcoat broke his collar bone in a game Sunday.

The Red Sox, after sending pitchers Bob Gillespie to Sacramento and Gordon Mueller to Louisville, recalled Jim Suchecki another pitcher. Suchecki had a 2-2 record with Louisville. The Braves optioned Walter Linden to Milwaukee to get down to the prescribed player limit.

Only one regular game was scheduled Monday: that between the Dodgers and Braves in Brooklyn. Rain, however, washed it off the boards just as the teams were getting ready to start.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Southpaw Billy Weir, with Toronto Maple Leafs on option from Boston Bees of the National Baseball League, pitched himself back into consideration for a big-league job 11 years ago today with the season's first no-hit, no-run game, beating Baltimore Orioles 8-0. It was the 7th victory in 23 starts for the last-place Leafs. Weir started the 1940 season with Boston Nationals.

MARMORA, May 16—(ENS)—Mother's Day was observed at both services at St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday.

Daffodils, tulips, roses and other flowers decorated the church. Flowers in memory of Catharine Reynolds were donated by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wells and Mrs. Minnie Fox and those in memory of W. A. Sanderson, by Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Sanderson and Robert Children of the Sunday School attended the morning service with their teachers and the Glee Club and senior choir led the singing.

The cradle roll, containing 25 names, was unveiled by Mrs. F. S. Sweet who outlined its purpose, and by Mrs. A. Crossen, who read the names.

Three children baptised were Susan Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McGregor; Thomas Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Vilneff; and Carol Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rogers.

Thomas Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Vilneff; and Carol Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rogers.

The Glee Club sang "Steal Away."

The evening service was conducted by the Women's Missionary Society and members and girls of the employers' group.

The service concluded with a flower service in which Janie Fox recited the poem "To Mothers". Roses were presented to the mothers and the song "Mother of Mine" was sung by Mrs. E. C. Prentice.

Sets Ocean Record

QUEBEC, May 16.—(CP).—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland docked Monday night after setting a trans-Atlantic crossing record from Greenock, Scotland, to Father Point, below Quebec, of 120 hours, 36 minutes. The 26,000-ton ship, under command of Capt. E. A. Shergold, carries the 19-man all England football team which will tour Canada for a series of exhibition games.

Glengarry Hotel Loses Licence For 10 Days

TORONTO, May 16 — (CP) — Licence of the Glengarry Hotel, Glengarry County, has been suspended by the Ontario Liquor Board from May 12 until May 22.

The suspension followed an investigation which indicated that the hotel had sold beer on Good Friday, one of the days on which sale is prohibited in the Province. The board announced that the licence would be reinstated May 22.

Grand Union Hotel, New Liskeard, has been granted an additional public house license as has the Arlington Hotel in Smiths Falls.

Spend 100 Million

TORONTO, May 16 (CP) — The Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario spent $100,000,000 in 1949 to meet requirements of construction and a standardization program, chairman Robert Saunders announced on Monday. He said $86,750,000 went to Canadian firms and of that amount, $81,250,000 was spent in Ontario.

RED RIVER FLOOD—Framed against a cloudy sky, the still figure of a nun is seen beside the earthen dike surrounding the St. Boniface sanatorium. Sister Blais of the Order of Grey Nuns of Montreal was one of those who stayed behind after patients were removed from the hospital as surging waters of the Red River inundated the district. The building now stands on a tiny island.

No Love Interest

TOSSA DEL MAR, Spain, May 16.—(AP).— Movie actress Ava Gardner said Monday she has no intention of marrying anyone because "I am not in love with anybody." In what she said was the first interview with anybody since arriving in Spain more than a month ago, Ava said she is not in love with Mario Cabre, Spanish bull fighter, and that "my supposed romantitc relations with Frank Sinatra are purely imaginary."

a proviso that any pipe line built must follow an all-Canadian route.

The votes against the CCF sub-amendment were 97 to 34 and 100 to 34. These, sponsored by H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) sought a provision to regulate tariffs and rates to be charged by pipe-line operators "for the protection of the Canadian consumer."

Among Liberals voting for the amendments were James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley), John Sinnott (L-Springfield), J. J. Smith (L-Moose Mountain). J. L. Gibson (Ind.-Comox Alberni) also voted for the amendments.

Vote For Bills

The Social Credit party voted for the bills but in three of the four votes, Ross Thatcher (CCF-Moose Jaw) sided with the government against his own party.

Main argument of government spokesmen has been that the Board of Transport Commissioners, which must grant a licence to any company, has the final say on the route the proposed line must follow.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, has contended the government itself has the power and responsibility to decide on the route. This he said was a responsibility it could not escape.

A. L. Smith (PC-Calgary West) said passage of the legislation without assurance of an all-Canadian route would be the responsibility of the government.

At the house opening Justice Minister Garson said a well-integrated plan for the evacuation of flooded Winnipeg has been prepared to be put into effect the minute the word is given.

In Flood Work

Defence Minister Claxton said more than 4,000 service personnel now were engaged in flood work in Manitoba. This did not include 30 RCAF planes and crews flying out bed patients from Winnipeg hospitals and taking in needed supplies in the biggest air lift in Canada's history.

The final phase of the lengthy and often bitter pipe-line debate was highlighted by a clash between Trade Minister Howe and various members of the opposition. At one point Mr. Howe said of Howard Green:

"He goes around the Parliament Buildings with a smirk on his face, a Bible in his hand and stiletto up his sleeve. He is ready to pat a man on the back or stab him as it suits his purpose at the moment."

"Are you going to challenge me to a duel too?" shot back Mr. Green.

Mr. Howe said the Vancouver member had "referred to the fact I was an American."

Denies Statement

Mr. Green denied this and said he had asked why the minister was "America first" in his attitude toward the Canada-first policy the Progressive Conservatives advocated in the pipe-line issue.

At another point the minister clashed with Mr. Drew when he said the pipe-line filibuster was "not a Canadian stunt" and came from the United States.

Mr. Drew demanded withdrawal of "any statement that I or any other member of this House has acted under instructions from the United States."

Mr. Howe said he did not say that. But inquiries into the background of west coast transmission lines, which received incorporation at the last session of Parliament, showed it was indirectly control by the Sunray Oil Company of Delaware, an American firm which builds and operates pipe lines.

The question of routes had only been brought forth "as a herring to cover up the effort to shut off competition from this United States pipe-line company," said Mr. Howe.

Still later Mr. Green asked withdrawal of "an inuendo" by Mr. Howe that he (Mr. Green) was acting on representations of the West Coast Transmission Company. Committee chairman J. A. Dion (L-Roberval) said he did not think the minister had intended to reflect on Mr. Green.

Mr. Howe said he could not and would not pre-judge the pipe-line route issue on evidence given by members of parliament in the debate. He would advise the government at the proper time when evidence given before the Transport Commissioners had been considered. There was the consumer to be considered. He was the man who eventually would pay the cost.

Resort Operators Ask Better Roads

GORE'S LANDING, May 16—(ENS).—Poor road conditions are a detriment to the tourist industry, members of the Rice Lake Tourist Association agreed when they met Thursday in the United Church hall.

The president, John Daugherty of Harwood, was in the chair and Mrs. Thelma Wilson of Keene was secretary.

The program opened with a movie showing methods employed for the elimination of insects in and around tourist resorts. The treasurer's report revealed there were 60 members.

Mr. Daugherty then read out the honorary members of the Rice Lake Tourist Association: Hon. Harold Scott, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Dr. F. G. Robertson, M.P., and James Fraser, Peterborough.

The association decided to take a booth at the sportsmen's show at Grafton on June 7. Mr. Elmhurst, Keene, was appointed to look after a prize for this event and volunteers from around Rice Lake were to be present to help distribute folders and information.

Several tourist resort owners were critical of the hydro rates now in effect, and suggestions were made to get more information on hydro.

Mr. Daugherty introduced the guest speaker, James Fraser, manager of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, who spoke about the tourist industry.

Mr. Fraser said there was a great need for information on the tourist business. He thought there should be a uniform standard for guides who really understood their business. Future expansion of tourist business demanded recreation as a necessity in developing resorts as well as fishing.

Mr. Fraser gave several ideas for entertainment, including bonfires, masquerades, lawn tennis and other items. He also felt that large manufacturing firms could be approached to stagger vacation time for their employees.

Lunch was served and the members enjoyed a social hour.

ENGINEER IN COMMONS—Agar Rodney Adamson, a mining engineer from Port Credit, is Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for York West. He has represented that Ontario constituency in the Commons since 1940.

Will Be Consecrated

VIENNA, May 16.—(AP).—Msgr. Franz Jachym, who refused April 23 to be consecrated a bishop, will be consecrated in Rome Friday, Roman Catholic church sources said Monday. He walked out of the original ceremony at St. Stephen's Cathedral here because he said he did not feel worthy.

Two Car Ferries For Scrap Heap

MONTREAL, May 15 (CP). — The two car ferries which for 42 years plied Lake Ontario between Rochester, NY, and Cobourg, are headed for the scrap heap.

The Canadian National Railways, which with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is joint owner of the ferries, announced the scrapping decision after the auction block failed to produce any satisfactory bids for the vessels.

The ferry run was abandoned because of what the CNR described as a "decline in traffic after the Second World War." The final run was made from Rochester to Cobourg last April 28.

Special Collection

TORONTO, May 16 (CP) — James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, Monday called for a special collection in all Roman Catholic churches of the Toronto archdiocese next Sunday to aid the communities of Winnipeg and Rimouski. In a letter to the priests of the archdiocese, Cardinal McGuigan asked for the special collection to be taken after the communion at all the masses.

THIS PICTURE of the first aluminum plant in the British Empire was taken in 1900. That was only 14 years after Charles Martin Hall had discovered how to make aluminum cheaply by using electricity.

The plant was erected in semi-wilderness at Shawinigan Falls because the river was being harnessed to provide electricity. Aluminum was the first to use this power. Today Shawinigan Falls has many other industries and is a hustling, thriving city.

Alcan, too, has been growing during these fifty years. Today the company has 12 plants providing jobs for 11,000 Canadians and supplying aluminum to more than 1000 independent Canadian manufacturers from coast to coast.

On its 50th Birthday, Alcan looks back over half a century of progress — and forward to continued growth with Canada.

First Shipment To Winnipeg Sent From City

The first shipment of supplies for the Winnipeg flood victims was sent to Malton Airport at noon today by the Peterborough Red Cross Society.

This shipment was in response to the telegram received Saturday by the Red Cross Society from its headquarters urgently requesting flash lights, bulbs, batteries, socks, gloves, rubberized gloves and waders for the people of the flood area.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Charles Ray, president, and Mrs. S. D. Shields, in charge of shipping the supplies, 19 pairs of work gloves, 33 pairs of rubber gloves, 41 flashlights, 105 batteries, 7 pairs of hip-length boots, and 102 pairs of sox were collected.

In Lakefield and Young's Point the people responded to the call with 26 pairs of heavy work socks, five pairs of heavy woollen socks, four pairs of gauntlet gloves, two dozen pairs of men's work mitts, 24 flashlight batteries, and 16 flash lights.

The collection was undertaken by the Lakefield branch of the Red Cross, headed by president Mrs. H. F. Ketchum and past president Mrs. W. W. Leonard.

Without a branch of the Red Cross, Bridgenorth's and Selwyn's contributions were collected under the direction of the Rev. D. P. Morris of Bridgenorth United Church, and Mrs. Gordon Ray. Their supplies included seven flash lights, 72 batteries, six pairs of hip-length waders, 43 pairs of gloves, and 42 pairs of socks.

Further donations will be accepted at the Red Cross rooms at the corner of Brock and George Streets, between 9:30 a.m. and 9:00 p.m.

Mrs. S. O. Shields' parents and two brothers were evacuated from Winnipeg 10 days ago. Her father, who is 83 and her mother who is 72, were moved six miles away from the flood area.

Young Engineer Joins Staff Board Of Works

The city engineer's department has a new employee following city council meeting Monday night.

James Gordon Hooper, who has just graduated from an engineering course, will start at $2,500. If his work is satisfactory, he will get an increase to $2,700 in three months.

Alderman Hurrel Dodds, commented that Mr. Hooper had been employed by the engineer's department last summer and was found "very excellent."

"This is part of plan in which we are trying to build up the engineering department with young university graduates from this city," Mayor Max Swanston said.

AN EXTENSIVE PAINT JOB was performed on Monday evening by members of the Peterborough Lions Club when their regular weekly meeting turned to mass work at their new swimming pool project at Riverside Park. Armed with brushes and paint, more than 60 Lions smeared the inside of the large pool with blue cement paint in record time. There is still much to be done, they say, before the official opening on June 17. A general view of the main building is shown in the UPPER photo and in the LOWER a small section of painters are shown filling hand buckets from the large paint drum.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Mayor's Fund Approved To Aid Flood, Fire Victims

A mayor's fund for the relief of the disaster-struck citizens of Winnipeg and Rimouski, Quebec, was approved by the City Council Monday night.

The Council hopes that the mayor's fund will co-ordinate the many funds, including one started Monday by The Examiner, so that the money will be recognized as coming from Peterborough.

"Peterborough has a more personal interest in the Winnipeg flood disaster because the lieutenant-governor of Manitoba, R. F. McWilliams, is a former mayor of this city," said Mayor Max J. Swanston.

He also said they did not want to forget the victims of the recent fire which levelled a large section of Rimouski.

ROTARIAN ADDRESSES

Harold Deeth, chairman of the International Service Committee of the Rotary Club, spoke to the club on Monday on Mexican Views. His talk was illustrated with slides taken during his recent trip there.

Exempt From Income Tax

Alderman John A. Dewart, who presented the idea to the council, reminded the aldermen that contributions made to the fund were exempt from income tax.

Mayor Swanston said citizens could take their contributions to any bank. The Bank of Montreal will do the bookkeeping for the fund and will send receipts to all contributors. The mayor also said people giving money to the fund could specify which relief work they wanted their money to help.

It was pointed out that already many funds have been started by union locals, churches, industrial plants, service clubs and many other organizations.

Hasn't Seen Son In 16 Years, Now In Canada

Shy Lee Gar-sun, part owner of the Lee Hop Laundry, 553 George street, is looking forward to celebrating one of the most important events in his life in the next few days—a reunion with his 16-year-old son whom he hasn't seen since the latter was a baby.

Lee Ban Yu was put aboard a plane in Hong Kong last Thursday, and it is hoped he will arrive in Toronto from Vancouver some time this week.

The last two years have held two stirring events for Mr. Lee. The first was when he received his Canadian citizenship along with two other members of his family, Lee Huang, his partner, and Lee Kam of the Lee Sing Laundry, Hunter St. The second is the meeting with his son.

As soon as the three men received their citizenship certificates they proudly applied to authorities for permission to bring their children to Canada. The trio has worked long and hard for many years, always with the goal in view that some day their families could enjoy with them, life in this new country.

Not So Fortunate

The other two rejoice with Lee Gar-sun in his good fortune, but there as a tinge of sadness in their smiles. Lee Huang's son is in Hong Kong awaiting transportation. He was expected to fly over with Lee Ban Yu, but some delay separated them. He will arrive shortly it is expected. But Lee Kam's boy cannot come. At the time the application was made, the boy was under the age limit. There was a holdup in receiving approval from the Canadian authorities and by the time the necessary authorization could have been given, the boy had passed his 18th birthday, and was no longer eligible.

All three laundrymen have been in Canada more than 30 years. Lee Gar-sun has a wife in China and a married son. He has returned to his homeland twice since coming to Canada and during his last two-year stay there his youngest boy was born. He returned here while the child was still an infant.

400 Trees Shipped To School Teachers

More than 400 trees from the Normal School tree-lot were shipped Monday to former students.

Each spring the Normal School students transplant trees from the Orono nursery to the lot immediately south of the school. Then when teaching the students are able to ask for trees from the Normal Nursery to beautify their schools.

The trees this year were sent to Picton, Grafton, Millbrook, Mount Pleasant, Belleville, Kingston and the Toronto area. Some of the varieties sent were jack pine, white spruce, hard maples, ash and walnut trees.

DP Hides In Camp Tries Knife Attack

TIMMINS, May 16 (CP)—The search for Alic Kwaniura, DP fugitive from Monteith prison farm was intensified today after a lumber company superintendent reported the escaped prisoner attacked him with a butcher knife.

Bud Saunders, Haileybury Lumber Co. superintendent, said Kwaniura lunged at his throat with the knife when he discovered the DP holed up in a building at the company's permanent camp at Wassac Monday.

With three other men he pursued Kwaniura but lost him in the underbrush. Kwaniura escaped last Thursday from the prison farm. A deportation order had been received from Ottawa and he told fellow inmates he would never be sent back to Europe alive.

Put Gas Tanks Underground In Central Area

On the recommendation of city engineer A. E. Chalmers and Fire Chief George Smith, the city council Monday passed a motion asking the city solicitor to prepare a bylaw requiring all fuel storage tanks west of the Trent canal system between Lansdowne St. and Parkhill Rd. to be underground.

On the original suggestion that a motion be passed restricting the building of storage tanks as outlined, Alderman James Gillespie said, "I am very much in favor of it, but I wonder if it would cause a great hullabaloo. Pressure might be put on the council members making it another of those things where we might have to change our minds."

Mayor Max J. Swanston said the council could ask that a bylaw be prepared and aldermen would have until the next meeting to consider it.

Alderman Gillespie made a motion asking for the preparation of such a bylaw and it was seconded by Alderman Hugh Waddell. Petroleum storage tanks outside the area mentioned will be considered individually by the council.

The council approved a request by the Imperial Oil Ltd. to install two 1,000-gallon gasoline tanks at Lillico Motors Service Station on a motion by Alderman Hugh Waddell, seconded by Alderman Adam Sands.

Family Escapes Car Turns Over

Three members of a Cooksville family escaped with only a shaking up Monday when their car overturned in the ditch on a Belmont township road, a mile north of Havelock.

William B. Puffer, his wife Beryl and daughter Sheryl, were driving north on the county road and they pulled well to the right making room for an oncoming car.

Where they swerved part of the road surface over a culvert has been washed away and the right front wheel dropped into a hole 20 inches deep. The shock of this impact pulled the car into the ditch where it rolled over and stopped upside down.

Damage to the vehicle is estimated at $300. Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey of Hastings investigated.

Collide On Warsaw Road

A total of $200 damage was caused to a car and a truck that collided Monday on the Warsaw road, three quarters of a mile east of the canal bridge.

Robert Black of Cavan, was driving his car west on the Warsaw road when he decided to make a left turn into the driveway of N. A. Kitchen, RR 10 Peterborough. An eastbound Peterborough truck driven by Paul Lavictoire, RR 10, Peterborough, collided with the car.

Both vehicles were struck on the left side. The truck, owned by the Habegail Fogger Co., George St., sustained $150 damage, while the car received about $50 damage.

Provincial Constable George Henderson investigated.

RCAF Ace Gets Medical Degree

HALIFAX, May 16 (CP) — George U. Hill, one of Canada's greatest air aces in the Second World War, walked down the steps of Dalhousie University today with a degree in medicine under his arm.

Dr. Hill, formerly a squadron leader in the RCAF, already is a specialist in doing things the hard way. He won the Distinguished Flying Cross three times in the course of knocking down 16 enemy aircraft over Britain, France, North Africa, Malta, Sicily and Germany.

He survived nearly six years of combat and 12 months as a prisoner during which he lost 70 pounds and picked up a head of grey hair at the age of 25.

Married with three children, he turned down a permanent career in the air force after the war and went back to college. Now he will go to Fredericton Junction, N. B., and hang out his shingle as a family doctor.

Decorate City

Shortly after midnight the city began decorating the streets for the visit of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent on Saturday. Gay colored bunting has been strung at appropriate intervals along George St. and hydrants are being repainted. Early today Fire Chief George Smith and a detail of firemen were stringing bunting in front of the county buildings in Victoria Park. A large welcome sign has been put up so the Prime Minister can see it as he goes down the steps to speak to the school children. Merchants and local residents are co-operating by decorating their stores and homes. Peterborough should be spic and span by Saturday.

Junior Chamber Installs New Officers

W. F. (Bill) Edworthy was installed as 1950 president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night. P. D. Scollard, president of the Chamber of Commerce, administered the oath.

Past president Doug Vaisey administered the oath to the rest of the executive and the directors.

Following is a list of Jaycee officers for 1950-51:

W. F. Edworthy, president; Don Clarke, 1st vice-president; W. A. Curtin, 2nd vice-president; Leonard Martin, executive secretary; and Gordon Patterson, treasurer.

Directors are Ken Billings, Keith Mitchell, Charles Boulter, Norman Chate, Joseph Marino and Jack Thompson.

All were present for the installation ceremonies but Messrs. Boulter, Marino and Thompson.

The elections were held in April.

Year's Review

Doug Vaisey reviewed the year's work of the local Jaycees and thanked the membership—particularly the committee chairmen—for their work on the various projects.

He reminded them the organization was not a service club.

"For many years the Junior Chamber of Commerce has been the basis of an excellent training ground for young men who have later left their mark in commerce and industry."

President Edworth gave a roundup report of the recent Region VI convention held in Peterborough.

A Peterborough resolution that the region be divided into three districts with a vice president chosen from each one to sit on the executive, was later adopted.

At present the region is roughly the southeastern portion of Ontario, or all territory east of the Oshawa-Mattawa line.

Jack Moore of Peterborough is vice preseident of the Peterborough district; Harvey Burton of the Kingston district, and Ed Kidd of the Arnprior district.

Propose Ending Count's Exile

PARIS, May 16 (Reuters) — Deputy Paul Hutin of the National Assembly has proposed a law which would end the exile of the Count of Paris, head of the former French Royal House. Hutin is a member of the Mouvement Republicain Populaire.

The bill, if passed by the assembly, would supress a law of 1886 stating that "heads of former reigning families and their principal heirs cannot reside in France."

Henri d'Orleans, 42-year-old Count of Paris, father of nine children, and foreign legionnaire for four months under the name of Henri Dorliac, now spends his time between Portugal and Morocco. He has been in France only twice in the last 25 years.

In 1926, when he succeeded his uncle, the Duke of Orleans, as head of the Royal House he had to leave. The French government turned down his offer to join the French army in 1939 but accepted him in the Foreign Legion in May, 1940.

LOST $23

The first night of the carnival a young Peterborough man said he was stripped of $23, all the money he had on him, at one of the gambling games. He said he was betting just 50 cents at a time, but almost before he knew it his whole roll was gone.

Paving Program Delayed When Council Decides Tenders Should Be Called

Peterborough's street paving program will be delayed two or three weeks as a result of a decision by the City Council Monday night to call for tenders to do this year's part of the program. Alderman Hurrel Dodds proposed that the contract for 1950 be signed with the Warren Paving Co., Ltd., on condition that it could be signed on the same terms and conditions as last year's contract. His motion was seconded by Alderman Doug Miller.

He told the council members that asphalt and cement have both gone up in price from last year and if they could come to the same terms as in last year's contract, it would be a good move to sign up now. He said this was the opinion, as well, of City Engineer Chalmers.

Asks For Tenders

"Is there any reason we couldn't call for tenders?" Alderman Hugh Waddell asked.

"This is more or less a continuation of our contract signed two years," explained Mayor Max J. Swanston. He said at that time the city engineer had said Warren's was the only company who then tendered capable of doing the work.

He intimated other companies had entered lower tenders, but they did not themselves have the equipment to do the work and would have to sub-contract some of it.

The mayor said the engineer believed Warren's had done a good job and he had been able to get them to do just what he wanted them to do.

"I just want to be sure we are getting the best price," Alderman Waddell said. "I am not questioning the work. They're a very reliable outfit."

"We may be getting kind of careless by signing this contract this way, and we may do it when we shouldn't," Alderman Ernest C. Braund commented. "The others who lost out last time, may sharpen their pencils a bit this time," he added.

Alderman Douglas Miller said "If the Warren Company were not established here, I doubt if we could get it at the same price."

Moved Amendment

"I think we're just guessing about what we can do," Alderman Braund said. "I move an amendment to ask for tenders."

His motion was seconded by Alderman Adam Sands, and the amendment carried.

"May I ask how long this is going to delay our program?" Alderman Miller said.

"The engineer says two weeks," Mayor Swanston replied. The city engineer said work could have begun early in June.

The work planned for this year includes paving and storm sewers at a total estimated cost of $339,000. It covers pavement on Park St. from McDonnel St. to Parkhill Rd.; Rogers St. from the end of the pavement south of Hunter St. to the southern boundary of James St.; Lock St. from Lansdowne to King George St. and a storm drain for the same distance.

Monaghan Rd. from 16 feet north of Frank St. to Lansdowne St. and a storm drain on Monaghan Rd. from New Romaine St. to Lansdowne St.; Townsend St. from Aylmer to Park Sts.; and Perry St. between Aylmer and Park Sts. The paving part of the program will cost about $100,000.

CAR OVERTURNS

Design Boy Fishing To Surmount Fountain

The design of a boy fishing was chosen by the city council Monday night to surmount a fountain in Victoria Park.

Alderman Herbert N. Young explained the figure of the boy would be put on the existing base. Lighting, water supply and drainage will be furnished by the Board of Works. No estimate of the cost has yet been obtained and until that is received the fountain will not get the council's okay.

"I hope it was budgeted by the Board of Works," commented Alderman James Gillespie.

"It was," said Alderman Young.

New System Aids School Teachers

TORONTO, May 16 (CP)—Education Minister Porter of Ontario said Monday night that grouping the first three grades in Ontario elementary schools in a primary division under the new curriculum will help the teachers provide for individual differences in pupils while the children progress in their own age groups.

In an address prepared for delivery in the "Provincial Affairs" series of free-time political broadcasts over an Ontario network of the CBC, he said the primary division arrangement is an example of efforts being made to increase flexibility in the school system.

Even extremely young pupils should be encouraged to choose for themselves, he said. That meant that they should not be overtaught, but should have a chance to think of what they are doing and find ways best suited to them of doing what they have chosen.

Won't File Liens Against Properties

TORONTO, May 16 (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow announced Monday the Ontario government will no longer file liens against properties owned by old-age pensioners.

"It has been found that many old people are taking advantage of the high prices for real estate and are selling their homes," he said in a statement. "We no sooner register a claim against the property than we have to discharge it.

At Ottawa, Dr. G. F. Davidson, Deputy Minister of Health, said the step announced by Mr. Goodfellow brings Ontario into line with several provinces, notably British Columbia, which for some years have not followed the practice of filing liens against estate.

Need To Pave Road

EDMONTON, May 16.—(CP).—Traffic over the Alaska Highway would increase if the Canadian section was paved, Dr. Ernest Gruening, governor of Alaska, said in an interview Monday. "I guess people in the U.S. are used to riding on pavement," he said as he reported his country was paving 600 to 700 miles of the highway in Alaska.

Approve New Bylaw For Merger Proposal

TORONTO, May 16.—(CP).—City Council Monday, after lengthy debate, approved a new by-law paving the way for a new application to the Ontario Municipal Board for progressive amalgamation of 12 smaller-municipal units in the greater Toronto area.

The city's application was rejected by the Ontario board on a technicality last week, when counsel for York Township contended successfully that the city could not "amalgamate" only portions of two of the smaller units—Scarboro and Etobicoke. The application and the bylaw on which it was based did not contain the word "annexation."

The new bylaw provides for the amalgamation of all of the 12 suburban municipalities. If the order is granted by the board, against opposition of some of the smaller municipalities, the new city of Toronto would cover an area of about 240 square miles, with a population of more than 1,000,000.

Agree On Settlement At Brantford Plant

TORONTO, May 15 (CP)—Labor Minister Daley announced Monday night that a basis of settlement has been agreed upon by representatives of the Cockshutt Plow Company at Brantford and officials of Local 458, United Automobile Workers of America (CIO).

Mr. Daley said details of the settlement were not immediately available. They will be submitted to a membership meeting of the union tonight.

Meantime, both parties agreed that work at the plant will be resumed this morning.

The settlement affects some 1,700 employees at the plant.

The union earlier rejected a conciliation board suggestion that included a 40-hour week plus nine cents an hour increase, and a further study of a pension plan.

Unauthorized Walkout Closes Two Factories

WINDSOR, May 16 (CP)—An unauthorized work stoppage on the trim line of one of the Ford Motor Company plants caused the closing of two plants late Monday.

A company spokesman said on Monday night he expected the plants to reopen with the morning shift today.

The spokesman said the work stoppage stemmed from the transfer of one man who was putting fittings on automobiles in Plant 4, which is an assembly line. He said the man went to the other job, but his fellow workers protested and refused to work.

Pulp Industry Showing A New Trend

By JOHN RACY

MONTREAL, May 16 (CP)—A hint that Canada's pulp-and-paper industry may be swinging in a new direction came last week from a spokesman for the industry.

At present, newsprint constitutes 50 per cent of all Canada's pulp-and-paper products. As Canada's most valuable export, it accounts for 25 cents of every United States dollar coming into the country. Exports of all pulp-and-paper products account for 37 cents of the U.S. dollar.

US publishers depend on the Canadian supply. R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, told a meeting in Vancouver last week the Dominion's increased post-war production "has made possible the spectacular development in size, circulation and advertising content of American newspapers."

But, he noted, recent pulp installations have been for purposes other than newsprint production

Have Problem

"Under today's conditions of world supply and demand for newsprint," he said, "I believe that American publishers have a problem of ensuring the future supply of their principal raw material. On past performance, Canada has been for the American press the quickest and cheapest and most reliable source for their newsprint.

"In the present situation of tight supply, Canada should be the obvious place to turn for a solution. But American publishers might perhaps reflect on the fact that since the war nine new mills have been built or reconstructed in Canada, with a total basic pulp capacity of about 600,000 tons, and not a single one of them is a newsprint producer.

"Incidentally, the same process seems to be going on in the U.S.; between 1939 and 1949, U.S. pulp production increased by over 5,000,000 tons, while U.S. newsprint production decreased by 70,000 tons."

He said the decisions to establish in Canada new mills for pulp production "were mainly based on economic judgments as to the most profitable uses to which Canadian pulpwood could be put."

Reds Cut Reparations

LONDON, May 16.—(AP).—The Soviet government has decided to allow a reduction of German reparations payments, Moscow radio said early today. The announcement came after a weekend statement by the Big Three foreign ministers in London that Britain, the United States and France have agreed to relax controls on Western Germany, but that no peace treaty would be possible while Soviet policy remained unchanged.

Commonwealth Called An Unique Organization

LONDON, May 16 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee today described the British Commonwealth as a unique organization—the only instance where an empire had been built up by a powerful state, which had by deliberate policy transferred its power to those who were formerly subordinates and made them equal partners.

Addressing 6,000 youths and girls at a world forum of youth here, he said: "People lightheartedly talk about European federation without realizing all the difficulties. Yet here we have an organization that works without any constitution.

"You might think that would make it very weak. Twice in my lifetime the great test of war has come and our enemies thought that so loose and ill-defined a structure as the British Commonwealth of Nations would prove weak and break up.

"On the contrary, it proved stronger than states which from the point of view of a paper constitution seemed to be far more closely knit together.

"The reason was that co-operation between nations and between peoples and states does not depend on the perfection of written constitutions, but on the will to co-operate and on the acceptance of common ideas."

After Attlee's speech delegates from Canada, Austria, Italy, Denmark, Sweden, Jamaica, France, South Africa and the United States were introduced.

4,000 Students In Water Duel

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 16—(AP)—A water pistol duel between two fraternities exploded Monday night into a water fight involving about 4,000 Syracuse University seudents, including co-eds.

The melee spread over 14 city blocks in the campus area before it was quelled by police, firemen and sheriff's deputies. It laster three hours.

Some co-eds donned bathing suits for the mass dousing. Passersby were drenched.

Police called it a "spring fever riot." A student spokesman said the undergraduates "just released tension" in the face of examinations, which begin Monday.

Charged With Murder

MONTREAL, May 16.—(CU).—Peter Mentenko, 24, Monday was charged with murder and ordered for preliminary hearing May 23 shortly after a coroner's jury held him criminally responsible for the death of his half-brother, George Henechuk, 24. Mentenko was acquitted of a robbery slaying three years ago.

HAS HELPFUL HUSBAND

"Not everyone's husband is a chemist, so I pass on what Ed told me when my wash looked dingy and yellow. 'Blue is one of the seven colours that combine to make white,' he said. 'Without blue there is no pure white.' Now I just swish Reckitt's Blue in the final rinse for a wash that's snowy white every time. Out of the blue comes the whitest wash. And with Reckitt's Blue I avoid any danger from chemicals that may damage fabrics."

Normal Students Study SoilConservation

Normal School classes moved Monday afternoon to the Harry Blewett farm on the Chemong Highway. Complying with the requirement that teachers-in-training be instructed in the methods of teaching conservation practices, the staff of the school arranged a visit to a farm where a serious attempt is being made to employ soil conservation methods.

"Mr. Blewett, the owner, is in charge of his farm," said Frank Paterson, agricultural representative, in addressing the students. "What he is doing is only what any farmer is able to do under similar conditions."

"The Ontario Department of Agriculture stands ready with advice and is interested in assisting Mr. Blewett in, order to demonstrate the feasibility of improved methods of crop production."

Mr. Paterson added that a serious attempt is being made to prevent soil erosion by means of strip planting along the contours and to restore soil fertility by means of planned crop rotation and the use of a soil analysis program to determine the proper type of fertilizer required.

"The Blewett farm is showing encouraging progress."

The visit to the farm was the culmination of a series of lessons and activities in which the students learned to use large scale maps. During these activities they built models and drew charts in order to develop ability in interpreting contour lines. They prepared a series of exercises by which this work may be accomplished by the pupils of the intermediate section when the revised curriculum becomes effective in September.

On the farm the students observed how effectively the grass strips checked any tendency for the topsoil to wash away. They noted the growth of new clover seedings, the rapidity with which the hardwood bush is being reforested simply by preventing the livestock from ranging in the woods and the effectiveness with which otherwise useless land has been planted with small pine trees.

Principal L. W. Copp and F. B. Smitheram arranged the visit. Mr. Paterson and his assistant, Robert Bell, accompanied the group.

Teachers C. E. Potts, Quirt McKinney and George E. Munro, of the school staff, assisted in conducting the tour.

Request Made Council For Street Lights

A petition from the residents of Sneilgrove Rd. and Swanston Ave. for street lights was turned over to the Utilities Commission by the city council Monday on a motion by Alderman Herbert N. Young seconded by Doug Miller.

The question of a water main to Downer's Corners was brought before the city council again this year by Alderman Miller. He said last year the Utilities Commission reported it couldn't handle the job because of the cost of crossing the Otonabee river, but added it might consider it this year.

Alderman Miller suggested the city council write the Utilities requesting it "do all in its power to swing it this year. We want them to know we haven't forgotten the matter," he commented.

Harbridge-Cunningham

The marriage took place Saturday in Elim Tabernacle of Marjorie Beryle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cunningham of Peterborough, to Mr. Wilfred Darl Elroy Harbridge, son of Mrs. Frank Harbridge of Gravenhurst and the late Mr. Harbridge. The Rev. F. Warburton officiated.

The church was decorated with daffodils, palms and ferns and the music was played by Miss Elizabeth Mehew. Before the bride entered Miss Marion Parks sang "The voice that breathed o'er Eden" and during the signing of the register she sang "A wedding prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a net yoke edged in lace, the bodice fitted and buttoned down the back to a small bustle and the skirt falling softly in a long train. Her veil of silk illusion was fingertip length and caught to a seed pearl halo and she was carrying red roses.

Wedding attendants were Miss Doris Marian Cunningham, frocked in pale green faille with matching hat and mittens and carrying pink carnations, and Miss Barbara Harbridge wearing orchid taffeta with matching mittens and flowered headpiece and carrying a nosegay of roses and sweet peas. Miss Merilyn Fee as flower girl was in a yellow taffeta dress with matching mitts and flower headpiece, and carried a nosegay of roses and sweet peas.

Groomsman was Mr. Robert Elwell of Gravenhurst and the ushers were Gordon Parks, Peterborough, and Murney Harbridge, Gravenhurst.

A reception was held in the YWCA Green Room where the bride's mother assisted to receive, wearing a printed silk dress with navy redingote and hat of navy straw trimmed with pink roses. The groom's sister, Mrs. Leonard Harbridge, Gravenhurst, also assisted, wearing wine crepe with a navy hat. Each had a corsage of pink roses.

When leaving on a motor trip the bride was wearing a navy gabardine suit with pink and navy accessories and pink roses in her corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Harbridge will live in Gravenhurst.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough Now 6th Woman Enter Commons

HAMILTON, May 16 (CP). — The House of Commons, an exclusively male stronghold, since last June, will have to adjust itself to another woman member, the sixth in its history.

Having survived the presence of such contrasting personalities as ebullient Agnes Macphail, motherly Mrs. George Black, and sharp - tongued Mrs. Gladys Strum, the honorable members will be confronted with a chic, grey-haired, 45-year-old accountant who knows her way around the political arena.

When Mrs. Ellen Fairclough carried Hamilton West constituency for the Progressive Conservatives in Monday's by-election, it was the climax of a political career that carried her through City Council to the head of the poll in Hamilton's elections for Board of Control last January.

She has pushed issues ranging from better control of Hamilton's dog population to a campaign against allowing minors in beverage rooms.

Second Try

In the Federal field, Mrs. Fairclough succeeded on her second try, after giving Hon. Colin Gibson a tough battle in the same constituency in the 1949 general election. Monday, in the bye-election brought about by Mr Gibson's appointment to the Ontario Supreme Court, she won with a plurality of almost 4,000 votes over Liberal and CCF opponents.

Her victory makes Mrs. Fairclough the first woman MP since Mrs. Sturm lost out in 1949 in her bid for re-election as CCF member for Qu-Appelle, Sask.

Others to precede her were Miss Macphail, who won Grey South-East as a Progressive in 1921; Mrs. Black, who held Yukon for the Progressive Conservatives from 1935 to 1940; Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, who served a term as Unity candidate in Battleford North in 1940, and Mrs. Cora Casselman, who won Edmonton East for the Liberals in a by-election, but was defeated in 1945.

Mrs. Fairclough has not confined herself to politics. She keeps house for her husband an 18-year-old son, carries on h practice as an accountant, and active in local women's clubs.

Tully-Bradley Wedding

Spring flowers and fern formed the setting in Trinity United Church Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Wilma Loreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bradley, and Mr. Donald Maxwell Tully, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Tully, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. D. Bruce Gordon performed the marriage and Mr. Donald Kennedy, organist, played the wedding music. The soloist, Miss Marjorie Turner, sang "Love, Oh Perfect Love" and "Because".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a gown of "misty morn" slipper satin with long flowing train, a veil of nylon net caught to a star-shaped headdress set with seed pearls and rhinestones, and she carried a bouquet of red roses with Star of Bethlehem.

Mrs. T. Bradley as matron of honor, and the bride's sister, Miss Helen Bradley as bridesmaid, wore frocks of the same design of pink and blue taffeta, each with mittens of the material, and they had bands of matching flowers in their hair and carried bouquets of roses. Flower girl Patricia Pearcey, cousin of the bride, was dressed in green taffeta smocked with pink and blue, and carried a nosegay of sweet peas.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Neil Tully. Ushers were Gerald Bradley and Gerald Tully, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception took place at the bride's home, 172 Adeline St. Her mother was receiving, dressed in steel blue satin with hat of navy and wearing pink roses in a corsage. The groom's mother wore a dress of navy silk and matching hat and pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Tully are on a trip to the United States and on return will live in Peterborough. For travelling, the bride chose a navy gabardine suit and grey accessories and her corsage when going away was of pink carnations.

DOROTHY DIX

Choose Someone Congenial When Seeking Life Partner

DEAR MISS DIX — I am a young man 21 years of age I am fond of studying. Like swimming, baseball, football and other sports. Don't dance. Despise drinking. Smoke to excess. Can you tell me from the above description of myself what type of girl would be suited for me?

WONDERING PAT

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—I should think that what I call the Lady Type of girl would best suit you. I use the term Lady Type to designate the girl who has held on to the old-fashioned virtues of women with one hand, while grabbing the new ones with the other hand.

She is intelligent without posing as a highbrow. She is athletic without parading around in breeches all the time. She is a good sport without making an imitation man of herself.

Quiet Type

I think that sort of girl would suit a man of your type—a girl who would be interested in study, a girl who read and could talk about what was happening in the world, a girl who liked quiet things and who would be satisfied to stay at home of evenings instead of wanting to be perpetually taken about to places of amusement, a girl who was domestic in her tastes and looked forward to homemaking as a career instead of a chore.

But how wise you are to consider before marriage the type of girl who will be congenial to you, instead of waiting until after marriage to find out that you have got a misfit, as so many men do? The average man in selecting a wife never seems to take his own personality into account. His concern is solely with the surface attractions of the girl, and he never asks himself whether she has a single quality that will be what he wants in a wife.

Hence we have the unhappy marriages in which disgruntled husbands complain that their wives fail to give satisfaction, and al thel grief that comes about through men not finding out the type of wife they really needed. So my advice to every young man is to study himself even more than he does the girl before he pops the question to any young woman.

DEAR MISS DIX—What about ungrateful children? I have been a good mother. I have worked hard and denied myself most of the ordinary comforts of life in order to raise my children. As soon as they were self-supporting they married and when I was worked out they told me, "We cannot help you. We have our own to take care of." So I exist on State welfare. Now I am sick in bed. But they do not come to see me. Neither do they call up on the telephone, although they have cars and telephones. They have homes and children of their own. They are able to buy clothes, wine, good food and go to the movies. They have time to go anywhere except to see mother.

A MOTHER.

ANSWER—I hope that there are not many such heartless and ungrateful people in the world as your children are, but unless their consciences are utterly dead within them you may rest assured that they will be bitterly punished for their treatment of you. That, of course, will be no solace to you because a mother's love forgives all things and would save her children from the results of even the crimes that they commit against her.

Parents invariably reap what they sow in their children's conduct toward them. If you had taught your children to consider you; if you had demanded respect of them; if you had made them share the family burdens, they would have grown up with a sense of their responsibility to you, and would never have dreamed of such a thing as defaulting on their obligation to you.

Your mistake is made, but your sufferings have not been in vain if they make other mothers refrain from spoiling their children.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX—Is there a cure for a broken heart? I have come to the parting of the ways with the man I love and I can't forget him. I live in a country town and life is so dull and dreary that I wish I was dead. What can I do to forget?

BROKEN-HEARTED.

ANSWER—You can forget your love if you will use a little will power. Every time you find your thoughts turning in his direction, wrench them away. Keep busy. Keep doing things. Work so hard all day that you will be glad to go to sleep at night.

If possible, leave the town that you are in. Let fresh interests crowd out the old interests. And inasmuch as like cures like, find a new love to take the place of the old. That is a panacea for broken hearts.

What's Right

You have invited a number of persons to dinner and one guest telephones to say that he will be late and asks you not to wait for him.

WRONG: Feel that you must wait for the late guest, even though your dinner may be ruined by the time he arrives.

RIGHT: Go ahead and serve your other guests, saving a plate for the late guest.

"George is conditioning himself for summer!"

Women "Stealing His Stuff" Fashionable English Fabrics

By ALISON SETTLE

LONDON, May 16.—It is remarkable how many fabrics, fashion lines and details are now being shared by British men and women. The fashion for men's clothes has turned to infinitely lighter fabrics, more interesting colors and patterns, and also younger lines. Sleeves and trousers are slimmer; shoulders natural, coats and jackets waisted, revers long and narrow.

At the same time, women's daytime fashions have turned to straighter lines. They are wearing dustcoats and box coats which now approximate to the coats which men wear. In London shops like Burberry or Aquascutum, which design for men and women alike, you will find styles that are almost identical in the new ranges being designed for autumn. Many are made in reversible woollens, one side patterned, the other plain, as, for example, a plain coffee cloth reversing to a blend of brown and cream shepherd checks.

Fashionable Flannels

The West of England worsted flannels which Dior use with so much success for women's suits in his Paris collection were identical with the flannels from which Englishmen's sports clothes are made, for men now demand the lightest of weights and color blends far more interesting than anything which they have recently used. Similarly, the Scottish tweeds which Belmain showed in his last Paris collection is only a slightly lighter version of tweeds chosen by the leading Savile Row tailors for men. And among the London designers Hardy Ames makes a favorite suit for women in grey-blue gabardine similar to that which his own tailor makes up for men's sports use.

The favorite daytime line of the year for women, introduced in London by Charles Creed, is the very line with which the "dandy" of 1830, Count d'Orsay, electrified London society of that date. It shows a jacket with deeply indented waistline, scooped down revers, as narrow as they are curving, framing an elegantly fine white shirt, all pleats. This line of Creed's was shown a week in advance of a similar line by Dior in Paris in which he used English silk-alpaca, by Ascher, for the revers.

Tartan Dinner Jacket

The tartan dinner jacket which has been popularized all over the world after the King had worn it, in the Royal Stewart tartan, made by George Harrison, is not a fashion which has as yet been copied by women. They use their tartans for the making of narrow, lowcut waistcoats, made with scooped waistlines and worn over finely pleated shirts. The best-liked tartan for this purpose is that of the Ramsay clan in black and white, and the style a "Postboy" cut of the nearly nineteenth century, closely seamed at the waist and using small flap-covered pockets.

Women's casual jackets now closely approximate in style to men's riding jackets, both in lambswool and in whipcord, navy and also cafe-au-lait being the tones best liked. Such jackets have cuffed sleeves and small flap-covered "ticket" pockets like the men's.—(OFNS Copyright).

WMS Dedicates To Advancement

HAVELOCK, May 16—(ENS)—The 25th anniversary service of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was celebrated by the Havelock auxiliary Thursday at the home of Mrs. Fred Rogers.

The worship service was led by the president, Mrs. G. W. Chiles. The watchwords of the society, "The World for Christ", "Not by might nor by power but by My spirit saith the Lord of Hosts" and "Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it", were stressed.

The past 25 years were reviewed by Mesdames F. R. Vanderburgh, O. Blakely, C. J. Gall and F. Chase.

"Growing with the years in our auxiliary", followed with the following members assisting: Mesdames R. Bonney, A. Anderson, F. R. Vanderburgh, T. Easterbrooke, J. Cochrane and C. J. Gall. Then followed a litany of dedication to advance.

Mrs. Vanderburgh gave a report of the Mission Band convention held in Peterborough recently.

Four bales of clothing were recently shipped to Toronto for overseas relief work. This shipment included four new quilts and a quantity of new rubber footwear donated by E. D. Chiles.

Charm School Teaches Poise To Air Hostesses

By MICHAEL O'MARA

HESTON, Middlesex, Eng. (CP)—A "charm school," where 36 girls—including one Canadian—are learning "tact and deportment," has been opened here by the British Overseas Airways Corporation.

Also on the curriculum: how to serve food without spills at high speed, how to deal with wild animals and how to survive if forced down in a jungle.

The school, a four-storey, red-brick building which became a convent after the Crimean War, has been converted to the teaching of air hostesses.

In place of the nuns' dormitories are classrooms — with a difference. Some are miniature aircraft galleys, some are "mock-up" fuselages where the girls practise serving difficult-to-handle dishes to imaginary passengers.

The girls earn £5 ($15.50) a week during their 12-week course. They also study midwifery — in case of an obstetrical emergency in midair — aviation medicine and how to wear uniforms and make-up smartly.

Among the pupils is Anne Freestone, younger daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Freestone of 168 Cameron St., Moncton, N.B.

Was With Red Cross

A graduate of Netherwood School, Rothesay, N.B., Miss Freestone served during the war with the Canadian Red Cross aboard ships carrying warbrides to Canada.

She came to Britain in November, 1946, and, working for a charter company, logged 900 flying hours on Middle East and African routes.

Like several of her class-mates, 27-year-old Anne says she wanted to take the present course "before even thinking of marriage," because it will "make us better wives."

Columnist Beachcomber (J. B. Morton) of The Daily Express poked gentle fun at this training of "aeroreceptionettes."

"Tact in the air means that when you detect a jaguar in the plane you say quietly, 'We are now passing over Cheltenham'," he wrote.

"Deportment follows as you come swaying down the aisle between the seats with a cup of coffee and a biscuit in one hand, a hunk of raw meat for the jaguar in the other, and balanced on your head, a bottle of pills for the green man.

"Survival in jungles depends largely on whether the forced landing includes the jaguar."

Executive Visit Apsley Outpost

APSLEY, May 16 — (ENS) — The Red Cross outpost at Apsley was visited last week by Mrs. Butzerin of Washington, D. C., director of International Red Cross.

Having heard outstanding reports from nurses from European countries who have visited Canada from time to time, she made the trip to see for herself the activities of the Red Cross in this country and of the outposts in particular.

Miss Glover, nurse-in-charge, entertained the international director to tea, when others meeting the visitor were Mrs. Charles Ray and Miss Dix, Peterborough branch; Mrs M. C. Tucker, Mrs. W. Lean, Mrs R. Tucker, Mrs Don Newberry and Mrs. Ruby Edwards.

Two Youths Get Reform Terms Violent Theft

Two youths, Clinton Stockdale, 19, RR 4, Peterborough, and Roy Hotts, 20, 675 Donegal St., were sentenced to five months definite and two months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory on charges of robbery with violence by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court here today.

Stockdale was on two years suspended sentence on a conviction of breaking, entry and theft in January. Hotts was given a suspended sentence in August, 1948, on a similar charge.

A third youth charged, Ted Bosley, 18 of 96 Lynch St., was remanded without plea or election to Wednesday.

Sideroad Robbery

Evidence given at a trial a week ago was that the three took Paul Lowes, 16, for a ride and robbed him of $65 on a Smith township side road about three miles north of here.

Lowes had told the trio he had "quite a bundle" and "would like to see the man big enough to take it from him."

One of the three hit Lowes in the mouth with his fist before one of them held him and another searched him taking the money and wallet from his sock. Provincial Police recovered $15 of the money from under a bush at the rear of Bosley's home and $37 from under a tree in a field at the north west part of the city.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said apparently Stockdale had taken no part either in the violence or the robbery, but he had been present and had driven the car.

J. C. N. Currelly, representing Stockdale, said Lowes had boasted of getting the money by dealing in "hot" cars.

They are all tarred with the same brush, Mr. Currelly added.

Robert Clark, a leader in the young people's group of Mark St. United Church, said after his brush with the

Finds People of London Friendly, Anxious to Help

By JEAN E. STENTON

LONDON, May— I am about to shatter one of the most popular and precious illusions Canadians entertain about London that it's an unfriendly city.

Before I left Canada and in France, everyone warned me: "wait till you get to London. You'll have a bad time. The people are so cold and unfriendly."

My experience was just the reverse. The people were wonderful. It was to be expected that those with whom I had contacts or letters of introduction would be kind, but I am referring to casual passersby whose help I sought and got. It was not only willingly given but always in the most friendly manner.

Jean Stenton

Wherever I went in the big Commonwealth capital, I found help and co-operation beyond the call of duty. I recall two small instances in particular. I was having lunch in an old restaurant on Ludgate Hill near St. Paul's. When the waitress learned I was a Canadian, she went out of her way to recommend certain things on the menu, and to suggest things I should visit while in London. When I was leaving, she came all the way across the room to wish me a happy visit and a good trip home.

Another small courtesy, but to me an important one, took place on a bus. I wasn't sure which one to take, and while I was enquiring a passenger overheard, stepped up and told me this was the one I wanted. So I hopped on. I had no way of knowing where to get off, but when the time came, the same passenger leaned across the aisle and told me this was the spot. At the same time, the conductor, who had recognized my accent as foreign when I bought my ticket, tore up the stairs of the double-decker, to tell me. As I had not asked him to, and it was the rush hour, I thought his courtesy remarkable.

Friendly on Train

In the hotels, I found the clerks and bell boys very friendly and helpful and nothing was too much trouble. The friendliness kept up in my train travel to Scotland. With the reputation English people have for ignoring strangers, I had vision of sitting like a statue all the way to Edinburgh and not saying a word to anyone in the carriage. An older woman got on at London and chatted much of the way up. She took me in charge when we went to the dining room and pointed out all the things of interest we passed at each station until she left in Northern England. An RAF officer, who is now in the Reserve and on his way back to a teaching job after two weeks on manoeuvres, was very nice too. When he learned I was from Canada, he added to the sightseeing information and was anxious to have a comparison of life in Can and the UK. He had had severa Canadians in his squadron during the war.

In London, I had the pleasure of meeting a former Peterborough girl, Mrs. Arthur Steele (nee Eileen Sellon.) She had been a teacher on the city staff and was the first Peterborough war bride to go to Britain. Mrs. Steele met her husband in Kingston while attending Queen's University and he was training with the air force. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sellon, Aylmer street.

Mrs. Steele met me for breakfast, the day I left for Canada. She arrived at the hotel at 7:45 a.m. and for three hours our tongues wagged furiously about Peterborough people and doings. She would be delighted to see anyone from here who happens to be in London.

Although I had only two days in London, I managed, with help, to see a surprising number of things. It had always been my impression that points of interest were scattered over a wide area. But to my surprise, it is quite compact and I saw a great deal more than I could ever have expected. The number of beautiful parks in the centre of such a big metropolis, is amazing.

Taken In Charge

The da I arrived from Paris, I met the ily of one of our reporters, Mi Hazel Paull. They took my sightseeing in charge and we started out at 3 o'clock and walked most of the time till 7:15. They estimated we had covered about five miles and we saw most of the things in the guide book.

Since I was staying at the Stafford Hotel, tucked off in a quiet corner almost beside St. James Palace, we headed past Marlborough House where Queen Mary was in residence, Clarence House and Buckingham Palace. The latter was my one disappointment in London. It just didn't look like a palace. We then walked through the lovely St. James Park with its lake and swans, past the barracks of several famous regiments and on to Westminster Abbey.

The Abbey is the most interesting and historic religious building in England, and architecturally, one of the masterpieces of the Middle Ages. The first authentic records place its foundation in 1042 by Edward the Confessor and since that time until George II, all the kings of England were buried there. Almost all have been crowned there.

As you enter the Abbey, the first simple but striking thing to greet the eye is the grave of the Unknown Soldier. Four slender poles are placed at the corners and there is a wreath there. Its plain, but lovely design, is in keeping with the rest of the beautiful building. Many other famous men are buried there too. Its vaulted ceilings and gracious design make it to me, the loveliest building I saw in London, and I took a few minutes to go back for a second visit one morning before I left the city.

Didn't Miss Much

From there we passed to the House of Commons, the House of Lords, the Embankment and saw the statue of Bodicea on the bridge nearby. We went to the Horse Guards in Whitehall to see the changing of the guard, but they double crossed us and held it 30 minutes earlier. We also visited No. 10 and No. 11 Downing Street, the homes of the Prime Minister and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Both are tucked in on a narrow little street, quite different from what I had expected.

We visited Trafalgar Square, Canada House, St. Martin's in the Field, the Cenotaph, Dickens' Old Curiosity Shop, the place where King Charles was beheaded, the City of London, the lovely Law Courts buildings and saw some of the heavy bomb damage there, Fleet Street and around St. Paul's.

For more than 1300 years, a Cathedral Church dedicated to St Paul, has stood upon this site, which is the highest point within the City radius. In the early days of the 7th century a band of missionaries, led by St. Augustine built a Cathedral Church in this position. This was destroyed by fire in 1037 and was succeeded by a Norman building which survived until 1666 when it suffered almost complete destruction in the Great Fire of London.

Great Buried There

The present building was designed by Sir Christopher Wren, and was completed in 1710. There is so much of interest in this church that it would take a whole day to see it all. Many great people such as the Duke of Wellington, Lord Nelson, Christopher Wren, Jellicoe, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Turner and Florence Nightingale are buried there. There are fine monuments to both Wellington and Nelson, and both their graves are in the crypt. Also in the crypt is the great iron funeral carriage which was used to bear the Duke's body to its last resting place. How the massive carriage was dragged up the hill to St Paul's is a mystery to me. A bomb which burst in the eastern roof of the cathedral, damaged some of the most beautiful parts of the building.

The Trocadero, I found a fine spot for evening dining and Piccadilly Circus with its great neon lights and its flower girls, an attractive sight at night. There are many odd names on stores and restaurants and the two I remember most are the Moo Cow Milk Bar and the smart spot now marking the place where Rainbow Corner existed during the war. It was used then by the United States Army.

Another of the musts for the visitor, and a spot where I managed to get in a brief visit, is the Tower of London. It was first built by William the Conqueror 900 years ago as a fortress to guard the river approach to London. It has in turn served as a citadel, royal palace and state prison.

The oldest and most important building is called the White Tower. Besides the collection of armoury and execution relics, this tower has the finest early-Norman chapel in the country. It is a small gem in this great fortress where the walls are from 11 to 15 feet thick in some places.

Beautiful Jewels

The glittering Crown Jewels are housed in the Wakefield Tower and are worth a visit. Anne Boleyn, Lady Jane Grey and many other political figures were executed on Tower Green. The Bloody Tower was built by Henry III and the tower was added over it in the reign of Richard II. It was believed to be the scene of the murder of Edward V and his brother, the Duke of York.

In the White Tower also are an interesting Armouries, the Small Arms room, the Sword room, the Horse Armoury, the Weapon Room and many others. One of the most interesting was the Canon room, with its old but surprisingly powerful-looking guns, many dating back from the 16th century. We passed the Traitor's Gate also. On leaving the castle, if you have time, you can get a wonderful view of the gracefully proportioned Tower Bridge over the Thames. There are benches along the river, and a little further down is an attractive tea room where picture windows frame gorgeous view of the river and bridge.

Another colorful attraction for tourists is the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace in the morning. There is always a fair crowd present to watch the ceremony and my only disappointment was that the men were still wearing their heavy greatcoats and were not as colorful as in the red tunics.

My one difficulty in England and Scotland was money. The French system, based on tens like ours is practically foolproof. But in Britain, it is another story. After two days, I began to get the idea, but at no time throughout my visit there was I too expert on putting the different coins together. It took considerable study and thought to sort out the half-crowns, the two and one shilling pieces. But everyone was very patient.

Worse Than Toronto

I spent a few hours in London on a Sunday morning and got the shock of my life. London on a Sunday is "deader" than Toronto. You may not believe it possible, but I guarantee it is. I wanted a taxi to get me to King's Cross station for the 10.10 Edinburgh train and the hotel spent half an hour, and only barely at that, found one. The streets were deserted and everything shut up tight.

My visit to England was confined to London and I missed most of the beautiful countryside for which it is famous. Some day I hope to return and see it.

Bethany WMS Reviews 25 Years

BETHANY, May 16.—(ENS).—The May meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Rowan.

The treasurer, Mrs. Milby, reported the Easter thankoffering had amounted to $25.80. An appeal was read for quilts and used clothing for the mission fields. Mrs. Rowan gave an item on stewardship and Mrs. Donald Lowes an article on temperance.

In celebration of 25 years since the beginning of the United Church, the secretary, Mrs. George Waddell, gave a review of the work of the Bethany branch of the Women's Missionary Society, which was organized in 1905 with the first meeting held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Cain.

Officers elected at that meeting were: Mrs. Marvin, president; Mrs. R. Johnston, vice-president; Miss R. Staples, corresponding secretary; Miss R. Westlake, treasurer, and Miss Lily Weatherilt, recording secretary.

Continuing, Mrs. Waddell said since that time the presidents have been Mrs. T. G. Ryley, Miss Ada Richardson, Mrs. L. W. Scott, Mrs. Ruth Porteous, Mrs. T. Harding, Mrs. J. P. Henderson, Mrs. C. Rowan and Mrs. T. J. Jackson, who has served several different terms in this office.

The treasurers have been Mrs. William Byers, Mrs. Alfred Poulter; Mrs. William Lee, Miss Ada Richardson, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. T. Jackson, Mrs. R. Porteous, Mrs. C. Harding and Mrs. L. Milby.

Mrs. Waddell also mentioned outstanding speakers and films which have featured WMS meetings. The society had taken charge of the Sunday school service at the end of each quarter. A world day of prayer had been observed since 1943 as a joint service with St. Paul's Anglican Church, the meetings taking place at both churches alternately.

Fees, donations, teas, sale of greeting cards, Easter and autumn thankoffering envelopes had all been means of adding to the funds.

Miss Lily Weatherilt is the only living member of the original society, and she recalled many items of interest.

Mrs. T. Jackson, the president, then added several items of interest.

The closing litany of dedication to "Advance" took the form of a dedication service, which was led by Mrs. Jackson.

Mrs. Rowan served lunch, assisted by her daughters, Vivian and Eleanor.

WALKING ON RAILROAD TRACKS IS DANGEROUS

Railroad tracks were never intended for pedestrians. Yet, many of us are guilty of using them as highways. Newspaper accounts each year bear witness to the large number of accidents caused by such carelessness. The few moments you save are not worth the risk you take. Such "short-cuts" may end in death or at the least, serious injury. For your own protection, stop! look! listen! Keep off the tracks! Don't let your youngsters play near them! Practice the safety-first rule. It's "Good Citizenship".

Canadians Helped Relief Of Mafeking 50 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

News of the relief of Mafeking burst on the English-speaking world 50 years ago and caused almost as much rejoicing as the end of the South African War occasioned two years later.

After 217 days of isolation the Bechuanaland town with its little band of defenders headed by Col. R. S. S. Baden-Powell, who later reached the rank of lieutenant-general and was honored by knighthood, was relieved by a flying column on May 17, 1900. During the siege soldiers and civilians were reduced to eating horseflesh.

In Canada, news of the success at Mafeking ended anxiety that had been felt for the safety of "C" Battery of the Canadian Field Artillery, unheard of for five weeks during the heat of the campaign. The "lost gunners," transported from Capetown up the coast to Beira, Portuguese East Africa, reached Mafeking in time to take part in the final onslaught. They had made a rail and road trek of 800 miles through jungle and desert.

The first shots of the South African War were fired in a Boer attack on an armored train a few miles south of Mafeking. For most purposes, the town was cut off from relief from that day.

June 5, three weeks after the relief of the town, Pretoria was captured and organized resistance was at an end, although two years of almost unprecedented partisan warfare took place before peace was ratified at Pretoria May 31, 1902.

In defending Mafeking, Baden-Powell, who died Jan. 8, 1941, had command of some 1,000 fighting men, composed of British irregulars, police and the civic guard. Opposing him was the Boer general Cronje, with a force of more than 2,000.

Situation Desperate

The situation in Mafeking was getting desperate and British Imperials and colonial troops were dispatched to the aid of the garrison. Guns were imperative if the column were to rout the larger Boer force. It was impossible to move guns from the main theatre of war, south and east of Mafeking, and it was decided to use the Canadian battery.

Permission was obtained from neutral Portugal for passage of the force through Portuguese East Africa. The Canadian battery and a "contingent of Australian mounted infantry were quickly shipped 900 miles up the coast to Beira. The force then made its long trek to just about Mafeking, in the rear of the enemy lines.

"The guns were rushed by hand into a mealie field and the battery got its first taste of real war by a shell bursting right in front of it," says a contemporary account of the May 16 battle. "They were soon subjected to an enfilading fire from guns, pom-poms and rifles. They soon located the Boer guns and had the satisfaction of seeing the enemy fleeing from its position."

The next day, May 17, 1900, the siege was at an end.

The guns were only in action three hours, but had materially helped the victory. Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief, said the battery did "essential work . . after a march of incredible rapidity." A Canadian historian remarks that the brief engagement "was worth the 10,000 miles it (the battery) had taken by land and sea."

Justice Decides Boundaries Of Timber Area

A squabble between the Peterborough Lumber Co. Ltd. and Ernest Caldwell, former Apsley lumberman, which revolved chiefly around the position of the boundary line between Concessions 15 and 16 of Anstruther township was settled by Mr. Justice Wilson on a shares basis.

Judgement for the plaintiff, Caldwell, was for $44 and the return of lumber in the yards of the lumber company. But Caldwell could only collect when he paid Peterborough Lumber Company's counterclaim award of $150. Caldwell was awarded the costs of his action and the lumber company the costs of its counter-claim.

Caldwell asserted he had cutting rights of lots 22 to 39 of Concession 16 which borders on Eel's Lake. The Peterborough Lumber Co. claimed ot have Concession 15 immediately south.

Caldwell charged the lumber-company cut timber north of the boundary and also ran off with 377 of his logs piled on skids before he stopped them.

Counter-Claims

In its counter-claim, the lumber company, charged that Caldwell had his men cutting logs on its land and the company was put to the expense of $600 for laying a road into the logs to get them out. Caldwell claimed $700 for the cost of a survey to determine the correct boundary. Both claimed $5,000 for damages and losses over the affair. And both claimed the logs.

Morton Reports 80,000 People Quit Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, May 16 — (CP) — Brig. R. E. A. Morton, army flood controller, estimated today that 80,000 persons have left the greater Winnipeg area since he issued an evacuation appeal last Tuesday.

The flood control leader was asked by The Canadian Press at his daily press conference if he feels such an estimate would be correct, and he replied:

"I would call it a fair figure."

His comment came after an army spokesman said evacuation Sunday totalled 11,359 persons. Breakdown was: Trans-Canada Air Lines, 217; R.C.A.F., 182; Canadian National Railway, 2,760; Canadian Pacific Railway, 1,089; buses, 1,363; cars and trucks, 5,748.

Another army spokesman described the picture as "considerably brighter than it has been for some time."

Flood fighters have been given the opportunity by fairly good weather recently to build dikes and now are "ahead of the game a bit."

An army medical official said that more than half of Winnipeg's 2,500 hospital patients now have been evacuated. About 270 had been moved from the city Sunday. Most hospital evacuees had been moved to points outside the province, mainly in Saskatchewan, but some in Alberta.

Flood - control headquarters have about 233,500 sandbags on hand and another 575,000 were due by midnight tonight. Seventy-three cars of sand were being brought into the city.

Motorists Find Stations Closed

COBOURG, May 16—(ENS)—The plight of motorists on Saturday night when all garages and service stations are closed, was evident around midnight Saturday. Throughout the week, except on Saturday, there is always a garage open all night. Constable Gene Butler was on duty in the police office Saturday night when a motorist called to see where he could some gas as his car was stranded a few miles west of the town. As no service stations or garages were open, there was nothing the constable could do except to advise the motorist to phone the garage owners to see what could be done. The stranded motorist was still in the police office when a second car owner came in.

"Is there a service station open around here tonight?" was the question of the second man out of gas. While the two men were asking the constable for advice a third man walked into the police station.

"Do you know where a guy could find a service station open around here?" he asked.

"Don't tell me you are out of gas too," said the astonished constable.

"No, I burned out a fuse and have no lights," he replied.

Eventually all three left with the intention of telephoning the garage owners until they were successful.

Presbyterian Chief Makes Flood Appeal

TORONTO, May 16 (CP)—An appeal for help for Manitoba flood victims was made by the Rt. Rev. C. L. Cowan, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

"No one can listen unmoved to the stories that have come out of Winnipeg," he said. "Our response must be generous and immediate. I appeal to all our people, to those of other faiths, and of no faiths, to do as they would like to be done unto in a dark and needy hour."

Dr. Cowan also asked that immediate help be given to distressed victims of the Rimouski and Cabano fires and sent telegrams to the mayors of the three stricken centres expressing sympathy on behalf of the Presbyterian church's 180,000 members.

Minister Avoids Baptism Issue

GUELPH, May 16 (CP)—Rev. W. N. Crandall, ousted from Peterborough Presbytery for refusing to baptize infants, avoided direct reference to the issue in his guest sermon here Sunday.

The United Church minister, preaching at York Baptist Church took his text from the 1st chapter of Timothy 1: "This is a faithful saying and worthy of acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of which I am the chief."

Mr. Crandall lost his Peterborough charge, after declaring that his conscience would no longer allow him to baptize children too young to understand the ceremony's meaning.

In an apparent reference to his former congregation, he said some persons use religion to satisfy themselves as a convenience, rather than give it their all.

"As long as people think they are righteous in their own eyes, or in the eyes of God and without sin, they will never know the saving grace of Christ," he said.

The Sunday school children marched in a body and occupied the front seats. They sang the second hymn, a children's hymn, as a chorus. The Sunday school orchestra, Beverly Patton and Glenna Graham at the piano, Gerald Hubbeard, violinist, Bill Smith, trumpeter, and George Ingham, 'cellist assisted with the hymns. The special number by the choir was the anthem "The sweet story of old."

Miss Estella Hetherington, organist, was at the organ. For the offertory she played a special arrangement of "Home, Sweet Home" with chime accompaniment.

The Rev. T. G. Husser conducted the baptism service and preached the Mother's Day sermon.

Pearson Warns Canada May Have To Choose Between U.K.-U.S. Markets

Own Great Dollar Problem Will Draw Dominion Nearer Neighbor; Anxious To Keep Commonwealth Ties

LONDON, May 17.—(Reuters).—Canada's external affairs minister warned Britain Tuesday night that the "international dollar hunt" might force Canada to choose between the United Kingdom and the United States as a market for her exports. But L. B. Pearson urged Britons not to write Canada off as a former colony rapidly on its way to becoming an American "satellite."

"Believe me, that is not true," he told a Canada Club dinner. "Our future includes the closest possible co-operation with, but not absorption by the United States.

"It includes also the maintenance of our family relationship in the Commonwealth of Nations."

Pearson spoke frankly of Canada's own great dollar needs and the difficulties she had in balancing the demands of her dollar trade with her desire to maintain her markets in Britain.

Must Expand Market

"People here must not be surprised to find us vigorously expanding the market for our goods in the United States.

"The United States is now our best customer, and we hope that we will be able to maintain this development without diminishing our trade across the Atlantic.

"Above all, we hope that circumstances will not force us to make a choice of markets between the United Kingdom and the United States."

He said Canada's "dualism"—her ties with both the United States and with Britain—extended beyond the economic into the political field and had often caused Canada discomfort."

But a "change of enormous importance" had arisen with the creation of the Atlantic Pact.

"We are now all in together—the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada, and the other members of our alliance," he said.

"This change has taken place primarily because of the emergence of a common danger to the security of all the peoples of the free western world.

Western Allies Banning Arms Combines

BONN, Germany, May 17. — (CP). —Great German arms combines like Krupps are banned under a law promulgated today by the Western Allies.

The ultimate form of ownership—private or government — will be determined at a future date by the West German Government under provisions of the measure, which deals with the reorganization of the Ruhr coal, iron and steel industries.

The law has been the subject of discussion for weeks among British, French and American occupation authorities. Its objects, already partially carried out, are:

1. To eliminate excessive concentration of economic power to prevent development of war potential.

2. To prevent Nazis recovering ownership of industries they used to aid Hitler's aggression.

3. To reorganize in a way that will promote German industrial recovery.

The law lists 13 concerns which are to be liquidated and reorganized. These include Krupp's steel and armament combine at Essen.

Another schedule lists 10 combines where liquidation already is in progress. A further 45 concerns will be examined to see whether they fall within the scope of the law.

Wolves Chase Man On Tractor

OWEN SOUND, May 17 (CP) —A wolf pack chased 17-year-old Robert Eagles Tuesday evening, but he escaped on a tractor. He then returned with his brother, Lorne, aged 15, and a neighbor, Elmer Hutchinson and shot one of his tormentors.

Eagles was harrowing on a farm at Irish Lake, 30 miles south of here, Tuesday evening. Two wolves came out of the bush and sat beside a stone. Eagles paid little attention. Two more wolves joined them. The pack advanced towards the tractor. Eagles started for home at top speed. Snarling, the pack followed. The harrows caught in a gate and were lost, but Eagles arrived home safely.

Then his brother and Hutchinson joined him on the tractor and they returned the half mile to the back of the farm, hoping the wolves would return. One did. Eagles and Hutchinson bagged it.

Real Atomic Toys Latest For Youngsters

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 17 — (AP)—Real atomic toys for the youngsters.

The United States Atomic Energy Commission said yesterday it is shipping radioactive isotopes to A. G. Gilbert Manufacturing Company of New Haven, Conn., for use in making atomic toys.

The ray-emitting isotope is zinc 65 described by atomic scientists as a "harmless" isotope, or element, which will keep radioactivity "charged" for more than eight months.

The AEC says the Gilbert Company proposes to make toys in which kiddies can watch "atomic disintegration."

Flying Schoolroom

ORONO, Me., May 17. — (AP).—A flying schoolroom will take 55 Orono High school pupils on a two-day tour of the northeastern United States and Canada next week. They will leave here Thursday, May 25. Many of the boys and girls earned their own fares by such jobs as snow shovelling and baby sitting. The first day's itinerary includes a visit to Boston. Friday, after landing at New York to clear customs, the students will fly to Ottawa via Niagara Falls and will visit the Parliament Buildings.

Near Agreement On Economic Aid In South Asia

SYDNEY, Australia, May 17 — (Reuters)—The Commonwealth conference today announced "considerable progress" in talks on the plan for economic aid to check the spread of Communism in south and southeast Asia.

An official communique issued at the end of today's session disclosed progress on proposals for technical assistance and economic development and for the further activities of the commonwealth consultative committee.

Earlier, authoritative sources said the conference was near agreement on the Australian proposal that a commonwealth fund of £8,000,000 ($24,800,000) be set up to provide immediate technical aid for Asiatic countries.

The conference committees now are expected to discuss details and work out an operative plan.

Train Technicians

Australia proposed that this commonwealth money pool be devoted mainly to training technicians and scientists from Asiatic countries in commonwealth countries where advanced training facilities are available.

It was authoritatively reported that since Britain has given way to the Australian proposal to establish the pool, Australia would agree to the British plan for its implementation.

Original opposition to the pool arose because commonwealth contributions, particularly from Australia, would necessarily have to come out of frozen sterling credits in London.

Australia's credit balance is the highest in history and India also has a substantial sterling balance.

Australia, it was stated, realized all along that care must be exercised not to upset Britain's financial equilibrium by pressure-drawing from these frozen sterling funds.

Set Blossom Sunday For This Weekend

Message Of Sympathy

LONDON, May 17.— (CP).— Britain today expressed to Canada its "deep concern" and sympathy over the flooding of Winnipeg.

Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons he had sent a message to Prime Minister St. Laurent. Anthony Eden, Deputy Conservative Leader, said the Conservatives associated themselves with the message.

Two Men Missing

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 17 (AP)—A veteran bush pilot from Arkansas and a navy scientist from Washington, D. C., have been missing for a week in the tundra country between here and Barrow on the Arctic coast.

Disclosure came Tuesday as 10 Alaska planes and airmen from Ladd air force base searched the desolate area for pilot Bert Galbreath, 39, and the scientist.

The scientist is from the Arctic research laboratory of the office of naval research in Washington. His name is withheld pending notification of next-of-kin, the navy said.

Land Nationalization Fear Kindled Anew In Britain

LONDON, May 17 (CP)—Reaffirmation of the Socialist view that "the land belongs to the people" has kindled fresh Conservative fears about land nationalization.

Public ownership of the land, once an avowed part of Socialist policy, long has been a major issue dividing Britain's main political parties. How a statement by George Lindgren, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of town and country planning, has brought the question up again.

"It may be a great cleavage beween you (Conservatives) and th Socialist side," Lindgren told the House of Commons, "but I quite definitely hold the view, and the government holds the view, that the land belongs to the people and is for the collective ownership and use of the people."

Lindgren spoke during an adjournment debate Monday on the proposed new state town of Basilden, Essex. Conservative speakers complained that many of the town's 25,000 persons might lose their property through compulsory purchase.

Lindgren replied that Basilden was an example of "Tory landlordism" at its worst, and asked:

"Who would hold the freeholds of a town, individuals or the community as a whole? It will be impossible to create a new town and allow the freeholds to remain."

Conservatives said Lindgren's statement indicated the government favored nationalization of the land. Brig T. H. Clarke, who represents Portsmouth West, said nationalization is on its way "in small driblets."

Roadblocks Set Up At Beaverton

OPP At Peterborough Join Hunt; Hint Pair Convicts

Provincial Police from Peterborough are co-operating in the search for two gunmen who attempted to hold up a Manitoba tourist near Beaverton Tuesday afternoon and then escaped in his car.

Roadblocks were thrown up throughout the Beaverton district after E. J. Ireland, 60, of Biscarth, Man., reported his escape from two dark, unshaven men.

Provincials from the Peterborough headquarters laid down five road blocks: Highway 2, east of Oshawa; Highway 7A, Blackstock; and at the junctions of Highways 7A and 35, 7 and 12, and 36 and 40, west of Fenelon Falls.

The search was concentrated today in Riverside Beach, a resort 3½ miles north of Beaverton. The automobile was found Tuesday night.

No Report

Constable William Andrews of Beaverton would not say whether the police had any clue to the identity of the wanted men, but earlier he had said he believed they were two fugitives from the penitentiary at Toledo, Ohio. Paul Russell, 24, and his brother Lloyd, 29, escaped from Toledo May 8 and last week at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., eluded a posse of 200 policemen, soldiers and bushmen.

Police cars from Barrie, Peterborough and Lindsay were searching a wide area.

Ireland said he was driving north on No. 12 highway when another car forced him to the side of the road. The men, one armed with a revolver, forced him to drive to a sideroad, he said, but he broke away and escaped.

US Senator Asks Manitoba Aid

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) A resolution calling on President Truman to extend immediate aid to flood-harried Manitoba was introduced in the Senate Tuesday by Republican Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska.

But Democratic leader Scott Lucas of Illinois objected to immediate consideration of the resolution on the grounds it was not the proper way to proceed. Lucas said Canada is in no financial distress.

The resolution is likely to be discussed again.

It calls on the President to direct government agencies "to make available immediately the fullest aid consistent with law" to aid Manitoba and especially the city of Winnipeg.

The resolution said the physical, financial and moral support of the US should be extended to the Canadian people, in their hour of need. Such support, the resolution said, would be "a natural and fitting expression of the historic friendship and kinship of the peoples of the United States and of Canada."

Support for the resolution also came from Senators Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.), Edward Thye (Rep., Minn.), and Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.)

Ansonville Woman Has Her 22nd Child

ANSONVILLE, May 17 (CP)— Mrs. Robert Page of Ansonville, is resting today at the Ansonville General Hospital, Iroquois Falls, after giving birth to her 22nd child. Three of the children have died.

"I'm getting used to this trip to the hospital," Mrs. Page commented.

Three boys and one girl are married, two boys are working in Sarnia and six children are still going to school.

"We're not sure where the rest of the children are," she said.

Mr. Page, the head of the growing family, collects more than $50 a month in baby bonuses.

Mrs. Page is 43 and her oldest child 27.

Believe Chiang Flee Abroad WhenRedsCome

HONG KONG, May 17 (Reuters)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his close associates plan to flee abroad when Chinese Communist forces attack their citadel, the island of Formosa, British and American observers here believed today.

They suggested the Communist attack might come as early as next month now that the Chinese Nationalists have withdrawn 150,000 troops and equipment from the Chusan aslands, 100 miles south of Shanghai.

(This was contrary to a broadcast speech by Chiang Tuesday from Taipei, Formosa, in which he pledged to die defending the last Nationalist stronghold. "Now we've retreated to Formosa," Chiang said, "I cannot retreat any more if I wanted to. . . There is now nothing left but honorable death for country or return to the mainland.")

May Go To Japan

Dependents of Nationalist officials in Formosa are preparing to evacuate to Japan, according to unconfirmed Chinese reports from Taipei.

These preparations coincided with a wave of uneasiness reported sweeping through Nationalist ranks since the Chusan withdrawal.

Speculation has begun on where the Chinese Nationalist government would go if the Communists occupied Formosa, Taipei reports said.

Some observers there thought it likely the Nationalists would attempt to establish a refugee government in Japan.

Adenauer Determined To Work With France

BONN, Germany, May 17 (AP) —Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Tuesday night announced his "full determination" to carry out a French proposal for pooling coal and steel production of France and Germany.

Such technical difficulties as continuing allied limitations on west-German steel production would not be allowed to interfere with achievement of the greatest possible degree of unity between the two ancient enemies, Adenauer said.

He made his statement after discussing the pool plan with former French Premier Paul Reynaud. Reynaud came here with his advisers for a semi-official survey of the German situation.

Adenauer said he was convinced other European countries including Britain, reported cool toward the plan, would come into the industrial pool eventually.

Thrifty Canadians Save 3 Billion In Four Years

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., May 17.—(CP).—Thrifty Canadians have socked away more than $3,000,000,000 in the last four years. What's more, they're increasing their savings at the rate of $400,000,000 a year.

This was disclosed today by J. E. Coyne, deputy-governor of the Bank of Canada in a speech prepared for delivery before the annual meeting of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association.

While Canadians are thrifty, they also are cautious, the deputy-governor added. Although this pile of cash, together with surpluses accumulating in corporation accounts, is sufficient to meet Canadian investment needs, Canada still is getting much of her investment requirements from foreign sources.

The trouble, indicated Mr. Coyne, is that Canadians are not too eager to get into the risky investment field of developing resources. They favor more conservative investments such as housing mortgages and the like. This was of great help to Canada, but it was not enough.

Not Interested

Thus, whether Canada needed foreign capital or not, Canada is continuing to receive foreign capital simply because foreign investors have established themselves in Canada and are showing more interest in development than some Canadians.

"Experience of the last few years shows," said Mr. Coyne, "that someone is going to develop the resources and industries of this country, if not Canadians, then Americans, Britons and Europeans."

Workers Strike Against Union

TOLEDO, O., May 17 (AP) — Local 12 of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) had a strike of its own employees on its hands today.

Twelve girls, members of the local and employees in its dues collection office, have walked out.

They went out Tuesday against what they termed "the domination of Richard Gosser," of Toledo, international vice-president of the union.

In a statement the union asserted they quit their jobs. The local refused to recognize the action as a strike, and said the girls' jobs would be filled by others.

The girls who walked out appointed as their spokesman a four-member committee which declared:

1. Dues collection workers were not permitted to vote on strike assessments they were asked to contribute.

2. Gosser and his staff interfered with the routine operation of the dues-collection office and put in "scabs" after the strike was called.

Court Intrigue Forces King Disown, Disinherit Sister

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 (AP)—Queen Mother Nazli said today court intrigue forced King Farouk to disown and impoverish his young sister, Princess Fathia.

And Fathia, 19, announced firmly that she would defy her brother by remarrying, in a Moslem ceremony. Riad Ghali. She married the 31-year-old Coptic Christian commoner civilly here April 25.

Riad, labelled a fortune-seeking adventurer in Cairo court circles, is secretary of the Queen Mother.

Nazli charged today:

Prince Muhammed Ali, Fathia's uncle and heir-apparent, "is scheming to get on the throne" of Egypt. The prince is chairman of the royal council which Tuesday stripped Fathia of her title and property.

The prince "is always plotting ways to make Fathia look bad and to break up our family," the queen charged. "He is an evil influence on the king and surrounds him with bad advisers.

"If Riad wanted money, he could be rich, a millionaire, for months court circles in Cairo have tried to bribe him to leave the princess.

"Twenty days ago the Egyptian ambassador to Washington, Muhammed Kamil Abdul Rahim offered Riad any diplomatic post he wanted—any ambassadorship in any country in the world—if he would leave the princess."

The king Tuesday stripped the princess of her title and impounded her property—all because Ghali, a tall dark man with flashing black eyes, is a Coptic Christian commoner.

The Egyptian royal council decreed, also, the impounding of the wealth of the Queen Mother, who has been in San Francisco several months for medical treatment.

Another sister of Farouk, Princess Kaika, who recently returned to San Francisco from a Hawaiian honeymoon, was ordered to return to Egypt. She married a Moslem commoner.

Report Dikes Seem To Be Weakening

River Holds Steady But Light Rain Undermining Defences

WINNIPEG, May 17. — (CP). —The flooding Red River rolled on through greater Winnipeg today with deceptive, quiet terribleness. But it held almost steady.

To this city of throbbing pumps the river's breather brought confirmation that the crest had levelled off and probably would now begin a gradual drop from heights untouched in more than a century.

Coupled with the hopefulness, however, was wariness. The city's protecting dikes, officials said, are showing signs of weakening.

Twenty-seven days after the Red here first touched flood level —an official reading of 18 feet— Winnipeggers faced this situation:

1. The river level at 6 a.m. EDT was 30.2 feet. This was the same as at 6 p.m. Tuesday when the first change in 43 hours—a rise of one-tenth foot—had been recorded.

2. There was a possibility of a one-inch drop in the river level sometime today.

3. The weather forecast generally was favorable—cloudy with only scattered showers. What hard-hit greater Winnipeg feared was a heavy rain throughout the valley, and this was not an immediate prospect.

4. Rain last night apparently had no effect on the surging flood. It measured only one-tenth inch and lasted only a few hours.

Intensify Patrols

5. Officials decrying what they termed "false optimism in the flood zone, reiterated warnings that great dikes protecting areas yet unflooded might go at any

Driver Drowns In Car Plunge

PICTON, May 17 — (CP). — Benson Moore, 78, of Picton drowned Tuesday when his automobile plunged from the Prince Edward Yacht Club pier into 22 feet of water.

Two people saw the car go into the bay—Jimmy Hudgin, a youth whose home overlooks the club, and Douglas Hicks, 12, fishing near by.

A boat was secured and the body, which floated to the surface, was recovered by George Publow, boat livery operator. Artificial respiration applied by Mrs. Publow, former superintendent of Prince Edward County Hospital, and Dr. S. H. Hart, was in vain. Tuesday evening the car was still resting in 22 feet of water.

It is believed Mr. Moore suffered a heart attack after he had started his car on the yacht club dock. There was no water found in his lungs, Dr. D. S. Lighthall coroner, stated. Mr. Moore was well known as clerk at auction sales throughout this county.

Must Have 10 Million To Aid Flood Victims

WINNIPEG, May 17 (CP) H. W. Manning, general chairman of the Manitoba relief fund, said Tuesday night that unless a minimum of $10,000,000 is contributed, more than 85,000 victims of the Red river valley face the most tragic ruination in Canadian history.

Mr. Manning, vice-president and general manager of the Great West Life Assurance Company, announced the days receipts to be $113,457.

"Ten million dollars is the absolute minimum . . . (for) the bare essentials for the resumption of home-life when the waters subside.

"Anything less will mean that hundreds of Manitoba families will face a long period, perhaps a lifetime, of misery and squalor.

Gloomy Forecast For Crops In Manitoba

OTTAWA, May 17 — (CP) — Flooded areas in the Red River Valley — estimated at 500,000 acres — may produce no more than feed crops this year.

In a report on Prairie crop conditions, the Bureau of Statistics said little or no seeding has been done in Manitoba apart from an area running north from Russell to Swan River.

Given favorable drying weather, seeding should get under way by the end of the week except in the Red River Valley where an estimated 500,000 acres of crop land is affected by the flood.

Exceptionally dry weather will be necessary to permit any seeding by June 1, the report said, and it is improbable that much of the flooded area will be seeded this year except for feed.

Flood losses of poultry have been heavy, but other livestock losses have been limited. Market gardeners face a critical situation with flooded land and almost a total loss of bedding plants. Forage is very short in the province and there has been little growth in pastures.

In Saskatchewan, about 25 per cent of the wheat crop is seeded, although considerable variation is noted between areas. Practically no work has been done in the south-east.

In South-eastern Alberta most of the crop is in. Less than half of the wheat acreage is seeded from Lethbridge north to Edmonton, and only a good start has been made over much of the remainder of the province.

time. They called for intensified patrol work to guard against a break.

6. The pace of voluntary evacuation slowed. An estimated 85,000 or 90,000 persons had fled flood-stricken Winnipeg and across the river St. Boniface. Even as flood-control headquarters urged more to leave, the generally-favorable outlook brought a slower exodus Tuesday.

Has Plan

Even before that downward trend became apparent, Premier Douglas L. Campbell advanced a plan to tame the river and halt floods which have plagued the valley in almost every generation since the first settlers came.

He said engineers have proposed construction of a huge spillway around the greater Winnipeg area to prevent risk of serious inundation in the built-up area.

Today, the quiet, terrible power of the stream and the drizzling rain were the main official worry. The weather cut at the base of dikes built at huge cost since the Red reached flood stage April 20 to guard dry areas of the 75 to 80 square miles of flat prairie land that is greater Winnipeg.

More than six square miles of residential and industrial property, said the army, is under water. Flood authorities said more could be flooded.

The chief immediate threat to the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface, on opposite banks of the Red, was that a dike protecting a vital point would give way.

Brig. O. M. M. Kay, a deputy flood-control commander, said early today that present weather conditions are "definitely harmful" to flood-control measures.

Ideal weather, he said, would be hot and dry with a steady drying wind. This would harden the mud-and-earthen dikes.

The proposed floodway, which Mr. Campbell emphasized in a statement has not yet been finally chartered or financed, would run east of St. Boniface. It would extend 20 to 22 miles from a point near St. Norbert, 12 miles south of Winnipeg, to the vicinity of Lockport, 17 miles north. Its width would be at least 1,500 feet.

House Decides To Set Up Defence Group

OTTAWA May 17 (CP) The Commons had plenty to say Tuesday about putting power in the hands of either civil or military authorities and the government was told laws made by parliament itself ought to be supreme. Opposition members first attacked what they termed "arbitrary" power in the hands of the postmaster general to cut off the mail of anyone he thought was attempting fraud.

Later on in a debate on the government's new, streamlined national defence legislation, they warned against putting too much faith in the old, traditional courts martial. In fact, some would reduce its jurisdiction to a small list of military offences and have service personnel sent to civil courts for other crimes.

The House set up a committee for further study of the defence legislation, a bulky document under which all Canada's sailors, soldiers and airmen will be brought under a single code of service discipline.

The committee also will study legislation which simplifies and consolidates army pension regulations and legislation providing for the distribution of $2,500,000 of prize money, granted for the capture of enemy vessels in wartime.

Get Wide Scope

Defence Minister Claxton said widest possible scope for study would be given in committee. But the question of defence costs could not be dealt with.

In the big debate of the day, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, criticized the power the postmaster general recently invoked against a number of brokerage firms in Toronto, shutting off their mail.

Mr. Drew said suspicion of fraud should be dealt with by law and not left to the "whim" of a government official. There should be an amendment to the Criminal Code if necessary.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader agreed the law should be strengthened if necessary. He was against putting more arbitrary power in the hands of officials.

Quick Appeal

Justice Minnster Garson defended the power conferred on the Postmaster-General under the Post Office Act. That power would be retained, he said, but the government was considering an amendment to the Act to provide a "quick" appeal to the courts in such cases.

At the opening of the House, Prime Minister St. Laurent said any Federal assistance to flood-ravaged Manitoba will apply to rural areas as well as the City of Winnipeg.

In the defence debate in the Commons Maj.-Gen. G.R. Pearkes VC (PC-Nanaimo), who commanded Canadian forces on the Pacific Coast during the war, was chief Opposition spokesman.

He said the Bill showed a tendency to increase the disciplinary power of the commanding officer. With this he did not agree and suggested that it might be desirable to restrict the number of military crimes to be tried by courts-martial and have others sent to military courts.

O. L. Jones (CCF-Yale) said a school might be set up to train courts-martial officers in "the humanities."

Report Prices Jumpy On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 17 —(CP)— Prices bounced up and down as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today. Most changes were held to small amounts as market leaders fluctuated between the plus and minus columns. Low-priced gold stocks again accounted for much of the heavy trading.

Volume for the first three hours was 2,053,000 shares.

In industrials, utilities, foods, constructions and liquors were lower while refining oils brightened. Papers and steels were mixed.

Penny prospects traded heavily in golds for some good gains. Newlund Mines, a feature of recent markets, held the spotlight on a strong advance. Dulama, Norseman and Lynx Yellowknife were also brisk.

Base metals edged ahead into new high ground early in the day but eased slightly at the half-way mark. Consolidated Smelters and Quemont dropped fractions while International Nickel brightened. Anacon Lead continued advancing briskly.

Western oils also slumped from opening firmness. Losses more than tripled gains.

U.S. Pressing Allies Form Special Army

LONDON, May 17.—(AP). — The United States is pressing its 11 North Atlantic Allies to rush formation of an international army against the threat of Russian aggression.

The decision whether to do so probably will be made today by the foreign ministers of the Atlantic Pact countries, meeting in secret deliberations here for the third and perhaps final day.

Diplomatic informants emphasized, however, that military might is not the only aspect of the defence question.

Bigger and more efficient industrial production particularly is needed to underpin the costly defence effort, in the view of the American diplomats. The United States is reported to be urging Europe to show more speed, determination and confidence in its economic efforts.

The international army idea has developed from a view, held on an increasingly wide scale, that a group of national armies added to each other do not make a unified or efficient defence force.

Spread Too Thin

When a comparatively weak country attempts to provide itself with all the components of modern war—fighters, bombers, armor, infantry and sea power—its defences are spread so thin that no branch is effective.

By contrast the American idea is to set up a super-command under the Atlantic Pact to weld together the armed forces of the 12 members while at the same time looking out for their economic strength and possibly for closer political ties.

The continental countries, for instance, would be expected to go in more heavily for ground forces. Defence experts are reported to have recommended a minimum of 30 divisions — about 450,000 men—as a standing force pegged strongly on France's troops.

Other Arrangements

The total, however, probably would include British and American troops stationed in Germany.

Britain, some informants say, might be asked to concentrate on jet fighter forces and a strong anti-submarine naval force.

That would leave costly heavy naval vessels and big, high-speed bombers to be provided by the United States.

An over-all command is envisioned. It would consist of deputies appointed by the foreign ministers to meet frequently, even continuously if necessary.

To head the deputies, the United States urges the appointment of a super-diplomat.

Flood Contribution

TORONTO, May 17 (CP)—The T. Eaton Company Ltd. Tuesday announced a contribution of $83,500 to the Manitoba relief fund, including $50,000 from the company, $25,000 from the Eaton store in Winnipeg and $8,500 from employees in other Eaton stores in the western division.

Home Market Canadian Farmers' Hope

OTTAWA, May 17. — (CP) — Only one market is secure for Canadian farmers, and that is the home market, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Tuesday night.

It can only be made big and sufficient by developing industry in the extreme east and the extreme west," the minister said over the CBC network in a period devoted to discussion of the nation's business.

"The discussion of the pipeline bills has forced to the front the fact that in the west there are wonderful industrial possibilities," Mr. Gardiner said.

"It has renewed the dream of the Prairie Provinces that our agriculture can be made to flourish through the development of industry at the coast, along the Foothills, and in the cities of the plains.

"It has renewed the hope that an industrial west can be connected with an industrial east by linking Canada's 12-month ports with ships which will call at the great ports of the south."

Opening of the Panama Canal had stirred this dream to a hope that Canada would be able to look westward to Asia for developing trade. However, the results "have not yet materialized."

HURT IN FALL

TORONTO, May 17 (CP) — Joseph Vernon Welch of Aylmer will be a free man "as soon as official word reaches Kingston penitentiary," C. L. Dubin, Welch's counsel said Tuesday.

The Supreme Court of Canada, in a majority decision Monday allowed Welch's appeal against his conviction on a charge of manslaughter. He had been sentenced to 10 years.

Welch was convicted following the poison death of his wife in 1947.

Sports Centre Debenture Issue

COBOURG, May 17 (ENS) — The balance still due on the $50,000 recreational centre, which includes the $35,000 owing for artificial ice installation, is to be financed by a debenture issue, the council decided this week. Final approval has come from the Municipal Board.

Two attempts to raise the $35,000 by a general canvass were not successful. Mayor Jack Burnett thought that a decision to issue debentures to cover the unpaid balance on the rink should be put to the ratepayers. Reeve Roy Dodge agreed with the mayor.

It is consdered possible that the rink might be able to finance the debenture charges itself as a profit of more than $2,500 was realized during the three months' operation last winter after the recreational centre opened.

MANITOBA FLOOD RELIEF FUND

Any branch of any chartered bank anywhere in Canada will receive donations to the above Disaster Fund.

The Banks will transmit the money to the Trustees of the Fund in Winnipeg without charge and furnish receipts.

THE CANADIAN BANKERS' ASSOCIATION

MAYOR'S FUND FOR DISASTER RELIEF

Because of the grievous situation which has arisen in Winnipeg and southern Manitoba from disastrous floods, and also in the Town of Rimouski, Quebec, due to the fire that swept that municipality, the City Council of Peterborough, by resolution, has authorized the establishment of a fund to be known as "THE MAYOR'S FUND FOR DISASTER RELIEF".

The purpose of this fund is to permit all citizens of Peterborough and district to donate easily to the aid of their sorely afflicted fellow Canadians. By arrangement with Peterborough branches of all chartered banks, the banks will receive donations to this fund and furnish the necessary receipts. Donations also can be made direct to the Treasurer of the City of Peterborough, who is the treasurer of this fund. All cheques should be made payable to "THE MAYOR'S FUND FOR DISASTER RELIEF" and all such donations are deductible within the terms of the Income Tax Act.

The need for aid to the citizens of Winnipeg and southern Manitoba, and Rimouski is great and I call upon all citizens of Peterborough to be generous in their donations to this fund.

It will be appreciated if donors will indicate what portion of their donations they desire to be sent to Winnipeg and southern Manitoba, and what portion to Rimouski, Quebec.

MAX J. SWANSTON,
Mayor.

We haven't had any luck in locating a loafer in this size. Apparently the only ones you would be able to get would be in a high price range. However several of the Toronto stores have loafers in a EEAA and seem to think that these might be suitable for your daughter. And they're not too expensive.

We Look Well

Let us face the facts: spring has come to Peterborough and Peterborough is a pretty fine place in spring. So is the countryside for miles around. Spring is always a phenomenon, always a miracle, anywhere. (We can never repress a feeling of compassion for a territory like Australia which has its spring in October. How can a poet of real sensitivity praise an October spring? But it is only bigotry to deny that even Australia and New Zealand can know the magic of spring.) Spring has come to us, and we look wonderful in it. Leafy tracery of burgeoning trees along the streets. Green hillsides and verdant pastures. Cowslips in low land, trilliums in wooded glades which a few weeks ago held the last hard vestiges of snow. Birds twittering like cuckolds and Madams. The clean earth fresh-furrowed. Shy violets poking up through last autumn's leaves. The whole of this district, from the lakes stirring with fish and tentative white-caps in a south wind, to the tulips brightening parks and home gardens, is an eclogue. And over all is the clear blue of spring's sky.

• • •

If the prime minister is coming to Peterborough a whit too early for the finishing-touches to the Civic Hospital, his calendar is rightly poised for seeing us in our freshest habitat. This is our fortnight of spring. Let us exult in it and our hearts sing.

A Woman M.P.

The federal by-elections on Monday, when a Progressive Conservative was elected in the place of the late Conservative Tommy Church to represent Toronto-Broadview, and when Mrs. Ellen Fairclough carried the Progressive Conservative standard to victory in Hamilton West, have two points to be noted. The opposition is strengthened by one, because Hamilton West had been a Liberal seat since 1940; it was vacated when the Honourable Colin Gibson went to the Ontario Supreme Court. The second, and very important point, is that Canada's House of Commons will again have a woman member. It is passing strange that in a country where women have had the vote on the same basis as men for a generation, where there are almost as many female as male voters, and where equality of the sexes has become something of a gospel, so few women have been elected to the Commons. Mrs. Fairclough, as representative of Canada's women, will hold a unique seat.

Roncarelli Case

At a time when a bill of rights for Canada is being seriously discussed and briefs presented to the special committee of the Senate—briefs which give instance after instance when the customary rights of Canadian citizens have been ignored or breached—the case involving Frank Roncarelli, former Montreal restaurateur, is being widely followed in Canada.

Mr. Roncarelli had for many years operated a family restaurant in Montreal's better restaurant district. Like similar restaurants of the higher class in Montreal, it depended to a great extent on its licence to serve liquor; good wines with the meals, cocktails at the adjoining bar. Mr. Roncarelli, besides being a well-known, prosperous restaurant keeper was also known to be a supporter of the religious sect called "Jehovah's Witnesses," they who in Ontario distribute "Watchtower" pamphlets on street-corners.

The Jehovah's Witnesses incurred the wrath of official Quebec. When the Witnesses sought to distribute their pamphlets in Montreal, Three Rivers and other cities, local bylaws were put into effect against them, bylaws prohibiting the distribution of pamphlets without a licence from the municipal authorities. Hundreds of these Witnesses were arrested. Mr. Roncarelli went bail for them as fast as they were brought into court. As brought out in the present court proceedings, Premier Duplessis heard about this and Mr. Roncarelli's liquor licence was cancelled. This was in 1946. Mr. Roncarelli's business declined, and he sold, incurring, he says, a $100,000 loss. Since then Mr. Roncarelli has taken the matter to several courts.

At present Quebec Superior Court is hearing a $118,000 damage suit brought by Mr. Roncarelli against Premier Duplessis. Premier Duplessis is also attorney-general. As such he was responsible for the order cancelling the Roncarelli licence. The premier said on the witness stand last Wednesday that he had no alternative but to approve cancellation of the liquor licence if "public order was to be maintained and trouble avoided."

That is the background, and part of the foreground, of the case which people all across the country are following with serious interest.

Mother Love

The Windsor Star had a good wallow in sentiment last Saturday, in noting that Sunday was Mother's Day. Here is a paragraph picked at random from its leading editorial:

> All have something in common. All have gone through the travail of giving birth, thus ensuring that the human race shall continue. All possess a mother's love, the most enduring of human emotions.

The Star might have used this theme for a dissertation on the advance the human animal has made over the dumb mammal—the animal that cannot indulge in sweet thoughts. For instance, consider those unnatural creatures which, in common with other animals, go through the travail of giving birth, and then eat their young. There are other species where mother-love fails less drastically: the young are left to fend for themselves as soon as they see the light of day.

The Burdens Of High Office

We can think offhand of only three men of our time who held high office and carried great burdens who have not been worn out by them: Winston Churchill, Jan Smuts and Mackenzie King. We do not hazard a guess at what may be the special reservoirs of energy of these three men so totally different; perhaps power itself was nourishment to them; perhaps it has been a vitalizing philosophy. The greatest casualty was, of course, President Roosevelt. But there are other, if lesser, men who have the face of persons over whom falls the shadow.

Stalin is said to be an ill man. Prime Minister Attlee has aged heavily in the last decade. His chief lieutenant, and a man who with Attlee has borne tremendous burdens since 1940 as a member of the war cabinet and after the war as a principal minister of the Crown is Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary.

The most recent photograph of Mr. Bevin which we have seen is almost unrecognizable. White-haired, cadaverous of face, and worn in body, he is a man on whom the destiny of high responsibility has taken a hard toll. Mr. Bevin had a life-time's task in the years 1940-45. Since then as foreign secretary of Britain, pivot of the largest empire on earth, he has outstayed in office half a dozen secretaries of state of the now most powerful nation on earth. Such service as his deserves the nation's praise and thanks. Bevin may be no aged and ailing Disraeli, bringing back from an 1878 Berlin congress "peace with honour," but he is a man who has wrought with all his strength to maintain peace with honesty, and the Disraeli empire with the concurrence of the people in it.

How Long Does It Take To Floor a Bridge?

Thousands of people across Canada must have wondered at one time or another how long it takes to renew the wooden floor of a bridge. We have the answer. The small swing bridge across the Trent River at Healey Falls (Healey Falls is not far from Havelock) is being repaired by workmen under the direction of the Department of Transport. It has been announced that the bridge is closed to traffic during this week, between the hours of eight and eleven in the morning, one and four in the afternoon. Therefore, to install a new floor in a bridge the size of that at Healey Falls—we reckon on only a five-day week—takes thirty hours.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Canada's Hangman Ellis has retired. The man appointed to fill his place will also be named Ellis. The reason is not that people called Ellis make the best hangmen, but that our hangmen all take the same disguise, Ellis: a trade name, so to speak.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE OUTSIDER, by Ernesto Sabato (McClelland & Stewart, Toronto).

THIS is a modern Gothic tale (modern because the gargoyles are psychoanalytic) published for the first time this year in English, but originally brought out in 1948 in Spanish in Buenos Aires where the author lives. Ernesto Sabato (now 39) and this, his second novel, have attracted the attention of such a writer as the famous Albert Camus.

The theme is as old as love. It is Othello's story of devouring passion where suspicion eats the heart.

> Trifles light as air
> Are to the jealous confirmations strong
> As proofs of holy writ.

It is as old as the heart's yearning for identity, as man's tormented loneliness and his doomed attempt to escape from his essential isolation. And it is a cruel story demonstrating Wilde's line that "each man kills the thing he loves".

Juan Pablo Castel is a successful Argentinian painter in his early middle years. At a salon his mind and spirit are suddenly riveted by an unknown woman studying one of his paintings. He feels an immediate, intuitive kinship with her. She understands the secret recesses of his heart and art, he believes. He tempestuously seeks her out. He loves her violently. Occasionally he is absolutely sure—with accompanying exaltation of spirit—that they have perfect identity with each other.

But his passion for complete communion is unbounded. He doubts. He tortures his own love and hers: is she deceiving him? Is she pretending to real love, to understanding, to passion? Every bout of uncertainty feeds his suspicions. He kills her, his "nocturnal sun". "Among all the words that make up our imperfect language, this was perhaps, the one best suited to Maria", Castel says.

The novel reads easily and thrillingly; a story is told with mounting suspense and psychological horror ,even though the first words are: "I am Juan Pablo Castel, the painter who killed Maria Iribarne". The style is bare and spare (the author has such an economy of words that the tale is ended in 175 short pages). The frame of the tale is Castel's attempt, as an honest man like Othello and Lear, to set down in jail his reasons for killing Maria whom he loved so desperately. Incidentally there is only one live person in the novel; quite properly Maria is kept gray and phantom-like, for she is a projection of Castel's imagination.

The images and metaphors, few as they are, are remarkably illuminating, from such a short description of Maria weeping after another Castel agonized fury—"her eyes had the look of broken glass", to the long tunnel metaphor in which Castel and the author most successfully interpret what has happened. (The book in Spanish is titled 'El Tunel'.)

"It was as if we had both been living in parallel corridors or tunnels, without knowing we were moving side by side, like twin souls in time, to meet finally at the end of the corridor, before a scene I had painted, like a clue meant only for her, like a secret sign saying that I was there and that at last the corridors had come together and the hour of meeting had arrived.

The hour of meeting had arrived But had the corridors really met and had our souls communicated? What a foolish illusion it had all been on my part! No, the corridors went on parallel as before, although now the wall that separated them was like a glass wall through which I could see the silent, untouchable figure of Maria . . . In any case, there was only one tunnel, dark and lonely, mine, the tunnel in which I had spent my childhood, my youth, my whole life".

In modern English novels, Sabato compares nearest to Charles Morgan and Graham Greene. It is reasonable to predict that his popularity and even fame will spread like wildfire through this continent and Europe.

HUMANITY AND HAPPINESS, by Georg Brochmann (Viking Press).

RECENTLY a book called "The Art of Real Happiness" was reviewed, without enthusiasm, in this column. Here is a book of similar title and intention, but of vastly greater value. It offers no Deadshot Worm Cure, guaranteed to cure every ill from alcoholism to disappointed love; it tells, rather, how one man found happiness under circumstances which seemed especially unfavourable to it.

Georg Brochman is a Norwegian; like all his countrymen, he suffered deeply during the Nazi occupation. But it was during that experience that he sought, and found the way to personal happiness. He describes his experience in the hope that it may be of interest and help to other people. The translation, by F. G. Nelson, is in an English prose which suggests great literary distinction in the original. Brochmann, we are told, is a writer of eminence in his native land.

What Brochmann has to say is said simply and plainly, but it is not in itself simple. That is to say, he does not suggest that happiness is achievable without effort, by means of repeated formulae or relaxation exercises. On the contrary, he makes it clear that to find happiness involves concentrated mental effort—not necessarily education, but certainly intelligence. His happiness is simply the humanism which so much of the world has forgotten. Humanism has been obscured by our cheap, materialistic, "useful" education, and by our tendency to confuse technical advance with real progress. But the great truths of the past about the spirit of man are still available to us, if we have the resolution to rediscover them for ourselves. That is the nub of the matter: each man must find out the validity of the really great truths for himself; they cannot be accepted without examination.

"Humanity and Happiness" is a very fine book, and one which deserves to be widely read. It is a re-statement, in a fresh, clear literate form, of truths which we cannot possibly hear too often.

HOW ABOUT A SOLVENT FOR THE RESIDUE?

Spender Of Australia

By WILLIAM FITTER

AUSTRALIA'S principal delegate at the Commonwealth Conference on South-East Asia which opened in Sydney on May 15 is Percy Claude Spender, who last December succeeded Dr. H. V. Evatt as his country's Minister for External Affairs.

At the Colombo Conference of Empire Foreign Ministers last January he outlined broadly a plan for economic and technical assistance to countries in the South-East Pacific area. At Sydney he is called on to give shape to that outline, to produce a workable "humanitarian" plan which will arrest the Communist tide in South-East Asia by offering backward countries a helping hand from the democracies in a "New Deal" to raise Asiatic living standards.

What manner of man is Spender, this new figure in Commonwealth deliberations? At first acquaintance he is not very impressive. He is short, with a reddish-brown, scrubby, moustache which makes one instinctively think of Charles Chaplin. But he counters that by dressing smartly and exuding a surprisingly youthfulness for a man who is 53.

A political opponent once described him as "a grown-up Boy Scout". That was meant as a gibe, but it contained the germ of a compliment—Spender always gives one the impression of a man running around to do a good deed. He has plenty of drive and personality, knows how to enliven a gathering with an appropriate droll story, and can hold his own in any company.

BUT there is far more to Spender than the personable lawyer turned politician. Behind the suave manner there is a keen incisive mind, a mind that is refreshingly independent. Indeed, Spender first burst into politics as an independent back in 1937, but he soon realized he wouldn't get far without party affiliations and joined the United Australia Party, forerunner to the Liberal Party which now governs Australia with the Country Party. He was already well known in New South Wales. Starting from scratch the son of a Sydney locksmith—he had put himself through University by scholarships, gaining high distinction in political science and economics; made a name for himself as a company-law barrister and had been appointed King's Counsel at thirty-six — the youngest in the Empire. Before the war, Spender served briefly in the Menzies Cabinet, first as Treasurer and then as Army Minister.

Labour triumphed at the 1941 General Election and Spender and his colleagues went into opposition. It was during the eight years he had to wait before regaining Cabinet rank that Spender's interest turned to foreign affairs.

In Parliament, at public meetings and in pamphlets he campaigned against Australia's "isolationist outlook in international and cultural affairs". Australians are now watching with interest Spender's efforts to arouse wider Empire interest in Asia and to create eventually for the Pacific something akin to the Atlantic Pact. With characteristic thoroughness he has visited Pakistan, Idonesia, the Philippines, New Guinea and Papua—besides attending the Colombo Conference—within the last five months to gain first-hand knowledge of the problems involved in combating Communism in South-East Asia, the main task which the Sydney Conference is facing.

Masonry And The Church

(Brantford Expositor)

According to a strange-seeming report from the village of Fisherville, in Haldimand County, a division has occurred in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church because the pastor, Rev. W. D. Bauer, is said to have called the Masonic Order un-Christian and to have asked some Masons to leave his congregation. It appears that the clergyman bases his objection to Masonry mainly on the ground that nowhere in its prayers or ritual is Jesus Christ mentioned.

Surely this is a weird distortion of logic. One might as well say that since there is no specifically Christian reference in the constitution of labour unions, manufacturers' associations, scientific bodies, and many other organizations and societies which, quite properly, maintain, in their official operations, a strictly non-sectarian position, therefore they are "un-Christian". Perhaps, in the narrowest technical sense, that is true; yet to suggest that the taking of membership in any of these associations is an un-Christian act would be so absurd as to invite disdain and ridicule.

Peter Grimes

"Peter Grimes" produced by the CBC Opera Company, and recently acclaimed for its performance by Benjamin Britten himself, has been given First Award in the Open Music competition of the Canadian Radio Awards. This decision was not unexpected but the opera ran into stiff competition from two programs from Montreal, "Les Petites Symphonies" and "Les Etoiles Futures", both of which were awarded honourable mention. Judges were Major Brian McCool, Dr. Arnold Walter and Professor A. P. Haig.

Viet Nam Political Situation Troubling French Officials

By C. L. SULZBERGER

SAIGON, Indo-China, May 17—Saigon is a tranquil city, but paradoxically assassination flourishes. This is a spacious city with wide boulevards resembling many French Mediterranean settlements and business and pleasure go on as usual despite the bloody civil war being fought throughout Viet Nam.

Late every afternoon the sidewalk cafes fill up. Restaurants, dance halls and gambling establishments do an active trade. French and Viet Namese housewives shop in well-stocked stores. Soldiers stroll leisurely without sidearms.

And yet almost daily some individual on the "death list" of Ho Chi Minh, leader of the rebel Viet Minh movement, is murdered by a chosen executioner who vanishes into a crowd past unarmed policemen. Hand grenades are rolled down movie aisles or pitched into unsuspecting groups of innocents.

At sundown the crump of mortars and the occasional rattle of machine guns on the city's outskirts remind this city that right on its border guerrillas are ready to carry out their nocturnal trade.

Not Important

From a military viewpoint this combination of terror and threat of formal operations is not regarded as important by commanders of French and Viet Namese forces. They do not intend to be swayed from their major plan of cleaning up the key Red River valley in Tongking and strengthening defensive positions near the Chinese border. Not only has this operation been proceeding with success, but the Viet Minh's long heralded spring counteroffensive launched in Cochin China seems to have petered out at Travinh.

But politically the continual threat of Viet Minh reprisals keeps the Viet Namese populace in a constant state of agitation. Early this month when retiring Premier Nguyen Phan Long and his successor Tran Van Huu were speaking at Saigon's Town Hall a champagne cork popped and everyone ducked instinctively. It is that instinctive gesture of fear that is ubiquitous behind the placid exterior of Viet Nam's modern capital.

To eliminate this is more than a military problem. Indeed, despite the successes of Lieut. Gen. Marcel - Maurice Carpentier's forces, high French civil officials frankly concede the situation is deteriorating. The Long government was more or less torpedoed by the Dai Viet party, which itself is strongly anti-Ho Chi Minh.

Collapse Blow

Recognition of Bao Dai by the Western powers was offset in the popular mind by the Eastern bloc's support of the Viet Minh. The rapid collapse of Haiman has encouraged Mr. Ho's propaganda line that his Communist-led victory is inevitable.

An increasing number of Frenchmen are saying that if the political—as distinct from the military—situation does not improve Paris eventually will have to abandon even any shadow claims to this part of the world. In such ultimate circumstances, they say, the only formula would be to establish a coalition government that would pave the way to the return of the Viet Minh in absolute control.

The French hope that the appointment of the new Huu Government, despite the recognition that the Premier is popularly regarded as too Francophile, will at least permit some sort of Viet Namese efficiency to be demonstrated. They argue that Viet Nam must itself live up to the March 8, 1949, agreement stipulating its obligations as well as rights before talking of still more privileges.

Must Govern

The French argue that Mr. Huu must now truly govern; that it is Viet Nam's own job to establish order in Saigon, collect and appoint envoys. No Viet Namese representative has yet been sent to any Dai.

The French are pushing Viet Nam to build up a decent army of eighteen combat battalions instead of the existing eight plus the rag-tag assortment of militia and Caodaist private force. If no government — and many regard Mr. Huu's as the last chance—can start accomplishing these tasks many French regard further effort to protect their own interests, the anti-Communists cause or the Allied positions in Southeast Asia as useless.

Peterborough CIVIC HOSPITAL

EXPLANATION OF OPENING

Many weeks ago the Prime Minister of Canada was invited by the Mayor and City Council to open the celebrations of Peterborough's centenniary year by a visit to Peterborough on a date that would be selected by him. The date chosen was May 20th, 1950.

The Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital was asked whether or not the hospital would be completed by that date. After consultation with the architects and the contractor, the Board replied that while there was doubt as to the final completion of the hospital building by the 20th of May, the construction would be advanced to a point where the Prime Minister could be invited to honor the city by declaring the hospital officially open. The Right Honourable Mr. Saint Laurent has graciously accepted the invitation to perform this duty on May 20th.

After the building is declared open the public will be admitted to the first and second floors only. About the middle of June it is the expectation of the Board of Governors that there will be a public inspection of the whole building when it is hoped our citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the completed work.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Carl Voyles, new American coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats senior football team, said Tuesday there should be some relaxation of the Rugby imports ruling to permit switches during the season.

Voyles, leaving for his home in Florida after a brief visit to Hamilton, said he thinks the present limit on imports is sufficient. "But the way things are now, after the first three games an American player, if he wants, can just coast because he knows he won't be released," he said.

"Some of the United States players brought up here the last few years haven't shown too well. What players have been here except Frankie Filchock, and perhaps Merle Hapes, who were really first-string players over there? The others have been released from their clubs before coming over here."

Due to the flood situation in Winnipeg, western owners may shift their stables to Montreal's Blue Bonnets race track, it was announced at Montreal Tuesday.

Racing secretary Jimmy Phelan said he received a wire Tuesday from L. E. Dupont of Winnipeg, inquiring about accommodations and the possibility of entering his horses in races in Montreal. Dupont is a popular western horse racer.

More than 500 horses already are registered at Blue Bonnets and another 200 are expected to arrive shortly.

Denny Whitaker, vice-president of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats football club of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, said Tuesday that the club may play two exhibition games in Western Canada before the Big Four season opens in the fall.

Whitaker said an offer had been received from the Blue Bombers to play a game in Winnipeg. The western officials who sent the invitation said that a second game could probably be arranged with the Regina Rough Riders.

At Buffalo, Rocky Graziano of New York, knocked out Henry Brimm of Buffalo Tuesday night at 2.14 of the fourth round in a scheduled 10-rounder in Memorial Auditorium.

Graziano weighed 159 pounds. He enjoyed an advantage of 1¾ pounds over Brimm, who tipped the beam at 157¼.

The knockout virtually clinched Graziano's crack at middleweight champion Jake Lamotta's title in New York's Yankee Stadium June 14.

Armstrong Signs Leaf Contract

TORONTO, May 17 (CP) — George Armstrong, star forward of the Junior and Senior Amateur Toronto Marlboros, Tuesday signed a professional contract with the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League. Armstrong, who helped the senior Marlboros win the Allan Cup this month, played the limit of three games with the NHL club while an amateur.

The 19-year-old native of Skead, Ont., joined the senior Marlboros after the juniors were knocked out of the play-offs. He led the Junior OHA circuit in scoring with 73 points in 1947-48, and in 1948-49 scored 62 points after a delayed start. Last season he rolled up 64 goals and 51 assists for 115 points. In 19 play-off games he had 19 goals and 19 assists for another 38.

The Leafs have had strings on Armstrong for four years, since he signed a C form while playing for Copper Cliff, after which he went to Stratford. He is the only double winner of the Red Tilson Memorial Trophy for the outstanding OHA junior player.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Gallant Fox, winner previously of the Preakness Stakes, clinched the elusive double when he came home an easy winner in the Kentucky Derby, 20 years ago today. The three-year-old went down in history with the Canadian-owned Sir Barton who accomplished the feat in 1919.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

President Alex MacGregor and Jack Cranfield, chairman of the handicap committee, are making big plans for the official opening day of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club this Saturday. Cyril Crowe, chairman of the greens committee, has Bill McIntosh and the other greensmen busy cleaning off winter's scars, and the course should be in excellent condition. New equipment was added and the tees and greens will excel those of former years. Ron Ward, who is chairman of the entertainment committee, has lined up the opening day dance for the evening. Lex Robson, club pro, is busy these days with the new pro shop addition where he'll have more room for the caddy-carts and golf equipment. Membership committee chairman Ray Parnell has arranged for the annual guest day on May 27.

Barring heavy rain, the male softballers pry off the lid at the Bowl d'Ashburnham on the morrow. A twin bill to open the schedule, second scrap going under the arcs President Pat Calladine will have an opening ceremony to start the season. First fray commences at seven sharp, East City playing the Mutual Benefit bunch, and this one is followed immediately by UEW against the Orphans. Yes, four new clubs in the loop this semester, but many familiar faces in each lineup, no doubt. The league will run double-headers Tuesday and Thursday nights from here on in.

None From West End

Nine entries to date in the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association. But not a single one from the large westend area. This extends all the way north from Townsend St. to McDonnel and everything west of the river. Yet not a manager or team in so far. Two juvenile clubs at present, East City and southend. In midget, there's East City and the north end. The southenders and East City have teams in for bantam, and southend, northerners and East City have placed peewee entries. Looks like east and south carry the loop at present, huh? A big need yet for more managers and more diamonds.

Looks like fans at the major sports here as elsewhere will have to pay a little more, as the Ontario government puts the squeeze on the so-called amateur sports for the hospitals tax. A levy of 15 cents on the dollar. All sports, charging more than 16 cents admission fee, will be scrutinized carefully, and they'll probably just have to come through. As usual, it hits the fans and isn't a very fair tax for that reason—being aimed at one class of people. Intercounty Baseball League upped admissions from 50 to 60 cents and reserve seats from 75 to 90. Senior ball in St. Kitts did likewise, though taking the loss themselves on children's 25-cent tickets.

One Man's Opinion

Scribe at St. Catharines says: "Sane-reasoning sports patrons usually take things in their stride and that's why 99 in 100 will meet the new hospital tax without any undue squawk. Most definitely the act was that of the provincial government and, believe you us, that branch of sport to wiggle out with exemption will know they've been in no tighter squeeze before or after. Fandom will just have to take it or stay away. But did they quit movies when the tax was imposed? Theatres piled them in, regardless. If fans want to see how far they can get in registering an objection to the new hospital tax, the place to lodge their complaint is with their provincial government member—certainly not with the afflicted club."

Windup OMHA bulletin for the past season was sent to Wally Bent. It says nominations for the honor award should be submitted by June 15 to J. L. Christie, 688 Coxwell Ave., Toronto 6. There were 333 teams entered last winter in minor puck competition with 666 more listed as members of city and town loops. Our teams went into "A" playdowns, St. Catharines making a sweep of titles in juvenile, midget and bantam. Bobcaygeon won out in bantam "D", while Campbellford were runners-up in bantam "C", and Stirling finished second in juvenile "C" play. A lad with the peculiar name of Ted Big Canoe is suspended indefinitely for deliberate injury of a 'Caygeon player in semi-finals.

MILLBROOK, May 17.—(ENS).—The inter-church young people's group met in St. Thomas parish hall on Monday evening. Don Spicer, the president, led a discussion period which had as its theme, "How much can I expect of God?"

Passages of scripture were read by Glenna Graham. Jean Smith acted as secretary in the absence of Melba Ball.

It was decided that the final meeting for the season should take the form of a weiner roast. Keith McGregor, Marilyn Palmer and Jean Smith were named the committee in charge of the roast which will take place May 29.

Montreal Nips Toronto Leafs 6-5

By The Associated Press.

If clutch playing is a criterion, Montreal Royals are a cinch for their sixth International League pennant this season.

Manager Walt Alston's crew seems to have that intangible ability of coming from behind.

The Montrealers staged such a finish Tuesday night. They pushed across three runs in the bottom of the ninth to nip Toronto Maple Leafs 6-5. It was the Royal's seventh straight victory and gave them a 3½ game bulge on second-place Jersey City, which lost to Springfield, 2-1 in 10 innings.

Rochester, powered by Del Wilber and Russ Derry's home runs, whipped Buffalo, 10-5. Baltimore and Syracuse were not scheduled.

Rocky Bridges delivered the game-winning hit for Montreal, a single scoring Chuck Conners. Ronnie Lee, who pitched the ninth inning, picked up victory No. 3 side-wheeling reliever Nick Strincevich was charged with the defeat.

Three straight walks following Jack Wallaesa's double gave Springfield its edge on Jersey City. Raoul Lopez, making his first start for Jersey, held Springfield to four hits, but walked 11 men. Righthander Bob Kelly was the winning pitcher.

Righthander Tom Poholsky went the route for Rochester, spacing eight Buffalo hits. Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., suffered his fourth straight licking.

Boston Thumps Detroit 6-1 Williams Gets 2 Homers

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Ted Williams has never said so publicly but what baseball's top slugger wants most—next to seeing his Boston Red Sox win a pennant—is to break Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in one season.

Williams has already reached the magic .400 batting figure. He's won the batting title four times. He's already gained the most valuable player award.

This year he's setting his sights on 61 home runs and he has hit 11 four baggers in Boston's first 28 games.

Ted and his slugging mate, Vern Stephens, each slammed two homers Tuesday to account for all Boston's runs as the Red Sox defeated Detroit, 6-1. The loss dropped the Tigers out of the first place with New York Yankees taking over the top rung for the first time this season.

Crush Browns

The Yankees buried St. Louis Browns 11-0, behind Allie Reynolds' five-hit pitching. Billy Johnson led the attack on four St Louis hurlers with a home run and two singles.

Art Houtteman was the victim of all but the second of Williams' homers. Ted drove in four runs and Stephens two.

Washington retained its half-game margin on fourth place over Cleveland by nosing out the White Sox in Chicago, 6-5, while the Indians were smothering Philadelphia Athletics 15-4.

Robin Roberts protected Philadelphia's first place hold in the National League by besting Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati in a brilliant hurling duel. Roberts allowed only two hits as the Phils eked out a 1-0 triumph.

In Second Place

Preacher Roe pitched Brooklyn Dodgers into second place with a 3-1 triumph over St. Louis Cardinals. The lefthander allowed only four hits in registering his third triumph.

Johnny Sain turned in his second consecutive shutout for Boston's Braves blanking Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0, with six hits.

Homers by Wayne Terwilliger and Andy Pafko, each with a man on in the third inning, gave the Cubs a 4-3 triumph over New York Giants. Bob Rush allowed five hits to gain his fourth victory without a setback.

Larry Doby drove in six runs with a grand slam homer, a triple and a single to lead the Indians to their one-sided victory over the A's. The Tribe collected 20 hits against four Philadelphia hurlers.

Place Bill Nicholson On Disabled List

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 — (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies today placed veteran outfielder Bill Nicholson on the 30-day disabled list and sent left-handed pitcher Jocko Thompson to their Toronto club on 24-hour recall.

Cutting of Nicholson and Thompson from the Phils' roster reduced the club to the required 25 men.

Thompson was with the Toronto International League team last year and came up to the Phils to win a key game from St. Louis Cardinals during September. He appeared in only one game, as a relief pitcher, this spring.

Nicholson, power-hitter and veteran right fielder, suffered an injury to his leg during spring training after he had showed promise of returning to the form that made him a star with Chicago Cubs a half-dozen years ago.

Visit to City of Edinburgh Famous Shrines of Scotland

By JEAN E. STENTON

EDINBURGH May—The grey city of Edinburgh is one to stir the heart. A city of contrasts, with its ghosts and phantoms of of the past, it is quite unlike the sparkling beauty of Paris or the sedate strength of London. Edinburgh seems as rugged as its sharp grey cliffs, but it has its own charm. The French influence in buildings throughout the city was quite noticeable and I felt right at home.

The main street Princes street, famed throught the world, was a disappointment but the sight of the great castle which has seen such exciting history, towering hundreds of feet above the city with a brooding eye, stirred my fraction of Scotish blood. It has been the scene of the most dramatic experiences in National history. As I climbed up the narrow, steep, cobblestone road from the Mound, the aura of the battles, executions and glittering society that made up that section in bygone ages, seemed to linger still.

I was even more at home as I strode across the Esplanade in front of the castle gate for that is a bit of Canada. During the reign of Charles I, the Esplanade was declared an integral part of Nova Scotia through an agreement with certain Scottish baronets. This decree has never been annulled, and legally, it is still supposed to be Canadian. In earlier days, it was the site of executions by axe and stake. Lady Jane Douglas was burned to death on what is now a lovely spot, as were scores of others accused of witchery.

Striking Entrance

The entrance to the castle is simple, but effective. It is entered by a drawbridge over the moat. In niches on either side of the gateway, stand bronze statues of Bruce and Wallace, national heroes of Scottish independence. They were a strange contrast to the khaki-uniformed sentry standing below them.

This huge fortification has been possessed in turn by Britons, Romans, Saxons, and Picts. A steep, narrow road leads toward the Argyll Tower, otherwise known as the State Prison. It was a portion of the defensive work of David II about 1358 and was dismantled in 1573 in the interests of Mary. The walls are from 10 to 15 feet thick. The tower took its name from the Argylls, father and son, who were imprisoned there, preparatory to their execution for their staunch adherence to the Covenant.

The most striking thing in the Castle is the Scottish National War Memorial which has been called—and rightly so I believe—the most beautiful monument in Europe.

It stands in the centre and highest part of the castle and forms the north side of the historic Crown Square. Part of its projections are formed by the walls of a barracks built in 1775. The Memorial consists of a Gallery of Honor with projecting bays and entered by a noble porch on each side of which wreaths are laid and over which is a figure representing the Survival of the Spirit.

Shrine Awe-Inspiring

No mere words can describe the beauty and grace of the building, a remembrance to the soldiers of the First World War. The stained glass windows tell the story of the different services as do crests and bronze friezes in the walls. The high vaulted ceilings set it apart from the modern hurly-burly. Each Scottish regiment, whether raised in the Home Country or in the Dominions, has its own memorial and display of historic battle colors and the honor roll of the fallen.

The Shrine is awe-inspiring in its beauty and simplicity. Facing the archway, guarded by exquisitely designed iron gates, is the beautiful casket above which hovers the figure of St. Michael. This figure, hanging from the vaulted stone roof and carved in oak with touches of color and gilding, was symbolic from early Christian days, of Right overcoming Wrong. St. Michael is accounted the Captain of the Heavenly Hosts and conqueror of the powers of Hell and so becomes Captain of such earthly hosts as fight in a just cause.

Before the saint, between four kneeling Angels in bronze, stands a polished Wrought steel casket. This contains the Roll of Honor with the names of 100,000 of the fallen and a scroll recording that the Rolls were placed there by King George V, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales.

In the Shrine, the floor has been stopped in order to show the hard and compact body of the castle rock. Directly on it stands a stone of remembrance, a solid block of green Italian marble, upon which is cut the Cross of Sacrifice and the words "Their Name Liveth."

In the windows and bronze frieze, the eye can pick out familiar figures who aided the war effort. On the inner side of the shrine arch, on both sides, is carved a Tree of Empire from the branches of which hang the shields bearing Arms as follows, reading from the left upwards: India, Union of South Africa, Australia, Royal Arms of Scotland, Newfoundland, New Zealand and Canada.

Pretty Chapel

Another place of interest, small in comparison with the War Memorial, is St. Margaret's Chapel, erected by Queen Margaret who helped introduce the Roman form of Christianity into Scotland, between 1070 and 1093. This is said to be the oldest part of the castle still in existence. She and her husband did much to introduce civilization and the beginnings of refinement into Scotland. The interior of the chapel is only 17 feet by 11 feet, but though simple, is a delightful piece of architecture.

Other points of interest include Queen Mary's room, the Crown Room with the jewels of Scotland, the banquet hall where the earlier meetings of the Scots Parliament were believed to have been held. The first Parliament of James II met here in 1437. Since its restoration, the Hall has become a Museum of armor. Another of the Castle's famous items is Mons Meg—the monster gun which legend has it was made in Mons in 1486. It was used at the seige of Norham castle but burst on being fired in 1682 on visit of the Duke of York, later James II.

From the castle you can walk down the Royal Mile a few blocks in the oldest section in Edinburgh, every brick of which teems with history. When the rulers of Scotland inhabited the castle, it became the custom for the nobles to have their houses in this section, as close as possible to the monarch hence the name Royal Mile. Today, it has become in some parts almost a slum section, but traces of many of the old landmarks still remain, a remarkable memorial to Scotland's turbulent history.

A short distance down this road brings you to beautiful and famous St. Giles Cathedral. The exact date of foundation is not known but from the very earliest times, a church stood on or near the spot. Part of the early building escaped destruction in 1385 when Richard II of England invaded Scotland. In 1466, after much had been added, James III made the church collegiate.

Great Cathedral

The Cathedral is a lovely Gothic edifice with the spire or "crown" the only part that has not been altered during all the other changes. This spire is 161 feet high and terminates in the representation of an imperial crown.

In one section are niches containing statues of such people as Robert Bruce, James I, Queen Margaret, John Knox, Alexander Henderson, etc. In the south transept is a memorial to Robert Louis Stevenson. In the Albany Aisle, is also a tablet contributed by the French colony in Edinburg and inscribed: "To the Scottish soldiers killed in France 1914-1919". In the same aisle, is the Baptismal Font in Caen stone, showing another close link between the Scottish capital and the people of Normandy.

The four octagonal pillars supporting the Towers of the Cathedral are said to be part of the Norman building erected in 1120. Hung on the walls of the building are many of the old colors of famous Scottish regiments and to these have been added historic flags of the Second World War.

Probably the most exquisite part of the Cathedral is the Thistle Chapel. It was opened by King George V in 1911. The chapel, though small, is a beautiful example of modern Gothic and is very richly decorated. The elaborately ribbed roof has a series of large bosses with heraldic devices. The Royal stalls are at the west end and there are 14 others for the rest of the Knights. The beautiful wood carving and the gilt work, make it a lovely jewel in the more sombre setting of the rest of the Cathedral.

Full Of History

Ambling from St. Giles, you pass the quaint John Knox House, where for the price of 6d, you can go up and look around. Following the Canongate to Holyrood Palace (where the King and Queen reside when in Edinburgh) you see more of the remnants of Scottish glory. This too was formerly a residential quarter. Here lived the Dukes of Hamilton and Queensbury, the Marquises of Argyll and Huntly, the Earl of Moray and a host of others.

The Canongate Tolbooth dates from 1591. It is in the French style of architecture, with turrets and projecting clock. This contained a jail, and the Council Chambers or court room in which the Bailies of the Canongate gave their decisions and where the Councillors of the Burgh met. At the end of the street, stands the old and interesting Palace of Holyrood. I had planned to make an extensive tour of the grounds and sections open to the public. But alas, I lost the battle with the cobblestone roads and sidewalks again, and was forced to be satisfied with a quick look around the outer courtyard.

Scott Monuument

Edinburgh and the surrounding area is dominated everywhere by the memory and personality of one of its greatest writers, Sir Walter Scott. Two short blocks from my hotel on Princes street, the Scots have built a beautiful stone monument to their great author. It is in the East Princes St. gardens where at all seasons the flower beds are a fine sight.

The monument is an open Gothic cross or tower, 200 feet high. The central spire is supported by four arches which form a canopy beneath which is a figure of Scott in grey marble. Above the first arches are niches filled by four statuettes on the north, Prince, Charles Stewart; south, the Lady of the Lake; east Meg Merritees; and west the Last Minstrel. Four flying buttresses arched on clustered columns, are 90 feet high and terminate in pinnacles. Each contains niches in which are statuettes of the principal characters in Scott's poems and Waverley Novels—Rob Roy, Dominie Sampson, Dandie Dinmont, Bailie Nicol Jarvie, etc.

An interior staircase leads to a series of open galleries encircling the spire, commanding a magnificent view of the city.

The weather was unkind during my sightseeing of Edinburgh, with the result that the heavy rain cut my city tramping in half and I missed many of the most interesting points. But the beautiful country I managed to visit outside the city, compensated for what I lost there.

Arab Middle East Lands Still Post "Jews Not Wanted" Sign

By FRED J. ZUSY

JERUSALEM, May 17 (AP)—Two years after the tiny Jewish state of Israel was born, a "restricted—Jews not wanted" sign still is posted in the Arab middle east.

This does not represent an anti-semitic feeling as known in the west.

It does represent strong Arab opposition to Israel as a Jewish nation. It is a political rather than racial matter.

Forty million Arabs grudgingly admitted the existence of Israel after their combined armies failed to drive the Jews from Palestine. Arab neighbor states signed armistice agreements with the new country of little more than 1,000,000 population.

This ended the fight. But it didn't cut down the barbed wire fences which isolate Israel from its Arab neighbors.

Travel Restricted

Today a Jew can enter or leave Israel only by air and sea. He is forbidden to cross into any of the Arab countries which pen Israel against the Mediterranean. Neutral travellers are not permitted in Arab countries if they have Israeli visa. There are some exceptions—for Holy Year pilgrims, United Nations, Red Cross and diplomatic personnel.

Arab states refuse to trade with Israel. Some smuggling of food into Israel does go on despite this official economic blockade. Food is short in Israel and brings high prices.

Iraq, several hundreds of miles away, stubbornly refuses to open up its oil pipeline to the Haifa refinery in Israel, although Iraq is in great need of the millions of dollars of oil royalties it is losing. Egypt bans Israel-bound ships from going through the Suez Canal.

Fear Opening Door

The Arab countries fear opening of any door to their Jewish neighbor. They are afraid Jewish economic dominance will follow any step across the threshold.

There is another fear: That the continued high rate of Jewish immigration—estimated at 150,000 for 1950—will some day bring an Israeli demand for more living room.

The Arabs voice a sympathy for the Jews in their search for a refuge but they say that the Jews, by moving into Palestine, have forced more than 750,000 Arabs from their homes and farms.

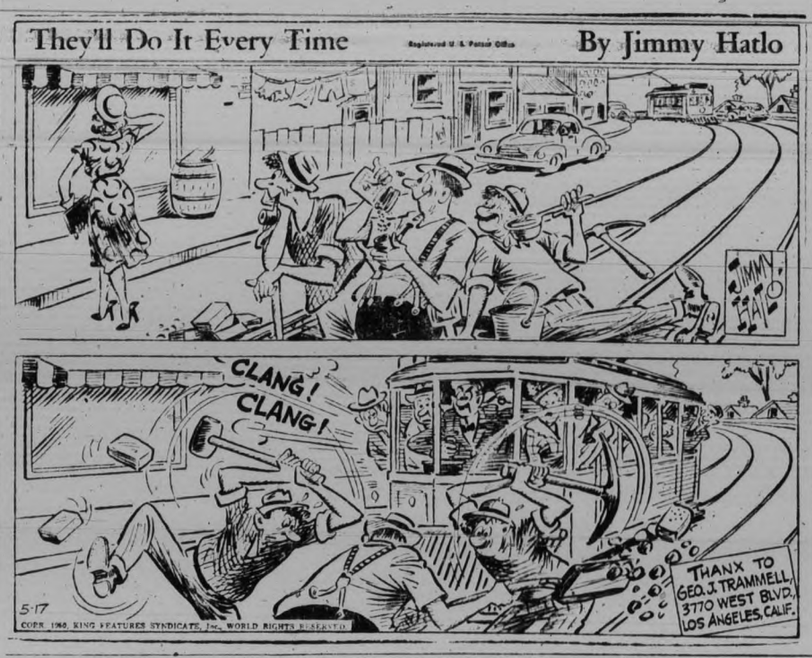
In the back of the Arab mind is a hope that Israel cannot last and will fall apart through bankruptcy.

Arabs refer to Israel as "the biggest poorhouse in the world," and say it will never be self-supporting, but is dependent on outside help, chiefly from the United States.

Western powers want stability in this strategic, oil-rich part of the world. They want an Arab-Jewish peace to make the area less susceptible to communism. At the present time the outlook is not favorable.

Crash In River

BRANTFORD, May 17 (CP) — Two men, believed members of the Hamilton Flying Club, escaped serious injury Tuesday when their light aircraft crashed into the Grand river, 15 miles east of here. The men were taken from the submerged plane. They were believed suffering only a severe shaking up, cuts and bruises. The aircraft struck power lines before plunging into the river, police said.



Fireside Group Meets After Evening Service

MILLBROOK, May 17—(ENS)—The inter-church fireside group met in Grace Presbyterian Church Sunday school-room after the evening church service, with Don Spicer, YPU president, in the chair. Helen Wright and George Ingham gave piano solos; Margaret Aiken gave a Mother's Day reading.

Prayer was offered by J. A. Powell of the High School staff, and the group joined in a singsong of hymns. The Rev. T. G. Husser pronounced the benediction.

Cookies and tea were served by the young people, under the direction of Jean Smith. Joseph Burns moved a vote of thanks to the young people for arranging these Sunday meetings.

The final fireside for the season will be held in St. Andrew's Sunday school-room on May 28.

COST OF MEDICAL CARE

Out of the average consumer's dollar four cents goes for medical care in the United States.

Has 'Shrinking Trout'

ADAMS, Mass., May 17 (AP)—Game warden Lee B. Sanderson's story of a shrinking trout failed to impress fellow warden William J. Kulish, or for that matter, Judge Henry W. Kalish. Warden Kulish told Judge Kalish he found Sanderson fishing in a state forest—with an undersized trout in his creel. Sanderson contended the fish was a legal six inches when he caught it four hours earlier, "and must have shrunk." Ten dollars, said Judge Kalish.

Children Play Part In Mother's Service

HAVELOCK, May 17—(ENS)—A Mother's Day service was held in Knox Presbyterian church on Sunday, the junior choir officiating under the leadership of Donald Pollock.

There was a solo by Dorothy Graham and two anthems. Recitations were given by Marilyn Jack, Carol Rutherford and Marilyn Rutherford. The sermon was by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson.

Start Sanctuary For Rare Birds

NEW YORK, May 17.—The recent discovery of a colony of takahe birds in New Zealand has aroused much interest among ornithologists and zoologists all over the world, inasmuch as the birds had been thought extinct for a half century, The London Recorder relates. The discovery was made by an amateur ornithologist, Dr. G. B. Orbell, a physician of Invercargill, New Zealand.

In the hope of insuring the survival of the species, the New Zealand Government has taken steps to protect such of the birds as may be left. An area of 438,000 acres of forest and mountain country has been set aside as a bird sanctuary in which guns and dogs are not permitted. No one may enter without a permit. Its location has not been announced.

The takahe is brilliantly colored, with spashes of indigo on head and breast and peacock blue and olive on the body. The beak is scarlet at the base, lightening into a rose shade, then darkening again at the tip.

Only four preserved specimens exist. One was caught in 1849 and another two years later. The skins of both were presented to the British Museum in London. Thirty years later another takahe was caught. Its skin, sent to London, was sold to the Dresden Museum. Twenty years after that, the last of the birds seen was caught. Its skin went to the Otago Museum in Dunedin, Scotland.

LONDON, Ont., May 16 (CP)—A resolution asking the provincial and federal governments to enfranchise Indians will be placed before the Anglican Synod of Huron diocese meeting here.

A committee was appointed to draft the resolution after the Rev. Hold Evacuee Wedding Near Red River Waters

WINNIPEG, May 16 — (AP) — An "evacuee wedding" today united a youthful tinsmith and his dark-haired sweetheart who feared they would be separated by the waters of the Red River.

While the angry stream licked at rooftops only a few blocks away, Dorge Camille and Deloraine Martel spoke their vows before an incongruous handful of relatives, friends, Red Cross workers and reporters. Their priest was the Rev. A. J. St. Laurent, cousin of Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Dorge told reporters how the Red River had speeded their wedding plans.

"We had our home all ready—then came the flood. That wasn't so bad, but then we heard they were evacuating people. We thought we would be separated, so we decided not to wait until June to be married as we first decided."

Centre For Training Said Theatre Need

TORONTO, May 17.—(CP)—A centre for training and experiment in the theatre in Canada such as the famous Old Vic school in London was suggested by Michel St. Denis, producer and director of the Old Vic school, in a talk Tuesday night at Hart House, University of Toronto.

The English theatre expert, on his way home from Calgary where he adjudicated the Dominion Drama Festival, said he felt the vitality he found in the Canadian theatre is worthy of more assistance. He said that while the standard of acting at the Festival final was high, the standard of production was not all it could have been.

Mr. St. Denis at Calgary had proposed that entrance of Canadian players should be facilitated into the Old Vic school. He said he would suggest that an entrance examination panel be set up in Canada. At present Canadians have to go to New York for entrance auditions for the Old Vic.

Store Girls Help Feed Flooded Work 4:30 a.m.

From the water-besieged city of Winnipeg, Miss Thelma Howell has arrived to spend a scheduled three-weeks vacation in Peterborough with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howell, 358 Stewart St.

Working in the downtown store of the T. Eaton Company, and living nearby on Portage Ave., she was well out of the flood area and saw practically nothing of the devastated homes until coming out of the city on the train. Then she noted only the top three bars of telegraph poles showing, water up to second floors of houses and over bridges.

However, she, with all other employees of the store, was recruited for after-work aid to the victims. Food is being prepared in the store and the girls come in at 4.30 a.m. to help with preparations before they start the day's work.

Meals in Auditorium

The meals are served in the huge civic auditorium which is also being used as a clothing and housing centre for refugees.

Miss Howell heard opinions expressed by victims and non-victims of the flood to the effect that those responsible for the city could have known of the disaster approaching and have built dikes and made other preparations in time to avoid much of the damage.

Leaves For Europe

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP)—Hon. T. C. Davis, former Canadian Ambassador to Nationalist China, will leave for Europe Friday to take over his new duties as head of Canada's mission to the Allied High Commission in Bonn, western German capital, it was learned Tuesday. Mr. Davis will sail from Quebec City May 19 aboard the Empress of Scotland and will proceed to Bonn after a short stop in the United Kingdom.

Action Promised On Erection Federal Building

Word was received this week by Dit Clapper from Ottawa that the Department of Public Works intends to proceed immediately with the erection of a public building in Peterborough. For many years Peterborough has hoped for a new post office and customs building and now it looks as if there is going to be action.

The first site for a new post office was obtained in 1914 and ever since there have been attempts to get the building under way.

Mr. Clapper was informed that the architect had been appointed and plans were being prepared to go ahead with the building without delay. The site chosen is on the south side of Charlotte St. between George and Aylmer and it was intimated that several of the tenants had already received notice to vacate.

BEAUTY VS. CORDWOOD

The stately willow trees along the Factory Creek between King and Charlotte Sts., which so effectively screened the backyards of business houses along Charlotte, are being cut down. The operation is producing a few pitiful cords of poor-burning wood and revealing an eyesore in the heart of the city.

Cooler Than 1949

Street corner conversationalists who have been complaining that this was a cool spring—cooler than last spring for example—can now say "I told you so." As a matter of fact the April air temperature was slightly more than 7 degrees colder than April 1949. And here are the statistics from the Peterborough Utilities Commission to settle the matter: April 1949, 43.4 degrees average; April 1950, 36.3 degrees. Fahrenheit, of course. The average water temperature was 42.8 degrees compared with 39 degrees this year.

Lived 88 Years In N. Monaghan R. Moncrief Dies

A resident of North Monaghan for 88 of his 90 years, Richard Moncrief died at his residence, near Fraserville, on Tuesday. He was born in Emily Township, son of the late George Moncrief and Sarah Clark. He leaves his wife, the former Annie Elizabeth Trotter, who together celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1941.

Besides his wife there are four daughters, Mrs. S. Hogg (Lila) of Fraserville, Mrs. William McElroy (Roxie) of Keene, Mrs John White (Margaret) of Ida, and Mrs. K. Syer (Mildred) of Cavan. Four sons, Walter, Percy, Leonard and Kenneth, also live in the Fraserville district. Mrs. Martha Morrison, a sister, resides in Peterborough. There are 21 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mr. Moncrief belonged to the third generation of original pioneer farmers who came to Upper Canada from County Cavan, Ireland. He spent many years farming until loss of sight forced his retirement. As a young man he worked in the old Adam Hall foundry, and as a teamster when the CPR line was put through. He was a member of Fraserville United Church.

Funeral service will be held at the Nisbett Funeral Home on Friday at 2 p.m. The Rev. B. Heywood will officiate and burial will be at Fraserville Cemetery.

15 Supervisors Named To Playgrounds

Appointments of playground supervisors, lifeguards and swimming instructors for the summer program of the Recreation Commission in the city parks, were announced Tuesday night by Mrs Richard Whalon.

Mrs. Whalon said that some extra part-time help may have to be employed to help in the eight parks. Alex Sinclair, recreation director, added that a senior lifeguard and a senior swimming instructor have yet to be appointed.

The appointments announced were: Playground supervisors, Joyce Wyatt, Marilyn Hollingsworth, Amy Curtis, Jeanne Stewart, Marilyn Hamilton, Joan Seymour, Ethel Fine, Marjorie Huffman, Mary Brisbin, Barbara Walker, Ted Cranfield, K. V. Brown, Blair Thomson, Al Northcott, Bryon Young; lifeguards, Barry Hollingsworth, Cerry Armstrong, Don Wood, Betty Thomson; swimming supervisors, Mary Rutherford, Lynn Davidson, Mrs. Margaret Freestone and Lorraine Derry.

The parks to be included in this year's program will be: Riverside, Inverlea, McKellar, Fleming Place, Confederation, King Edward, Hamilton and Turner.

The possibility of another playground either at Queen Mary School or Prince of Wales School was discussed. It was pointed out that when playgrounds were held on these grounds the attendance was poor. Much damage was also caused to the Prince of Wales School.

Londerville Named To Normal Staff

John Londerville, M.A., member of the PCVS staff until January 1 of this year and for the past months on the staff of the Hamilton Normal School, will join the Peterborough Normal school staff in September. In making the announcement today Leo Copp, principal of the Peterborough Normal school, said Mr Londerville would teach mathematics and English.

A decided increase in attendance at Normal in Peterborough next season is expected, Mr. Copp intimated. Already Normal School masters have discussed with students in high schools and collegiates the possibility of attending Normal and have discovered a much greater interest being indicated this year.

Mr. Londerville in returning to the city will have taught school in Peterborough in the public schools, Collegiate and finally in the Normal.

Parking Meters Suggested On Market Square

Parking meters in the market square may once again become an issue in the city council as it did a year ago. At a meeting Tuesday, the property commitee asked that city clerk E. A. Outram inquire whether the city could readily buy meters now.

The question was brought up again as a result of the proposal, still in a preliminary stage, that the market be moved to the Exhibition grounds.

The committee is waiting for a report from the city council on whether the market will be moved. In any event, members of the committee seemed to feel they should be collecting some revenue from as valuable a piece of property as the market square.

Lots Offered For Sale

A price of $300 a lot for eight lots on Elgin St. between Hazlitt St. and Dufferin St. in East City if they are sold in one parcel was set by the committee.

The price was set following an inquiry by James J. Clark, Young's Point, who offered to buy the lots for $175 each. Told by the city clerk, E. A. Outram, that price would likely not be acceptable, Mr. Clark said he would go as high as $225.

However, Ald. Adam Sands said that even though the lots were undeveloped land in which there were no sewers and no street or sidewalks, they were easily worth $300 each.

Request Refused

A request by Charles Harris who wanted to rent a field in East City for pasture was turned down by the committee. The field is landlocked with no access to it except through private property.

When asked by chairman Ernest C. Braund what had been the situation last summer, the city clerk said there had been trouble between Harris and some of the neighbors over fences.

An offer from the Sanitary Ice Company that it supply ice for the city parks' fountains and the city hall building for $200 was accepted on a motion by Alderman Hugh Waddell, seconded by Alderman Sands.

Changes At Fire Hall

Chairman Braund reported that the city proposed spending between $13,000 and $15,000 on fire hall changes. The tentative plan is to tear down the present tower and replace it with a one-storey building extending only a little beyond the present wall. Housed in the new section, among other things, would be an electric dryer for the hoses.

The property committee turned down an offer by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to sell the city a V-shaped piece of land at the junction of McKellar and Hamilton Sts. for $1.

"We would have to keep it up and pay the taxes on it," commented Chairman Braund.

DONALD A. LOUCKS

Donald Loucks President Of Sales Club

Donald A. Loucks is the new president of the Sales and Ad Club. His appointment was announced Tuesday night at the May meeting of the club held at Club Aragon.

Mr. Loucks, an electrical retailer and contractor, succeeds Percy Dallin.

Four new directors have also been appointed. They are John W. (Bud) Fortner, Paul Irwin, John Madden and Harry Tewsley. Other directors retaining office are Jack Jobe, Bert Cowan vice president, and Russ Baer.

The new officers were installed by Past President Paige Rowell but they will not take office till June.

Apart from announcement of the 1950 officers there was no business. The evening was given over to entertainment.

Guest speaker was James G Wharry, vice-president and assistant general manager of the Quaker Oats Co. Originally booked to introduce a film, Mr. Wharry found that he had been crossed up. The film did not arrive and to fill in he gave a 20-minute extemporaneous talk on sales promotion.

About 200 attended the stag meeting. Professional entertainment was by a Toronto troupe. Doug Romaine was master of ceremonies and comedian. And there were the two Accordionettes—Nancy McKegg and Margaret Lewis.

Dorothy Steadman gave a number of acrobatic dances.

The cadet instruction period for the PCVS cadet corps was lengthened to an hour and a half for the final period today. For the past week and a half the boys have been training each afternoon for one hour. The inspection by Brig. Geoffrey Walsh will be at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Third Youth Found Guilty Of Robbery With Violence Remanded For Sentence

Ted Bosley, 17, 96 Lynch St., was found guilty today in police court of robbery with violence and was remanded for sentence to Monday to allow his counsel, Gordon H. T. Farquharson time to present a character witness.

Bosley's two companions in the robbery, Roy Hotts, 20, of 675 Donegal St., and Clinton Stockdale, 19, RR 4, Peterborough, were sentenced Tuesday to five months definite and two indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory.

A statement made to provincial police by Bosley the morning he was arrested was ruled admissible as evidence.

In the statement he said he had met Lowes in restaurant on Charlotte St. earlier in the day and Lowes had told him he had $100. He said he borrowed $1 from Lowes. He met him again Friday evening. Lowes sent his girl friend home with money for a taxi and bus tickets.

They walked up George St. until they met Stockdale and Hotts sitting in a car at Brock St. They went for a ride out Highway 28 to a side road near the Drive In theatre. There they stopped.

Bosley said to Lowes: "You carry quite a bundle, don't you?"

"Yes, and I'd like to see the guy big enough to take it away from me," Lowes replied.

Asked For Knife

Bosley then borrowed a pencil and asked for Lowes' hunting knife to sharpen it. He started to get out of the car and Lowes asked for his knife back. Bosley threw it away and told Lowes to get out of the car.

"Give me your wallet," Bosley told Lowes.

"You're only kidding," Lowes answered.

"I'm not," Bosley told him.

Lowes then said he had given his wallet to his girl friend, but Bosley grabbed him and held him while Hotts searched him and found the wallet in his sock.

They drove him back to the city and out Highway 7 a mile east of Brookside where they left him.

Lowes took the stand and said Bosley hit him at least twice on the mouth with the cast of his broken hand before taking the money. He said he carried the knife "to help me keep my wallet."

"You read every day in the newspapers of robberies," Lowes commented. He admitted he had told the youths he had got his money running "hot rods" from Toronto to Windsor. He told the court his mother had given him about $120 that morning.

Toronto Robbery Plan

Cross-questioned about a plan to rob a snack shop on Carleton St. in Toronto, Lowes said: "I made up an absurd story that I was going to rob a store. I read it in a funny book — about a crime."

"Just a fertile imagination," interjected Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

Lowes denied telling the three no one was big enough to take his money away. He said he had told Bosley that earlier in the day.

"Do you know now there is someone big enough to take your money?" asked Mr. Farquharson.

"I sure do," Lowes replied.

In the witness box, Bosley said he had merely slapped Lowes across the face with his left hand, not the hand with the cast on it.

He said he had considered Lowes' big talk as a challenge and had merely met the challenge.

"Did you have any intention to steal the money?" Mr. Farquharson aswed Bosley.

"No sir. It was a dare," Bosley replied.

The accused three were just a bunch of boys confronted with another boy with a chip on his shoulder, Mr. Farquharson argued.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said to Magistrate Philp: "Don't let the fact that I have been unable as yet to find a charge to lay against this fool Lowes influence your Worship."

Blank Cheque Sent Magistrate

A blank cheque was sent in to police court today by Peter Gosselin, 234 Hunter St. together with a written plea of guilty to a charge of collecting excessive rent for rooms rented to James Patterson.

It shows great confidence in the court, Magistrate W. R. Philp KC commented with a smile.

Acting for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, W. F. Huycke KC said Gosselin had been charging $35 a month on rooms on which the rent was fixed at $22.

The magistrate decided the amount should be filled for $45.50, of which $40 was fine and the rest court costs and a witness fee.

No one was hurt and little damage was done to either car. Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum investigated.

EQUIPMENT MOVED

The equipment for the leathercraft and pottery handicrafts has been moved from Central School to Dixon House, Mrs. James Wharry, chairman of the handicraft committee of the Recreation Commission, reported Tuesday night. At the April meeting the commission approved a suggestion by Mrs. Wharry that a handicraft centre be placed in Dixon House.

GRANT MONEY

A grant of $450 will be given this year to the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association by the Recreation Commission. The Baseball Advisory Council and the Male Sports Committee recommended that the grant be awarded. The Minor Baseball Association assumed this season a debt of $1,100 from previous years.

Oldest Dutch Church Te Be Rebuilt In London

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, May 17.—(CP). — The oldest Dutch church in the world is to be rebuilt, and Queen Juliana of the Netherlands will lay its foundation stone.

But she has to come to London to do it.

Austin Friars, as it was known, was built during the early 14th century near Threadneedle street and what now is the Bank of England. It was destroyed during the war.

Only a few shattered gravestones remain of one of the oldest, prettiest and more remarkable of London churches. A land-mine that fell near Threadneedle street during the 1940 blitz pulverized both the fabric and its notable collection of tombs.

Permission has been granted for reconstruction — but this time along typical Dutch lines instead of the former structure's late Gothic style. And the cost, an estimated £100,000 ($310,000) will be borne by the income from surrounding property, office blocks owned by the church.

Cockney Rendition

Austin Friars' name is the Cockney rendition of "Augustinian Friars," a religious order which had a priory there in the middle ages. The destroyed church was its chapel.

Queen Juliana, making a state visit to Britain late this year, may combine the stone-laying with that occasion. An alternative is to have it July 23—400 years later to the day that Edward VI assigned Austin Friars by Royal charter as a place of from France and the low countries.

In time the church became an exclusively Dutch preserve, antedating by many years the existing religious monuments of Holland.

Austin Friars thus will become the eighth of London's 46 churches to begin reconstruction or renovation.

Every church in the square-mile city was either damaged or destroyed by the blitz, which left glaring acres in that essentially business area.

Few Parishioners

The quandary of ecclesiastical and lay authorities responsible for authorizing or undertaking reconstruction is that the 46 churches share hardly enough parishioners for half a dozen reasonably-sized parishes.

The Rev. Michael M. Hodgins, secretary of the London diocesan fund, said:

"Suggestions will soon be made about the future of some of the churches where there is no resident population. They are very valuable sites, and one of the problems is that there are 46 parishes in the city, with a population barely enough for one."

Hence, while all merit reconstruction on architectural, historical or sentimental grounds, not all do by virtue of their functions as churches.

The Bishop of London has advanced a plan to reduce his diocese's parishes from 46 to 15—still too many, it is suggested. Only the more badly damaged of the remainder would be demolished, the rest being restored for noon-day services; ministering to the city's daytime population.

DOMINION DRAMA BESTS — Regina entrants won three of the awards at the Dominion Drama Festival in Calgary. Bill Walker, left, leading actor in Noel Coward's "Present Laughter", won the Henry Osborne trophy for best actor; Mrs. Jeanne Morphy, also in "Present Laughter," won the Nella Jeffries trophy for the best performance by a female; and Bill Reid, director of the play, holds the Festival Plaque for the best presentation in English excluding the Bessborough trophy winner.

Took Some Doing But Holt Tries City Shoes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 17 (AP) It took some doing, but they've got Tim Holt in a pair of city shoes.

The actor is walking around in a brand-new pair of oxfords for his role as an immigration officer in "His kind of Woman." He'd much rather be in cowboy boots.

"Wear 'em all the time," he remarked. "I'd rather take a beating than put on those civilian shoes."

You can bet your boots that Tim wears his in all of his waking hours. "The only other time I couldn't wear them was when I was in the army," he recalled. "I thought I'd die until I got my boots back on."

This might create the impression that he favors western pictures, which is what he usually makes.

"I don't exactly prefer westerns," he said, "but I think they're more fun. You're outdoors and there's lots of action. Besides, I can make three westerns in the time they make the usual kind of picture."

Tim has been in the movies since 1924, when he was knee-high to his father, Jack Holt. When he isn't making films, he's usually out with his rodeo. He likes to show skeptics that cowboy stars actually can ride a horse.

—Ah, Women!—

Betty Hutton reportedly turned down the 'Keystone Girl' because the part wasn't big enough. She was to play Mabel Normand in the film, which also concerns Canadian-born Mack Sennett. Insiders hope she doesn't expect all her parts to be as big as "Annie Get Your Gun."

Jane Russell was opining that she'd rather pose for photos in an evening gown than in a bathing suit: "The more clothes you have on, the easier it is to pose; there is a lot less to think about in a gown."

Remember the name Marilyn Monroe. She does a scene in "Asphalt Jungle" that is the sexiest since Harlow. Now she's due for a star build-up at 20th-Fox. The gal is blonde, doesn't smoke, dislikes nightclubs and wants to be a dramatic actress.

Say Canada Able To Increase Brazil Trade

By STUART UNDERHILL

NEW YORK, May 17 (CP) — Canadian and American business men have received a warning and an invitation from Brazil, which has taken the lead in developing trade between North and South America.

The warning is that European suppliers—notably Britain and West Germany—are creeping up on their business rivals in the provision of Brazilian imports.

The invitation is to step into the Brazilian market with investment and heavier purchases.

Canada now buys more from Brazil than she sells, but some Brazilian trade officials say that Canada could import even more, and save herself United States dollars by doing so.

"We should develop more direct relations with Canada," one official told The Canadian Press. "A lot of what Canada consumes is handled first by the United States, which makes it more expensive for them."

All Available

In addition to coffee and cocoa, Brazil has available for export large quantities of vegetable oils and fibres and minerals such as mica and rock crystals. Her spokesmen contend that Canada could process these products just as efficiently as the United States.

Canada's main exports to Brazil are heavy machinery and parts, fish and newsprint. The United States still holds the position of main supplier which it built up during the war, but its share of the Brazilian market has slumped to 42 per cent compared with 61 per cent six years ago.

"With European competitors slowly regaining the status they held before the war, which is an essentially sound tendency, it appears that an approach adapted to changed conditions may be necessary for United States traders," Jose Carrido-Torres, director of the Brazilian government trade bureau here, recently told reporters.

Gives Advice

His advice to American business men anxious to retain the Brazilian market was as follows:

1. Increased purchased by the United States in Brazil.
2. A sharp rise in long-term, productive investment in Brazil.
3. Long-term dollar loans for development.
4. Increased convertibility of currencies.
5. Credit terms as favorable as those granted by Europeans.

Britain and Germany each are currently supplying between 11 and 12 per cent of Brazil's imports. Canada's share of the market is a little more than one per cent, slightly less than it was in 1938.

"We are faced with two choices," a Brazilian said. "We can either save by reducing consumer goods and increasing exports, or we can maintain living standards by inviting foreign capital. But we don't want it at any price."

To stimulate business with North America, the Brazilian government has trade bureaux in New York and Montreal.

Take More Tobacco

SIMCOE, May 17 (CP)—Export to Great Britain of flue-cured tobacco from the 1950 Canadian crop will be boosted about 2,000,000 pounds as the result of a decision of the British government to allot an additional one million dollars for the commodity. The board of directors of the Ontario Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Association were informed by Dr. N. A. McRae, chief of the tobacco division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, that Great Britain definitely has allotted nine million dollars to purchase tobacco from the 1950 Canadian crop.

Officers Elected

MONTEBELLO, Que., May 17 (CP)—G. C. Cumming of Winnipeg, general manager of the Monarch Life Assurance Company, was elected president of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association here today at the association's annual meeting. He succeeds H. L. Guy of Waterloo. J. K. Macdonald, Toronto, was elected first vice-president; A. S. Upton, Waterloo, second vice-president, and G. L. Homes, Toronto, honorary treasurer.

Investigate Report

WEST LORNE, May 17 (CP)—Provincial police said late Tuesday night they were investigating a district fisherman's report that he believed an aircraft had crashed into Lake Erie near this West Elgin county village. George Branchflower told police he saw an aircraft flying over his fishing nets and a few moments later heard a loud splash. The plane was no longer in sight.

On Buying Spree

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP)—Canadian farmers went on a buying spree last year to boost the sale of new farm implements and equipment to an all-time peak of $220,710,000. The Bureau of Statistics said Tuesday that the 1949 sales were 29 per cent higher than the preceding year's $170,666,000 mark and 78 per cent above the 1947 total of $122,395,000.

Braves Rapids Third Time, Saves Helicopter

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 17 (AP)—A 40-year-old construction engineer, hauled twice to safety, braved the Niagara rapids Tuesday night for a third time and succeeded in his mission.

A $25,000 helicopter wrecked Monday in a dramatic rescue operation finally was righted and towed to shore.

Jerry Penque had two close calls earlier in attempts to pull the helicopter from the churning waters near the brink of the Horseshoe Falls, on the Canadian side.

With help Tuesday night, he got the craft to shore and it was dragged out of the river with a crane, in about three hours.

The first time he tried, his boat was swamped and he had to scramble aboard the helicopter.

The second time, several hours later, he fell into the river while reaching for the boat to grab a rope lashed to the helicopter. He pulled himself aboard the wreckage with the rope.

Both times the engineer was rescued by means of a rowboat guided by ropes, in much the same manner in which two pilots and Mrs. Jeannette Bugby were taken off the overturned helicopter Monday.

The helicopter capsized when its two pilots were trying to haul Mrs. Bugay from the rock to which she had been clinging about 100 yards above the brink of the 160-foot cataract.

All were saved with the help of another helicopter and a boat.

Spain Planning To Increase Cars And Planes

By SAM POPE BREWER

MADRID, May 17—Spain has just announced plans that, if they go through, would make the nation self-sufficient in aircraft and automobile production and modernize its badly worn railroad system.

Tomorrow Spain will launch a 400,000,000 peseta (about $36,000,000) loan to start the railway program. The project will be aided by German and Italian technicians and materials bought from the United States, Britain, France and Belgium as well as Germany and Italy. The program has been long delayed by difficulties over arranging payments.

Yesterday a prototype of a Spanish twin-engine passenger plane made its first demonstration flight with several Cabinet Ministers and high officials aboard after having successfully passed its tests. It is the development of an earlier prototype that never went into production.

Like most other countries in the present state of the world, Spain is concentrating her industrial efforts on lines most important to national defences. The railroads, therefore, are scheduled for a large share of attention. Both automobile and aircraft will also get their share.

Production of Fiat cars in Spain with Italian technical aid is about to begin, it was announced. Production of 10,000 vehicles a year and ultimately 20,000 is predicted. The price, it is said, will be "not much higher than those of import vehicles."

The six leading Spanish banks have made a deal with the Fiat Works by which a company has been formed here with 600,000,000 pesteos, or roughly $65,000,000, capital to build a new Fiat model. The Government's National Institute of Industry (INI) also has a finger in the pie, though it is not known how large a measure of control it will have.

The Spanish already are building their own trucks at the former Hispano-Suiza Works in Barcelona under the name of Pegaso. It is still not known how successful these vehicles are proving. They are reported to be addicted to ignition trouble.

Railroad modernization is undoubtedly one of the most urgent items in putting Spain's economy on its feet. The trains usually run late and accidents are frequent. Apart from the hazards to passengers, a more effective rail system would be essential if the country ever had to be defended.

Home Hints

Safety experts claim the home is one of the most dangerous spots in the country. More accidents happen there than any other single place. Guard against home accidents by keeping stairways free of toys and other obstacles and by seeing that all stairs and passageways are adequately and safely lighted.

The Begum Liaquat Ali Khan

Wife of Pakistan's Premier Leader in Building Nation

The Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, wife of Pakistan's Prime Minister, has taken nearly as active a part as her energetic husband over the past three years in building the new nation.

The black-haired, flashing-eyed Begum, who will accompany Liaquat Ali on his three-day visit to Ottawa the end of this month, organized and supervised recruitment of women in the chaotic days following the birth of Pakistan. Her efforts led to formation in February, 1949, of the All-Pakistan Women's Association, a body now affiliated with the International Alliance of Women and the General Federation of Women's Clubs of America.

The Association, open to all women regardless of caste, color or creed, is a non-political group whose immediate aims are the social, educational and cultural uplift of the country's women. The Begum's organizational work, coupled with her innumerable other activities among Pakistan women, has led to her being called the Eleanor Roosevelt of the East.

Leading Student

Before her marriage to Liaquat Ali in 1933, the vivacious Begum Ra'ana had gained an enviable record in academic fields. She took her BA in 1927 from the Methodist-Presbyterian Isabella Thoburn College, topped her fellow students, all men, in winning her MA in economics and sociology at Lucknow University in 1929, and later became professor of economics at a girls' college in Delhi.

She also took the graduate teachers' training course at the University of Calcutta, where she stood first in both the theory and practice of teaching. She then taught in Calcutta high school for six months.

The Begum is an accomplished pianist and guitarist, has a pleasant alto voice, and is a keen critic of classical music. (Her husband's musical talents lie in playing the harmonium and in beating a hot set of drums at parties).

Acknowledge as one of the most active social workers in the new Dominion, the Begum still finds time amid her countless public duties to look after the education and upbringing of two sons, Ashraf, 12, and Akbar, nine. (The boys had to be left at home to attend school during the current trip to North America).

In her campaign for emancipation of Pakistan women from "purdah", or seclusion, the diminutive (five-foot) Begum has founded scores of organizations. She acts as president of many of these bodies.

Creates National Guard

She formed the Pakistan Women's Voluntary Service, which set up an employment exchange, lost and found and marriage bureaus, and widows' and abducted women's homes. She created the Pakistan Women's National Guard, a voluntary service numbering about 2,400 girls, and as its brigadier maintains constant personal contact with all its members. The Guard teaches girls such things as first aid, elementary nursing, typing, signalling and social welfare work.

The Women's Moslem League, under the Begum's dynamic leadership, staged variety shows and other functions to raise money for relief of thousands of refugees. She also founded the Pakistan Cottage Industries Association, which revived among the country's women the arts and crafts of making footwear, leather goods, sports goods, curios, pottery and metal products.

The Begum is leading Pakistani women in the forging of a new nation.

DOROTHY DIX

Good Mother Better Aim Than Being "Good Sport"

DEAR MISS DIX: How can I be a good sport and still be a good and decent mother? My husband runs with a wild crowd and wan's me to do as the others do, go to cheap joints and drink until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. Aren't parents supposed to set any examples for good nowadays to their children? Am I prudish and old-fashioned to object to going with my husband to such places? Should I do as the others do because it will please my husband?

M.N.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Being a good mother is a lot more important than being a good sport, if your sportsmanship is measured by the amount of liquor you can drink. Nor is any woman called upon to lower her standards of conduct to show her love for her husband.

Don't Be Too Prudish

Of course, it doesn't do for a woman who has a gay, pleasure-loving husband to be too puritanical. He must have his fling and as long as that consist of innocent fun his wife should go along with him, but when he insists upon her accompanying him to cheap dives and taking part in drink fests that last until morning she does well to refuse. No good comes of that to either one. No woman has ever retained either one. o woman has ever retained her husband's love by getting drunk with him, but many a wife has kept her husband's respect by refusing to do so.

As for the value of the example that parents set for their children, it is the most important thing in the world. It is the influence that molds their characters. It is the thing that shapes their lives. All of the preachments go for naught. It is the things they see their fathers and mothers do that they imitate. It is especially important that children's mothers should set them a good example. They must believe in her as the embodiment of every virtue, and when they lose this faith they have no anchor to hold to. Social workers tell us that when children find out that their mother is immoral, or if they have a mother who gets drunk, it simply shatters their whole morale and they go to pieces themselves.

So set your children a good example. If they have a father who sets them a bad one, it is all the more important that you should keep your standards high.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 23 and have been engaged to a boy for nearly five years. He has a fairly good job and does everything possible for me. For the last year, because of conditions in his family, we have been unable to go about much unless I financed the party, which he refused to let me do. Hence we have spent our evenings at my home and I don't understand whether seeing him constantly for four nights a week and doing nothing in particular is to blame for my picking on him about everything and really being uncivil to him, or whether I am slowly losing interest in him. He loves me and I love him, but we don't get along together as well as we did.

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: I think that you are just fed up on each other's society, and that if you would see each other for one night a week instead or four you would find that your appetite for each other had returned.

You see when you stepped out two or three times a week to some place of amusement you had the diversion of seeing other people, of light and motion that gave you new sensations; the interest of seeing a movie; the thrill and excitement of a dance. But when you couldn't do this, when you had to sit at home with nothing to do but talk, you simply talked out and began to bore each other, and that led to your picking flaws in each other.

You may well fear that if you find quiet evenings together so dreary now you will find marriage still more tedious. For that will mean practically every evening, instead of four a week, will be spent at home, with no livelier amusement than each other's company.

So consider well before you let yourself into a lifetime of companionship that will have few thrills in it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21. The girl is 20. We think we are deeply in love with each other, but our friends say we are not because we both have other dates. We think we are both too young to settle down to each other. What do you think?

BOY AND GIRL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think that young people are very foolish to cut themselves off from all association with other boys and girls until they are definitely engaged and the wedding day set. You two are taking the proper course.

Chief Reluctant Enforce Orders

BRONTE, May 17 (CP)—Fire Chief Freeman Bray, who is also deputy fire marshal with jurisdiction in Trafalgar township, is reluctant to follow orders of the township council that fire traps must be cleaned up and eviction forced in cases of extreme hazard.

After the council issued its order Tuesday in this town 10 miles east of Hamilton Chief Bray said: "I know the situation just as well as anybody, but what can you do? There are places like that in all towns . . . these people are my neighbors."

Council insisted on an inspection and clean-up after complaints through the Ontario fire marshal's office that a "shack town" existed on the town's outskirts. One tattered frame shack houses two families, totalling four adults and six children. Police Chief Fred Oliver said that there are 24 such "fire traps" in Trafalgar township, converted to living quarters from abandoned barns, chicken coops and berry pickers' huts.

Fire Chief Bray, explaining his reluctance, said "the last time I tried to have the place cleaned up my family was threatened."

Lay First Keel

LAUZON, Que., May 17 (CP)—The keel of the first of a series of vessels to be built here for the Canadian Navy was laid Tuesday at a ceremony attended by navy officials from Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec. The ceremony took place in the shipyards of George T. Men Better Players

MONTREAL, May 17.— (CP).—Men are better card players than women in general because they seem to have more endurance and power of long centration, Oswald Jacoby of New York, foremost Canasta player, author and recognized card expert, said in an interview Tuesday. "Canasta is here to stay," he said, adding that 20,000,000 fans already have taken up the game which originated in Uruguay.

Pinned In Cab

STRATFORD, May 17 (CP) — Arthur Robinson of Ailsa Craig was killed Tuesday night at Prospect Hill about 14 miles west of here when his truck ran off the road on No. 7 Highway at Kennedy Hill crashing into a tree and pinning him in the cab. Robinson was driving the lead truck of a two truck convoy of Ailsa Craig Farmers' Co-operative back from Kitchener after delivering a load of hogs.

Asks One Gov't For Free Lands

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP) — A white-haired 74-year-old western Senator Tuesday urged the Upper Chamber to back the idea of a single, unified government of all freedom-loving countries as a means to obtain 100 years of peace.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba) said if civilization is to be saved, then the world had to act quickly for the "sands are running out" and a third world war soon may come.

Supporting a motion of Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) calling for a conference of Atlantic treaty nations to develop the theme of a single government, Senator Crerar said such a move could bring together no less than 300,000,000 persons.

It would usher in an era of a century of peace and present a bulwark against the imperialistic aggressiveness of communist Russia. It would mean integration of economies and would mean for Canada an expansion of world markets, the markets needed to bolster prosperity.

Senator Crerar said he realized that this idea of a single government would mean the loss of sovereignty, but this had been done before without any great loss. The provinces had given up their sovereign rights when they united under Confederation in 1867. The 48 States in the United States had done the same thing when they merged into a union about 150 years ago.

Declares Bingo Out For Church

KINGSTON, May 17 (CP) — The Most Rev. John Lyons, Archbishop of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario, said Tuesday that bingo and other games of chance should have no place in raising church finances.

In his charge to the 84th annual diocese meeting, Archbishop Lyons also said the traditional observance of Sunday in Ontario is threatened by commercialized interests.

"The principle of voluntary and systematic giving has the support of Holy scripture. In experience it has won the approbation of the faithful and is to be commended to our clergy and congregations as the mose excellent way. . ."

Oddfellows Officiate At Sage Funeral

Funeral service for the late Alexander Nelson Sage, 57, of 737 Curtiss Rd., was held on Tuesday at the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church officiated and pallbearers were R. R. Ford, R. J. Murduff, E. Cook, A. Brotherson, H. Hall and H. Guildthorp, all members of Otonabee Lodge of the IOOF. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

No Cooking Gas

VANCOUVER, May 17—(CP)—An estimated 10,000 Greater Vancouver homes were without cooking gas Tuesday night following an explosion at a British Columbia Electric Company gas plant. The explosion ripped apart a compressor adjoining a gas storage tank in the east end, injuring three BCER employees, none of them seriously. The blast was felt a mile away.

Doesn't Want Taxes

LONDON, May 17 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons Tuesday night he could think of good reasons for replacing every tax law on the books. "Nobody likes taxes," he said during a debate on the budget, "they're a harsh necessity of civilization, that's all."

Plant Union Votes To Accept Terms

BRANTFORD, May 17 (CP)—A mass meeting Tuesday night of employees of the Cockshutt Farm Implement Company voted overwhelmingly in favor of acceptance of an offer made by the company. The offer made in the office at Toronto Monday of Ontario Labor Minister Daley removed the threat of a strike by Local 458 (UAW-CIO).

It was announced that the union had gained its objective of a 40-hour week instead of the present 45 and a nine cent an hour wage increase in the one-year contract.

Reject Change In Labor Code

OTTAWA, May 16.—(CP). — Labor Minister Mitchell and his parliamentary assistant, P. E. Cote (L-Verdun - Lasalle), Tuesday night in the Commons rejected a CCF amendment aimed at adding teeth to the federal labor code.

They "talked out" a private bill, introduced by J. W. Noseworthy (CCF-York South), which would empower the board to order an employer to reinstate an employee discharged contrary to the labor code and compensate him for monetary loss.

Mr. Noseworthy said his amendment arose from certain cases which had developed in Ontario. In one instance, a firm—Canada Cabinets and Furniture Limited of Kitchener—had been taken to the courts for refusing to reinstate employees discharged, but the order could not be enforced.

Both Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Cote, refusing the amendment, said the labor code had operated satisfactorily and that the amendment would change its nature by putting the Canada Labor Relations Board in the category of a judicial body.

Mr. Mitchell said the code was based on conciliation and "not running to the courts."

Poor Attitude

EDMONTON, May 17.—(CP).—William M. Gould, chairman of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters said Tuesday in an interview that the CBC board of governors is taking a "dog in the manger attitude" toward television. He said A. D. Dunton, chairman, and the CBC board of governors, are refusing applications from private radio stations for television licenses, to protect themselves.

Urae Fertility Clinics

LOUDON, May 17.—(AP).— A government-appointed committee of scientists urged Britain today to set up "fertility clinics" to help childless married couples have babies. Regional fertility centres should be established under the national health scheme, the committee said. Biologists and physicians make up the committee, an agency of the Royal Commission on Population which the government created six years ago.

Rail Transport Back To Normal

CHICAGO, May 17 — (AP). — Railroad transportation in the United States was almost back to normal today after the short but costly locomotive firemen's strike against five big carriers.

The six-day walkout— settled Tuesday — took a solid wallop at business and labor. The loss in business and wages was estimated up to $50,000,000.

Only about 10,000 firemen struck but their walkout made idle about 200,000 other workers —mostly rail employees.

All Pennsylvania freight and passenger service was approaching full normal schedules and all 60,000 furloughed workers were back at their jobs. Freight and passenger losses were estimated at $15,000,000 and the employees lost $6,000,000 in wages.

A second line, the New York Central, estimated its freight and passenger losses at $12,000,000, and employees' wage loss at from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

No figures were given on losses by the other affected lines—the Santa Fe, the Southern Railway, and parts of the Union Pacific. However, the cost of the walkout including losses in business and wages, was estimated to hit around $50,000,000.

Need National Staff To Mobilize Resources

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP) — John Foster Dulles Tuesday night urged the creation of a single "national planning staff" to mobilize the resources of the United States for the cold war with Russia.

"Soviet communism has won great victories and it holds the initiative," Dulles said in a speech at International House.

"Soviet communism is rapidly advancing its program of encirclement and building up its manpower, natural resources and military and industrial power so that, in the end, we may be subject to easy conquest by open war."

Co-Inventor Dies

RESEDA, Calif., May 17 (AP) —The co-inventor of gin rummy is dead at the age of 62. Graham Baker, movie writer and producer in Hollywood for many years, died at his home here Tuesday. He and his father, the late Elwood T. Baker, are credited with originating the game in Brooklyn in 1909. They first called it "drunk" rummy and later switched to "gin."

Different Feeling

EDMONTON, May 17—(CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said Tuesday night in an interview that 'if a vote were taken now on whether Newfoundland should get out or stay in Canada, there would be not more than 500 or 600 residents in favor of getting out." The province voted 52 per cent for confederation but the feeling toward union now is "quite different."

Noel Coward Gets Big Hand For Play

LONDON, May 17 (AP)—Noel Coward got a big hand from London critics today for his first musical play in 3½ years, "Ace of Clubs."

The play, a cops-and-robbers affair laid in a London night club, had its premiere at the Palace Theatre in Manchester Tuesday night perliminary to its London opening.

The London Graphic said the production "ripples with wit and lilt." The Express called it a "gay rejoinder to American musical imports." The Herald found it witty though lacking in subtlety and originality.

Reviewers had kind words for the leading players, Pat Kirkwood, Sylvia Cecil and Graham Payn.

Work 17 Years Not 'Permanent'

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP) — It's quite possible for a man or woman to work 17 years for the government without being shifted from the status of a temporary to a permanent civil servant, the Commons public accounts committee was told Tuesday.

F. H. Helme (L-Prince Albert) cited one specific case where that happened and where the man retired without superannuation pension because he was not permanent.

To a surprised J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood), a finance department official confirmed that it was possible and he added that there are many temporary civil servants who have held that status "many years." But, he said, "a great many of them have been made permanent in recent years."

Australia Worried

CANBERRA, Australia, May 17 (Reuters)—Communist activities and planning in southeast Asia constituted a grave threat to Australia's safety, Prime Minister Robert Menzies told the House of Representatives today. The position in Malaya was serious and "we are in constant communication with other British governments concerning the position as it develops," he said.

Wants To End Contract

HOLLYWOOD, May 17—(AP) —Bob Hope wants to be released from a $15,000 weekly radio contract that has four more years to run. The comedian disclosed Tuesday that he has asked Lever Brothers, his longtime radio sponsor, to let him go. Hope's main complaint is the sponsor's refusal to let him tape record the show, which would enable him to do the program whenever he wished.

Jail 36 Doukhs For Three Years

NELSON, B.C., May 17 (CP)—Thirty-six Sons of Freedom Tuesday were sentenced to three years in prison for nude parading.

The sentences brought to the total to 67 since April 28, when 31 were given three-year sentences on similar charges.

At Grand Forks, another 16 members of the radical Doukhobor sect drew three-year sentences Tuesday and another 30 were to appear there on nudism charges.

While the magistrate reeled off the sentences, Freedomites in their nearby "capital" of Krestova burned down another home. It was the 33rd fire-raid in or near Krestova since the Sons of Freedom started their most recent string of outbreaks in April.

At Victoria Tuesday night, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said he had asked the RCMP to supply 20 men to help prevent further outbreaks. Up to now, provincial police have been handling the situation.

Hold 59 Barges

A resume of the April issue of the Living Message was given by Mrs. J. M. Brownlie and a reading by Mrs. Jason Baker.

It was asked that all members bring their woollens in by June 1. Mrs. J. F. Baker, Dorcas secretary, showed the bale that is being sent to All Saints, Prince Albert School, Brantford.

The hostess served a lunch.

Ellis Jailed 30 Months For Robbery

Deserve Harsher Term Judge Declares For Beating Man 81

COBOURG, May 18.—(ENS). — Joe Ellis of Welland was sentenced to two years and six months in the penitentiary when he pleaded guilty in county court Wednesday to a charge of robbery with violence. On March 14 he and his brother, Charles, knocked at the back door of George Stollery's Seymour Township farmhouse. After they entered, the 81-year-old Stollery was beaten and robbed of more than $1,000.

Charles Ellis, who is said to have taken no part in the actual assault, pleaded guilty before Magistrate R. B. Baxter two weeks ago and was sentenced to six months in the reformatory. According to the evidence Wednesday, Joe Ellis was responsible for the assault, and also kept all but $100 of the proceeds of the robbery, giving $100 to Charles.

In sentencing him, Judge M. A. Miller said that only the light sentence received by Charles Ellis, saved Joe from a heavier term than the one he got, plus lashes.

George Stollery, who has been in Belleville hospital up until a short time ago, having sustained serious injuries in the assault, was in a tottering condition when he entered the witness stand. He testified that two men came to the kitchen door to his farmhouse around 8.30 on the evening of March 14. He didn't know either of them. One of them said that they had come to rob him and the larger of the two struck him. Witness was not sure what he was struck with. Stollery fell out on the snow where he was robbed. He said that he had $2,000 in cash in two wallets, and the money was taken.

Carried Big Sums

Fred Stollery, nephew of the complainant, testified his uncle often carried large sums of money with him and he noticed two weeks before the robbery that when Stollery was in the store

Will Produce Armaments For U.S. Army

Loophole Is Used To Beat Law Hindering Agreement

OTTAWA, May 18.—(CP). — Canada's defence headquarters today exulted over what one high official called "the biggest defence news in several years."

It was the announcement in Washington by Defence Secretary Louis Johnson that the United States forces have been directed to develop a program under which the U.S. and Canada would purchase between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000 worth of military equipment annually from each other.

This sort of reciprocal purchase is what Canada has been pressing for since before the late James Forrestal, Mr. Johnson's predecessor, visited Ottawa in August, 1948.

The announcement represents only a partial victory for Canada but is hailed here as a victory in principle that could lead to the larger hope—a full-scale peacetime equivalent of the war-time Hyde Park agreement for full integration of military production.

Uses Loophole

Mr. Johnson in this case has taken advantage of a loophole in the buy-American legislation which virtually forbids the U.S. forces to buy non-American equipment. The loophole is a clause which permits the forces to buy certain foreign equipment if it is certified that it is in the American interest to do so.

An informed official said the new arrangement does not mean in itself that orders will be placed in Canada, but "it creates the legal ground for orders and that is what we have been after."

It was possible that the U.S. would send more, or all, of the equipment purchased in Canada to the Atlantic Pact countries of Europe.

This would open the way for the first shipments of Canadian arms to peacetime Europe and might eventually be a boom to Canada's hopes of becoming something of an industrial arsenal.

Canada and the United States have exchanged lists and schedules of military equipment they might exchange. The next phase is to decide just what the U. S. will buy here. Canada's share is already largely implemented because her purchases in the U. S. are running more than $15,000,000 a year.

Canada has not lost hope that she will be able to sell major armaments such as aircraft, guns and warships, but it is possible that she may have to be satisfied with bulk sales of smaller items such as Arctite clothing and equipment.

However, the main point is that she has achieved triumph in her persistent argument that her dollar shortage makes it essential that there be a reciprocal arrangement for defence purchases in North America.

Plan Worries Britain

SYDNEY, Australia, May 18.—(Reuters). — A further rift is possible at the Commonwealth conference concerning the plan for aid to Asian countries, an authoritative source said today. This source said that when the British delegation saw the details and the financial commitments involved—believed to total about £8,000,000 ($24,800,000) for technical aid — it became hesitant and was disinclined to proceed with the proposals put forward by Australia's external affairs minister, P. C. Spender.

12 Countries Set Up High Command

LONDON, May 18.—(AP). — Atlantic Pact foreign ministers set up a permanent high command tonight and ordered it to develop the armed forces necessary for the defence of Western Europe.

Each of the 12 member foreign ministers will appoint a deputy to serve on the permanent committee.

The appointments will be made "with the least possible delay" so that the deputies can proceed to appoint a full-time chairman from among their members, the foreign ministers announced in a communique at the close of their four-day session.

This was in line with an agreement to set up a high command to block Communism, whether it tries armed attack or "Trojan Horse" conquest.

European newspapers have been full of speculation about who the council head would be. Those mentioned include W. Averell Harriman, roving ambassador for the Marshall Plan; Robert A. Lovett, former US Under Secretary of State; Gen. Omar A. Bradley, chairman of the US joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, wartime supreme allied commander in Europe.

The permanent council will have two main jobs.

First, it must work out a time schedule for rearming—for the making and allocation of arms and the drawing up of final military plans—so the west can feel sure of stopping aggression if it comes.

Second, it must bolster the economies of the western countries so that the large communist parties in countries like France and Italy will find less discontent to exploit.

12 Countries Agree

The 12 countries which agreed on this plan are the United States Britain, Canada, France, Italy, Norway, Denmark, The Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Portugal and Iceland.

Agreement was achieved only after considerable soul-searching by some European members who fear they will be used only as expendable bases in the event of Russian armed aggression.

They were told the west must adopt a bold strategy of strength of winning Russian respect by a display of power.

Wind Raises River Level Menaces New Area In Suburban Fort Garry

Flood Situation Still Termed Critical, Little Change Reported Overnight; Six-Mile Dike Weakens Under New Pounding

WINNIPEG, May 18.—(CP).—A wind-created, six-inch rise in the level of the Red River at one critical point menaced a new area of suburban Fort Garry today as greater Winnipeg fought a flood situation officially termed still critical. Army flood control officers announced that an "extremely bad" situation existed along a thin, six-miles sandbag dike immediately southwest of already flooded areas at Fort Garry.

A stiff six-knot current hindered dike-maintainance work at the point of the threatened break.

The wind, from the southeast at 24 miles an hour late this morning, was pushing flood water toward stricken Winnipeg and its twin city of St. Boniface.

The effect was not noticeable immediately at the James Avenue pumping station, in downtown Winnipeg, where the official water level is recorded. The reading there was 30.2 feet at 11 a.m. CDT, unchanged from 5 p.m. Tuesday.

This was the day the ominous Red River, higher than it has been for a century, was supposed to start its dangerously-delayed drop in greater Winnipeg area.

New Area Threatened

A break in the south Fort Garry dike would release pent-up water over a wide, flat area northwest of the curling Red and just south of the Assiniboine River, at a point some three miles southwest of the heart of Winnipeg. The residential districts of River Heights and Crescentwood —low-lying land between the Winnipeg junction of the rivers— would be hit.

Army officers said at a press conference in flood-control headquarters that the stiff, southerly wind was the cause of the latest, local threat.

It was stated earlier there was "very little change" overnight in the flood situation. About 600 square miles of southern Manitoba and 17 per cent of central

Company, Head Fined $138,000 For Tax Evasion

LONDON, Ont., May 18 (CP)—Taylor Electric Manufacturing Company Ltd., and its president, A. T. Taylor, today were fined a total of $138,000 for falsifying income and excess profits tax returns.

Taylor was also sentenced to six months.

At a previous hearing he had pleaded guilty for himself and the company.

Magistrate Donald Menzies imposed a six-month term and a $33,000 fine or a further three for Taylor. The company was fined an additional $105,000.

The fines imposed today are believed among the biggest ever levied in tax-evasion cases.

A $70,000 fine was imposed last week in Toronto on Norman Samuel, 48-year-old broker, for seven breaches of foreign exchange control regulations involving a total of some $1,000,000. He pleaded guilty on all counts.

Bomber Crash Takes 16 Lives

SHREVEPORT, La., May 18 — (AP)—A B-29 bomber carrying 16 persons crashed in the Azores with "no survivors," Barksdale air force base announced today.

Capt. Salvadore Pelle, Barksdale public information officer, said no high-ranking officers were aboard.

The bomber was en route to Britain on a routine training mission when it crashed Wednesday night while landing at the Lagens air force base, Pelle said.

Mother, 3 Children Die In House Fire

VICTORIA, B. C., May 18 (CP) —A 30-year-old mother and three of her five children died in a fire which destroyed their two-storey home today in suburban Saanich.

Dead are Mrs. Annie Reid, Sharon, one year old today; Brian 3, and Jackie 4.

Ray Reid, husband and father of the victims, succeeded in rescuing two other children by breaking a window and tossing them to the ground from a second storey bedroom. He suffered painful burns on the wrists and face.

The fire is believed to have started from smouldering clothes which were hung around the kitchen stove to dry during the night.

Thieves 'Frozen Out Leave Loot In Cooler

OWEN SOUND, May 18 (CP). —Thieves who broke into the plant of the Kimberley District Co-operatives plant, 22 miles south-east of here Wednesday night were literally "frozen out" before gaining any loot.

When buttermaker Joseph Rudley opened the plant at 6 a.m. today he found the office in disorder and the heavy safe missing. The safe, which contained several days' receipts, had been wheeled into the plant's cold storage room.

Here the thieves had attempted to smash it open with heavy railway hamemrs, a crowbar, and an axe, apparently counting on the insulation of the cold storage room to kill the noise. It killed the noise all right, but the cold was so intense the thieves abandoned their safe-cracking attempt. Aside from damage to the safe's exterior there was no loss.

New Move Hints Continued Aid When ERP Ends

LONDON, May 18 (Reuters)—Britain and France announced today an important move believed to foreshadow some form of continued American financial and economic assistance for Europe after Marshall aid ends in 1952.

The foreign ministers of the two countries issued a statement formally expressing the hope that the organization for European economic co-operation would invite Canada and the United States to associate themselves with its working as soon as possible.

It disclosed that last week the foreign ministers of the four countries meeting here had agreed upon the necessity of bringing the two trans-Atlantic countries into a close working relationship with the European end of the Marshall Plan.

In these talks, Dean Acheson, United States Secretary of State, had pointed out that although the European recovery program ends in 1952, "'American interest in Europe will certainly continue after that date."

L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, had indicated a similar interest on the part of Canada.

The possibility of the United States and Canada coming into the work of OEEC is believed to have been the main reason for Pearson's presence in London last week while the big three conference was going on.

Reuther Sends Committee To Deal With Union Revolt

TOLEDO, Oo., May 18.—(AP).—Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO), will send a committee here today "to deal with" a revolt which has split Toledo's huge local 12 wide open. At least five of the 125 units of the 30,000-35,000-member local rebelled Wednesday against Richard T. Gosser, an international UAW vice-president, and his control over the local. The spark which touched off the explosion was the strike Tuesday of 12 women employees of the union's dues collection office. They left their jobs protesting what they said was "domination" by Gosser.

Charles O. Ballard, UAW regional director, and Howard Seren, Local 12 president, said the 12 women "quit their jobs." They were replaced.

Richard L. Lazette, Sr., president of the Toledo Industrial Union Council, referring to replacement of the 12 women, said:

"They have some scabs working in the office now, which threatens to make a mockery out of the union."

The council Lazette heads represents about 60,000 members of different CIO unions.

To Send Committee

Reuther advised Lazette he would send a committee to Toledo today "to deal with the Toledo situation." The committee, Reuther said, will be headed by Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer.

Officers of the rebelling units —representing about 5,000 workers—declared in a statement:

". . . Placing other people on the jobs of these striking workers is abhorent to anyone who knows and agrees with the fundamental principal of trade unionism."

It also took a swing at what it called "the dictatorial machine

BC Fears Flood, To Keep Money

VANCOUVER, May 18.—(CP) —Custodians of a $750,000 flood disaster nest-egg studied the odds today and decided against gambling with the elements.

The question was whether another chunk of money, residue of the $2,500,000 donated to British Columbia in the flood year of 1948, should go to flood-battered Manitoba. This has been urged by city council.

But the directors of the BC emergency relief fund cast an eye at the flood threat hanging over their own province and decided to hold off for the time being.

"The BC flood situation should be discernible in about three weeks," said Howard Mitchell, fund spokesman. "The flood committee will then review the entire question—both in Manitoba and BC."

Directors of the fund already have announced the donation of $50,000 to Manitoba, as well as $20,000 to fire-ravaged Rimouski, Que.

Meanwhile British Columbia, aided by Manitoba and other provinces during the Fraser river rampage of 1948, began returning the favor. The Aid-Manitoba Fund, bulwarked by the city's contribution of $10,000, totalled more than $13,000 today.

Still Hunt Gunmen In Beaverton Section

BEAVERTON, May 18 (CP) — Police said today they still are hunting two gunmen who held up a motorist near here Tuesday. The search was concentrated in the area of Riverside Beach, a resort 3½ miles north of here.

The motorist, E. J. Ireland, 60, of Biscarth, Man., escaped from the dark, unshaven bandits who hijacked his car. It later was found abandoned.

Provincial Constable William Andrews said police now do not believe the wanted pair are Paul Russell, 24, and his brother Lloyd, 29, who escaped May 8 from Toledo penitentiary Ohio.

New Railway Strike

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP). — Ten Midwestern and Western United States railroads were threatened today with a strike Tuesday morning by 6,000 switchmen. The walkout was called Wednesday night by the Switchmen's Union of North America (A.F.L.) in a wage dispute.

Find Juveniles Drug Peddlers

VANCOUVER, May 18 (CP)— Senior police officials Wednesday disclosed narcotic activity among juveniles has hit "major crime proportions" in Vancouver.

One 14-year-old Vancouver girl was believed to be the youngest Canadian to face a "possession of narcotics" charge.

Police said an all-out drive has opened to ferret out "adult peddlers" believed to be supplying drugs to youngsters.

A veteran RCMP narcotics investigator said "for the first time in BC history it has become necessary to start laying drug charges against children."

"We don't know how the youngsters are getting the drugs," he said.

MATTAWA, May 18.—(CP).— Alex Cliche, 55, lies in hospital here today fighting for his life against "severely critical injuries suffered when a charge of dynamite blew up in his face.

Gambler Has Finger In $685,000 Pie

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — Alfred H. Scotti, assistant district attorney, charges that big-time gambler Frank Erickson has a financial finger in a $685,000 gambling pie dished up in a fancy Florida resort.

Scotti said Sunday in court that Erickson gets a cut from a gaming room operated at the swank Colonial Inn, located near Hallandale, Fla., between Miami and Hollywood. Hallandale is the train stop for the Gulfstream race track.

The Florida establishment netted a profit of $685,538 in one year for Erickson and its Florida and Detroit, Mich., owners, Scotti said.

He declared Erickson's cut of five per cent netted him $34,276 for the period.

Ottawa Sends Mounties To Help Quell Doukhobors

OTTAWA, May 18.—(CP). — The government announced Wednesday a detachment of 21 Mounties is being sent into the Doukhobor terrorist country of British Columbia and was promptly faced with a new problem posed by the clothes-shedding, home-burning sect.

The problem: Where to put the arrested Doukhobors? Nobody wants them around.

The new problem descended even as Justice Minister Garson bared plans to send the force of Mounties to help quell Doukhobor disturbances.

Government sources confirmed reports that protests are being received from the Vancouver Island village of Comox against reported plans to imprison there some members of the Sons of Freedom convicted of nude parading and arson.

However, a high official said no final decision has been reached and that Mr. Garson will probably make a statement in the Commons tomorrow about plans for imprisonment.

There appeared to be little doubt that the Justice Department has been planning to use empty military barracks at Comox for that purpose. Defense Minister Claxton said he had been asked by the Justice Department whether the barracks would be available and that he had said they would.

Mr. Claxton, talking to a reporter, denied, however, that he had told Jack Noel, Comox commission chairman, that the Doukhobors defintely will be jailed there.

He had merely wired that he had informed the Justice Department the buildings would be available.

UK Hopes To Buy More In Canada

LIVERPOOL, England, May 18, (CP)—Substantial expansion of British purchases of Canadian goods within the next two years was envisaged today by Sir Cecil Weir, chairman of the dollar export board.

Sir Cecil told members of Liverpool Canadian Club during a luncheon address that new things in Britain's economic picture are more encouraging than the steady improvement which is taking place in British export trade to Canada and the increased British buying which would follow bigger sales.

"The fact is that we are aiming at doubling our exports to Canada within the next two years," Sir Cecil said.

Higher export values would be to the advantage of both countries, he added.

"It is as disturbing to us as it is to any Canadian that we should have to restrict our purchases, and, in some cases, limit our consumption, to the detriment of the best interests of the people of both our countries."

Two Vitamin E Developers Address Ontario Doctors

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP)—The men who developed vitamin E treatment of heart disease said today the controversy over its use will some day be looked on as "silly—and yet most amusing."

Drs. E. V. and W. E. Shute of London, Ont., presented to the Ontario Medical Association a part of volume 2 of The Summary Journal of the Shute Foundation for Medical Research.

They pleaded for an unbiased study of their claims and a fair opportunity to reply to their critics. Many doctors, they said, are using the very treatment on which so many doctors frown.

They expressed thanks for this first opportunity to tell their story to the Ontario Association. It was a move toward fair "trial by the rank and file of the profession." However, it came four years after announcement of their discovery and after a refusal by the association's board of directors to hear them in 1947.

"We have fared less fortunately with the Canadian Medical Association, and only one county society in Ontario has dared to invite us to talk on so dangerous a topic. . ."

Their report, backed with numerous histories of patients they claim obtained relief through Vitamin E treatment, is frankly critical of Vitamin E's opponents.

The Shute brothers predicted: "Medical historians of the future will regard the controversy which has been allowed to develop. . . as one of the silliest and yet most amusing episodes in professional annals."

"When we issued a warning on the dangers of unwise Vitamin E therapy in a Canadian medical journal, the warning paragraph and a dosage schedule were deleted by the editor, even over our strenuous protest."

745 Million Loan Said Oversubscribed

OTTAWA, May 18 — (CP). — Finance Minister Abbott today announced that the $745,000,000 record refunding loan launched Monday has been "heavily oversubscribed." The books were closed at 9.01 a.m. EST today.

He also announced that the issue, biggest of its kind in government history, has been allotted as follows: $350,000,000 will be in 2¾ per cent 18-year bonds and $395,000,000 in 2 per cent 4½-year bonds.

House Battles On Division Of Navy Money

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP) — A storm blew up in parliament on Wednesday over distribution of $2,500,000 in Canadian naval wartime "prize money."

Outspoken opposition members termed "fraudulent" and "a two-and-a-half million dollar steal," a government bill that will divide the money between the naval and air force benevolent funds. Traditionally it would go to sailors of the fleet but Canada, along with Britain, is discarding this 400-year-old practice.

Defence Minister Claxton said no fair method could be found to divide among officers and men of the navy the money which represents the value of a German and an Italian vessel captured during the war. He had not met an officer who did not think the government's method was a fair method.

The bill got second reading, but the government probably hasn't heard the last of it. The legislation now goes to a special house committee which also will study other defence department legislation in detail. The storm may well blow up again there.

Canada's tariff policy also came in for criticism. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said Canada was giving too much tariff concessions to the United States without getting at least equal concessions in return. Other members wanted specific "protection" against the dumping of duty-free American potatoes in Canada.

Leads Way

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, conceded that perhaps Canada was taking the lead in international tariff-cuting. But she was now in a position to point to what she had done and ask other countries where they stood.

The debate on distribution of prize money brought from Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo) the charge that the government's action in discarding the traditional distribution was "high-handed and arbitrary." Naval men, remembering prize money from the First World War had a "reasonable expectation" of it from the last war as "an act of grace."

David Fulton (PC-Kamloops) said though Britain had decided not to distribute prize money in future, she was going through with it from the last war so far as the navy was concerned. He would expect Canada to do the same.

Ray Thomas (SC-Wetaskiwin) said it was the right of every sailor in the navy to expect his share of the prize money and J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood) said perhaps a good many men had joined the navy expecting to get prize money.

Use Rocks, Eggs To Pelt Dean

TIMMINS, May 18 (CP)—The "Red" Dean of Canterbury was hastily escorted to his automobile Wednesday night while an angry mob pelted his vehicle with eggs and rocks after his speech on behalf of the Canadian Peace Congress.

The Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, an avowed Communist sympathizer, was trapped by a mob of some 800 citizens in the Ukrainian Labor Temple for an hour before police officers and followers escorted him to the car.

While the crowd milled around in front of the small hall, the 76-year-old Dean asked for police protection in order to leave. About 50 of the 200 persons in the hall had left when the irate crowd started throwing rocks, eggs and fire crackers. The other 150 refused to leave the building without protection.

Two high school students and a man—all of them unidentified—were arrested during a brief skirmish.

The Dean now is preparing for the next leg of his speaking tour —at Port Arthur.

Rap Douglas' Handling Of Flood Disaster

WINNIPEG, May 18.—(CP).—Alderman C. E. Simonite told the city's flood control committee Wednesday that Premier Douglas L. Campbell's handling of the flood situation comes "pretty close to criminal neglect of the people he is supposed to represent."

Ald. Simonite said it was his impression, from a conference with the Premier Tuesday, that the province does not intend to get mixed up with actual rehabilitation work.

Mayor Garnet Coulter told the committee that Winnipeg would take action on rehabilitation plans despite the inertia of the Provincial Government. He said that municipal representatives who had interviewed the Premier got nowhere in their efforts to obtain an immediate statement of policy.

"The Premier would not commit himself," said Mayor Coulter.

Prices Tend Higher On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 18 — (CP) — Prices tended higher in comparatively dull dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. A slight advance in base metals pulled the list into new high average price territory. Most changes were held to small amounts. Volume for the first three hours was 1,667,000 shares.

In base metals Consolidated Smelters and Noranda Mines were ahead fractions and Silver Miller and Anacon Lead traded heavily for penny advances. United Keno Hill slumped heavily under pressure of profit-taking sales.

Leading senior and junior gold producers brightened quietly. Penny stocks that have highlighted the last two sessions were comparatively quiet. Newlund Mines, a feature Wednesday, dipped sharply at the opening but recovered slowly as the session progressed.

Papers again paced the industrial board. Abitibi Common and Pfd., and Brown Common and Pfd., sold at new highs. Constructions were in moderate demand while steels weakened. Utilities, refining oils and foods were balanced.

Western oils opened higher and eased into minus territory as the session continued.

TOKYO, May 18.—(AP).—The families of 10,000 Japanese war prisoners still missing in Russia have decided to camp on the doorstep of the Soviet embassy until they find out what happened to the prisoners. The sitdown demonstration is scheduled for June 12 after a meeting by relatives of the estimated 371,000 Japanese prisoners of war still unaccounted for by the Russians.

Ottawa Acts To Assess Flood Damage

OTTAWA, May 18 —(CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Wednesday that two Federal-provincial fact - finding commissions have been named to report on the governmental financial aid needed to succor the disaster areas of Manitoba and Quebec and indicated that he plans to visit the districts himself.

In swift succession, the Commons heard those announcements and a third in which Defence Minister Claxton, acting external affairs minister, said both the Canadian and American governments have asked the international joint commission to expedite recommendations for future control of the rampaging Red River in Manitoba.

Mr. St. Laurent said D. Bruce Shaw, Winnipeg investment banker and J. B. Carswell, Vancouver engineer, have been named by the Manitoba and Federal governments, respectively, to study the "nature and extent" of the continuing Red River flood, the cost of fighting it, of emergency relief and of emergency precautions to guard against recurrence.

Early Report

That would "make available at the earliest possible moment a complete statement of all the essential facts necessary to determine the amount of the grant which the Federal government should make to the government of Manitoba in order to assist that government in discharging its responsibilities in respect of the flood.

Brig. A. (Pete) Theriault of Quebec City and Edouard Laurent, secretary of the Quebec treasury department, will start at once to prepare a report for Federal and provincial authorities on the financial aid needed as a result of the devastating fires in Rimouski and Cabano, Que.

If war comes, however, the idea is for the west to strike eastward as swiftly as possible in a bid to save western Europe from being conquered.

One American delegate to the meeting said its results have been "very satisfactory." Apparently it was diplomatic victory for State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, who came to Europe with a feeling that speed and determination are necessary to save the west.

Avoid Duplication

There was general agreement that in forming the allied armed forces, duplication of effort must be avoided. In the past each country has tried to provide all the essentials of armed defence for itself, even though some branches were insufficient or inefficient.

Informed sources indicated there now is to be more specialization.

They were silent about what assignments each country would get. There has been considerable speculation that continental countries would be asked to specialize in ground forces, leaving the naval and air defences largely to Britain and the United States.

Existing Atlantic-Pact committees will assist the head of the permanent council. These groups include specialists in supply, finance ministers, defence ministers and the military committee of generals.

VANCOUVER, May 18.—(CP). —One in every six Canadians is X-rayed yearly for tuberculosis, but 4,000 die each year, Dr. G. J. Dr. Wherrett, executive secretary, added that 16,000 more persons are in sanitariums annually while 30,0400 others are partially handicapped by the disease. He forecast that in 25 years the tuberculosis death rate would fall below 15 per 100,000 Canadians.

getting some groceries, he extracted a ten dollar bill from a stack of hundred dollar notes. He estimated that his uncle had $2,000 in his wallet.

After the robbery he went to George Stollery's home with the police and noticed the bloody snow at the back. Another relative, Edgar Stollery, said that he could hardly recognize his uncle's face because of the beating he had received.

Dr. W. A. Baker of Campbellford treated the injured man at his home a short time after the assault and as he was in shock, he was not taken to the hospital until next day. Examination revealed a broken jaw, broken nose and broken cheek bone. There was a "terrific amount of swelling" on both sides of his face.

Clothes Bloody

Mrs. Ruby Ellis, wife of Charles Ellis, told the court that her husband and Joe Ellis left Charles' home early on the evening of March 14. They came back at 10.30 that night and Joe's clothes were all blood. He said he had been in a fight. He asked to have his clothing cleaned and she washed the blood from a light shirt, wool jacket and trousers. Later Charles said that "old man Stollery had been robbed". Joe told Charlie to quit talking about it as what had been done was done. Witness said she noticed Joe with a wallet that had a number of cheques in it and she observed that one of the cheques was in the amount of $700 and was made out to George Stollery. Joe Ellis gave Charlie $100, she said.

A visit by Inspector Arthur Taylor to Joe Ellis' home near Welland resulted in the recovery of $267. There were receipts for purchases made betwen March 16 and March 21 of $696.88.

Admits Record

Called to the stand by defence counsel J. C. M. German, Joe Ellis admitted a record which began in May of 1936 at Detroit, for purse snatching. The record switched to Peterborough after a 10-months jail term for the Detroit case where Ellis was convicted for false pretenses, false hotel registration, assault and fraud. Ellis said that he got out of work at Welland and finally brought his wife down to Campbellford where his sister lived. He blamed his brother Charles for suggesting the robbery of Stollery and he testified that Charles had taken part in the assault. Stollery had fallen out the back door when he tripped and then fell in the snow where they proceeded to rob him.

"I wanted to carry the old man in and put him by the stove but Charlie said 'come on let's get going,'" testified Joe Ellis.

Struck Victim Twice

To Crown Attorney Harry Deyman, the accused declared that he had struck Stollery twice and Charlie had hit him once.

"You mean you lifted him up, this poor old man, and hit him again. Why didn't you rob him when he was lying out on the snow?" asked Mr. Deyman.

"He got up himself and I hit him and then robbed him," said the accused.

Mr. Deyman told the judge that he would like to call Charles Ellis in reply but Judge Miller said that it would not be necessary.

"You know, when thieves fall out," quoted Mr. German.

"You have pleaded guilty to a nasty offence," declared Judge Miller in sentencing Joe Ellis. "As low as any I can think of, beating up an old man of 81 years. Even if you wanted to rob him, it was so unnecessary the way you did it. With two strong men, one could have held him easily while the other took his money, but you had no regard for him. It was sheer cruelty. You could get life and lashes for this offence. I have never yet ordered a man to be whipped and hoped I never would have to but in this case I thought I would have to. The only thing that saved you from it was the comparative light sentence which your brother, Charles, received, and I am not criticizing that sentence.

"In my opinion you are the ringleader and you approached Charlie and told him of George Stollery. You went into the house first and you got the bulk of the money. I am satisfied that you were the ringleader. You must get a longer term than Charlie, and it would be longer than you are getting had your brother's term not been so short. There is no use sending you to reformatory as it didn't do you any good when you were there before. I am going to sentence you to two and a half years in Kingston penitentiary," said Judge Miller.

Inquest Ordered In Double Drowning

MIDLAND, May 18.—(CP).—An inquest has been ordered into the drowning of two Ontario Hydro Commission employees Monday near Honey Harbor, 10 miles north of here.

The bodies of Girard Vasseur and Anthony Moreau were recovered Tuesday from Georgian Bay. The men were passengers on a Commission boat which blew up en route to a construction job. Eleven other passengers were rescued.

Enters Design For Nickel National Contest

A Grade IX student at PCVS, Miss Franelda Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson, RR 4, Peterborough, has entered a pattern for the 1950 Canadian 5-cent piece in a nation-wide contest. Miss Gibson answered an advertisment announcing the contest, with a first prize of $1,000 being award for the best pattern for the nickel.

The pattern submitted by Miss Gibson is 12-sided with a figure of a mounted policeman in dress uniform standing on a scroll. The year and Canada is written on the scroll. On the back of the pattern is a raised Maple Leaf with a 5-cent mark.

Miss Gibson explained today that the reason for the raised portion is to help the blind or people with poor eyesight.

In 1949 Miss Gibson entered the local temperance poster contest placing second and earning honorable mention in the provincial finals. This year her poster was first in the Peterborough district and is in the finals once again.

greater Winnipeg have been submerged by the swirling Red.

Precarious Balance

D. M. Stephens, Manitoba's deputy minister of resources, said at the press conference that a "precarious balance" now exists. The situation had not improved; but it was "not getting worse."

Mr. Stephens reported a drop of 1.3 inches in the Red's level at flooded-out Emerson, on the international border. There also had been a 1.33-inch drop at Morris, 41 south of Winnipeg, in the heart of a flooded area so wide it has been nicknamed "Lake Morris."

But the deputy minister said it may be at least two days before the drop is felt at Winnipeg. If the river now was at the falling stage, the effects of a drop would be felt more slowly downstream than when the stream was rising.

Debris Gone

From the press conference came a bit of cheerful news: Debris which had hindered the free flow of the Red under closed Norwood bridge, linking Winnipeg and French-speaking St. Boniface, has been removed.

An estimated 147 truck loads of earth, shattered houses, floating furniture and other debris were taken from the base of the bridge by army engineers at 1 a.m. today. It was expected that this would help the situation upstream.

Since Sunday the wobbly crest of the Red has been crowding between the two cities, straining at miles of dikes guarding utilities and homes.

There was no doubt that, with the Red's three-week upward surge in check, the disaster risk to Greater Winnipeg was lessened. Each fraction of an inch it dropped would reduce the need of army-drafted plans for general evacuation of the population if power and water supplies failed.

But while Mr. Stephens and Brig. Ronald Morton, the army flood commander, expressed concern about continued peril, there was a different attitude in the city. The need for diking volunteers was sharply cut, at least for now. Radio stations no longer blared flood warning and official notices. The noise of sandbag trucks and bulldozers was waning.

In southwestern Manitoba the short, narrow Souris river began to act up. It rose three inches at Melita, 60 miles southwest of Brandon, and spilled over its low banks. Possibly, though not likely, the Souris water would drive into its parent Assiniboine and "pile up" at the junction in Winnipeg Centre.

However, from Brandon, 150 miles west of here, came word that the Assiniboine dropped an inch late yesterday after a two-inch drop the previous day. The river remained comparatively low throughout the Red's surging activity.

Reject Guidance

BERLIN, May 18.— (AP). — East Germany's Communist-dominated parliament Wednesday adopted a law permitting boys and girls in the Russian zone to reject parental guidance at the age of 18 instead of 21. The Communists, in presenting the law, explained they favored the fixing of the coming of age at 18 because "our boys and girls are politically mature at this age."

BEAVERS ON THE FLOOD SCENE—Two beaver have taken up residence in flood-besieged Winnipeg. Dike workers report a couple is at work on a small dam beside the Assiniboine River in the southern section of Winnipeg proper.

Dancer Makes Big Hit At Firemen's Show

"It's A Date" wasn't too much of a date.

But there were attractive things about it.

For one thing, a large gentleman name of Roly Johnson did a step-dance to the tune of "Them Golden Slippers". This robust bit of footwork left the feeling that step-dancing could stage a comeback any old day.

The show, sponsored by the International Association of Firefighters, Local 519, is most ambitious. The show will go on again to night at the Collegiate Auditorium.

Purportedly, it was the story of a boy and a girl (and a pretty one at that) trying to set a date for their wedding. At the end of the second and last act the boy and girl decided "Tomorrow Morning Is Our Wedding Day," but they forgot the words, which spoiled what effect there might have been.

However, the boy (George Sullivan) and the girl (Kay Doris) made a sufficiently good impression during the first act to earn themselves a few pats with the hands, and several on their respective backs.

Next to Mr. Johnson's step-dancing, for which he was called back, the best spot was a take-off on the Breakfast Club of radio fame. Here, Orville Wainman and Doris Furfy did some fine singing—"The Song Is You" by Miss Furfy, and "I'm In The Mood For Love," by Mr. Wainman.

Mr. Wainman paraded through the audience with a portable microphone for his stint, directing his crooning to a few focal points—namely the women in the audience.

Mrs. Pansy Forbes turned Aunt Fanny (of the Breakfast Club) for an evening, and did it cleverly.

A chorus of girls, who had received their training during a two-hour period Wednesday afternoon, lacked confidence, which was understandable. The boys' Town Choir also did several numbers.

To cap the evening's fun off, the second act concluded with a minstrel show.

Extension of VON Services In City Discussed by Board

How VON services can be extended was a question which came Wednesday at this month's meeting of the Board. Although an additional $150 was granted by the Community Chest this year it was felt that the branch should seriously consider how it could increase its revenue from sources other than the Community Chest and city council.

James Dutton suggested the Peterborough branch ought to be able to enroll 500 members at $1 a member.

Miss Mary Ross, superintendent, asked whether an attempt should be made to extend the service further to people who could pay for nursing visits.

Reginald Chandler, chairman, said the branch's revenue was a subject which was being considered carefully at the present time.

Miss Ross reported there were more visits for which full or part payment was made during the two last months of this year than in the 1949 period.

During the past two months 289 patients, of which 139 were new, were given 1,163 visits, Mrs. Ross reported.

This case load, in addition to the maternity and general cases of medical and surgical illness, included three pneumonia, one tuberculosis and six cancer patients. Miss Livingston, Chief Superintendent, recently reported there was an increase of 153 per cent in the visits made to persons with tuberculosis. This, she explained, indicated a shortage of sanitorium beds and the fact that VON was giving the home care.

The death rate in tuberculosis has declined but more patients were cared for at home because of improved methods of treatment. Many were treated with Streptomycin administered by the visiting nurse. Because of this increase in tuberculosis nursing care, the National Nursing Advisory Committee has recommended that annual chest X-rays of all staff nurses be compulsory and that the results be tabulated at head office.

One of the branch's cancer patients was being given dressings and supplies by the Cancer Society.

While the total number of patients nursed to date was about the same as last year's figures (five more in 1950), the number of visits had increased to date by 247. This increase was in the medical and surgical or visits of nursing care nature. The reverse was the picture in the case of infant visits, which were fewer by 122. The reason for this was curtailment of these visits during reduced staff due to illness and a week during which one nurse was away attending a refresher course.

Seven night calls for nursing services were received.

The new permits are for both business and residential areas.

Business Leader Sees Winnipeg Pulling Through

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A westerner, it is said, is an incurable optimist.

From the Gateway to the West therefore, today came an explosive:

"Winnipeg is hurt. But Winnipeg is not down."

The worst flood in Winnipeg's history has wrought untold millions of dollars' damage in recent weeks. Business in many lines has been all but crippled. It may take years to recover.

But from a leading Winnipeg businessman came a vehement declaration:

"We'll get back on our feet in a matter of months. Winnipeg will rebound—it always has. It always will."

Perhaps better than most Allan H. Watson knows what Winnipeg can do when it sets its mind to it. President of the Chamber of Commerce and manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce's main Winnipeg branch Mr. Watson is in the forefront of the drive, already well begun, to put the city back on its financial feet.

Is A Realist

Leader of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund Mr. Watson does not underestimate the difficulties facing the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface.

At his fingertip is a mounting pile of reports of loss upon loss. An "invisible" loss has been almost a cessation of buying in many lines as the twin cities fought the greatest threat yet to their existence. For instance, the "season" in women's spring dresses has been wiped out. "Women had other things to think about," he remarks drily.

But the flood losses are not a net loss. Though, for the long pull, the effect of the flood on business as a whole no doubt will be adverse, Mr. Watson sees the construction and allied industries booming as owners hasten to make repairs to the thousands upon thousands of water-damaged homes. Flood-prevention projects also will aid business. He said:

Construction Good

"From the construction point of view, what should be done in Manitoba to prevent a recurrence (of floods) will be excellent."

A sidelight of the flood-loss picture and its impact on the financial world is the effect upon instalment buying. Mr. Watson noted that many persons had lost goods not yet fully paid for and "they've still got to pay for them."

This, too, he thought, would be beneficial. Credit houses of necessity would have to extend further credit. This would mean a steady sale of such things as home furnishings.

FOR GOITRE PREVENTION

Persons whose diet contains few of the seafoods rich in goitre-preventing materials should use iodized salt.

Hold Funeral Service For John Wm. Dundas

MILLBROOK, May 18 (ENS)—The funeral of John William Dundas, Hope twp. who was formerly a Manvers twp. farmer, was held Tuesday near Millbrook at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Noral Weatherilt. Burial was in Welcome cemetery. The Rev. T. G. Husser officiated and pallbearers were Lorne Giddy, Fred Wakeley, W. Goheen (nephew), Percy Carroll, Clifford Anderson (grandson), and Fred Weatherilt (grandson).

Mr. Dundas had been living alternately with his two daughters, Mrs. Lorne Anderson (Sadie, of Oakwood and Mrs. Noral Weatherilt (Idella), of Millbrook.

He also leaves six grandchildren and two great grandchildren. He was a memoer of Bethtelgrove United Church and was at one time Sunday school superintendent and Bible class teacher. He was also a member of the Masonic Order.

Joint Burial Service For Man And Wife

WARKWORTH, May 18. (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. Phillip O'Grady were both buried in Warkworth RC Cemetery Wednesday. Mr. O'Grady, who died on February 16, this year, was removed from the vault to be buried with his wife, who died on Monday.

Those who served as pall bearers at Mr. O'Grady's funeral in February, also served on Wednesday. They were Jack Lafferty, Lorne Darling, Leon and Bernard Lonergan, Clare Patridge and Claude Puffer.

Burial followed a service in St. Jerome's Church, Warkworth, and the Rev. J. B. Ferguson officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Grady leave a son and daughter, Audrey, and Billy, and Mrs. O'Grady's sister, Lucy Pollock, who live at home.

Mrs. O'Grady was born in Cramahe Twp., daughter of the late William Pollock and Susan Beamish. She was aged 44.

Triplets Surprise

CLEVELAND, May 18 (AP) — Triplets came as a surprise today to Mrs. Dorothy Myers, 27, her husband Edward and doctors and nurses at St. John's Hospital. Mrs. Myers had expected only one child, so she hoped for a daughter and chose the name Barbara. But along with Barbara came Laura and Allan. The father, an electrician, took a week off to stay home and care for their three other children.

Wages Hit New High

OTTAWA, May 18.—(CP).—Wages of persons employed in Canada's major non-agricultural industries rose to an all-time high during February, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. But the number of persons employed dropped slightly in the same period. The Bureau said that a survey of more than 21,000 leading firms showed that the average weekly wage at March 1 was $44.69, about 1.6 per cent higher than the average wage at Feb. 1.

Cheated On Pay For Falls Job

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 18 (AP)—Jerry Penque was piqued Wednesday, he said, because six hours of work and two close calls in the rapids above Niagara Falls netted him only $125.

Penque got wet in two mishaps Tuesday while he fastened salvage lines in a helicopter caught on a rock above the Horseshoe Falls on the Canadian side. The copter overturned during a dramatic rescue operation Monday. Two pilots and a woman were saved.

"I figured I could make at least $1,000 so my family and I could put a down payment on a small home," Penque said.

"I ended up with 125 bucks Peanuts."

Penque said he let the construction firm he was working for set the price because he was "stunned from the pounding I had taken out in the river." Spokesmen for the firm could not be reached for comment.

WA Council Opposes Sports On Sunday

TORONTO, May 18 (CP) — Protests against legalized commercial Sunday sports and the raising of money for church purposes by means of cards, bingoes and lotteries were expressed in resolutions passed Wednesday by the 10th annual meeting of the Dominion Council of the United Church Women's Association.

The resolutions against Sunday sports came from the Moose Jaw and Peterborough associations. The Toronto East Presbytery sponsored the protest against bingoes and lotteries.

Reports showed membership of 177,390, in 5,399 associations from coast to coast, an increase of 124 associations over last year. Money raised last year totalled $3,170,006 an increase of $304,310.

Have No Incidents

TORONTO, May 18.(CP)—Partition of Ireland is as sound as the separation of Canada and the United States, Sir Basil Brooke, prime minister of Northern Ireland, said in a speech Wednesday night. The Ulster premier spoke to an audience of about 2,500 in Cooke Presbyterian Church. Extra police protection was on hand in case of demonstrations by supporters of union between Northern Ireland and the Irish Free State, but there were no incidents.

Find Skeleton In Park Grave

COCHRANE, May 18 (CP) — The skeleton of a man whom police believe was the loser of a bushland fight was found Wednesday in a shallow grave in a park of this northern Ontario town.

The skull of the skeleton was batted in at the right temple with a hole about two inches in diameter, police said. Beside the body lay a .32 calibre revolver containing several shells.

Coroner Dr. P. Bernstein said the remains had been in the ground at least 10 or 12 years. It was discovered by Cecil Fletcher, garage operator. Fletcher's dog unearthed a hob-nailed boot.

Fletcher said he thought it was "just an old boot stuck in the ground. But when I pulled it up a bone fell out."

Police later found nine cartridges, believed to have fallen out of the victim's pockets.

Muddling With Flooding?

The Winnipeg Free Press, whose opinions are solidly grounded and influential, has charged that Winnipeg and Manitoba officials have failed to deal adequately with the flood situation, not only when it was reaching its crest, but in the preceding weeks when it became known that the rivers were likely to rampage.

With a few exceptions, action at every level and in every phase has not only been inadequate, but has been of the order of local improvisation. In the stricken communities, individual districts have fought the flood pretty much on their own. Had these people, who worked so heroically, been adequately supported and directed, the result would have been very different.

The statements made last Friday and Saturday by various authorities, that everything of a physical nature that could be done was being done, were untrue. Everything that could have been done was not done. On the contrary, towns and cities are now flooded because the authorities failed to realize the danger and to make common cause against it.

These are serious accusations, and no doubt when the floods have subsided and the immediacy of the situation has passed, investigations will be made to determine if there was mismanagement and culpable lack of foresight.

* * *

Meantime the present continues to demand immediate action of engineers, soldiers, and civilians on the spot, and the first aid of people all across Canada to whom the Manitoba flood appeal is addressed. The Examiner's fund for the relief of the victims mounts daily; it is hoped that Peterborough and district people will not postpone making their contributions to this or to other agencies such as the Red Cross and clubs and churches. First aid is best when it comes early. The City Council has expressed the city's concern and anxiety to help; the mayor's relief fund has been opened. Our help should be generous because of the close ties which our people have with Manitoba and because it is a real national emergency. No gift can be too great; none too small. More than half a million acres of farm, town and city land have been devastated, and a hundred thousand people affected.

Nicholls Wing?

Peterborough's new Civic Hospital, shortly to be opened officially, has three wings. These are now stodgily called east wing, west wing and north wing. Without having to take imagination's wing, cannot the authorities find a name for at least one of the wings which, though it may lose geographical significance, gains appropriateness and gives tribute where tribute is due: the Nicholls wing. Through the generosity of Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nicholls, Peterborough has had at little cost to itself for the first half of this century the Nicholls Hospital. The name passed out of existence several years ago when, to appease Government granters and regulators, the hospital was renamed Civic. Now the building itself will pass from regular hospital employ. Is the Nicholls request to the citizens of Peterborough now so little regarded that a tablet on a wall in the new building will be sufficient token of the people's gratitude, and an adequate memorial to a benevolent woman?

So We Can Hardly Make Ends Meet?

During the last several years there has been a general Canadian cry that high costs of this and that are insupportable, and that most people can hardly make ends meet in their household financing, even though wages have gone up by leaps and bounds. Statistics do not tell the whole truth, but there is some reality in them. And J. E. Coyne, newly-appointed deputy-chairman of the Bank of Canada, gave a Seigniory Club audience a shocker yesterday. In the last four years Canadians saved, in bank accounts, Government bonds and the like three billion dollars. That saving is apart from the surpluses accumulated by corporations. It is, for all practical purposes, personal savings in cash. The socking-away is increasing yearly at a rate of four hundred million dollars.

So in spite of high taxes, high rents, costly foods, cars and holidays, Canadians are showing themselves true to a long tradition of thrift.

A Million Germans Missing

Last week the Russian Government announced as if it were proud of having fulfilled its promises, that the last of their German prisoners of war have been repatriated. The book is closed.

The Russian announcement filled thousands of German homes with dismay and drew protests from the Chancellor Adenauer. The three chief Western Powers may also protest the ending of repatriation from Russia. The reason is that a million or more Germans have not been restored to Germany. The ending of the repatriation from Russia means that they will never be returned.

The figures vary. The German Chancellor says that 1,500,000 are still missing. Other authorities estimate the number to be nearer half a million. However many there are, nobody knows where they are. They have not been reported killed. They have not been returned to any country which will record the return. They are missing. It is perhaps safe to assume that a good many thousands of Germans are still in Russia, voluntarily or kept there by force. The magnitude of the number of missing, presumably dead or alive in Russian territory, is appalling. How bitterly would Canada weep if a million adult Canadians were now said finally to be 'missing in Russia', five years after the war's end?

Russia may be holding back some of these 'missing'. But most of them must now be presumed dead. It is mark of the violence and barbarity of the war on the eastern front that of a million Germans who were involved in it not a trace remains, not even confirmation of death. They have disappeared without record.

Rejecting The Governor-General's Hospitality

It may be very chummy and a recognition that our own leading people are as good as any country's, if Canada were to have a Canadian Governor-General. But there are difficulties inherent in choosing a native for the position, as Australia is finding out.

In 1947 Mr. J. W. McKell, a former Premier of the state of New South Wales, and a leading Labour politician, was appointed Governor-General. Now it happens that leaders in politics, industry or business rise on the stepping stones of their dead selves to higher things—and sometimes in the rise, they step on, as well as over, other people. Native-born leaders have pasts which cling like shrouds. They have friends, they have enemies. Even when they are exalted to Governor-Generalship, they are 'good old Joe', or 'that flim-flammer Joe' to hundreds of people. Too many know him 'way back when his wife was just an ordinary . . . .'

The Speaker of the new Australian Parliament is a political opponent of Governor-General McKell; in fact, it seems that he is a personal enemy. Mr. Speaker Cameron was invited to a tea-party by the Governor-General. He refused. He has been rebuked for "discourtesy". Mr. Cameron replies that he will pay all formal respects due to Mr. McKell "because of the office he holds", but he will not accept his hospitality. A social tempest has risen in Australia over the Governor-General's tea-pot, and political steam is whistling from the spout.

The way to avoid such a situation—if Australia or Canada must have a native Governor-General—is for His Excellency not to give tea-parties. But then, half the pleasure in having a Governor-General, if not half the use, would be gone if he were unable to carry out social functions.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There is a lot of le Duc off Scotland's Isle of Mull these days: the Duke of Argyle digging up the Duque de Florencia for Spanish Armada ducats.

"The children now love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority, they show disrespect for elders and love chatter in place of exercise. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table, cross their legs and tyrannize over their teachers". This modern-sounding criticism of youth was said by Socrates more than 2,000 years ago.

Grand Perspective

By A STUDENT OF EUROPE

THESE days of mid-May, 1950, mark the end of a period which has lasted exactly five years, since the day of the German surrender, May 7, 1945. They mark the beginning of a new period in history which promises to last far longer than five years; it may well outlast all our lives.

The period now ended is the postwar period proper, still overshadowed by the Second World War, and dominated by the search for a generally agreed peace settlement. The new chapter starts with the realization that no such settlement is possible, and that the world must for the time being stay divided.

Agreement with Russia is not now attainable except through surrender. World unity is not now attainable except through war.

This being so, we must completely reorientate our thinking and redirect our efforts. To achieve peace and security, we must now make our part of the world so strong that it cannot be attacked and so healthy that it cannot be undermined. If we succeed, world unity may ultimately come through the dynamic of our success and the impact of our example.

THIS, in a few words, is the new doctrine which underlies the international conferences of May, 1950. It is a revolutionary doctrine; it runs counter to the whole traditional and accepted system of international relations and power-politics, and for those brought up in that system it is difficult to grasp and difficult to work. It is also breath-taking in its implications.

It is inescapable because five years of unavailing effort have proved conclusively that the basis for an agreed settlement with Russia does not now exist. Those who go on advocating some "last" or "supreme" attempt to come to agreement with Russia ignore all that has happened in these five years—the record number of peace conferences, the flood of United Nations debates, the thousands of committees, sub-committees, and meetings of deputies; the hundreds of man-years of diplomatic labour wasted, the millions of words spoken to no purpose, the utter bafflement, deadlock, and frustration of it all.

As a result of all this, one thing and one only has been achieved: a blinding clarity that Russia will agree to nothing that does not throw open new doors to Communist conquest and Russian imperialist domination; and that agreement with her on any other terms is now utterly impossible.

THERE are some who would say that this makes war inevitable; and indeed, during the recent centuries of European history there has rarely, if ever, been any alternative to war but agreed and signed peace settlements. But modern European history is the history of highly formalized, confined, and artificial State-society; its lessons are by no means universal. Present relations between the Western world and Russia resemble less the relations between European monarchs in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries than those between Christendom and Islam in the ninth, tenth, and early eleventh centuries, when there was neither formalized peace nor war.

A sober examination of the facts of the present situation leads to the conclusion that while there is nothing in them that makes agreement possible, neither is there anything in them that makes war inevitable or even probable. This may be perplexing, but it is true. Not only are the risks that each side would now run by starting war, and the forfeits it would have to pay, forbiddingly heavy; neither side could, in fact, hope to achieve its objectives even by a victorious war.

◇ ◇ ◇

RUSSIA is not ready and equipped for immediate world domination; nor would military victory over Russia give us the kind of free but co-operative and integrated world towards which we are groping. Both systems can hope to achieve their incompatible aims only by a gradual and indirect approach; neither can gain its end by a violent short-cut.

This does not mean that Russia would not readily exploit any military weakness of the West for making limited military conquests. It does not enable us to relax in the rebuilding of our military strength. It does, however, give us hope that if we build up that strength the result will be continued peace rather than war.

FROM all this it follows that from now on, and for an indefinite period, our chief efforts will have to be turned towards constructive work in the free part of the world, and away from direct dealings with Russia.

Two immediate tasks are before us, each huge in itself and immeasurable in its implications. We have to banish from the free world its two greatest weaknesses—the unnerving sense of physical defencelessness in many parts of it, and the haunting fear of economic inability everywhere. In order to do this we have to create a world centre of solid military strength sufficient to support the security of the whole free world; and we have to create a functioning world economy in which all the workshops are kept permanently busy and living standards everywhere permanently rising.

The framework in which the first task, that of creating security, can and must be tackled, is the Atlantic Community. Nothing less is enough; nothing more is necessary. If the enormous inherent resources of the Atlantic community are fully integrated, this will not only make all its members, even those most exposed, safe from invasion, but it will act as an effective deterrent to military aggression anywhere.

THIS integration of strength is the final aim towards which the Atlantic Treaty Council must take the vital first steps in its London meeting this week. It can be achieved only if the member nations of the Atlantic Community come increasingly to think and act as one single nation, and if the Atlantic comes to be regarded as an inland lake. It demands an unprecedented widening of our loyalties and of our community sense. It is the condition of our survival.

For the second task, that of achieving world prosperity and economic stability, not even the Atlantic framework is large enough. This task demands the co-operation of the whole free world, and the very key to its solution lies in the poor and underdeveloped countries. The raising of their living standards, and the development of their resources, are necessary both for their own sakes and for the good of the great industrial countries, which otherwise face the increasing danger of another slump and another dose of "poverty amidst plenty." To marry the productive capacities of North America, all Western Europe and Japan with the needs of Southern Asia, Africa and Latin America to the lasting benefit of all, without endangering their political independence or creating conditions of economic exploitation, is as great and urgent a task as to integrate Atlantic strength, and a task which demands supreme powers of vision. The beginnings of this task will be explored by the Commonwealth Conference in Sydney, which meets tomorrow, even while the Atlantic Foreign Ministers assemble in London.

The coincidence of these two meetings, following immediately on the world survey by the Atlantic "Big Three," marks a date for history. Here, on May 15, 1950, were sounded the two mighty themes which could make the second half of this century a great epoch in human history.

A MATTER OF BALANCE

Letters To The Editor

"ENOUGH IS ENOUGH"

Sir: One would think, that in these strenuous times, that clear thinking is absolutely necessary—to satisfy us to the point, that "Enough is Enough," where strikes are concerned.

When one looks at the list of unemployed, then takes a look at the statistics of the payroll of the local Lock Works — one would think, that the minimum as shown from the list of 10 female and 10 male wages paid per week—viz 43-46, that same would be enough to keep such employees happy in their status as employed citizens—most of whom, I would presume, on those wages, are buying their homes—and what I could not understand was —that the next day after strike was called for dissatisfaction of one thing or another—collection was being made for food etc., for some of these employees—and the question I asked myself was — what became of the cheque just paid—was it all called for before received—or is that the reason, the beverage rooms are filled to capacity every pay day.

What about the wives and children at home —the hotel keeper will show a gold watch and chain—while the shoes of children of some of these people on strike are worn down —and are in need of repair. Other matters too are neglected and after all, who benefits, when a strike is called? If when such is called, the members of the union calling it paid its members same wages as when working while on strike, one could understand all this selfishness on part of a few.

One comes to the point, where you try to place yourself in same position of an employer—where you pay decent wages for work done—and make conditions comfortable for your employees—then you are asked to come across with more and more, until the business is run at a loss—well it's time then to place contracts elsewhere—and close shop—for the families must see, as every pay day passes, and NO PAY — that there are many things that will never get caught up—and it was better to keep on working—for they must work to live—or it may be, many don't need to work, after making such decent wages for so long—and these of course, would not go on any list for help—they would not need it.

The wages vouched for the Lock Company, are in every respect well compared with any company in same line. The writer has at times, given work to many men needing it—and it has always been said, that So and So worked with me, not for me, and when that attitude is taken, then working conditions are at the best. You can get more out of your employees, on such a basis—for each is a part of the organization—and each should have an interest—more than just paying out wages, and receiving them. This letter is being written independent of any connection with company or any of its employees—and in conclusion might say, men and women get back to work—be thankful you have a job—and live once again.

Very truly yours,
H. GILBERT

FEAR-FED PLANS

Sir: One of your letter correspondents speaks rather gloomily about our wheat future. He bases his thought on "the trend to economic nationalism and food self-sufficiency" among the nations.

While there is a great deal to be said as to the undesirability of the above trend, I believe that the fact is directly linked to the sense of danger engendered among the various peoples, and stemming very directly from UN failures to implement not only the letter but—even more important—the spirit of what I would describe as the collective security of the member-nations?

Maybe it is not down-to-earth realism to expect the fear of aggression and war to wither, while oceans of the taxpayers' money and productivity—everywhere — are being dedicated to armaments?

After V-E and V-J Days I confess I had hoped that one of the vital effects of victory over tyranny, by the free peoples of the world, would be that, as the nations were to have "freedom of access, on equal terms, to the wealth and raw materials of the world", this would make food available to the ports around the seven seas and that—as a further consequence—fear of hunger would progressively disappear? Instead, we are presented with the disheartening spectacle of one of the great nations (India) announcing, from New Delhi, the determination to import no further food-grains after 1951. Nature and the weatherman make no special provisions for these fear-fed plans, and just when drouth or disastrous weather strikes at Indian, Chinese or Russian fields, it may well be that the export nations may finally have gotten tired of their perennial "surplus food" stocks —and this fact may well synchronize with the call for help from the lands with the stricken fields?

Finally, may I just quote a paragraph from my home journal, just to accent the above possibilities: "One of the most dismal crop reports we have read was filed from the heart of the U.S. winter wheat belt, and told of the almost total loss of 13,000,000 acres of winter wheat out of 20,000,000 planted last fall in five southwestern States. It now appears certain that it will be by far the smallest U.S. winter wheat crop since 1940. The result is that, whereas the U.S. has been worrying up until now about an expected 440,000,000-bushel carryover at the end of the 1949 crop year, there just won't be anything to worry about." (Lethbridge Herald)

A WESTERNER

ANOTHER MARKET SITE

Sir: Regarding the suggestion that the market be located in Morrow Park, we are wondering just who would benefit most by this change. Most of the residents, beyond or in the vicinity of Morrow Park, have land large enough to grow their own fresh vegetables and fruit, and probably do. The market site should definitely be central, perhaps not the present valuable location, but one equally convenient from the North, South, East and West of the city. Why not the foot of Simcoe St. with the fresh breezes from the river?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus returned in the power of the spirit into Galilee: and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about. And he arose out of the synagogue, and entered into Simon's house. And Simon's wife's mother was taken with a great fever; and they besought him for her. And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she arose and ministered unto them.

Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them. and healed them. (Luke 4: 14, 38-40.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Thus said the Lord, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of salvation have I helped thee. (Isa. 49: 8.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live . . .

Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near . . .

For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater: so shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it. For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the fields shall clap their hands. (Isa. 55: 3, 6, 10-12.)

Music By Royal Composers

A great deal of music has been written for royal occasions and Britain even has a Master of the King's Musick, Sir Arnold Bax. Now the BBC has presented a programme of music written not for royalty but by royalty. This, which was introduced by Herbert Murrill, Assistant Music Director of the BBC, contained an assortment of works composed by royal personages. Outstanding amongst them was Henry VIII. King Henry was a man of wide culture and an expert musician who played the recorder, the flute and the virginals. A miniature of the King's Psalter shows him playing the harp and it is likely that he performed on the viols, too, for he understood perfectly the type of composition suited to them. This unusual programme includes his dance tune for four viols, a charming song, "Pastime With Good Company" and an exquisite hymn, "O Lord The Maker Of All Things." It is pleasing to reflect on this aspect of a man who, whilst originally deeply religious, cultured and accomplished has come to be remembered chiefly for the grosser side of his character. His music was followed by a melancholy and charming little song for voice with lute, "Death O Death Rock Me Asleep" which is attributed to King Henry VIII's second wife, Anne Boleyn, the mother of Queen Elizabeth. Elizabeth herself did not compose or, if she did, there is no record of her works. But she greatly loved music and the programme includes "As Vesta Was Descending," by Thomas Weelkes, one of the celebrated collection of twenty-one madrigals, "The Triumphs of Oriana," published in her honour in 1601.

John IV of Portugal, a highly trained musician, is represented by a sensitive and tender setting of "Crux Fidelis." Other interesting pieces by various royal ladies and gentlemen were a work for solo soprano and harpsichord attributed to King Charles I, a pretty little piano piece written by Princess Charlotte, the unhappy daughter of George IV, and a drawing-room ballad, "All Silent Were The Fountains," by Queen Victoria's husband, Prince Albert, a prolific composer whose hymn tunes are still sung in many British churches.

Last of all came a composition by a living royalty. It was a bagpipe march "Mallorca" written by the Duke of Windsor when he was Prince of Wales. At that time the Duke was greatly interested in pipe music and was said to have derived much pleasure from writing his stirring march.

The Little Cars

(Financial Post)

Any move by Ottawa which would restrict the sale of small British cars in this country will certainly not be popular with the general public. Despite predictions to the contrary these cheaper, lighter and less fancy vehicles have been widely accepted.

The continued demand, even after most Canadian producers have caught up with backlog orders, prove that there is a market on this continent for a type of car that had previously been almost unobtainable.

The proper way to meet this new competition is not to jack up duties but to reduce costs and operation of American type cars. This should be possible if labour management and above all the provincial and Federal governments will co-operate.

Alderville Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding

ROSENEATH, May 18 (ENS)— Mr. and Mrs. Zacharias Smoke of Alderville celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Alderville on Tuesday. The celebration was in the form of a large dinner party attended by more than 100 guests. The tables were centred with a three-tier wedding cake and the home was decorated with a profusion of cut flowers.

On May 16, 1900, the marriage was solemnized in Alderville of Alice Jane Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Jacobs of Curve Lake, and Zacharias Smoke, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smoke of Alderville. The Rev. F. Tomlin, resident minister on the Alderville Reserve, performed the ceremony.

Hydro Load Up Nine Per Cent, New Sub-Station

During April the new hydro-electric sub-station at Auburn was put into operation. And it is now supplying electricity for the filter plant, pump house and one city power circuit.

That was one of the highlights of the April operating report presented to the Peterborough Utilities Commission on Tuesday afternoon by General Manager Ross L. Dobbin.

Construction is now completed except for fine grading and gravelling of the fenced area.

In his report on the electric department he drew the attention of the commissioners to the fact that the peak load increased nine per cent in April over April, 1949. At the same time the Kilowatt hour consumption increased 12 per cent in the same period Here are the figures

Peak 1950—24,924 h.p.
Peak 1949—22,900 h.p.
Increase—2,024 h.p.
Kwhrs 1950—7,927,000.
Kwhrs 1949—7,056,900
Increase—870,000.

Service Completed

The power service along Lansdowne Ave. to the Timber Rib Co. on High St. was completed. Work was continued on separating the power and domestic circuits in the south end, fed from the Romaine St. sub-station.

A new 2,300 volt primary circuit was run along Swanston Ave., from Armour Rd. easterly to Juliet Rd.

Work was started on a primary circuit to the new Civic Hospital.

Forty-three new three-wire and one new two-wire services were installed during the month. Thirty-one two-wire services were changed to three-wire.

Seventy-three flat rate water heaters were connected and 14 new street lights were erected.

There was a decrease of four per cent in the water pumpage compared with April, 1949, which amounted to 5,112,000 gallons, the waterworks department reported. The maximum rate of pumpage, however, increased from 7.2 to 7.7 million gallons a day.

New Pump in Operation

The new pump for six million gallons a day was run for the first time April 19. All tests were satisfactory and the pump was test-run for 19 hours carrying the full city load.

At the filter plant new pens were constructed for the water fowl. All the stock was moved into summer pens. The grounds were cleaned up and readied for the summer.

In the distribution system, 666 ft. of 6" main and 4 house services were laid on Swanston Ave. The balance of these services will be completed early in May.

A total of 6 new services were laid; 2 services were re-laid; 1 service repaired; and 3 hydrants were changed.

A crew started on testing and repairing the water valves. To date, East City has been completed and 125 valves checked and necessary repairs made.

The Gas Department showed that in April the amount of propane gas used was 19 per cent higher than for April 1949. The increase amounted to 864,000 cubic feet.

One new gas service was laid.

Ball Clubs Have Busy Day Trading Players

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — Major league baseball clubs girded for the long summer run today after stripping down to regular playing weight—the 25-man limit.

Last-hour manoeuvres to beat the midnight deadline saw a number of significant roster changes none quite as unique as that of New York Giants.

Leo Durocher's Polo grounders, struggling to get out of the second division, were left with four third basemen and pair of inexperienced catchers.

In the biggest move of the day, a three-way shuffle, the Giants bought third baseman Johnny Jorgensen from Brooklyn Dodgers and sold veteran catcher Ray Mueller to Pittsburgh Pirates.

Jorgensen immediately runs into a lot of competition for the hot corner spot. Other Giant third basemen on hand are Jack Lohrke, Bill Rigney and Hank Thompson.

No price was disclosed in the Jorgensen deal. To make room for him, the Giants sold the 38-year-old Mueller to the Pirates for "more than the $10,000 waiver price."

Feverish Activity

The day's most feverish activity took place in the front office of Cleveland Indians, who first announced that southpaw pitcher Sam Zoldak was being sent to San Diego and then, a few hours later, changed their minds.

The Indians, g ring they'd better keep their pitching staff intact, decided to ship infield r Johnny Berardino to the Pacific Coast League club on 24-hour option. Another infielder, first baseman Herb Conyers, was sent along on the same terms.

Other last day changes included:

Cincinnati Reds—Sent pitcher Kent Peterson to Syracuse of the International League.

St. Louis Browns—Gave third baseman Frank Gu t ie his unconditional release.

Detroit Tigers—Sold first baseman Paul Campbell to Toledo for an unannounced sum.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Men's softball season is slated to open tonight at seven in the Ashburnham Bowl, East City playing the Mutual Benefit, followed an hour or so later by UEW against the Orphans. A brief opening ceremony and then it's "Play ball". Not too much is known of some of the squads so far but fans will get an idea of their strength during the twin bill this e'en. Barring rain, of course. The loop usually comes up with a streamlined brand of softball as it embraces the pick of Peterborough ballsters. Umps have orders to keep 'em moving, and the openers should draw a hefty flock of fans.

It's lacrosse again tomorrow eve, at 8.45 in Miller Bowl, when Huntsville tangles with the Petes in an exhibition. First of the season and a tasty dish for the large OLA following here. Huntsville huskies won the provincial senior "B" crown last year, and should give Red Creighton's senior "A" Petes a real scrap. First chance to see in action here such newcomers as Jerry Fitzgerald, Jim Kinna, Russ Buchanan, Don Ashbee, Joe Nolan and a few more. Along with Speck, Curtin, Horton, the Breakspears, Dugan, Vitarelli, Magee, Em Creighton, Thorpe, Lewis and the rest. Yes it'll be right interesting.

It's "Play Ball" Again

Baseball of the senior brand makes its 1950 debut Saturday aft at three in Riverside as the Viaduct Loop schedule commences. Toronto Dovers do battle with Eddie Murphy's Petes and, if the weather is right, this diamond attraction should see a large gallery on hand. Bill Edger is likely to get the call as starting twirler, with Al Menzies catching. Joe Stewart on first, Freddy Garvey at second, Danny Brown—who passed up a Welland offer a week ago—back at short, and Howie Dalton on third; that'll be the infield for now. With Joe Lowrey, Paul Estlick and Pat Wilson in the garden.

Oshawa scribe says: "Back from his safari through New York State, President John Harris of the Oshawa ball club reports that a pitcher and catcher have been secured for Oshawa. Bill Duffy is a 24-year-old righthand pitcher who can also play third. In fact he has played semi-pro at both spots, playing for Daytona Beach in class 'B' ball in 1947. The catcher is Joe Stauffer, six feet five inches and more than 200 pounds in weight. Hails from Jersey City and, besides semi-pro experience with House of David teams, he played in the New England league in 1947. He played 105 straight games for House of David in 1946 and batted .380. Hit .325 in '48. Red Demerse, who played good ball around these parts before returning to his native Kirkland Lake in 1946, is back in Oshawa. He used to like to catch."

With Leather Pushers

Peterborough boxers made a fair showing in Lindsay when they won three and drew one of seven bouts. In the final, Tyler drew with Ferguson of Lindsay, Emery, Carveth and Howran being other Peterborough victors. Bradley, McIlmoyle and Barker dropped decisions in their matches. Some 200 fans on deck and they rode the referee hard in the semi-final for not stopping the bout sooner when Ron Emery, Lakefield member of the local club, had Mike Anglers on the ropes and was whaling away. Finally ripped home a left hook to floor the Lindsay 144-pounder and that was that. It was up to the ref to halt it, if he thought fit, as any worthwhile fighter keeps throwing punches as long as his opponent is on his feet.

Ted Reeve mentions the Canadian Hall of Athletic Fame honoring three former ace athletes, George Goulding—father of Bev Goulding of PCVS staff—Bobby Kerr and Bill Sherring. He says: "for the benefit of you kids that came in late, these gents were three of the most successful athletics ever sent from this country into international competition. Goulding was walking champ of the world and a record holder at a dozen distances. An Englishman by birth, he did the fast heel-and-toe for Central YMCA. We can recall George very well as we used to see him going around the Scarboro Beach track before the first war at a tremendous clip against a man named Webb. We have heard oldtimers tell of how a packed Madison Square Gardens came to their feet roaring as Goulding, working from scratch, came speeding up through the pack with his matchless stride and finally mowed down the leaders."

Non-Swimmers Apply For Swimming Lessons

Forms for the YWCA and the YWCA "learn to swim" programs for the pupils of the schools from Grade V to Grade VIII are in greater demand this year than last, Al Clark, physical director, said today. Sixty students took the free course last year.

The applications for the non-swimmers were handed out to the schools this week.

Mr. Clark said that once the number of non-swimmers taking the six-week course is determined the pupils will be put into swimming classes. The periods will be one-hour in duration from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary intermediates of the school loop trimmed Central in a tilt on the latter's diamond. The losers fielded well at first but slipped later as Queen Mary rallied in the third with three home runs, and they added to the count the rest of the route, Hillier, Brown and Jones going best. Teams:

Queen Mary—Putnam, lf; Lincoln, c; Jones, p; Brown, 3b; Dubay, 1b; Beck, 2b; Dobbin, rf; Reynolds, cf; Hillier, ss; Friar, cf; McIlwain, rf; Wiley, lf.

Central—Soutter, 2b; Stirling, cf; Kelly, p; Armstrong 1b; Naish, 2b; Lloyd, ss; Ellis, rf; Findlay lf; Smith, c.

NOT ONLY ROWING

The first cricket match between Oxford and Cambridge was held in 1827.

Local Boxers Win Three Over Lindsay

Peterborough boxers won three bouts on a Lindsay amateur mitt card as home fighters took three, the seventh of the inter-city bouts ending in a draw. This was the third such boxing show, Lindsay boys taking five of the seven bouts in the first card, and Peterborough getting four of six next meeting. There was some strong feeling during the scraps in this last show, as 200 fans got excited.

In the semi-final, Ron Emery of Peterborough Club—he's from Lakefield—met an experienced ringman in Mike Angiers, but he crowded him all the way wisely and had him on the ropes in the second. The referee made no move to halt it and Ron moved in with a devastating left hook to the jaw to finish Angiers off as the round ended. He failed to come out for the third round. The fans were plenty peeved at the referee for failing to stop the bout before the kayo. Ron weighed 149 lbs.

Hutton Hurt

The fifth bout saw Louis Carveth of Peterborough get the nod for the third time over Ron Hutton, both scaling 109. After the bout, it was learned that Hutton suffered concussion and a temporary blindness, though it was reported not serious. The Peterborough manager will not permit him to rematch because of an injured optic nerve which might prove serious.

The main bout saw Jerry Tyler, 125, of Peterborough draw with Jerry Ferguson in a real scientific show. Both boys put on a nifty display of the manly art and they were well matched throughout. Bradley of Peterborough, at 131, lost a split decision in the fourth to Weaver of Lindsay. Stathem of Lindsay took a TKO over Barker to open the card, and Whitney of that town won on points from McIlmoyle in the second scrap. Howran of Peterborough won handily on points from Foshaw, 143-pounder of Lindsay, in the third.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Pat Boehmer, 24-year-old goaltender for the Allan Cup champion Toronto Marlboros, said on Wednesday night at Toronto he has hung up his pads for good. "I've had enough," he told the senior amateur champions' farewell party. "It takes too much time and I can't afford to spend so much time away from the office."

Boehmer said he played this year to help Joe Primeau after Howie Harvey retired from the netminder's position. Boehmer will be married to Miss Carol Krug in Kitchener next September, and will continue to play baseball with the Kitchener Legionnaires.

At Fall River, Mass., the touring Manchester United team of the English Football League won a hard-fought 2-0 soccer victory Wednesday night over the New England all stars before a 3,704 crowd at Fall River Stadium.

Centre forward Jack Rowley scored Manchester's first goal after 10 minutes of the 45-minute first half. John Downie added the other five minutes from the end of the game.

It was the third and closest game of the British first division team's tour. They defeated a Toronto all-star team, 5-0, and a New York all-star group, 9-2.

Satterfield Winner

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP).—Bob Satterfield, Chicago's unpredictable light heavyweight, has battled his way to the threshhold of two championship matches. The negro puncher Wednesday night scuttled Lee Oma as the National Boxing Association's No. 2 heavyweight contender by knocking him out in six rounds in a startling upset in the Chicago Stadium.

MARILYN MAXWELL—Who's been pitching her curves at Hollywood lately—and leaving Hollywood fanning—describes herself as "a blonde with a brunette personality." "An occasional musical is all right—and a blonde is all right for an occasional musical," said Marilyn, "but dramatic stars aren't blonde." Anything Marilyn says is OK with Hollywood, just so she doesn't change those curves!

Two Groups Reject Olympics' Plan

TORONTO, May 18.—(CP).—The International Ice Hockey Federation and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association thumbed noses in the direction of the International Olympic Committee Wednesday. It's old stuff.

It all sprang from decision of the I.O.C. at its Copenhagen, Denmark, meeting that it would give hockey another chance in the 1952 Oslo winter games—with a couple of "ifs" attached. It wanted assurance hockey is "strictly amateur" and also that Dr. Fritz Kraatz of Switzerland, European president of the I.I.H.F., must not attend negotiations.

It didn't take hockey officials long to give the I.O.C. an answer.

At Edmonton, Dr. George Hardy, president of the I.I.H.F., retorted "there will be no negotiations" under these terms. From Boston, Walter Brown, vice-president of the Amateur Hockey Association of the U.S., said he would go by Dr. Hardy's decision.

More Outspoken

George Dudley of Midland, Ont., secretary-manager of the C.A.H.A. and North American secretary of the I.I.H.F., was more outspoken:

"I said in 1948 the I.O.C. was dictatorial, domineering and undemocratic and this latest affront doesn't change my mind," he said in a telephone interview from his home. "We certainly will not repudiate Dr. Kraatz If he isn't included in negotiations, then we just won't meet the I.O.C."

Dudley said the matter "certainly would be discussed" at the C.A.H.A. annual meeting at Banff, Alta., starting June 6 and also at the I.I.H.F. meeting in Paris, Sept. 15, when the subject of conducting the 1952 world amateur championships will be ironed out. Dudley and Dr. Hardy will attend the Paris sessions.

QM And Central Gain Wins In School Loop

Queen Mary edged Prince of Wales 18-17, and Central trimmed King George yesterday in senior School Softball League encounter. A five-run drive in the seventh by Prince of Wales almost tied up their game, but they did not quite make it, despite a homer by Brockwell. Brady and Hilier clouted four-baggers for Queen Mary. Dunn was the winning pitcher and Downer the loser in a lively game. Teams:

Queen Mary — Roberts ss, Cullen 2b, Brady lf, Dunn p, Deck c, Merrett 1b, Hillier cf, Cuffe 3b, Jackson rf, Franks 3b, B. Jackson lf, Nisbett lf.

Prince of Wales — Heron ss, Spiers c, Downer p, Falers 3b, Coit 2b, Brockwell 1b, Pagett rf, Dummitt lf, Lowell cf, Whitney ss, Evans p.

Delahaye went the route on the Central mound with just 11 batters facing him the first three innings. It was a better game than the score indicates, being 1-1 at the end of the fifth. After KG got two in the sixth, Central roared again in the seventh with 13 markers, including a bases-loaded homer by McIntyre and a round-tripper by Delahaye with two on. Central had 22 hits to 11 as each side committed four miscues. Teams:

Trinkle Saves Leaf Win; Edge Royals 6-4

By The Associated Press

Ken Trinkle is shaping up as the Joe Page of the International League.

The 30-year-old righthander of Toronto Maple Leafs doesn't command the $35,000 Page draws with New York Yankees but he is working just as hard.

Since he was obtained a short time ago from the parent Philadelphia Phils, Trinkle has seen action in almost every game the Leafs have played.

The former major leaguer made his eighth appearance in the Leafs' last 11 games Wednesday night and saved a 6-4 decision for young Buzz Bowers over the league-leading Montreal Royals.

Toronto jumped on Pat McGlothin for five runs in the four inning and enjoyed a 6-2 lead going int the eighth when Bowers weakened and gave way to Trinkle during a two-run rally.

Trinkle slammed the door and as a result a six-game Montreal winning streak ended.

Shade Giants

The up-and-coming Springfield Cubs shaded Jersey City Giants, 3-2 to move within 14 percentage points of the second-place Giants.

Springfield scored all of its runs in he fifth inning with Red Hollis driving in two with a single Warren Hacker, who bowed out for a pinch-hitter in the fifth, wa the winner.

Syracuse Chiefs scored five runs in the ninth inning to edge Baltimore Orioles, 5-4. Al Rubeling homered to start the rally Pinch-hitter Frankie Drews tripled home the second run and scored the third on Ted Durrett's pinch-hit single. Claude Corbitt walked, Ben Zientara singled to load the bases and Dutch Mele followed with a two-run single to break up the game

The tail-end Buffalo Bisons thumped Rochester Red Wings 10-4. The Bisons overcame a 3-0 deficit with a six-run rally in fourth and then clinched the game with four runs in the eighth

Newcombe Comes Through Dodgers Lash Cards 6-2

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pennant hopes of Brooklyn's Dodgers are brighter today. Big Don Newcombe is back on the team.

Newcombe once again looks the pitcher the experts said would win at least 20 games. The husky Negro righthander stirred the hearts of Flatbush Wednesday night as he pitched the Dodgers to a five-hit 6-2 victory over the Cardinals.

Newcombe, who complained of a sore arm as he was batted from pillar to post in his three previous starts, showed no trace of the ailment as he went the distance for the first time his season. He fanned eight and climaxed a game-winning, four-run rally in the eighth inning with a two-run single.

Newcombe's victory was doubly sweet to the Dodgers for the losing pitcher was Max Lanier who owned a string of eight straight victories over Brooklyn.

Close To Phils

The triumph enabled the Dodgers to remain within a game of the league-leading Philadelphia Phils. The Phils edged Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, in a night game at Philadelphia. Willie Jones singled home Ed Waitkus, who had tripled, with the winning run in the last of the ninth.

Pittsburg Pirates turned back the Braves, 4-1, in another night game in Boston.

Sheldon Jones pitched New York Giants to a 4-1 triumph over Chicago Cubs in the National's only day game.

New York Yankees outlasted St. Louis Browns 11-9, but fell into a first-place American League tie with Detroit Tigers The Tigers, who began the day two percentage points behind the Yankees, knocked off Boston Red Sox, 6-3.

Outpitches Kinder

At Detroit, lefty Ted Gray outpitched the veteran Ellis Kinder In stopping Boston for the second time, Gray encountered difficulty only with Walt Dropo who drove in all of Boston's runs on his seventh and eighth home runs.

The Tigers clinched the game in the fourth when Dick Kryoski lashed a two-run, inside-the-park home

Ray Scarborough, ace Washington righthander, pitched the Senators to a 2-0 decisions over Chicago White Sox.

Philadelphia Athletics scored three runs in the ninth inning to down the Indians 7-5, in a night game in Cleveland.

Highlands of Scotland Stir National Spirit In People

By JEAN E. STENTON

THE TROSSACHS, Scotland May.—If the gods had overturned a huge pail filled with mighty crags and stones, letting the chips fall where they might, you would have a fair idea of the appearance of the Trossachs. The jewelled lochs must have been added as an afterthought and their softening touch makes this area one of the most beautiful and impressive in the world.

Jean Stenton

It is the land of the Highlanders where men were men and robbery and violence were looked upon as the only means of earning a living. The loveliness of the countryside, while pleasing to the eye, would not fill many stomachs. It is the land of the Scottish Jesse James . . . only in these days, they used swords instead of Colts and answered to such names as Rob Roy.

The stark grandeur of the rolling hills and crags have made this area one of the most famous resort spots in Scotland, and it is certainly one of the most beautiful. The great hills and odd snow-capped mountain which enfold the sparkling lochs in their arms, leave you breathless. As we drove along, I would not have been surprised to see a group of the Macgregor clan, with swords in their hands, leap out at us. It is a great country and only great people could have lived there.

Inversnaid is the heart of the Macgregor country. From as far north as Loch Voil east to Stirling and south of Aberfoyle, every mile of countryside has some story of the clan. They were always in trouble with the powers-that-be, till the whole clan was outlawed. Then rose Rob Roy Macgregor, prototype of Sir Walter Scott's Rhoderick Dhu. The outlawed band with every hand against them, was forced to live by raiding. They once captured the factor of the Duke of Montrose (whose castle still stands there) and relieved him of the rents. The Duke was so furious he forced the government to build a fort there between Inversnaid and Loch Arklet and General Wolfe, of Quebec fame, was in charge for some time.

"Lady of The Lake"

The Trossachs are well named for it means "Bristled Region". The actual area is said to lie between Loch Achray and Loch Katrine (the latter belonging to "The Lady of The Lake" fame). Katrine is surrounded by towering hills and small mountains and if you are fortunate enough to take the boat trip to the far end, you will pass Ellen's Isle, just as Scott described it. The best time to see this country is in the autumn when the hills are covered with blooming heather.

A hint of the Trossachs' gorgeousness reveals itself after you leave Stirling. In the distance you see snow capped Ben Ledi—which means "Hall of the Gods." The mist lifted on the Perthshire Hills as we went along and the "almost" mountains were unrolled before my admiring gaze. They cannot be compared with the Rockies, as none of them is more than 3,000 feet, but their loveliness defies description.

On the way to Aberfoyle, we passed Lake Menteith, the only lake in Scotland. The Earl of Menteith was a traitor and sold out to the English, so his lake was given the English name. There is a nice island there with the remains of a 13th century priory on it and Queen Mary was there as a child.

Aberfoyle, as does all this part of the country, abounds with historic names and events. It is the Highland village of Bailie Nicol Jarvie, which the novel of "Rob Roy" made famous. According to the driver, Jarvie and two of his friends interrupted some Highlanders and their friends in the inn and a fight ensued. The Bailie having no weapon, seized a red hot poker and set the clansmen to flight by setting their kilts on fire. The famous poker hangs outside the hotel bearing the Bailie's name.

Well-Known Spot

From Aberfoyle, the famous Duke's road starts beside the hotel and climbs to 800 feet with heather-clad moorlands all around. Downhill on the right is a glimpse of Loch Drunky and then Loch Venachar. The weir at the eastern end of Venachar marks the site of a duel between Rhoderick Dhu and Fitz James. In Scott's time, passage through here was difficult and long before the time of roads, Rob Roy with his stolen herds passed along the Bealach Nam Bo (Pass of the Cattle) between Goblin's Cave and Ben Venue.

Callandar, where we stopped for lunch, is the main gateway to the Trossachs. My seatmate said that it reminded her of a Swiss village. From the hotel you could look down a narrow street with quaint houses and at the end of it was a mountain with snow on it. From this town there is a chain of lochs to lovely Loch Lomond. This is the Trossachs road and follows the route of the stag hunt in "The Lady of The Lake."

The trip from Callandar to Loch Lomond is unsurpassed. Hemmed in by towering cliffs and snow-topped mountains, every mile is unforgetable. Lomond is the largest of the Lochs in that area and is as attractive as the song would suggest. It was in this memorable spot that we stopped for tea at Tarbet.

Interesting Places

Every inch of countryside between Edinburgh and the Trossachs abounds with interesting stories. At Linlithgow are the ruins of the palace when Mary Queen of Scots was born. A pre-16th century church, St. Michael's, is still in use, but the castle beside it is in ruins. A party of King George's Dragoons accidentally set the latter on fire in 1746 and it has remained roofless ever since. It overlooks its loch and was a favorite seat of Scottish royalty.

In High street below, Regent Murray, a half-brother of James Stewart, was murdered in a private feud. Here too, that a Dr. Waldie accidentally discovered the use of chloroform in his chemist shop over The Charlotte Room. He sent his discovery to a doctor in Edinburgh, who developed it in his hospital work.

We passed another interesting estate called Callandar House. The owner wanted Queen Victoria to pay him a visit on her way from the Trossachs. He tore down the stone wall and erected an attractive iron fence and had a velvet carpet running from the road up to the house—a long distance. He left the invitation with the council at Stirling. The gentleman had hopes of receiving a knighthood for his pains and the rumor reached the Queen's ears. When the time came, Queen Victoria went sailing by.

Great Battlefields

There are several famous battlefields in the vicinity. Falkirk, has John de Graeme, companion of Wallace, who fought and lost a battle in the neighborhood, buried there. Prince Charlie's troops retreating toward Culloden, won a battle there in 1746.

At Bannockburn, a flagpole marks the spot where the Scottish standard was planted after the battle in June 1314 when Robert the Bruce gained his crowning victory over the forces of Edward II.

Stirling, as at Edinburgh, has the great castle dominating the town. It was a fortress from the earliest days and is perched on the edge of a high cliff. It was formerly a residence of the Kings of Scotland. Within its walls were born James II, James IV and James V and it was the scene of the coronations of James V, Mary and James VI. It is now used as a barracks and museum. It still contains the Douglas room where the 8th Earl of Douglas was murdered by James II.

The rolling hills reminded me somewhat of the sweeping foothills in Alberta with their deep coulees. But they are rougher and more warlike. It is a round trip of 221 miles from Edinburgh and I wouldn't have missed it. Yet, as in every other country, what you have, you don't value. We had several Edinburgh people on the bus who had lived 40 years there and never paid it a visit.

Care Required In Adoptions

An insance to reveal how necessary it is that all adoptions of children should be made through official agencies was told by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of Peterborough Children's Aid Society Tuesday at this month's meeting in the City Building.

An unmarried mother had made arrangements before the birth of her child for adoption through the society. The baby was taken from her at birth, but two weeks later the mother returned to say she would like to take care of her baby. The child had not been adopted and the mother was able to have her child.

Reporting that 414 family situations were known to the society during April, Miss Young explained that 174 of those families included a total of 430 children whose lives were being affected by the work of the society.

Four children were admitted to the care of the society, two being made wards, one placed for adoption and one for temporary care. One ward reached her majority.

The clothing of 60 children has occupied a great deal of the time of the staff, Miss Young reported.

There were 15 hearings in Family Court—five involving juveniles, three wardships, and the remainder were non-support and assault cases.

The Shelter committee acknowledged donations from: DeCarlonis, Silverwood's Dairy, Quaker Oats, Baby Band Mother of Peterborough Presbyetrial, Brinton Carpet Welfare Association, E. J. Hotston, Connell's Store, Game Warden C. S. Trotter, Mrs. F. Sylvertson, Junior Welfare League, Mrs. L. Yeates, St. John's Church, Mark Street Church, Mrs. W. Scollard, Mrs. P. Hetherington, Mrs. F. Canadian Vets Ask Fair Plan

LONDON, May 18 —(CP)— Canadian ex-servicemen living in the United Kingdom intend to press the Canadian Government to give them the same treatment it intends giving British and Allied veterans now living in Canada.

Maj. J. B. Humphries, former second-in-command of the Irish Regiment of Canada, a Toronto unit, and now a London businessman, arrived in Montreal Wednesday to start pressing the case.

Col. Brian Mullaly, national secretary of the Canadian Veterans' Association of the United Kingdom in making the announcement said yesterday initial approaches would be made through the Canadian Legion.

He said the organization wants proposed amendments to the Canadian War Veterans Allowance Act applied to Canadian veterans resident outside the country.

Around the Home ...

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

Human nature being what it is, we seem to require an extra stimulus to carry out the annual spring cleanup. A program of concentrated action always gets results and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are conducting just such a program this year. What a country we'll have when each one does his bit in this national campaign. Examine the slogan "clean up, paint up, plant up, light up" more closely, and you'll be amazed at the number of jobs now awaiting your attention that must be completed before your place is shipshape. What's more important, you'll be amazed at the improved appearance of your property with two or three days of concerted effort.

Why not begin by making a small gadget to ease the burden of washing outside windows. The cleaner illustrated is as effective as it is simple to make.

Discourage Flies

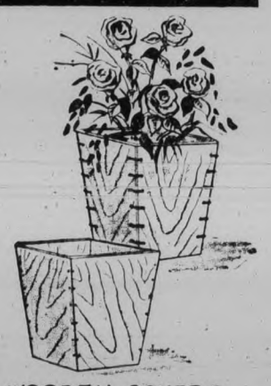
I dropped in unexpectedly on an old friend of mine the other day and found him making his own window screens for the summer cottage. I was so impressed with the ease with which he turned them out I decided to make some myself for the house. The chief handicap confronting most people is their fear of tackling a new job. In case you have promised to screen that bedroom window this year, you'll find a handy list of material and sizes in the booklet "Around the Home".

Flower Pot Covers

The beauty of potted plants can often be strikingly enhanced by enclosing the flower pot in an attractive plywood container. The corners are fastened with small finishing nails, or laced together with leather thongs or shoe laces. If laced, drill the holes at two-inch intervals, top and bottom holes about one inch from the ends.

B.C. fir with an attractive grain or pattern is excellent. The wood then can be left natural—or painted to harmonize with the colour scheme of the room. Further decoration can be provided by using floral transfers on the four sides.

CLEAN UP - PAINT UP - PLANT UP - LIGHT UP



WOODEN COVERS FOR FLOWER POTS: MEASUREMENTS (FOR SMALL PLANTS WHICH COME IN FOUR OR FIVE INCH POTS)
TOP - 6¼" WIDE BASE - 4" WIDE
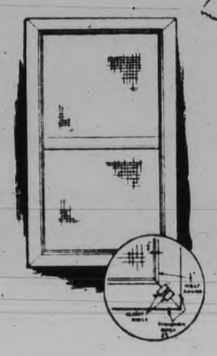
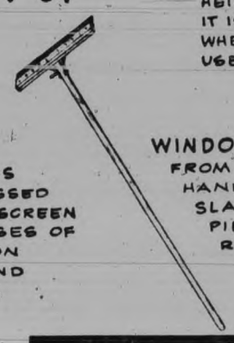
HEIGHT - 6"
IT IS OPTIONAL WHETHER A BOTTOM IS USED OR NOT.



WHY HAVE FLIES?
WINDOW SCREEN — ENDS AND UPRIGHTS OF DRESSED 1" x 2" PINE TO WHICH SCREEN IS TACKED. COVER EDGES OF SCREEN BY NAILING ON STRIPS OF HALF-ROUND MOULDING FLUSH WITH THE OUTER EDGE OF THE SCREEN.



WINDOW WASHER - FROM THE OLD RAKE HANDLE - WITH TWO SLATS ½" x 2", AND PIECE OF SPONGE RUBBER.

More about these and many other ideas in the booklet "AROUND THE HOME". Write for your copy to Tom Gard, c/o MOLSON'S (Ontario) LIMITED, P.O. Box 490, Adelaide St. Station, Toronto.

Foot Tripped Woman Court Fines Him $5

David Williams, 23, who lives at Nick's Cabins, Highway 28, was fined $5 and $5.50 costs in police court Wednesday when found guilty of causing a disturbance by tripping Mrs. Mary Carriere Sunday night on Charlotte St.

Mrs. Carriere said she had been walking with her sister and a girl friend on George St. Williams and another youth attempted to walk with them, but left when given no encouragement.

A little later Mrs. Carriere was walking past Williams on Charlotte St. and he put his foot out catching her across the ankle. She stumbled two or three steps before regaining her balance.

Williams said he had a habit of standing with one foot out. He said the woman walked past and tripped over his extended foot.

"I didn't do it on purpose," he said.

Peterboro Lock puts PROFIT before PEOPLE

For over 50 years working people have quit the Lock Company because of low wages and poor working conditions. After the First World War, and during the thirties, wages ranged from 9 to 16 cents an hour.

Lay offs were a regular feature each year at Lock. From one day to the next workers never knew whether they would have a week's work or a month without a pay.

Yet the Lock Company continued to make a profit on the work turned out.

Five years ago those of us who then worked at Lock organized into a Union, UE Local 527, to raise our wages and improve working conditions. Wages were then 16 to 30 cents an hour for women and 30 to 40 cents an hour for men.

EIGHT MONTHS OF STALLING

Eight months ago we began to bargain in good faith with the Company for a renewal of our Union contract. After demanding a general weakening of our contract, management informed us that they were applying for Conciliation.

Under protest we presented a Brief to a Conciliation Board, which granted us nothing in return.

Using the Conciliation Board Report the Company again proposed to weaken our contract in order to have a free hand to cut wages further and to lay off without regard to length of service.

It was obvious to all of us that the Company wanted to return to the wages and working conditions of the days before we organized. The Company's attitude had one intention—to provoke us into a strike.

LOCK WAGES LOWER IN '50

In 1948 the Company reported to an Arbitration Board that their average hourly rate was $1.11.6.

In 1949 the Company reported to a Conciliation Board that the average hourly rate was $1.07—4.6 cents an hour less than the average in 1948.

The Company took that money out of our pocket by speed-up—and laid off 30 workers without regard to length of service.

STRIKE VOTE BY SECRET BALLOT

After eight months of trying to negotiate with a Company that refused to bargain in good faith we voted 9 to 1, by secret ballot, to take strike action. This strike vote was supervised by a Committee of Lock workers.

In a final effort to reach a settlement without a strike we again met with the Company and proposed the following terms:—

Reduction of 2½ hours in the work week with no loss of take home pay.

Improved seniority to protect long service employees against lay-offs.

Guaranteed piece work prices to protect our earnings against speed-up.

Upward adjustment in the minimum rates for men and women.

The Company not only refused these modest terms of settlement, but told us again that as far as they were concerned we could go out on strike then and there.

At a membership meeting we voted unanimously to use our strike vote, having exhausted every other means of reaching a settlement.

SETTLE THE LOCK STRIKE

It is you, or townsfolk, who can settle the Lock Strike. In a public petition we are asking the Minister of Labor of Ontario to use his good offices to reach a settlement of the strike.

We ask you and your family to sign our petition and to add your voice to ours in defending the rights and living standards of our Community.

You have already shown that you are in support of our membership by your contributions of food and cash.

We now ask you to sign a petition for a settlement of the Lock strike.

CANADIAN IN ENGLAND—Bernard Braden, an actor from Vancouver, is achieving popularity with Britain's radio public. Here he rehearses a line for "Breakfast with Braden" with a colleague, Pearl Carr.

Says Big Future Awaiting Canada In Film and Stage

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 18 —(CP)— A rising star on radio, screen and stage, Vancouver - born Bernard Braden, believes Canada has been hiding her light under a bushel far too long, especially in the field of entertainment. He thinks it is time something was done about it.

Braden, who arrived in London from Toronto a little more than a year ago, and has taken British audiences by storm with his versatility, says Canada's entry into the Big Time of films and stage is long overdue.

"We definitely have the acting talent, efficient directors and first-class writers," Braden said. "Above all we have a country that can supply the right atmosphere and proper setting to meet almost every story demand.

"I am reasonably certain men with the financial means and abiding confidence in Canada could be found to put the idea across. But something should be done before those with the required know-how get too old or by necessity are forced into other fields."

With his wife, Barbara, who also began her career in Vancouver, Braden is currently featured in two radio variety programs, in television, and plays one of the major roles in Tennessee Williams' long-run production, "A Streetcar Named Desire," at the Aldwych Theatre.

A Modest Actor

The 3 -year-old star, who looks much younger than his age, modestly attributes his London successes to a "kindly Lady Luck," and a generous share of the "breaks."

Among his many accomplishments Braden has written a series of radio skits, one-act plays and so-called "soap operas." But his great ambition is to find a backer for a serious play he has just completed.

While reluctant to discuss its theme in detail, he confided that it touched a subject that had the present generation thinking seriously of things atomic.

A leading figure in the British production world already had shown interest in the script and there was a possibility the play might go on the road next fall. If successful it would be brought to London and possibly staged later in Canada as well.

"But all this is only part of a long-range program which I hope will ultimately take me back to my own country," Braden said. "That's where I got my start, and while fortune has been kind to me over-here, I feel a big job is beckoning in Canada. Nothing would be nicer than having even a small part in seeing it through."

Charge Is Withdrawn

A charge of assaulting his mother against Harold (Bud) Redmond), 24, of 70 Hunter St., was withdrawn by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw in police court Wednesday.

Fined For Vagrancy

Pleading guilty to a charge of vagrancy, Carl Johnston, 18, of 627½ Oxford St., was fined $10 and cost in police court Wednesday.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said Johnston had been "found around a car and didn't give a satisfactory explanation of his actions."

Ask Women's League Pray For Holy Year

HASTINGS, May 18 (ENS)— The Hastings sub-division of the Catholic Women's League held the first meeting of the new league year in the parish hall. The new president, Mrs. M Herr, was in the chair.

Several spring activities were discussed.

Fraser Protests Special Privileges

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP)— Two opposition members protested in the Commons Tuesday that cabinet ministers were getting preferred treatment in the reprinting of their speches.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) said he had come across a reprint of a speech by Health Minister Martiff which was printed on good paper and contained sub-headings, which normally are barred by regulations governing reprints.

G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) objected to the weekly news summary for the External Affairs Department, circulated outside of Canada, because it contained large excerpts of speeches by government members, including Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson.

That was not what the people wanted at a time when taxes were "skyhigh."

Pull Teeth Same As 50 Years Ago

TORONTO, May 18 — (CP) — Despite vastly improved techniques, dentists pull about as many teeth now as they did 50 years ago, according to Dr J. O. Devitt, who has been practising in Bowmanville since he graduated from the University of Toronto in 1899.

Dr. Devitt, here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Denta Association, said in an interview that "teeth are worse now becaus children have more money t spend on candy and soft drinks. Organize Commission To Co-ordinate Sports

MARMORA, May 18 —(ENS)— —An enthusiastic meeting of the Marmora and District Sports Commission was held in the council chamber on Monday evening under presidency of the Rev. G. D. Young. This commission is made up of nine members, the appointees in even numbers of the municipal councils of Marmora village, Marmora township and Deloro. The commission has been organized to conform with the regulations of the Department of Education and it is primarily concerned with the co-ordination of all sports in the district. The district had decided to place an entry in the Trent Valley Juvenile Baseball League in which other entrants are Campbellford, Norwood and Havelock. Representatives of the team were present to solicit the sponsorship of the commission. The team expressed the desire to have George Woodhouse as coach who, when approached, agreed to give the matter thought.

Also accepting the invitation to be pre the meeting was a delega n Marmora Branch No. 237 adian Legion, headed by President Clayton Bedore. The delegation asked for playing time at the Marmora Memorial Recreation Centre for a Legion sponsored softball team which will represent the district in a league containing teams from Tweed, Madoc and Stirling.

The Legion agreed to co-operate with the commission in the latter's centralized sports program.

Through its intention to conform with the regulations of the Department of Education the commission will be able to share in the grants the department makes.

The remaining business of the meeting was the discussion of plans for the promotion of school age baseball activity.

A further meeting of the commission was arranged for the Legion room at the Memorial Hall on May 23 when plans will be made for the supervision of the games to be played at the Centre this summer and fall. William A. Shannon was appointed secretary pro tem at Monday evenings's meeting.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By DON GRANT.

Approximately 5,000 trees were planted in the Ganaraska Valley Saturday by members of nine Scout groups in Peterborough and by Scouts from Port Hope.

Under the guidance of John Bell and his associates the workers were divided into pairs each given a pail of young trees with a spade. Following the tree planting the boys were taken on an overland hike through the waste land and reclaimed lots. They were shown how the newly planted sections had stopped soil drifting.

In two places the hikers had to go down gullies some 40 feet to get to the other side. Here tree roots were witnessed standing like giant spiders on the land where soil was completely washed away from the roots.

The groups represented were: St. John's, St. Luke's, All Saints, Knights of Columbus, Park Hill, Knox Church, Mark St., Salvation Army and Trinity. Leaders present were: Harry Wooden, of all Saints, Larry Legere of the Knights of Columbus, John Myall and John Leeson of Trinity and Mr. Steele of the George St. group. The Port Hope Scouts joined the Peterborough contingent at the planting grounds.

Commissioner George Groombridge, in charge of the tree-planting, wishes to thank Jack Rogers, Jack Foskett, Jack Sheppard and Art Smith for their services in transporting the boys to and from the grounds.

Scouters' Club

The Scouters' Club and group committees will hold a joint meeting tonight (Wednesday) in the All Saints' Parish Hall. The guest speaker will be recreation director Alex Sinclair. His topic will be "Boy Training." The All Saints' group committee will demonstrate the procedure of a group committee meeting.

Silver Arrow Course

Word has just been received that a Silver Arrow course will be held for the Eastern Ontario division from August 12 to 19. This course is open to all patrol leaders holding the Bronze Arrow badge and who are at least second class scouts. Application forms will be secured as soon as possible. The entry fee is about $12 a boy.

To Move Huts

All the huts but one given to the Scout Association by the Kiwanis Club, must be moved from Jackson Park by June 15. From information received these huts will be taken to the Scout grounds cubs' dormitory and the other at Nassau.One will be used as a for a cookhouse. The remaining hut will be renovated and turned into a Rover headquarters. The All Saints' crew will use one half while the new crews will use the other.

Gilwell Training

As yet no one has indicated attending the Gilwell training camp this year. Anyone planning to take this course should apply immediately.

Shaping Policy To Suit Needs

OTTAWA, May 18 —(CP)— Canada's welfare policy must parallel the changing needs of her people, Health Minister Martin said Wednesday.

Canadians could be proud of "the great forward strides" they had made in social justice, said Mr. Martin in a speech prepared for delivery at a luncheon meeting of the Ontario Medical Association.

He paid special tribute to the general practitioners, who constituted "so large a part of the medical profession."

"The first essential of any government health program is to strengthen your hand as you are most immediately responsible for health," Mr. Martin told Association members. "in helping to bring better health to its citizens a government must look to your profession for leadership. Without your confidence and collaboration no new health programs could be fully successful."

In any new program nothing must be done to lower the high standards of medical training, research or practice for which Canada had won world recognition.

Compulsory Retirement

EDMONTON, May 18 (CP) — Senator J. W. Stambaugh of Bruce, Alta., said in an interview Wednesday he favors compulsory retirement of Senators at the age of 75. He added that the Senate needed to be "pepped up." Senator Stambaugh is 61.

Thomas Brown Former Head Exhibition Dies

Thomas Brown, 375 Downie St. oldest member of the Peterborough Exhibition board and president four years, died in the Toronto General Hospital Wednesday. He had been ill during the winter, and in gradually declining health.

Mr. Brown was born in North Monaghan 87 years ago, son of James and Ann Brown. His father's home was two miles south of Springville, and during the active years of life he had farmed east of that hamlet. For thirty years Mr. Brown was associated with his brother-in-law the late William Morris, in the cattle business, including the ranching of cattle in Harvey township.

40 Years a Director

Mr. Brown was a director of the Peterborough Exhibition for forty years, and was president when the federal Department of Defence moved into Morrow Park early in the Second World War and established a military training camp. He was re-elected to the Board after the war and continued to take a lively interest in restoring the Exhibition to its former place in the city and agricultural community. He was also for years a director of the Farmers' Union Mutual Fire Insurance Co., whose headquarters are at Lindsay, and was a valuator of property, particularly farm lands and buildings for the Toronto Savings and Loan Company and latterly for Grey & Bruce Trust and Savings Company.

Mr. Brown had also served on the board of stewards of Trinity United Church. He leaves his wife, the former Annie Kingsmill Morris, and one sister, Mrs. Letitia A. Sanderson, Chamberlain St.

The funeral will be Saturday at 1 p.m. from the family residence, Downie St., to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church will conduct the service.

Citizens Respond To Call To Aid Flood Victims; Hon. R. McWilliams Replies

The people of Peterborough and district are responding to the call for financial aid from flood victims in southern Manitoba. On Monday, the first day of the appeal, $1,000 was received from the Rotary Club, to be divided between the two recent national disasters—the flood in the Red River valley and the fire at Rimouski. Another $100 was contributed by The Examiner. Up till 5 p.m. Wednesday another $379 had been mailed into The Examiner Office, bringing the total up to $1,479, most of it pledged to the "Manitoba Flood Relief Fund." There have also been some contributions to the Rimouski fire fund.

Mayor Max Swanston has received a letter from the Hon. R. F. McWilliams, lieutenant-governor of Manitoba. It says in part:

"I very much appreciate your telegram of sympathy in the troubles which we are having here with the floods in the Red River, and, particularly, the offer from the people of Peterborough for every assistance. I have conveyed the telegram to the Premier, and the Mayor and the Committee in charge of relief and have given it to the newspapers."

Heavy Snowfall

The lieutenant governor goes on to trace the origin of the flood explaining that the Red River rises about 300 miles south of Winnipeg and the fast-melting of an abnormally large snowfall started the deluge of water.

"The underlying explanation of such a flood is that we here live in the bottom of the continental valley. Everything from the Rocky Mountains, 800 to 1 000 miles away, slopes to the Red River and Lake Winnipeg, and then east of us there is a rise of 400 feet."

"The Red River is the Mississippi turned north. In early days, there were serious floods, but, after the ground became cultivated, the water soaked in and from 1904 to 1948 there was only one bad flood. The remarkably rich soil of the Red River Valley is probably the result of many such inundations."

"Would you be good enough to convey to the members of the City Council and the citizens of Peterborough our very hearty thanks for their support." (signed) R. F. McWilliams, lieutenant governor.

Mrs. C. I. Ray, president of the Peterborough Red Cross Society, has sent a letter of thanks to the city council for their gift of 70 flashlights. These are being passed along to the Red Cross in Winnipeg.

Those wishing to help the people of Winnipeg and district can mail in their money orders, cheques or cash to:

"The Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, Care of the Examiner, Peterborough."

All contributions will be immediately passed along to the treasurer of the Manitoba Relief Fund, Winnipeg.

Donations of $2 or more will be acknowledged in The Examiner.

Chamber Commerce Representatives Meet

P. D. Scollard, president of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and James Fraser, manager, attended the regional conference of Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade in Oshawa Wednesday. More than 40 communities were represented.

Following the address by C. A. Pollock, president of the Ontario chamber, Mr. Fraser presided over a question box period. Among the subjects discussed were: Latest ideas about tourist promotion, hydro shops competing with retail merchants, de-centralization of industry, hawkers, pedlers and magazine salesmen.

During the evening session Edward B. Higgins, director of public relations for Spitzer and Mills of Toronto, was guest speaker.

127 Births Registered At City Hall In April

Peterborough and district population took another jump in April with 127 births registered at the city clerk's office as compared with 43 deaths. Seventy-four of the births were to city parents.

The number of births for April this year was slightly fewer than the 132 in the same month in 1949. However the number of births for this year to the end of April, 526, is still higher than the number for the same period last year, 500.

Deaths for the four month period this year were 186 as compared with 183 in the same time in 1949.

The clerk's office issued 45 marriage licences in April.

Norwood To Aid Stricken Manitoba Area

Citizens of Norwood and district are directing their Manitoba Relief Fund canvass next week for the benefit of the people in their namesake area of Norwood, Manitoba.

Supported by the riding council, the Norwood Board of Trade has set up a committee which is also backed up by the Canadian Legion, IODE, Women's Institute and all the churches of the village.

Farmers of the Norwood community are included in this appeal, and with definite objective of the distress and loss of a corresponding area in the Red River Valley it is expected that a generous contribution will be obtained from the East Peterborough people.

Compare Areas

The slogan of the canvassers is "Norwood (Ont.) aids Norwood (Man.)." The announcement of the canvass that is being circulated this week holds up this identifying description:

"Imagine a strip 10 to 40 miles wide, running from Marmora to Lindsay, completely under water many feet deep.

"Marmora, Havelock, Norwood, Warsaw, Hastings, the whole city of Peterborough, Omemee and Lindsay, and every other village and hamlet and every farm flooded. Stock all dead, buildings either completely ruined or badly wrecked. No crops possible this year and possibly for several years. With few exceptions the contents of every home in the area completely ruined and all the people forced to flee for safety with only what they could wear or carry."

Norwood and Asphodel people can see themselves in that deluge; and they can also see their neighbors of the city of Peterborough fleeing the flood.

The Board of Trade appeal continues: "Our sympathy has been aroused for the whole stricken area, but there has been a special claim upon us in the condition and need of a town that is our namesake,—Norwood, Man. Because of the prominence of Norwood and the Norwood Bridge in the news of the past week, we could not escape asking ourselves "What if it had been Norwood, Ont?"

"Well, what if it had been? What would we like to have done for us? You know the answer to that. We cannot then do less than help our namesake town of Norwood, Man."

Norwood is all set for its drive next week. Citizens are being asked to give generously to their fellow Canadians of the Manitoba, Norwood.

It has been arranged that they can even put their flood contributions on the collection plate of their churches on Sunday. And that is only one of the channels of effort which has arisen out of the sympathy of the people of the East Peterborough.

SPEAKS IN BURK'S FALLS

Stanley Darling, past district governor of Lions District A-3, will be guest speaker at the Lions Club meeting in Burk's Falls on Friday night. His namesake from Burk's Falls spoke to the local Lions Club earlier this year.

Cottages and Tourist Homes Opened For Flood Victims

"Winnipeg from the air looks like a river with many islands, not like a city with a winding river." This air description of the flooded area of Manitoba's capital was given to The Examiner by Mrs. Bernard Polec, who arrived early Wednesday morning in Peterborough from Winnipeg with her two children, Winona, eight, and Douglas, 10.

Mrs. Polec has been a resident of Winnipeg since August where her husband, Warrant Officer 2 Polec, was stationed at the RCAF station until 13 weeks ago. He is at present taking a course at Camp Borden.

The tourist season at Winnipeg beach, along Lake Winnipeg, started much earlier than usual. Evacuated Winnipegers have swollen the beach's population to 5,000. Cottages and tourist homes have been opened to accommodate the flood victims which are usually not opened by owners until early June. The mayors of the beach towns on Lake Winnipeg appealed to all cottage owners to open their summer homes to give evacuated persons accommodation.

On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Polec, with her sister-in-law, visited the beach to open the latter's cottage. The temperature was down to freezing and ice could still be seen on the lake.

While driving on Sunday from Stevenson Field, used jointly by the RCAF and the TCA, to her sister-in-law's, Mrs. Polec saw a car partly submerged in the MacPhillips subway. The water was up to the trunk level of the car. The exhaust from the car was churning the water. The subway was blocked off shortly after.

Circus Forced Out

A circus, staging performances at the Amphitheatre, was forced out by the rising waters. It performed free shows to the evacuated persons who were taken to the HMCS Chippawa station before it too had to be abandoned.

The RCAF messes at Stevenson Field are open 24 hours a day, said Mrs. Polec, to feed the evacuees and workers. All the women who were able volunteered to work shifts in the messes. Meals were free.

The sergeants' canteen at the RCAF station has been converted into an emergency hospital. Bed cases from the old folks' home were the first occupants.

All the armed service men are on 24-hour call, said Mrs. Polec. Some of the RCAF personnel had blisters on the hands and shoulders from carrying the 75-pound sand bags to build dikes. All service members worked in the early stages of the flood for 14 and 16 hour shifts. Now the shifts are eight hours.

When she learned that air passage was booked for her early Tuesday morning, Mrs. Polec said, she tried to contact her mother-in-law in north Winnipeg. She failed to make the connection. The telephone wires somewhere along the way were submerged.

Linwood public school was one of the few schools to remain open. The school gym is being used as a hospital for babies from the children's hospital and also as a nurses' residence.

On the RCAF Dakota which brought the Polecs to Ottawa were 13 other evacuated persons. They were headed for various places in Ontario.

Mrs. Polec and her children are staying with her aunt, Mrs. Oliver Martin, 3 McClennan St. She plans to stay in Peterborough until August.

Archie Grayling Given Promotion

A member of the provincial police for 10 years, Archie F. Grayling of the No. 8 district headquarters, Peterborough, has been promoted to corporal.

Before coming to Peterborough two years ago he was stationed in Havelock.

At the same time as confirmation of Corporal Grayling's promotion was received, it was announced that he will be transferred to Bancroft where he will be in charge of the detachment. He will begin his new duties June 1.

Corporal Stanley Palmateer, for many years in charge of the Bancroft detachment, is transferred to Bowmanville. Constable C. W. Tutton, formerly of district headquarters here, has been transferred to Cobourg effective May 15. He is on the motorcycle squad which has been re-introduced in heavily trafficked areas in southern Ontario.

Motorcyles are now to be used at Cobourg and Bowmanville for patrolling Highway 2.

Another recent change was the transfer of Corporal L. T. Keeler, district dispatcher, to Englehart.

414 Motorists Paid Parking Ticket Fines

Parking ticket fines were paid by 414 motorists into the city clerk's office during April, each contributing $1.

The police court contributed the greatest amount of revenue, $2,134.33, into the clerk's office. The total fines and fees collected in court was $3,307.74. Parking meters ran a close second, dumping $1,768.47 into the till.

Miscellaneous payments amounted to $1,452.50 and licence fees totalled $479.50.

The total amount brought in through the parking meters since they went into operation May 12, 1947 to the end of April this year is $78,155.55.

WRONG DATE

A police court summons dated 10 days in advance charging a car owned by L. M. Parker Co. Ltd. failed to stop at stop sign was responsible for the case being dismissed in police court today.

According to the summons, the car went through the stop sign May 29. The police court charge form alleged the offence took place April 29.

"The Justice of the Peace very rarely makes a mistake," said Magistrate R. B. Baxter. Port Hope, "but this time he slipped. Charge dismissed."

Medical Profession Concerned At Reaction On Immunization

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, May 18 —(CP)— Medical concern at public reaction to suggestions that in some cases poliomyelitis follows diphtheria immunization is reported in the current issue of the British Medical Journal.

Public health officials discussed the situation at a meeting of the Royal Society of Medicine. They urged no let-up in the program of immunization against diphtheria, a disease that formerly caused 3,000 deaths a year in Britain.

"Continuation of diphtheria immunization is an absolute necessity, for any civilized country," Professor S. M. Burnet, Australian epidemiologist, told the meeting.

"It would be an appalling setback if we had to withhold a procedure so full of promise."

A ministry of health officer, Dr. William Bradley, said what has been written on the polio-diphtheria link is influencing the attitude of the public toward inoculation. He urged doctors to find the truth of the matter and tell the public.

Suggest Possibility

A study by the British Medical Association recently suggested the possibility of some association between infantile paralysis and intra-muscular inoculation, at least to the extent that cases of poliomyelitis so mild as to go undetected may take on some severity after inoculation.

Pending investigation, London and Middlesex County Council banned use of a combined inoculation for diphtheria and whooping cough. But the health ministry said there would be no relaxation in its national immunization campaign against the two diseases.

In his talk to British health officials, Burnet said that during periods of clearly defined epidemics of polio, it might be considered necessary to stop whooping-cough vaccination. But he voiced confidence that within a year or two it would be possible to continue "with full confidence" the entire immunization program.

Apart from the immunization link, Dr. Denis Geffen said, doctors are beginning to realize that removal of tonsils also might activate or originate paralysis. He had seen two cases following extraction of teeth and one child had developed complete paralysis two weeks after an appendectomy.

The part played by coincidence in these cases was unknown, Geffen said. But now at least doctors were beginning to see in the future a line of research which might help them discover the causes of paralysis in persons carrying the polio virus.

Manitoba Leading Own Drive For Flooded Area

WINNIPEG, May 18 (CP). — Manitoba began today to "dig itself out of this."

The province's businessmen, labor leaders, welfare agencies, and municipalities banded together in a joint drive for funds to relieve the distress caused by the Red River flood. A frankly-emotional appeal went out to the rest of Canada and to the United States: "We need help."

It emanated from a meeting called Wednesday to correlate plans for meeting the human suffering rising from the province's worst flood, which has made thousands homeless and caused untold millions of dollars' loss.

As they met, assurances of support—and cheques — came from many parts of the country and from cities in the United Kingdom and the United States. First returns told of some $330,000 donated or promised. The immediate goal is $10,000,000, but the final objective is unlimited.

Primary Target

Allan. H. Watson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, which called the meeting, emphasized that Manitoba itself will be a primary target in the drive.

Manitoba municipalities untouched by floodwaters will first be asked to organize local drives. Then other provinces and the United States will be asked to lend a helping hand.

The objective for labor is the voluntary contribution by each worker of a minimum of a day's pay. Many businesses, themselves hard hit in the disaster, have promised to match the donations of their workers.

Money collected will be devoted solely to supplying the personal needs of those affected by the surging Red. This would cover clothing for the destitute and furniture for thousands who have seen their personal belongings swept away or ruined.

No capital expenditures will be made for such things as restoration of damaged homes. "We feel that this is the responsibility of the Federal and Provincial Governments," said Mr. Watson.

COST OF WAR

The total military cost of the Second World War was estimated by official sources in Washington at $1,116,991,463,084, and property damage at $230,900,000,000.

Graduate Speaks To Mission Group On School Work

MILLBROOK, May 18 (ENS)—The Golden Links Mission Circle of St. Andrew's United Church met at the home of Mrs. Fred and Mrs. Laurence Winslow, Monday evening. The speaker was Miss Margaret Smith, who is home on holidays after having graduated last week from the United Church Training School in Toronto.

Miss Smith told of life in the school, of the 21 graduates and their hopes and aims of the future. She spoke of the strong ties of the school and of its widespread influence in many parts of the world.

At the time of graduation exercises a telegram from graduates of the previous year was received from India. There were air-mail letters of good wishes from England and all across Canada. Some students came to the school from such faraway places as Korea, Japan, India, and graduates also went back to these countries as nurses, missionaries and teachers.

At present the school is housed in three separate residences, but in the near future they hope to have a new building to accommodate the whole school on the university campus. Of the 21 graduates, six were nurses taking the one-year course and 15 other girls received diplomas for the two-year course to go into missionary or deaconess work.

Nine In Canada

Last year there were nine women throughout Canada doing congregational or deaconess work. This year they will be joined by six of the graduates of the training school. They will handle CGIT groups, young married couples groups, YPU, and Mission Bands as well as doing congregational visiting.

Mrs. David Lean was in charge of the worship service with Mrs. Arnold Fallis at the piano. Jessie Lunn led in prayer and also paid high tribute to Mrs. W. L. Smythe, dean of the school for leaders held each summer at Whitby Ladies' College. Mrs. Smythe died last January.

The treasurer, Miss Edith Thorn reported $50 in the treasury before Mrs. Hobbs, the president, passed on a generous contribution from Mrs. Gordon Powell, who has moved to Peterborough but still wishes to keep control with the Circle.

Letters were read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bruce Ingham, from Mrs. G. A. Spicer and Miss Edith Clarke. Mrs. Hobbs read an invitation from St. Thomas Anglican WA to meet with them at 3 p.m. June 31 when they celebrate the 60th anniversary of their founding. She also read a letter from the Circle's special missionary, Miss Jean Stewart of Chungking, China.

Assisting the hostesses with refreshments were Mrs. Robert Ridge and Miss Edith Shepperd.

The next meeting, the final one of the season, will take the form of a sunset service at Miss Hetherington's home June 20.

DR. J. STEWART LOTT, London, Ontario, who has been awarded the first fellowship granted by the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society. Dr. Lott will continue cancer research studies in England and Europe.

Movie Column

Joel McCrea Handling Own Money On Sound Basis

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 18 (AP) The whole thing started when an actor tossed Joel McCrea a copy of a financial daily.

I expected to see McCrea gobble up the news about stocks and bonds, since he is considered one of the most "loaded" (with moola) stars in town. But he confessed he never reads the sheet.

"I never sell," he remarked, "So why should I read a financial paper?" Then he drew on two decades of experience in Hollywood and made this observation:

"I think the trouble with most actors is that they think about everything but acting. They are either doping the horses or worrying about what their stocks are doing or mulling some deal to buy an apartment house. They devote their time to everything except what brings in the money to invest—motion pictures.

"The movies are a warm, satisfying business. But it's an exacting business, too. And you can't give a good performance when you worry about that call to your business agent."

McCrea, a rare star who seems properly adjusted to life, said his thoughts seldom stray far from a picture when he is making it.

McCrea's own financial interests are large, but apparently simple.

"I have my ranch, but its needs are meagre," he said. "I have a man there who can handle everything himself. I could go away for six months and I wouldn't be missed."

His other investments include stocks. "I buy reliable stocks and hold onto them. They may go down but I don't care. They always go up again."

He is one of the few stars who handles his own money. He told me why:

"If I could make this much money, I ought to have the brains to know what to do with it."

Whitehall Notebook

Canadians Blood Thirsty UK Trade Clerks Convinced

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 18.—(CP).—A dozen women in Whitehall are convinced that Canadians must be blood-curdling characters, indeed. The girls handle trade inquiries from Canada, among other places, and in the last few weeks they've had some pretty grisly requests. For instance:

A company in Oak Ridges, Ont., wanted to know where it could get a supply of human skeletons.

A Toronto firm asked about utility shotguns.

Another Canadian concern, headquarters unspecified, sought "coffin furniture." That had the girls stumped: how do you furnish a coffin; it turned out, finally, that the company wanted "the metal work decorating" a coffin.

Unmusical Chairs

Other Canadian queries, forwarded here by British commercial representatives in Ottawa, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg, and the Maritime Provinces, were less bizarre.

A Toronto manufacturer inquired about "dolls' eyes and dolls' voices." A college in Ottawa was interested in 150 chairs, but specified that they must not squeak on a rubber floor.

The inquiries go to room 1130 of Britain's Board of Trade, where the 12 girls operate what is known as the "special register service of information."

Every day, 1,500 British trade representatives around the world send local inquiries to the service, which correlates them and passes them on in turn to 5,000 manufacturers, trade associations and Chambers of Commerce in this in this country.

The service, which costs subscribers 30 shillings. ($4.65) a year, also forwards any interesting trade tips. On advice from Canada, British toy manufacturers were told they would just be wasting their time to put "British Railways" on a toy train; Canada's youngsters want something distinctively Canadian.

Bag-Pipes for Beyrouth

Canada isn't the only country which has forwarded unusual requests. Other things Britain has been asked to supply include sun dials for Chicago, combs for dogs in New Orleans, Scottish bagpipes for Lebanon. A two-masted schooner for Tangier, and naval swords for Ecuador.

Thailand forwarded a request for 50,000,000 railway tickets in eight different colors, and the Lord Mayor of Baghdad solicited a tea service for 1,000 persons.

The girls in Whitehall aren't hopeful about the last two, but they passed them along anyway.

Water From Winnipeg Taps These Days Enough To Make Drinkers Swear Off

By R. J. ANDERSON.

WINNIPEG, May 18 (CP). — A Winnipegger returning to his flood-stricken home city gets the shock of his life when he turns on the faucet.

Something has happened to the clear, sparkling Shoal Lake water that once gushed from the tap!

The stuff that comes forth nowadays, when there is still threat of flood-borne typhoid fever, is enough to make any true native swear off it for the duration of his stay.

Through 80 miles of rocks, trees and prairie, Winnipeg's drinking water is drawn from Shoal Lake on the Manitoba-Ontario boundary. In BF (before flood) days, it was a limpid fluid that slid easily down the most tender throat. Now . . .

As a precautionary measure while the city literally fights for its existence against the flooding Red River, Winnipeg's water has been heavily chlorinated. It is safe, it can be drunk without boiling—but it is awful!

Twenty pounds of chlorine now go into each 1,000,000 gallons. The pre-flood proportion was seven to 1,000,000 in summer — five to 1,000,000 in winter.

Each day city chemists test the water, advising an increase or decrease in the flow of microbe-killing chlorine as necessary.

Find New York Columnist Badly Beaten Up In Night Club Brawl

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Lee Mortimer, Broadway columnist for the New York Daily Mirror, was beaten unconscious early Wednesday in a Fort Lee, N.J., night club by a thug. He suffered eye cuts and face and jaw injuries.

Police had no report of the beating at the Riviera night club, but the story was told by comedian Joey Adams and playwright Sidney Kingsley, who accompanied Mortimer to Fort Lee to see the Riviera show.

Mortimer said he had conferred earlier in New York with Virgil Peterson, executive secretary of the Chicago Crime Commission. He believed he was followed by two men in a "black convertible" across the George Washigton bridge to the Riviera.

After watching the show, Mortimer and Kingsley went to the men's room. This, said Kingsley, is what happened:

Mortimer was washing his hands when "two guys came in, very stocky, obviously thugs." One walked to Mortimer, nudged him, and demanded, "who you pushing?" Then he swung the columnist around, struck him three times in the head, and Mortimer fell. Then the thug dropped to one knee and hit him two or three times more.

Three years ago Mortimer charged Frank Sinatra and friends with jumping on him and beating him without warning in a Hollywood night club. Sinatra later describe it as a "one punch affair" and "no contest."

Want New System

MONTREAL, May 18 (CP)—A recommendation that gas service be discontinued and a new system installed in a flat where five children were asphyxiated by gas fumes April 25 was made Wednesday by a coroner's jury which returned a verdict of accidental deaths. The flat is occupied by Arthur Bernier, his wife and 16-year-old son Jacques. Five other Bernier children—Normand, 3, Bernard, 5, Mariette, 7, Gerard, 13, and Guy, 14—died within 24 hours after gas fumes filled their home.

Wedding Presents are no longer a shopping problem for me — for I've discovered a gift that's always welcome! It's the wonderful "lifetime" RADIANT 3 MINUTE KETTLE! It's very good-looking — made of heavy copper with a highly polished chromium plating of finest quality. And just think! — in less than three minutes, it boils enough water for four cups of tea . . . anyplace there's a wall-plug handy! This "kettle with legs" won't mark your furniture — for the heating unit is well-insulated and the feet protect the surface of your furniture. The "Radiant 3 Minute Kettle" is absolutely fool-proof! It shuts off automatically by thermostatic control — so it never boils dry AND it shuts off at once if it's plugged in without water!

Something For The Small Fry . . . something extra-good for breakfast is tempting "Cream of Wheat"! Top it with raisins or apricots for a really wide-awake breakfast dish that makes youngsters say, "M-mmm! So good, mummy!" And you can't be happy in the thought that it's good for them, too! For 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" provides Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements — and for less than a cent a bowl! And "Cream of Wheat" is jiffy-quick to prepare . . . cooks to full digestibility in just 5 minutes of boiling!

Youngsters' Growing Feet need the best of care. That's why I urge you, when you're buying children's better shoes, to look for the NEOLITE name on the soles of the shoes you buy. Neolite soles are healthy . . . they're absolutely waterproof — so when pavements are wet, youngsters' feet stay dry. Neolite is more flexible than leather — needs no breaking in. And Neolite is economical. With the same amount of wear 'n' tear, Neolite outwears leather over 2 to 1. And, mothers — one more thing you'll like about Neolite — it doesn't mark floors. For the whole family buy shoes soled with Neolite. Insist on Neolite when you take shoes to be re-soled.

There's One Summer Visitor that's far from welcome in any home — and that's that nuisance, Mr. Moth. Best way I know to keep him out of your home is to starve him to death! Spray your woollens — suits — coats — dresses or rugs with LARVEX! Mr. Moth will starve rather than touch anything treated with Larvex! And it's so easy to use! There's no need to wrap or store away — one spraying actually mothproofs the cloth itself for a whole year. What's more, you can wear the "Larvex-ed" garments right away for there's no unpleasant "moth-ball" odour to tell tales. Another thing you'll be glad to know about Larvex — it's so inexpensive — costs no more to "Larvex" a suit than to get it dry-cleaned!

Without Rubbing 'n' Scrubbing . . . this wonderful cleanser gets things whistle-clean! There's no doubt about it, LAVOLINE is a boon 'n' blessing at housecleaning time! It simply lifts the dirt off painted walls, woodwork, tiled surfaces, metal — anything around the house. You see, Lavoline contains marvelous, suds-producing SANOVAL, an amazing new cleaning agent which literally dissolves dirt — penetrates deeper, cleans better — in fact, cleans cleaner! Yet Lavoline is gentle — safe as water to use. So take my tip and ask for Lavoline — new improved Lavoline — at A & P, Dominion and Loblaw stores, or your corner grocer.

Of Course these soups (all eighteen of them!) are marvelous served just as soup . . . but it's fun, too, to discover how good HEINZ CONDENSED SOUPS can be in your main dishes! They're so versatile! Here's a Heinz Soup recipe that makes a wonderful main-course dish for a May lunch or supper!

TOMATO RAREBIT

1 10-oz. can Heinz Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup, undiluted
¼ lb. Canadian Cheese, grated
½ tspn. Heinz Prepared Yellow Mustard

Place soup and cheese in saucepan. Heat over very low heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted and mixture is smooth. Add mustard. Blend well. Serve over slices of toast. Serves 4.

500 SD-G Vets To Reunite At Kingston

Men of Peterborough and district who served in the wartime battalion of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders will meet their buddies of the front lines at the third annual reunion of the S. D. and G. in Kingston, June 10 and 11.

Allan R. McNab, formerly of Peterborough, reunion chairman reports that the host branch expects more than 100 ex-Glens from the Peterborough area. Nearly 500 will attend from Peterborough, Cornwall, Brockville, Kingston and other points in Eastern and Central Ontario. Last year's reunion in Peterborough was attended by approximately 500 ex-highlanders.

The regiment, mobilized in June 1940, was taken overseas under command of Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne of Peterborough. The highlanders saw stiff fighting on D-Day and won their spurs in the bloody struggle for the Falaise Gap, near Caen. They were among the first troops from Canada to cross the Rhine into Germany.

Early in the Second World War, the unit first concentrated as a battalion at Kingston in September, 1940, having previously trained in company groups at Peterborough, Cornwall, Brockville and Kingston. The reunion in June will be the first time the wartime comrades will have met as one group in the Limestone City since then.

MOSCOW, May 18 (Reuters)—Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, who saw Prime Minister Stalin for 90 minutes Monday, said Wednesday night that rumors about the Russian leader's health are "dirty lies and false." Start With Children

TORONTO, May 18 (CP)—If Canada is to have a national health-insurance program, dentists should be allowed to start with children and go on from there, the Canadian Dental Association was told Wednesday. Dr. Harvey W. Reid, chairman of the association's health insurance committee, said the big menace in any health plan is when professional men are forced to try to supply more service than available personnel can handle.

Ping Pong Champions To Be Declared At YM

YMCA championships in ping pong for the Pioneer, Juvenile and Junior Classes will be held Saturday morning, Al Clark, physical director, announced today. There will be a fourth championship for the intermediates providing there is sufficient entrants.

Mr. Clark added there will be no open city championship series conducted in the YMCA this year. Ping pong, he said, has not made sufficient advancement this year to be worthy of a championship series. In the past two years the Y's Men's Club has sponsored the open championships.

What's Right

An acquaintance calls to invite you and your husband to dinner and you know that he will be busy that evening.

WRONG: Say: "Jim is going to a business meeting Saturday night, but I would love to come if I may come without him."

RIGHT: Say: "I'm very sorry but Jim has a meeting that evening". Then if the hostess wants you to come alone, she has an opportunity to say so.

Fitting Methods "Unorthodox" For 'Peg Victims

WINNIPEG, May 18 (CP) — Winnipeg's civic auditorium has become the busiest clothing store in the city.

Its staff, its fitting methods and the signs which designate its "departments" are a little unorthodox. But then, so are its customers.

They come for food, clothing, a wash or short nap before going back to their regular work at the office or shop.

Some have been out all night on the dikes, trying to stem the inroads of the Red river on suburban homes.

At the auditorium, now the main Red Cross flood-relief centre, they toss in their soggy, dirty socks for clean, dry ones.

The girls working in the sections labelled "men's dry clothes" and "women's dry clothes" are often as disreputably attired as their hip-booted customers. They turn out to help distribute supplies between shifts of using them.

As for fitting the refugees — "We just hold the dress up, measure it across the shoulders, and take a look at the length," a clerk in the women's department said.

Pictures will be printed with engagement notices when desired but wedding pictures may not be used in these instances.

In Memoriam Bouquet Given For St. Paul's Flower Tea

The floral bouquet on the table at St. Paul's Congregational "Flower Tea" Wednesday afternoon, and flanking arrangements were perhaps the loveliest seen this season.

Presented in memory of a late member of the Ladies' Aid, the flowers in a wide crystal bowl were 'mums, snapdragon and full blown roses with stocks and baby 'mums in blending shades of pink and mauve. Three crystal holders on either side were filled in with violets around pink candles, and the beautiful damask cloth had flower colours in the corner design.

Mrs. J. King, who had charge of the decorations, arranged a charming garden on the Sunday school auditorium platform. It was outlined with a white picket fence and little beds of pansies and pink climbing roses were on a trellis against the wall. Realistically coloured china birds were in the bird bath that centred the garden, made up of bushes and flowers of the season—buttercups, violets, tulips, narcissus and jonquils.

A huge hydrangea in full bloom and bouquets of the flowers decorated the room. Pianist Mrs. E. Caldwell was playing soft music throughout the afternoon.

Tea hostess Mrs. W Burrell was assisted in the tea room by Mrs. D W Clark, Mrs. G Hill, Mrs. G Lovington and Miss I. Brealey who poured the tea, Mrs. B. McLean and Mrs. A. Jones who replenished the table, and Mrs. Roy Magee, Mrs. N. McCualg, Mrs. F. Hawthorne, Mrs. C. G. Law, Mrs. C. Lee, Mrs K. Campbell, Mrs M. Morgan, Mrs. D S Clark, Mrs. W. McBride, Mrs. O. Cranfield, and Mrs. W. Jackson who served.

President Mrs. J. Stevenson was receiving at the door, assisted by Mrs. C. G. Boyd, Mrs. J. Hornal and Mrs. D. Miller, and Mrs W Brown was at the treasurer's table. Mrs. J. Dutton, Mrs. F. Rowan and Mrs. H. G. McKenzie acted as hostesses in the tea room.

Two tables of home baking were attended by Mrs. J. Roseburgh, Mrs. Laura Howson, Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. D. Dickson.

EYE TOPICS

COLOR ON THE JOB

One of the most useful talents of the human eye is its amazing response to color. Thousands of shades can be distinguished and enjoyed. In our daily lives, colors have profound effect upon the emotions. Surprise, alertness, fear and pleasure are all associated with them. Color is a language without words. Everywhere red stands for danger, yellow for attention, green for safety, blue for distance and white for trust and guidance.

A few years ago psychologists and engineers decided to put this powerful language to work to cut down the enormous toll of factory accidents. A "code" was invented by which all kinds of industrial hazards could be brought to the worker's attention by means of bright paint. The result has been the saving of thousands of lives and the prevention of millions of injuries.

The new safety code employs six bright colors as warnings. Experience shows that these six simple colors will protect the workman from almost every danger. One very interesting thing is that color-blind people can use the system too. The vast majority who suffer from this defect can distinguish all colors but red. And red is only used for fire apparatus, which a few trained people can handle.

The old idea that factories had to be drab and dreary, dirty and dark, is gone. Bright colors have come to make the worker's surroundings pleasant and safe — through vision, the king of the senses.

Yes, color is one of the aids to eyesight that is making work easier and safer. But what of eyesight itself? All the efficiency and safety devises in the world will not help you on the road to advancement if your eyesight is faulty.

DOROTHY DIX

'Other Woman' Thinks Wife Should Hand Over Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young woman in my late 20's, working for a man in his 50's. He has a wife about his age who looks much younger, as she has kept a good figure and dresses well. They have children who are all married. Her husband is in love with me and wants to marry me. Don't you think that she should give him a divorce and let him marry me so that he will have a few years of real happiness? She could go to live with their children. Do you think if she divorced him and he married me that he would be satisfied away from her and with the separation from the children?

Dorothy Dix

He is foolish about his children, but I am afraid they would side with their mother. Do you believe that in a few years I would still be satisfied with a man twenty-two years older than myself?

PERPLEXED.

ANSWER: You seem to think that a wife should hand over her husband to another woman as casually as she would her old shoes to some one who wished to step into them, and that she is actually selfish in wanting to keep her home together and not desiring at middle age to be forced into the ranks of the divorcees.

No Dog-In-Manger

Let me tell you that there is a lot more to marriage than that, and it is not always the dog-in-the manger spirit that keeps a woman from giving her husband a divorce when he decides he would like to swap an old wife for a new one. Sometimes a woman doesn't want a divorce because for some inexplicable reason she still loves her husband. Sometimes she does not want a divorce because of the mortification it will bring her children.

Sometimes a woman does not want a divorce because she knows that he remaining legally her husband's wife is the only way she can get her fair share of the property that she has helped earn. And sometimes a woman refuses to give her husband a divorce because she still cares enough for him to want to save him from making a mistake that will wreck his life. She knows that his infatuation for some girl young enough to be his daughter is just a temporary affair that will soon pass.

In your case I can see no happiness for either you or the man. I think if he leaves a woman like his wife that he will always regret it, and that it will break his heart to be separated from the children he loves and to know that he has forfeited their respect. Nor do I believe that you would be happy with a man so much older than yourself. He belongs to one generation, you to another. So my advice to you is to leave him alone and marry a man nearer your own age.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A few years ago I married a young man many years my junior. At the time I thought I was deeply in love with him, but I have awakened to the fact that what I thought was love was only a maternal affection, and I cannot help but show it. My husband resents this, as his love has grown deeper. The difference in our ages has constantly caused criticism, which makes me very unhappy.

Can a condition like this end happily? Would it be better to set my husband free so that he might marry a younger woman?

WORRIED.

ANSWER: I should think that it was your manifest duty to carry on as long as your young husband loves you, and do your best to make him happy. After all, your case isn't so desperate, because every good wife comes to look upon her husband as a little boy who never grows up, and a large part of her love is maternal. That is why wives can forgive faults in their husbands that husbands never can forgive in their wives.

But when I see women marrying men ten, fifteen, twenty years younger than themselves, I often think what a terrible task they are setting themselves. No middle-aged woman wants to jump around and do what a boy wants to do, and you can't send your young husband out to play with young girls of his own age, as you can your son. And this says nothing of the terrible necessity of having perpetual youth forced on you by being married to a man much younger than yourself.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to a splendid young man who graduates from college this year. His hobby is collecting snakes. I simply detest snakes. I cannot stand to be near them even if they are in a cage. But I am too greatly in love with my fiance to be willing to give him up. He says I can learn to be familiar with reptiles and he seems to take it for granted that I shall. Please give me your advice.

JUDITH.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, Judith, all I can say is that if you love a man well enough to live with snakes for his sake you have the affection that passes all comprehension. I can see how a woman could love a drunkard or a gambler, or even a murderer well enough to marry him, but it is simply past my imagination to comprehend how any woman could love a snake addict well enough to live with his little pets. Surely, if you can do it, you must be super-human and no granddaughter of Eve.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"I'm not always luck enough to pick up the first large discard pile," admits B. E. C., of Kansas City, "but even when I get such a pile, I never know how to get the most out of it.

"If I meld all I can, I'm criticized for putting down too many cards. If I hold melds in my hand, I'm criticized for not putting down enough. I'm sure the criticism are justified, but nobody ever tells me why. If I only knew the logic behind the criticisms, I'd have some chance of doing the right thing some day.

"Is there a logical basis for doing one thing rather than another? Or does everybody work by guess and by golly?"

There is a logical reason for melding just the right cards in this sort of situation. This doesn't mean that you never have to do any guessing. When Canasta, or any other game, becomes an exact science at all points, we'll give it up and try something else.

When you pick up a large discard pile you have two general objects in mind. The first is to keep enough cards in your hand to make sure that the opponents cannot risk freezing the pack. The second is to put enough different melds on the table so that your partner will find it easy to win the next large discard pile.

London Express Service

If you get a really large discrad pile, you can afford to meld quite a bit and still keep a goodly number of cards in your hand. If you keep from 20 to 30 cards in your hand, you are safe against a freeze. Hence you can afford to meld down to about that point.

When making your melds, there is not great virtue in putting down extra cards. For example, suppose you hold four tens and five jacks. Put down only three of each. If you're alert, as the hand goes on, you'll get a chance to put down the other ten and the other two jacks later on. You won't get stuck with them.

The advantage of holding extra cards is that the opponents don't dare freeze and discard such cards when they know you have them in your hand. Moreover, such cards may provide you with fairly safe discards if you get pinched.

When you cannot put all possible twenty-odd cards in your hand, you must choose which melds to put down and which to hold up. Prefer to put down as melds the cards that were discarded by the player at your left.

Those are cards that your partner was unable to pick up. The chances are that unless helped he still would be unable to pick up such a card. However, if you make the meld, he will be able to take any such discard.

If the player at your left has to avoid throwing a card that matches one of your melds, he will have trouble. He may throw something that your partner can take all by himself. Or, in the effort to play completely safe, he may break up his hand. Then he will really be in the soup.

GUNN—In loving memory of my dear father, Daniel Gunn, who passed away May 18, 1946.
Four years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away
God took him home, it was His will.
Within out hearts he liveth still.
—Ever remembered by daughter Edith, son-in-law John and grandchildren.

GUNN—In loving memory of my husband, Daniel Gunn, who passed away four years ago today.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one I loved
From memory pass away.

PAYNE—In fond remembrance of the late Mrs. David Walter Payne of Lakefield, laid to rest in the family plot, Lakefield Cemetery, May 13th, beside her husband who predeceased her in 1939.
The best will is our Father's will.
And we may rest there calm and still.
Oh make it hour by hour Thine own,
But wish for naught but that alone,
which pleases God.
Oh balm of grief to understand.
Those whom our eyes behold no more
Still clasp us with as true a hand
As in the flesh before . . .
Oh, what a wonderous life is theirs'
To fling away the mortal frame.
Yet keep the human loves and cares
And yearnings still the same.
